A little boy stood at the curb One bright Memorial Day. The color guard went marching by, And the son to his father would say:

"What makes the flag wave, Daddy? Those stripes with stars on blue -They make a pretty picture, As they wave to me and you."

The father thought a moment, And with measured words replied: "It flies for many reasons, Son, For the living, and those who died.

It flies because we all believe That God gave life to be free. And each of us is blessed by Him, So we can become all that we can be.

It means we respect one another, For God loves us all the same way, As the colors go by we salute our flag, To show honor and love on this day.

The flag flies proudly to remind us all, That belief in America is strong, And sometimes we are called upon, To fight for the right 'gainst the wrong.

But Americans make the flag fly."

Joe loved being outside and his hobbies reflect his love for the outdoors. When there was a break at the farm, it was a good opportunity to do some fishing. He also enjoyed traveling out West for bird hunting in his younger years. Golf was yet another way for Joe to spend the day outdoors.

Martha Jane Kellam June 14, 1942 – December 7, 2016

Martha Jane Kellam, loving wife, mother, grandmother, sister and friend, passed into her eternal rest surrounded by her loving family and friends at her home in Sheridan on Wednesday evening, December 7, 2016, at the age of 74.

Jane was born in Lebanon, Ind., on June 14, 1942, to the late John Manning and Frances Ilene (Mumford) Childers. After graduating from Sheridan High School with the Class of 1960, she continued forward with her education, earning her Associates Degree in Business from Indiana Business College.

Jane worked as an Administrative Assistant for Starks Law Firm for many years. Her true career and passion, however, was work-and plenty more that was set to be canned. Tomatoes were a ing on the family farm. Jane was an avid reader and a true farmer's wife, wanting to tackle every project she could get her hands on. If she didn't know how to do something, she was determined to figure it out. She loved to be out in the fields driving the tractor and combine. Nurturing the animals that were living on the farm seemed to come to her with ease. She loved taking care of the hogs and cattle. If there was one area on the farm where Jane truly excelled, it would have to be working with her hands. Building things - big things, small things, it didn't matter. She was extremely talented when it came to any projects involving construction. From reupholstering to roofing - which was one of Jane's favorites, by the way – she seemed to be able to do it all. Much to her husband Joe's dismay, the house always seemed to be in a constant state of remodeling. Jane loved to "tear up" the house. Painting, moving walls, working on the roof, recovering and fixing some furniture, moving more walls, sneaking back up on the roof ... She was definitely in her element.

Jane and Joe were married in March of 1970. They met in high school and continued their travels through life at each other's side, raising a wonderful legacy on their family farm in Sheridan.

She is survived by her son, William Allen Kellam of Sheridan; and daughter, Andrea Ann (Greg) Palmer of St. Johns, Fla.; two grandchildren, Madison D. Palmer and Meaghan A. Palmer; and her sister, Karen (Steve) Walden-Pitts of Sheridan. Also surviving are many beloved nieces and nephews.

She was preceded in death by her parents; and three sisters, Elizabeth Anne Shelburne, Sandra K. Childers and Marie Gordon.

Graveside services for both Jane and Joe were held on Saturday, July 2, 2022, at Crown View Cemetery in Sheridan.

The Kellam and Palmer families want to thank all their family and friends for their love and emotional support.

Kercheval Funeral Home in Sheridan has been entrusted with arrangements.

Rex Alan Isenhour September 13, 1946 – June 22, 2022

Rex Alan Isenhour, 75, Sheridan, passed away on June

22, 2022, at Ascension St. Vincent Hospital in Indianapolis. Born on September 13, 1946, in Lebanon, Ind., he was the son of the late Charles Edwin "Ed" and Olive Bell (Swigart) Isenhour.

Rex was a 1964 graduate of Sheridan High School, where he was awarded the Industrial Arts Student of the Year. Shortly following graduation, he was recruited by Boyer Electric, training and mentoring with them from 1964 to 1973. It was at this time that Rex decided to venture out on his own, opening Sheridan Heating & Insulation and serving the residents of the Sheridan area until his (so-called) retirement. Rex was a serial entrepreneur, trying his hand at many successful ventures throughout the years, including ownership of the Sheridan Liquor Store.

