Noblesville's original DQ dies for Unpleasant Street project

The valley of disappointment

By STU CLAMPITT
news@readthereporter.com

Cathy Zeller has worked at Noblesville's Dairy Queen, 798 S. 10th St., since it was on a different corner of the same intersection. Today she will serve the last handmade Dilly Bars and Buster Bars in Hamilton County.

On Saturday she was working her 10th straight 12-hour day, running the DQ with workers from Greenfield, Shelbyville and Tipton locations, just trying to keep up with the influx of customers who want one last taste before the store closes forever. This DQ will soon be torn down and paved over by the Reimagine Pleasant Street project, which many are calling the Unpleasant Street project.

"I'm going to do my best to be open until at least one or two o'clock, but right now I'm running out of stuff rapidly," Zeller told The Reporter. "We've already pumped 220 gallons of [ice cream] mix since Wednesday. I'm going to go to Elwood and see if I can get another 50 gallons from them. If I do that, I should be able to be open until two o'clock tomorrow. Isn't that crazy?"

This influx of customers started as soon as El Camino closed on Tuesday, July 26.

"People knew it was in the cards at that point, without us saying a word," Zeller said. "It got really crazy when somebody posted on social media that Wednesday [July 27] was our last day. I posted our closing date as this Sunday on that Wednesday afternoon. I wasn't going to post it until Thursday morning because I knew what would happen. I had to go ahead and post because the town was going crazy that they had no notice. The craziness started Wednesday."

Zeller has worked on the intersection of 10th and Pleasant streets for 29 years. After the store closes, Zeller laughed and said she is taking a four-week vacation.

"I have worked 12-hour days since last Wednesday, so this is my 10th day and it's not going to end until we get the store emptied out," Zeller said. "So, I'm going to need those four weeks off. After that I'm not ready to quit working, but I'm ready to cut back. We are owned by J.D. Restaurants, the Reasner family. I will do something for them. They are a great family to work for. I have worked for them for 33 years. They will have a spot for me someplace. They also own the Greenfield, Elwood and Tipton Dairy Queens and anyone here who has transportation will have a job."

Zeller said she and her crew only found out they would be closing this soon on Friday, July 22.

Have you ever had a moment when something you wanted, so badly, didn't come to fruition? Talk about spoiling the fruit of your hopes.

Yea, though I walk through the valley of disappointment, I will fear no hurt.

Have you ever wanted something so badly that when you didn't get it you just dwelled on the disappointment for hours ... okay, days?

Self-doubt enters the room. That is a large elephant that no one can see but you. Am I right?

What could I have done differently? What changes would I make in the future? Would I even try again?

Those vicious voices say you aren't good enough. Oh, how well I know those voices. They have haunted me since I was a little girl. Some days they are just really loud and hurtful. There is no duct taping their voices. Trust me, if I could, I would have done so, many years ago.

Candidates slow to come forward for school boards

With less than three weeks left in the filing period for school board candidates, relatively few have stepped forward to declare their intentions to run. This is surprising because earlier this year there was considerable interest expressed by members of the public in the curriculum and financial priorities in some of Hamilton County's six public school districts.

A total of 18 seats on non-partisan school boards are up for election Nov. 8. School boards determine spending for instruction, facilities and transportation for about 65,000 students in the county. In most local communities the school budget is the largest of any unit of government.

Most recent to file were Melba Kiser and Chuck Haberman II, both for at-large Noblesville seats, and earlier in the week, Doug Ozolins in Hamilton Heights' White River district and Julie Chambers in South-eastern's District 4.

As of Friday afternoon, there were only 15 candidates officially filed with the county elections office setting up four contests. And, no candidates have yet filed for six seats: three at Sheridan, three at Westfield and one at Carmel.

Qualifications for school board are basic: candidates must be a resident of the school district and a qualified voter in the district. Election officials predicted there will be more activity in the last few days prior to the filing deadline at noon Aug. 26.

Westfield Lions help 'Rock the Block'

The REPORTER

The Westfield Lions Club participated in the back-to-school event, "Rock the Block", hosted by the Westfield Education Foundation on Aug. 5. The Lions, along with numerous other community groups and organizations provided fun and games for the students and parents during the event.

The Lions also promoted their new clubhouse, located at 1031 E. 169th St., and provided information for Westfield High School students interested in joining the Leo Club (the Lions Club's youth organization). Along with this, the Lions set up a "Washer Toss" game for the students, who were rewarded with candy for their participation.

The Westfield Lions Club is a service organization that has been serving the citizens of Westfield since 1930. The Club is looking for men and women interested in making a difference for Westfield and for others in need. The Lions support Westfield Washington Schools with scholarships, grants, vision assistance and opportunities for community service work through the Leo Club. The Lions also provide support for several other organizations and events in the community. Go to westfieldlions.org to learn more about the Westfield Lions or to become a member.

