Carmel, Westfield send 7 students to national leadership conference

Carmel's own Sanjana Jain No. 1 in Fashion Design

The REPORTER

More than 150 Family, Career and Community Leaders of America (FCCLA) members, advisers, alumni, and guests from around Indiana gathered June 29 to July 3 in San Diego, Calif., for the FCCLA National Leadership Conference. The students represented 19 schools from Indiana.

Locally, four students representing the Carmel High School FCCLA chapter and three from the Westfield High School Foodies Rock chapter participated in nationals.

The National Leadership Conference had an attendance of over 7,000. The theme of this year's conference was "Make It Count," which inspired attendees to share how they make it count while exploring career opportunities, developing leadership skills, and growing personally while making a difference in their families and communities.

FCCLA is a national organization that works with students in Family and Consumer Sciences and is described as the "Ultimate Leadership Experience." Throughout the conference, members attended sessions focused on leadership and career development in CTE pathways.

Hoosier students competed in skill and knowledge demonstrations, called STAR Events, related to their studies in the field of Family and Consumer Sciences.

To participate at the National Leadership Conference, a student had to place in the top 2 at

Gathering non-identifying information

Thanks to a fantastic babysitting co-op through our church, John and I were able to go out on a date with each other twice a month despite our low finances. Sometimes we would just have a picnic and listen to the free concerts offered on our beautiful historic downtown square in Noblesville. Other times we would go out for pizza and visit Target – gasp – all by ourselves. This was a real treat for parents of two small children.

I remember our conversations sometimes drifting to the topic of me potentially searching for my birthparents. John would talk about his frustration over my mother's feelings. He could see that I was torn, and that deep down I was beginning to feel a desire to search for my biological family.

A couple of my closest friends also discussed the subject with me. They shared John's frustration. But I want to be clear. I didn't, nor do I currently, feel any animosity toward my mother about her feelings. Being a mother myself, I have often tried to put myself in her position.

Fred Glynn wins GOP primary race for Indiana House District 32

The REPORTER

The Reporter has learned that the recount for the newly remapped Indiana House District 32 race is complete. Republican Fred Glynn won his party's primary election by a slightly wider margin than originally reported following the May election.

Glynn

The only changes were found in absentee ballots, some of which were mislabeled as Democratic ballots but were, in fact, Republican ballots. All those votes went in Glynn's favor. While no official has been released from state or county election boards as of press time, The Reporter anticipates Glynn to have won by additional six votes, making his margin of victory 12 votes over Suzie Jaworowski.

When asked for comment, Glynn said, "I am very pleased that the primary victory was confirmed by the recount. I look forward to uniting Republicans and working to achieve victory in the fall."

The new House District 32 encompasses portions of Clay and Delaware townships in southern Hamilton County, as well as a small slice of northern Marion County.

Glynn will face off against Democrat Victoria Garcia Wilburn in November.

How would I feel if my sons were adopted and one day they announced to me that they wanted to find their biological parents? I'm sure a part of me would be a bit nervous about what they would find and how close they would get to their birth family. But obviously, I would certainly be supportive of whatever they wanted to do.

I finally made a decision. I decided I would search for my birth parents after my mother passed away in the future. Mom was in her late 70s at the time. Of course, I loved her very much and wanted her to live as long as possible. I figured waiting 10, 15, or 20 years or so would be OK.

I did take one baby step in 2009. I decided to at least find some non-identifying information, hopefully medical. But where to begin?

I contacted Catholic Charities, formerly Catholic Social Services, of southwestern Ohio. Since I was born in Good Samaritan hospital in Cincinnati, I figured they were the actual agency that handled my adoption. But I discovered that the correct branch was the Fort Wayne / South Bend one in Indiana, where I was raised. I called that office and asked what my options were as far as finding out non-identifying information.

They kindly directed me to the St. Joseph County probate court that handled the legal aspects of my adoption. A warm, courteous woman named Laura told me on the phone that she could look up certain pieces of information and share them with me. She took down my birth date and other information and promised to get back to me soon.

Two days later, Laura called me back. For the first time in 38 years, I learned pieces of my history. I was shaking so hard it was difficult to write down the information she gave me on a legal pad.

Advocating for Victims of Crime & Abuse

I was born and raised right here in Noblesville. I grew up in a home without domestic violence or assault - it wasn't something I saw, or even heard about. But when I was introduced to Prevail of Central Indiana, I was shocked by the number of individuals who are affected by domestic violence. In 2018 alone, Prevail helped more than 4,000 clients in Hamilton County (nearly 80 percent of clients are women and children). Domestic violence and abuse are hard topics to discuss, so you don't often hear about them. But at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, we're breaking the taboo and raising awareness for Prevail, an organization that helps families in Hamilton County.