Never one to sit still for too long, Rex always made sure he took time to enjoy the fruits of his labor. He loved being outdoors, and no matter what the season, he always found something fun to do. He enjoyed snow skiing and boating, but golf was always his sport of choice. He was a member of Wild Creek Golf Course, as well as the Ellington at Wachesaw East. His favorite activity, however, was getting into mischief with his grandsons, for whom Grandpa was always a willing partner-in-crime.

Rex was just one of the boys and will be truly missed by everyone who was fortunate enough to have known him, and lucky enough to call him a friend.

Rex is survived by his wife, Patricia A. (Paddack) Isenhour. Rex and Patty were married on July 3, 1965. Also surviving is his daughter, Mindy M. Isenhour-Schieman (Jason) of Sheridan; grandchildren, Dylan Schieman and Troy Schieman, both of Denver; brother, Rodney L. "Rod" Isenhour (Karen) of Sheridan; sister, Ruth Ann Isenhour-Durbin of Sheridan; nephew, Greg Durbin; and nieces, Julie Durbin (Barb) and Rhonda Isenhour.

He was preceded in death by his parents; brother, Charles Ronald "Ron" Isenhour; sister-in-law, Linda Isenhour; and nephew, Michael Isenhour.

Visitation and a Celebration of Rex's Life was held on Thursday, June 30, 2022, at Kercheval Funeral Home, 306 E. 10th St., Sheridan.

Democrats, Libertarians openly engage with over 150 voters

By STU CLAMPITT news@readthereporter.com

Several Democratic and Libertarian candidates attended part of the Indiana Democratic Party's 2022 Town Hall Series last Tuesday at the Fishers branch of the Hamilton East Public Library, 5 Municipal Drive.

With over 150 people in attendance, it was a room packed with local citizens who wanted to hear and speak with candidates for U.S. Senate, U.S. House, Indiana Secretary of State, and the state legislature.

Democrats who organized this event told The Reporter they extended the invitation to both Libertarians and Republicans, and said the GOP declined to attend.

Candidates in attendance included:

• Tom McDermott (D, U.S. Senate)

• James Sceniak (L, U.S. Senate)

· Destiny Wells (D, Ind. Secretary of State)

Jeff Maurer (L, Ind. Secretary of State)

• Jeannine Lee Lake (D, U.S. House District 5)

• Victoria Garcia Wilburn (D, Ind. House District 32)

• Jocelyn Vare (D, Ind. Senate District 31) There was no set theme for the town hall. Indiana Democrats told The Reporter they wanted to address the kitchen-table issues important to voters, and from issues like inflation and law enforcement funding to education and broadband, candidates and elected officials answered as many questions as possible during the 90-minute conversation.

"In order to truly represent Hoosiers and restore balance to every level of government in Indiana, it's imperative for voters from all walks of life to hear from the leaders of our political parties about the important issues of the day – and also ask

my own heritage

Turns out, John and I did not need to consider adoption after all. God had other plans.

A month after attending the pre-adoption class, I took a pregnancy test on a whim. I fell to my knees at the result. Boom! Pregnant. We told all our relatives over Easter weekend that we were changing our minds about adopting - because we were finally having a baby of our own.

All was good with the world.

Scrabble was my connection with Dad. The board was one of those deluxe rotating beauties. It bloomed between us with each letter we planted to fill in the grid's 225 spaces.

We seldom spoke. We were too lost in our word-forming strategies, sometimes on the offense, sometimes on the defense. We communicated through spelling, not speaking. Neither wanted to merely win, we wanted to annihilate. Egos at stake.

Sometimes our fingertips touched our respective board sides simultaneously, as if stationed at a Ouija board, a father and son Scrabble séance conjuring literate spirits to spell out words otherwise unspoken between us, building a bridge for two men taking comfort in dual states of incommunicado.

We did, though, voice our word scores throughout. As the automatic scorekeeper, I kept a tally.

All this while Mom laughed aloud, alone, in the living room.

Sometimes, Dad tried to distract me by offering food when it was my turn to play.

'Would you like an apple?"

- "No."
- "It's a good apple."
- "No."
- "Would you like a peach?"
- "I'm concentrating, Dad."
- "It's a good peach."
- "Dad."
- "I'll slice you a tomato."