Carmel's 'Rain on Main' painted barrel contest kicks off next week

The REPORTER

Rain on Main, the popular painted rain barrel contest and online auction presented by Carmel Utilities, Carmel Department of Storm Water Management and the Hamilton County Soil and Water Conservation District, kicks off Friday, Aug. 12 with a display of 20 decorated barrels in the Carmel Arts & Design District. The barrels will be prominently featured along Main Street through the following week before they are relocated to the Carmel Farmers Market.

The artistic barrel designs will be judged on opening weekend by an independent panel of judges and the first, second and third place artists will receive cash prizes. There will also be a People's Choice award based on individual barrel likes on the Rain on Main Facebook page from noon on Friday, Aug. 12 until 10 a.m. on Saturday, Aug. 20.

On Saturday, Aug. 20, the barrels will be on display at the Carmel Farmers Market before finding new homes with the highest bidders in the online silent auction.

Individuals can place and bid and register for the auction by texting RAIN to 88793 or visiting RainOnMain.com. The auction begins at noon on Aug. 12 and concludes at 11 a.m. on Aug. 20 at the market. Net proceeds from the auction will fund water education signage in Carmel Clay Parks, some of which have already been installed in Founders Park located at 116th Street and Hazel Dell Parkway. The People's Choice award winner will be announced live at the market at 10:45 a.m., just before the online auction concludes.

Rain on Main is made possible in part thanks to the sponsorship of Greenscape Geeks, a landscape architecture and landscaping company that specializes in sustainable and eco-friendly landscape design, installation and maintenance. The event is also supported by Tom Wood Collision Center, Sherwin-Williams Automotive Finishes and White's Ace Hardware, in addition to the following Rain on Main Barrel Sponsors: 2023 Carmel Marathon, Actors Theatre of Indiana, All Things Carmel,

“Up until then, we thought we were going to be here until the end of September,” Zeller said. “El Camino had to be out by the 31st, but the city gave us two more weeks.”

While The Reporter was at DQ on Saturday, the parking lot was full, the drive-up line was backed up into the street, the building was packed, and many people were eating their last local ice cream treats in their vehicles.

“This is really hard,” Zeller said, her voice cracking a bit. “There has been a Dairy Queen on this intersection for 68 years. It’s just hard. The community – they’re coming in wiping tears. You’ve witnessed it. They’re angry. They’re not angry at us, thank goodness!”

The original DQ sat diagonally across the intersection. Zeller was working for DQ when it was owned by Harvey and Ruby Tunget and when it moved to its current location.

“We moved into this building in ’75,” Zeller said. “Harvey and I worked overnight the night after we closed over there and rolled the equipment across the street. That’s a true story!”

Zeller said this DQ is the last location in the county where Dilly Bars and Buster Bars are made fresh on-site. Recently, one local woman bought so many that Zeller’s crew had to help her carry two grocery sacks full out to her car.

Resources permitting, you can get your last taste of local, handmade frozen treats today.

I remember my daughter, Emily, trying out for Grinder cheerleader when she was in the fifth grade. She had that routine perfected so much that she could have done it in her sleep. On the day of the try-outs, she came down with severe laryngitis. It threw her off her game ... literally. The judges said it was a “No” from them. I’m not sure who was more upset, me or her. It was made even more bitter when her best friend, Angie, made the cheerleader squad.

My daughter has taught me well. Emily showed up and cheered, for the Grinder Football team as well as for the cheerleaders. She came alongside her best friend (now her sister-in-law) and congratulated her. She stayed in the game. She just had a different place from which she was cheering.

Life brings us disappointments. What we do with those disappointments is the key to how we live our life.

You didn’t get the job. You didn’t get the votes. You didn’t get the promotion. You didn’t get the deal. You didn’t get the listing. You didn’t get the acceptance letter.

The expectation is high and then you get let down. The higher the expectation, the greater the letdown. Disappointment hurts. The hurt stings your heart.

Holding disappointment too long can bring about bitterness. The bitterness pill is never sweet. Don’t swallow it.

Disappointments are just heart injuries that heal with time ... sometimes, longer than we like.

Disappointments are challenges that spur you on or hold you back. The decision is yours.

This is where wisdom comes in. Disappointments may come to visit, but you don’t have to live with them.

Yesterday, I was in the valley of disappointment. Today? I am looking back, only for a moment. I have blessings to count and words to write. I also have people to cheer for!

The use of rain barrels to recycle rainwater for water conservation and gardening purposes is growing in popularity across the United States. Carmel Utilities and all the generous sponsors hope that through the Rain on Main artistic creations of painted barrels, more homeowners will add a barrel to their yard.