Do you want to be a Christian and a Christian alone?

As a country, state and county we will soon enter into another contentious political season. Are you a Democratic, Republican, Libertarian or unattached? To whom do you give your allegiance? What determines your political allegiance? Rest easy this is not a political ad nor is it intended to promote any party or candidate. I want us to think for a moment about what brings us to that conclusion.

When we consider our religious affiliation, what leads us to make that decision? This decision is far more significant than making a commitment to a political party or candidate. If God is who He says He is and Jesus is His Son, it behooves us to surrender and submit to Him and Him alone! God will not accept divided devotion and thus we would call on all men to worship Him and Him alone. Repeatedly in the Old Testament, we read of commands to worship Him and Him alone. Enshrined in the Law was the command to “worship no other god, for the LORD, whose name is Jealous, is a jealous God” (Exodus 34:14). Paul warned of the danger of provoking God to jealousy (1 Cor. 10:22).

Why not leave any commitment to a church founded by men, not provoke God to jealousy and seek to be a Christian and a Christian alone? Is that idea intriguing? Does it seem reasonable? Let’s investigate that together.

Congress must be proactive, implement proper oversight & joint Ukraine task force

It is appalling to me that some are now suggesting that support for oversight of over $50 billion in aid to Europe – not all which is committed directly to Ukraine – is somehow “pro-Kremlin.”

On the contrary, lack of oversight only creates unnecessary risks that can be taken advantage of by our adversaries.

I would go so far as to say that anyone saying accountability is not necessary is “pro-Kremlin” because the only side that benefits from weapons not ending up in the right hands is the Russian side. Whether it's Ukrainians dying on the battlefield because they run out of ammunition, or false flag attacks using U.S. weapons, only Russia wins when America doesn't know where its taxpayer-funded support goes.

Proper oversight and streamlined logistic processes will have the following key benefits to Ukraine and the United States:

1. Provide assurances for American taxpayers, so our electorate will continue to support aid to Ukraine.
2. Improve efficiency and speed of delivery of aid to the frontline.
3. Mitigate risks of sabotage by countries like Russia, China, Iran, or others.

These benefits are clear. I am not sure why any of my colleagues would think that Congress being proactive – so we do not have to go searching for our weapons in Syria or Mexico – is somehow a bad idea, considering our increased level of delivery of advanced systems overseas.

Health officials: Indiana ready for new suicide prevention hotline number

By GARRETT BERGQUIST
WISH-TV | wishtv.com

State health officials on Thursday said the new suicide prevention number is just one part of expanded mental health services in Indiana.

Saturday is the deadline for all states and phone carriers to launch the new 988 hotline. The number builds on the National Suicide Prevention Lifeline's existing infrastructure.

Dr. Chris Drapeau, the state Division of Mental Health's executive director of prevention, suicide prevention and crisis response, said Indiana already has three Lifeline call centers in Gary, Muncie, and Lafayette. Two more in Indianapolis and Fort Wayne are adding staff and ready to begin taking calls, one of which already manages the state's Be Well Crisis Helpline.

Answering calls is personal for Morgan Chafin. She went through a mental health crisis a few years ago and had suicidal thoughts, though she didn't use the lifeline. Now a psychology major at Ball State, she took a job in November as a call handler with A Better Way in Muncie, one of the state's lifeline call centers. She said she's excited for the new number.

"I know that when I was in that position, just someone listening and being able to understand what I was going through would have helped a ton," Chafin said. "And so it's super rewarding knowing that I'm that listening ear for someone."

Mercedes Carr, A Better Way's primary prevention coordinator, said her organization has been preparing for the 988 rollout since the federal law that created it was signed two years ago. She said recruiting call handlers has been pretty easy, even for overnight and weekend shifts.

"You have people who are really seeing the need for suicide awareness and suicide prevention, and so there have been more people who have been interested in those types of positions," she said.

Nationwide, mental health advocacy groups have raised concerns that call centers might not be able to handle the increased call volume that might accompany the new number. Drapeau said he doesn't expect that to happen in Indiana. He said Indiana's in-state lifeline answer rate rose from 50 to 70 percent of calls over the past two years despite losing two lifeline call centers during the same period. He said national overflow centers are being set up to supplement state call centers, but excess out-of-state phone traffic won't be rerouted into Indiana. Drapeau said to expect to get routed to an out-of-state call center if you have a phone with an out-of-state area code as the 988 system doesn't yet have geolocating capability.