It was as if the kitchen had transformed into a roadside fruit stand.

I accepted a banana once. The game was going long, and I was hungry. As I unpeeled, he warned, "Careful. Bananas will stop you up." All my life, Dad exuded wisdom about all things A to Z that "stop you up." He should publish an encyclopedia.

"If bananas stop you up, Dad, then where exactly are you inserting the banana?"

I took big bites from the banana, chewed vigorously, chimp-chomped, made a big

I'm sure any parent-to-be thinks many of the same thoughts I did. We weren't going to find out the gender of the baby ahead of time, so I always wondered if it was going to be a boy or a girl. And I also wondered what they would look like. This is when I reflected again on my life as an adoptee. Would some trait buried deep within my genes show up in our firstborn? Traits that I had no clue about?

Growing up, friends would often try to guess my heritage. One guy swore up-anddown that I was Polish due to my facial structure and my nose. I would discover years later that he was completely wrong.

My future baby would know all about their heritage from their father's side. But they wouldn't know the heritage from my side. And there would never be any medical history from that side. That bothered me enough for myself, but it really started to get to me when I thought about my baby's future. I was used to skipping the pages at various medical offices regarding family history. But there would always be that gap in my future children's medical history. I didn't like that one bit.

I forced myself to push that aside, however. There was no way I was ever going to search for my birth parents and hurt my mother. At this point she was alone. My dad passed away suddenly from a heart attack when I was 23. I had never heard Dad's thoughts on how he would have felt if I had searched for my biological mother and father. I have a feeling he would have supported me more than my mother. But I will never know.

I would just have to be diligent on all my medical checkups in the future and make certain my children would do the same.

In December of 2001, my first son, Jonathon, was born. He was healthy, cute as a button, and a good baby. Sure, he kept us up at night for a couple months and had the occasional fussy times, but overall, Jonathon was a joy.

"He looks just like John!" People would say. And sure enough, when we pulled out baby pictures of John and compared them to Jonathon, they were practically identical. It looked like our firstborn was going to have his father's physical characteristics of strong eyebrows, dark brown hair, and blue eyes

I didn't need to worry about some unusual physical trait popping up after all.

State of the County fills 4-H hall

By DENISE MOE For The Reporter

Hamilton County Commissioners Christine Altman and Mark Heirbrandt delivered the annual State of the County address on Wednesday at the Hamilton County 4-H Exhibition Center, 2003 Pleasant St., Noblesville. The lunchtime event was hosted by the Noblesville Chamber of Commerce.

Commissioner Dillinger prepared most of the address over the last four weeks and was looking forward to delivering the address to a sold-out crowd for the 34th straight year; however, Dillinger tested positive for COVID-19 and said he was disappointed he had to miss this year's presentation.

According to the Commissioners, Hamilton County is in a great financial position with over $50 million in reserves and rainy-day funds. Hamilton County stands alone in Indiana with a AAA bond rating. The county tax rate did not go up, but the value of property increased, which will lead to a larger tax bill for property owners even though local taxpayers enjoy the sixth-lowest property tax rate in Indiana.

The thunder rolls & the lightning strikes

Let's just say I have had more than my fair share of turbulent traveling adventures, both in the air and on the road.

Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Circus was the largest and most popular circus in the country.

The circus arrived so late on July 5 that two shows had to be canceled. In circus lore, missing a show was considered a very, very bad omen. A late evening show did manage to perform, with nervous, superstitious circus employees ever watchful for any impending danger. The show went off smoothly.

The next day at 2 p.m., the performance was to begin again. Due to the war, the show was attended by mainly women and children.

The Big Top Tent was 200 feet wide and 450 feet long with 15-foot sidewalls. The center

The bottoms of the sidewalls were tied down tightly to prevent anyone from trying to sneak in by going under the sidewalls.

All the above was a recipe for disaster!

A fire began as a small flame in a corner after a performance by the lions. As the Great Flying Wallendas performed their high wire act, the circus band leader spotted the flames and directed the band to play "Stars and Stripes Forever." The emergency distress signal for all circus personnel.

paid for my flight and my traveling woes in full. Hold my sweet tea! I was wrong.