Rain barrels sit under gutter downspouts to collect and store rainwater from roofs that would otherwise be lost to runoff and diverted to storm drains, streams and rivers. The collected water can then be used to water plants in the landscape instead of using treated water which saves water and energy. Additionally, Carmel residents who install a rain barrel are eligible to apply for a $50 rebate per barrel from the City’s Storm Water Utility.

More information about Rain on Main and the rain barrel rebate can be found at RainOnMain.com or Facebook.com/RainOnMain.

PREVAIL

Advocating for Victims of Crime & Abuse

I was born and raised right here in Noblesville. I grew up in a home without domestic violence or assault - it wasn't something I saw, or even heard about. But when I was introduced to Prevail of Central Indiana, I was shocked by the number of individuals who are affected by domestic violence. In 2018 alone, Prevail helped more than 4,000 clients in Hamilton County (nearly 80 percent of clients are women and children). Domestic violence and abuse are hard topics to discuss, so you don't often hear about them. But at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, we're breaking the taboo and raising awareness for Prevail, an organization that helps families in Hamilton County.

Noblesville archer headed to world championships

Koteewi Archery to hold fundraiser for Mandy Boggs' travel expenses

The REPORTER

Five years ago, Mandy Boggs would never have dreamed she'd be representing the United States in an international archery tournament. But the 45-year-old Noblesville native and Koteewi Archery's own, as part of Team USA Archery, is heading to Stroncone, in the Province of Terni, Italy, to compete in the Rhinehart World Archery 3D Championships next month.

The World Archery Championships are held every two years at different locations throughout the world. The last such competition was held in 2019 and it was shortly after that tournament that Boggs was invited to join Team USA.

To do so required Boggs to prepare for the 2021 games. That preparation included rigorous training, followed by disappointment for her and other competitors when learning the games had been canceled due to COVID-19 restrictions. Undeterred, she continued her intense training, which paid off in a second-place finish at this year's trials, ensuring a place for her on this year's team.

Boggs is one of only 24 archers representing Team USA at the Rhinehart 3D Championships. The tournament, scheduled to take place Sept. 4 to 10, is comprised of seven days of shooting, with two qualification days of 48 arrows being shot each day, followed by a mixed team event that requires one male and one female from each style of shooting. To reach the finals, competitors must first advance through the quarterfinals and semifinals.

The competition is actually held on Roman ruins, making the games all the more special. While quartered in the historic ancient town of Stroncone, the athletes will not only be participating in the archery competition but will represent the United States in opening and closing ceremonies.

Boggs has been shooting for years, but within the last four years took her dedication to the sport to a much higher level. Archery has become a lifestyle for her, requiring a greater investment of time, and accepting the sacrifices necessary to elevate her game. Whether shooting recreationally, coaching the Koteewi Archery youth team, or competing for Team USA Archery, proudly wearing the red, white and blue, her commitment to the sport and competitive accomplishments

As in many world athletic events, to compete, athletes are solely responsible for not only purchasing their equipment, but also for funding their travels, including transportation, meals and accommodations.

To help Boggs cover the costs of representing the United States at the Rhinehart Championships, Koteewi Range will play host to a benefit shoot on Aug. 20 and 21. The fundraising tournament is open to all archers whether shooting recurve, compound or anything in between. Other fundraising activities at the shoot will include a silent auction, the sale of freshly-grilled hamburgers and hot dogs and an opportunity to meet Boggs and fellow Hoosier archer Kenny Jordan from Versailles, Ind., who will also compete for Team USA Archery.

The public is welcome to attend, whether to shoot the course, located in scenic Strawtown Koteewi Park or meet the archers in person. One hundred percent of the proceeds raised at the event and donations received during the month of August will go directly toward funding Boggs' and Jordan's trip to Stroncone as representatives of Team USA.

For more information about Boggs, the benefit shoot or to donate silent auction items, please contact Tony Girt by calling (317) 776-8472 between 10 a.m. and 8 p.m. or emailing koteewiarchery@gmail.com.

Fishers considering luxury condos near Nickel Plate Trail

The REPORTER

Alboher Development Company, Inc. and Birkla Investment Group, LLC announced Friday their proposal to build a five-story, mixed-use building at 8603 E. 116 St., Fishers, located at the intersection of Municipal Drive and 116 Street near the newly opened downtown hub of the Fishers Nickel Plate Trail.

The REV development will feature 36 for-sale condominiums, a parking garage, and 23,000 square feet of commercial and office space. The luxury condos, ranging from $600,000 to $1,000,000, will be the first of their kind as Fishers' first for-sale condominiums.

"The REV development provides us with a unique opportunity to diversify the housing market in Fishers," Fishers Mayor Scott Fadness said. "These condos will offer residents all the benefits of downtown living, but also an opportunity to build equity during a time when real estate options are limited. Combined with its emphasis on sustainability and the additional retail opportunities it will provide our community, the REV building is the perfect addition to our downtown cultural district."