Officials said the Lifeline's old number, 1-800-273-8255, will still work. Indiana also has its 211 call system, which includes the Be Well Helpline, available at option 3. Drapeau said call handlers will be able to transfer callers to a 988 center if it becomes apparent the caller is experiencing a mental health crisis.

No transfer capability currently exists between the 988 system and the state's 911 dispatch centers, which come into play for life-threatening emergencies. Drapeau said officials are investigating ways to integrate the two systems and are awaiting federal guidance.

Indiana gets $110M to boost mental health & addiction funding

The REPORTER

Indiana Lt. Gov. Suzanne Crouch reacted to Thursday's announcement that nearly $110 million in public and private funding will be issued soon to bolster the campaign to reduce mental health and addiction issues in Indiana.

The Indiana Family and Social Services Administration's (FSSA) Division of Mental Health and Addiction is administering the release of both state and federal funds.

"Today's announcement that $109.8 million is being allocated in the near future to fight the mental health and addiction crisis in Indiana is great news," Crouch said. "In our post-pandemic world, mental health issues have exploded around the country, and Indiana is no exception. This money is desperately needed."

"I'm also happy to see that some of the public and private funds are being dedicated to attracting more professionals to the mental health field. Throughout the industry, there are staffing shortages at facilities and a lack of qualified doctors. For us to truly make an impact, we need to get more people involved in this battle."

In the press conference announcing the funding and grants, FSSA Secretary Dan Rusyniak, M.D., thanked Governor Eric Holcomb and Lt. Governor Crouch for their support in the fight against mental health and addiction issues. In 2021, Lt. Governor Crouch launched the Indiana Roundtable on Mental Health, which she co-chairs with former Eli Lilly CEO John Lechleiter. She formed the Roundtable to address what she considers one of Indiana's biggest challenges – mental health and addiction.

"One in five Hoosiers struggle with mental health and addiction issues, yet many aren't sure where to turn for help," Crouch said. "We all know someone impacted by mental health issues and addiction. So, I'm also excited to see the launch of 988 will take place this weekend. Now, Hoosiers experiencing mental health-related distress may call 988 to connect to a trained specialist. This is a much-needed service."

Thomas E. Cook

January 1, 1939 – June 24, 2022

Thomas E. Cook, “Tom,” or T.C., was born on January 1, 1939, in Boyds, Wash., north of Colville.

Tom was born before World War II, and while his parents were busy working on the war efforts at Boeing Aircraft in Olympia, Wash., his mother, Alice Julia Enquist Ewell, was sewing parachutes for all the services and his stepfather was in the delivery of parachutes.

Tom attended his first years of school at Coulee City, Wash., where a lot of people were working on the famous Grand Coulee Dam. After his parents divorced when he was about 10, he moved to Colville, Wash., where he continued his grade school, finishing grades 1 through 5.

Tom was a wonderful whistler and loved to sing to himself in the bam while working. A friend, one day, heard him singing in the barn and immediately said to Tom, “What a lovely voice you have. Please come with me, and my daughter will play the piano and you sing.” Well, that started his “career.” Later on, he was included in many talent shows through the years. One time he was asked to sing on Spokane’s KXLY radio talent show. As a young man, he was asked to sing at school gatherings, dances, weddings, and funerals. He just loved to sing! “O, Danny Boy” and “Amazing Grace.” Tom was a very special guy to so many folks all his life and he will be dearly missed.

Ben Cook and Alice were married in Colville, Wash. Ben Cook was a very stable family man and gave the family what they needed to meet this world. Soon after the marriage, Ben Cook, who had no previous children, adopted all three children, Tom, Gary and Sandy. They all enjoyed the farm life for the first time, where they had cows, horses, pigs, chickens and rabbits, and in the summer months, they bailed the hay. Later, the “happy family” moved to Riggins, Idaho, in 1952, where Tom completed his high school in 1958.

After high school, he worked in the logging industry, and even got bucked off a few horses at the local rodeo. During this time, he got hooked on motorcycles and he enjoyed many great rides with friends, one time ending up on the pavement on his butt in his brother’s brand new $3.25 Levi’s, all ripped up to heck!

In 1961, he entered the 101st Army Airborne in Fort Campbell, Ky., where he found a love of the sky. He was honorably discharged in 1963.