I watched the weather forecast and knew there were storms headed to Tampa about the time I was to land. Fingers crossed.

And so it was that I left Indy "on time" on Tuesday and we landed a few minutes early. YES! No glitches. No delays. I was walking on easy street through the airport.

As I rode the tram from the gates to the main terminal, I saw a huge bolt of lightning flash from the sky to the tarmac. Whew! I knew we were spared not being able to land by just minutes.

I got to the luggage carousel with the full flight of travelers from our plane. About half of the passengers grabbed their luggage before the carousel came to an abrupt halt. We waited. We waited some more.

And the thunder rolled.

"Ladies and gentlemen, due to lightning strikes in the immediate area of the airport we cannot allow our luggage handlers to finish unloading your luggage at this time. We appreciate your patience."

Of course, I was not one of the lucky ones. It became a game of musical chairs as about 100 of us scrambled to find a comfortable seat and plug in to charge our phones. Surely this storm would pass quickly ... at least we hoped so.

Emily was waiting in the cell lot. "Don't worry, Mom, I'm okay to wait."

I grabbed my laptop to check on the world of Facebook and answer a few emails. I waited as patiently as possible. I felt for the young, very pregnant, mother who was traveling by herself with a toddler. The little girl had gotten her second wind and was ready to run a marathon while her mother just wanted to find a corner and take a long summer's nap.

After 90 minutes, we heard the glorious roar and squeaks of the luggage carousel beckoning us back to run and grab and go!

There was my oh-so-beautiful gray with a waterfall design luggage, riding the carousel and dripping with raindrops.

Time to text Emily and head to our house for a few days.

I knew what my column would be about this week. You all need a bit of laughter and exercise as you shake your head reading about my traveling woes.

Now to get Chuck here the next night ... stay tuned and in a holding position for that story next week. Let's just say he had a bit of an "adventure" himself.

We have the train thanks to Boss Hogg

All aboard! On Saturday, June 11, I took a train ride from Hobbs Station along with 130 of my "closest" friends.

The Parks Department has renovated Hobbs Station and created a children's play area nearby. The reno-

The train ride brings to mind a time in the 1980s when the train was not popular. I recall protestors coming to the county commissioner's meet-wasn't current political squabbles or differenc-– it's about es ensuring proper and responsible governance for decades to come.

The City Council maintains its role as the fiscal body for the city, and residents have more direct representation with both an additional district and at-large councilman. The balance of power is improved as the mayor is no longer the council's presiding officer and there are two more representatives overseeing the city's financial wellbeing.

Regardless if an elected Clerk Treasurer or professional Controller is handling the day-to-day financial operations, the council maintains its role as the fiscal body and approves claims and budgets. Moving to a Second Class City would have strengthened the City Council and ensured we have the proper structure as we grow.

There are examples of the benefits of a Second Class City structure all over the state and here in our own backyard. In fact, of the 27 cities in Indiana that qualify, Westfield is one of only two that has not made the move to Second Class. Of the cities who have, none has seen its council lose any oversight or control over its community's finances. As Westfield continues to grow in population, I feel it is important to provide our residents the proper, full representation outlined in Indiana's laws.

Second Point

This decision is beyond one person and quite frankly one council. It is about setting up a form of government resenting District 1.

50,000 - let alone 70,000,which is where we will most likely be by the time we can vote on this again.

This is why of the 27 cities in Indiana qualifying for Class 2, all but Merrillville and Westfield have made the move. There is a roadmap to follow to ensure we do this the right way, and I am confident the city is ready.

Some are concerned that giving the mayor the ability to hire a controller impacts the balances of power. I just don't see it that way.

First, I doubt our state legislatures would create a system that takes away oversight of municipal finances the more complex it becomes. This defies logic. Second, the City Council still has oversight of the budget and expenditures, and the Department of Local Government Finance will continue to audit annually. Nothing changes. In fact, in a Class 2 city, you would have more oversight with two additional people on council looking at the numbers.

Most importantly, I know the value as a businessman of having a financial expert on staff that can guide the city through the numerous challenges we face as we continue to grow. Our budget has exceeded $100 million, and we need a professional controller moving forward to ensure our city is making the best financial decisions on behalf of the taxpayer.

Westfield's own Cailyn Henderson takes top spot at state amateur golf tournament

Bv RICHIE HALL sports@readthereporter.com

Cailyn Henderson will soon begin her dream of making it onto the professional golf tour, but last Friday, she won the state's biggest amateur tournament.

The Westfield graduate triumphed at the Indiana Women's Golf Association's Women's State Championship, Amateur which finished last Friday at Delaware Country Club in Muncie. Henderson won the three-day, 54-hole event by four strokes with a score of 217, totaling four over par for the tournament.

Henderson led by one after the first round, scoring a 72. She then totaled another 72 for the second round, making three birdies both days. Henderson scored 73 for her Friday third round, draining one additional birdie.

"I played well," said Henderson. It was her best-ever finish at the Women's Amateur.

Four local girls help Munciana Peppers sweep volleyball nationals in Florida

By RICHIE HALL sports@readthereporter.com

For four days in Florida, the Munciana 120 Peppers volleyball team was unstoppable.

The Peppers competed in the 49th AAU Junior Nationals tournament in June in Orlando. Playing in the Open Division, which features the highest level of competition, the Peppers claimed the national championship, going 12-0 over the four-day event.

"It is very difficult not to lose at all during nationals week," said Kylie Johnson, head coach of the Peppers. "Not to get complacent, not to let nerves factor in. It's just very difficult to do."

Four Hamilton County girls were on the team, and each had a big role to play. The local girls include three from Westfield - Eva Clevenger, Brooke Neale and Eden Wise - and Haili Winkle from Fishers. The Westfield girls are incoming seventh graders, while Winkle will be going into eighth grade.

The Peppers easily won all their matches on the first day of the tournament. On the second day, the team found itself down 14-8 in the third set against an opponent. Since all the matches at nationals were best-of-three sets, that meant the Peppers found themselves down several match points.

But instead, the Peppers came back to win. Amelia Howell served for the team as it came back to 14-14, and eventually the Peppers itself into the tournament's and their contributions to won the third set 18-16 and the match.

Amelia is the daughter of Peppers assistant coach Keri Howell.

"I didn't realize how confident she was in her serve," said Keri Howell. "I have four daughters that play vol-nent at hand. In the nationals traveled back and forth from situation, we just really focused on every single point, every single game. Each day we just started over. But you could feel the momentum climbing after Day 3, after we were still undefeated."

That momentum carried fourth and final day. The Peppers swept through all three of their matches in straight as an All-American at the sets. That included a two-set victory in the championship game over A5 from Atlanta, Ga., 25-16, 25-22.

The Peppers led early in the first set at 10-7, then job," said Howell. "This leyball. Amelia's aggressive serving was paired with the stellar front-row play of Kyra Murry.

"She had at least two kills and one big-time block," said Keri Howell. "Amelia's overpasses, and Kyra was able to have flawless attacks and blocks that allowed us to keep getting points, so it was a great team effort."

The Peppers kept their unbeaten record intact on Day 3 of the tournament, winning two of their three matches in three sets to improve to 9-0. That would move them into the championship bracket.

"We've been waiting for her get several aces in the final server," said Johnson. "She is just tough as nails behind the service line. And she would serve big points for us. She would not get nervous or rattled. She would just go in and do her job."

> The Peppers had been practicing for months, and they finally achieved their goal two weeks ago.

> "They want to be there, they want to work hard, and they want to put in the time because they know they're one of the top teams in the nation, and if they can put forth the effort, they can be successful at the national tournament," said Howell.

The Peppers can now say they were successful at the national tournament, with a banner and a trophy to prove it.

Indy AlleyCats catch Thunderbirds off guard

Bv RICHIE HALL sports@readthereporter.com

WESTFIELD – The beginning of the Indianapolis AlleyCats' game with Pittsburgh last Saturday featured an offensive milestone, while the ending of the game saw a big defensive play that clinched a victory for the 'Cats.

What goes around comes around, and the AlleyCats returned to their sideline with a 28-26 win over the Thunderbirds at Grand Park Events Center. As a result, Indianapolis improved to 5-3 and stayed in third place in the AUDL Central Division, which is significant because the top three teams in each division qualify for the league playoffs.