After his Army service, he entered the steel business, building tall office buildings all over. Tom was a good and hard worker. This later led to work in the airline business, where he built and repaired the walkways between the airport and the airplanes. Down the road, he got involved with other businesses and his final venture of “Loving the Sky” and his desire to learn how to fly. He was working on getting his license renewed at the time of his passing. He went up and took a ride every Tuesday. He was working on bringing back the excitement of the small airplanes in America with a partner, and they would find old planes and bring them back to refabricate.

He passed away in Nevada on June 24, 2022, at his sister’s home.

He was a friend to everyone. He helped everybody. Rest in peace, Tom! Now, we will sing for you.

You’re flying high in the sky, Tom!

A Celebration of Life will be held at noon on Saturday, Aug. 13 at Atlanta Christian Church, 200 E. Main St., Atlanta. Family asks for those in attendance to wear a mask.

TODAY’S BIBLE READING

Endure hardship as discipline; God is treating you as his children. For what children are not disciplined by their father? If you are not disciplined—and everyone undergoes discipline—then you are not legitimate, not true sons and daughters at all. Moreover, we have all had human fathers who disciplined us and we respected them for it. How much more should we submit to the Father of spirits and live! They disciplined us for a little while as they thought best; but God disciplines us for our good, in order that we may share in his holiness. No discipline seems pleasant at the time, but painful. Later on, however, it produces a harvest of righteousness and peace for those who have been trained by it.

Therefore, strengthen your feeble arms and weak knees. “Make level paths for your feet,” so that the lame may not be disabled, but rather healed.

Some of the best young basketball players in the country are making Hamilton County their home for the weekend.

USA Basketball is hosting the 2022 U.S. Open Basketball Championships at two sites in the county: The Pacers Athletic Center at Grand Park in Westfield, and Finch Creek Fieldhouse in Noblesville. Tournament play began on Wednesday and is continuing through Sunday.

Both boys and girls are competing at the U.S. Open in five different divisions: 12U, 13U, eighth grade, ninth grade and 10th grade. Teams have come from all over the country to compete, from California to Massachusetts and all states in between.

Indiana has several teams, including several from Grand Park. Two were in action Thursday afternoon simultaneously at the Pacers Athletic Center: Grand Park Premier – 2024 Black and Grand Park Premier – 2024 Red. Both teams won their games easily, with Black beating Phills Sports Academy (Ill.) 88-33 and Red defeating Pick Enroll (Mass.) 95-54.

“I think the team is playing pretty well,” said Albert Barte, one of the coaches for 2024 Red. “I think offensively we’re moving the basketball pretty well. I think defensively we could be a little bit better, but that’s just my higher expectation of them. But we’re getting there, locked in defensively.”

Teams are currently competing in pool play, with bracket play to begin on Saturday and continue on Sunday. Admission is $5 through Saturday, with children under 6 free. Championship Sunday is free to all spectators.

Why Colts rookie Alec Pierce already loves Indianapolis

By CHARLIE CLIFFORD
WISH-TV | wishtv.com

It did not take long for the Colts 2022 second round draft choice, Alec Pierce, to feel comfortable in his new home.

Later this month, Quarterback Matt Ryan's first training camp in Indianapolis is headlined by a battle at wide receiver that appears to be wide open behind No. 1 target Michael Pittman Jr.

Ahead of the Colts report date on Tuesday, July 26, Pierce handed the 2016 NFL MVP a major compliment following his first minicamp in Indy.

"He (Ryan) is a great leader," Pierce said. "He could basically run this offense and this team by himself. He's that good of a leader. It's pretty cool to see."

Starring at the University of Cincinnati, 100 miles southeast of Indianapolis, Pierce spent time during OTAs and minicamp checking out the circle city, and discovered he did not need to ask around for any dinner recommendations.

"It's cool. I like the town, it reminds me a lot of Cincinnati," Pierce told News 8. "I have only had one week here to go around a little bit, but I was down on Massachusetts Avenue and saw The Eagle, Bakersfield, and I think they have Tin Roof here too, which are all in Cincinnati. It kind of reminds me of college, so it feels like home."

In addition to the familiar downtown spots, Pierce left minicamp drawing rave reviews from the Colts coaching staff. Pierce, who graduated with a degree in mechanical engineering in three-and-a-half years, reportedly picked up the Colts playbook at warp speed.

"Alec (Pierce) has looked really good," Colts Head Coach Frank Reich said. "I mean really good. He's really acclimated well; it seems like he's been here a long time. Matt (Ryan) and I were just talking about that today. He just does a couple of things instinctively that are really good signs. I think some of that is Matt and how smart he is and knowing how to use him, but some it is Alec. He's a smart player – not just smart but instinctive. There is a difference and he looks like he has both of those things."