First things first: The AlleyCats scored the game's first goal just 32 seconds into the contest. Cameron Brock caught a pass from Rick Gross, and that gave Brock has 800th score for his AUDL career.

"I think it just means I've been playing a long time," said Brock. "I've been on the offensive line since the first season, so I've played a lot of games. The thing I'm more zoned in on, honestly, this season is just my completion percentage. It's great when you're catching goals and all that, and that gets your attention. But the biggest thing I'm concerned about is just making sure that we keep the disc whenever I catch it, so whether I'm catching it in the end zone and the possession is over, or catching it somewhere else."

Brock was doing quite a bit of catching the disc in the end zone, as he scored four of the AlleyCats' first six goals. Indy led 6-3 with 3:25 left in the first quarter after Brock grabbed a pass from Levi Jacobs.

Pittsburgh made a run after that, getting within 7-5 by the end of the quarter, then opening the second period with three straight scores to

After the Thunderbirds' initial outburst, the two teams traded goals for a few minutes, so Pittsburgh stayed ahead 12-11 at the 4:26 mark. That's when the 'Cats were finally able to get consecutive scores: Carter Rae threw a 25-yard pass to Lucas Coniaris to tie the game, then Indy caused a throwaway to get the disc back, and the end result was a 24-yard throw from Carter Rae to Jacobs.

Softball success is in Carmel grad's blood Former Greyhound champ Kelsi Clark now a winning coach & mother

By RICHIE HALL sports@readthereporter.com

Kelsi Clark has pretty much done it all when it comes to playing softball.

She was a member of Carmel High School's state championship team back in 2011, when she was Kelsi Jones. Clark then went on to play collegiately at the University of Louisville, and even won a professional championship as part of the Chicago Bandits in 2015.

Now, Kelsi is known as Coach Clark, supervising the Harrison Raiders. This is her third year of coaching at Harrison High School in West Lafayette and it's been the most successful yet, as Harrison made its way to the Class 4A state championship game, which the Raiders played on June 11 at Purdue University.

Taking a team to state as a young coach is impressive in itself, but it was even more remarkable because Clark also became a mother right at the beginning of the season. mascot made the Raiders' sea-Her son Cooper was born on March 19.

"Towards the end of my pregnancy, we knew we were going to be cutting it close to the beginning of the season," said Clark. But the timing of Cooper's birth worked out perfectly, as it took place during Harrison's Spring Break.

Clark was able to get back to coaching not long after the birth.

"The coaching part seemed easy," said Clark. "They gave me so much grace and they were patient and understanding, and as a first-time mom, I had no idea what to expect. To even think that I could have a baby and coach their first game 13 days later was probably crazy on my part. But I couldn't imagine taking the season off. I didn't want to do that to the girls. I took maternity leave from my real job, but I wasn't taking maternity leave from coaching."

Fortunately, Clark had a very supportive network of family, players, team parents, and an accommodating administration with her at all times.

"I don't know how many moms offered to hold him or walk him around in the stroller," said Clark. "I never felt a lack of love and support in our little Harrison softball community."

And Cooper found himself with a new extended family as well. Clark said the Harrison players called him "their little mascot." He was in the dugout during practice. While it was definitely a crazy season, Clark said she couldn't imagine going through the season without her newborn.

"All my girls love him, and I can't wait for him to grow up in that team atmosphere and just year in and year out have a bunch of big sisters to love on him," said Clark. "I'm just really proud to have been able to do that."

MAGICAL RUN

Having Cooper as their son all the more special. Harrison cruised to a 28-2 season in 2022 on its way to the 4A title game. The Raiders beat Avon 7-4 in their season-opener, then fell to Cathedral 5-2 in their second game. Harrison would not lose again until the state championship, racking up 27 consecutive victories.

"It was really exciting, just because we made it further than I think even maybe some of our players expected coming into this season," said Clark. "Obviously, we had a magical run there where we ries as a coach as well.' won 27 games in a row.'

The coach said during the season, the Raiders were on cloud nine and didn't look at their success as a big, long win streak, but instead just took everything one game at a time and one week at a time. When the post-season started. Clark told her players to throw records out the window, "because anybody can beat anybody."

"We can't let up at any

Harrison softball coach Kelsi Clark will never forget the Raiders' 2022 season. Clark became a mother right at the beginning of the season, then coached Harrison to a 28-2 record, including a trip to the Class 4A state championship game.

point," said Clark. "They re- noise and soaking in the exally embraced it."

Harrison the won McCutcheon sectional, claiming its fourth straight title by beating Kokomo 5-1 in the semi-finals and Logansport 8-0 in the championship. That sent the Raiders down to Noblesville for the regional game, where Harrison beat the Millers 5-2 to win its first regional since 2013. Clark said her team "just found ways to win."

"It was a lot of fun watching it all happen, said Clark. "You can get caught up in the day-to-day coaching and not taking it all in. Going into the state championship game, I really wanted to take it in for myself. As a player, I have the memories from our state championship run and I really wanted to have those memo-

Clark was a senior when Carmel won its 4A state title in 2011, back when the game was at Ben Davis. The Greyhounds beat Avon 1-0 in eight innings. Clark said she used her playing experience "a lot as a coach," noting that for many of her players, the state championship game that Harrison played in is the biggest game they'll ever play in. She said that "quieting the outside perience" was something that she preached to her girls leading up to the big game.

"It's been 11 years and I have memories of that game and what came after, but I really wish I would've soaked in that week a little more, because it went so fast," said Clark. "Our fans, our community, our parents really made it special for the girls. They did something special for them every day. That helped them to soak it all in and really make memories that last a lifetime."

Harrison played Roncalli in the 4A state championship game. The Royals were going for a second consecutive state title and an unbeaten season, and they got it, overwhelming the Raiders 16-0.

Roncalli pitcher Keagan Rothrock has been getting most of the attention for the Royals and continued to prove why she is bound for the University of Florida, striking out 15 while giving up just two hits in the championship game.

"Keagan is tremendous pitcher," said Clark. "Having played with some of the best pitchers in the world, it takes a lot to really impress me when it comes to pitching, especial-

She spun the ball really well. She didn't have to overpower us. She did enough to move the ball through the zone, we didn't really have a shot."

But it was Roncalli's offense that got everyone's attention, as the Royals set new state championship records in the three main offensive categories. Roncalli's 16 runs were a record, and all 16 were RBIs, another record. The Royals got a record 18 hits as well.

"They came out and hit the ball better than any team I saw this season," said Clark. "When they were hitting the ball, they definitely weren't missing. Every ball was hit hard. And that's a statement to them as a hitting team."

Even with the defeat to Roncalli, it was still an amazing year for Harrison. Clark was named as the coach of the Raiders for the 2020 season, but that year was canceled due to COVID. So, over the past two seasons, Clark has a 49-10 record as the Raiders' coach.

Clark wants to continue to develop high standards for the Harrison team. The Raiders have won 20 sectional titles overall, but only seven regional titles.

To be able to move on ly from a high school junior. to regionals and to be able to compete in regionals are totally different things," said Clark. "We've won our sectional four consecutive seasons, four sectional championships, but not much to show for it. I was really just laying the groundwork for the kind of program that I wanted to have, and that was one that expected championships."

Clark said she doesn't think a program can be successful if it is setting the bar at a sectional championship being enough. "We do things a little bit differently," she said, and that seems to be carrying over to her players.

"For the first time, they were going through practice with a championship mentality," said Clark. "We weren't accepting mediocrity. We were doing things the right way."

That includes everything Clark has learned throughout her career – as a high school, college and pro player. "It would be silly to not use that experience," she said.

And that experience is making things fun and exciting for Harrison, both for players and some veteran coaches alike, including one of Clark's volunteer assistant coaches, 78-year-old Frank Knox -"this season was the best time of his life," said Clark.

I was born and raised right here in Noblesville. I grew up in a home without domestic violence or assault - it wasn't something I saw, or even heard about. But when I was introduced to Prevail of Central Indiana, I was shocked by the number of individuals who are affected by domestic violence. In 2018 alone, Prevail helped more than 4,000 clients in Hamilton County (nearly 80 percent of clients are women and children). Domestic violence and abuse are hard topics to discuss, so you don't often hear about them. But at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, we're breaking the taboo and raising awareness for Prevail, an organization that helps families in Hamilton County.