The $35 million investment is the first new development announcement along the Nickel Plate Trail since the downtown portion opened in May, and the first condominium project along the trail.

"We are excited to expand the REV brand into Fishers," Tony Birkla, owner of Birkla Investment Group said. "REV at Proscenium sold out quickly, as buyers immediately saw value in the home quality, amenities and lifestyle. REV Fishers will continue our precedent for all-inclusive luxury community living with quality construction that exceeds expectations."

The building's eco-friendly design features a wood and glass façade, which will serve as a striking landmark in the bustling Nickel Plate Cultural District. The downtown district was designated as a Statewide Cultural District in 2018 by the Indiana Arts Commission (IAC).

"Having owned this property since 1986, I have seen dramatic changes to Fishers," Mike Alboher, President of Alboher Development said. "Having sorted through countless proposals on this property, I was not swayed until Steve Hardin introduced me and my daughter, Paige Pettenaro, to Tony Birkla and his team. We were so impressed with his team's vision for our site, things progressed quickly. Mayor Fadness and Megan Baumgartner shared our enthusiasm and worked tirelessly to make this happen. We believe this development perfectly fits the advancing evolution of our downtown area, filling both housing and retail needs."

The Fishers City Council will vote on the project agreement approving incentives at the Monday, Aug. 15 council meeting at Launch Fishers, 12175 Visionary Way.

Visit REVFishers.com for condo and commercial leasing information or to sign up for project updates.

Thinking of selling your home? Ask these questions

If you're thinking of selling your house, you probably have a lot of questions that need answers. In fact, asking the right questions is key to selling your home successfully and for the best price.

Here are some of the most important questions to ask:

- How much is our house likely to sell for on today's market? What should the listing price be? What are the selling costs?
- How long will it take to sell? What happens if our house takes longer than expected to sell?
- How do we prepare our house for the sale? Will we need to make any major improvements? Will we need to hire a contractor?
- What's 'home staging'? Will we need to hire a professional stager? Can we do some of that staging work ourselves?
- What happens when we get an offer? What if the offer price is lower than we can accept? How does the negotiation process work?
- What happens after an offer is accepted? What happens on closing day?
- How do we find a new home while selling our current one?
- Besides a good real estate agent, what other professionals do we need? How do we find them?
- What can we do to

GUEST COLUMNIST

make the selling process easier and less stressful?

Once you have answers to these questions, you'll find you'll be able to go into the selling process with a lot more confidence.

So, if you're thinking of selling this year, get the answers you need. Then, get the process started!

Time to prepare your home

When a buyer views your home for sale, they want to visualize themselves living there. They want to imagine cooking in the kitchen, relaxing in the living room, and enjoying get-togethers with family and friends.

However, when they see a baseball trophy on the mantle with your name on it, that visualization crumbles. That's why it's smart to depersonalize your home as much as possible when selling.

You don't have to go too far. Simply do what you can to remove items that scream "We live here!" Consider stowing items such as:

- Trophies, diplomas, certificates and anything else with a name prominently displayed on it.
- Personal and family pictures.
- Mementos, knick-knacks and other items of a personal nature.
- Notes, pictures, etc. on a fridge door or bulletin board.

Depersonalizing is a proven staging strategy that can help sell your home faster and for a better price. Depending on the number of personal items you have, you may be able to display them between viewings.

Ongoing road construction projects in Carmel

The REPORTER

The City of Carmel works diligently with consultants, contractors, utilities and others to develop schedules and complete projects in a timely manner. Despite these efforts there are times that delays, conflicts and procurement issues can have impacts to these schedules beyond the city's control. Your patience is greatly appreciated while the city works to make the roadways safer and more efficient.

West Smoky Row reconstruction

This project includes the reconstruction of Smoky Row Road, west of Range Line Road, including a new bridge over Little Cool Creek. Delays to the bridge construction will keep the road closed past the start of school on Wednesday, Aug. 10. The project is expected to be substantially complete and open to traffic before the year ends.

East Smoky Row slip lane at Keystone Parkway

This work will continue through October with no scheduled closures of the intersection.

Main Street roundabouts (Richland/Lexington) at Carmel High School

Roundabout work at Richland Avenue is anticipated to be substantially complete and open to traffic before school starts Aug. 10. The south side of the new Lexington Boulevard roundabout will be under construction as school begins with two-way traffic maintained on Main Street north of the construction. The Lexington Boulevard roundabout is anticipated to be complete in October with a scheduled traffic switch in mid-September to complete the north side of the roundabout.

Southbound Range Line Road

The southbound lane of Range Line Road closed on Aug. 1 between Red Truck Road and Gradle Drive for five days for utility work in preparation for the new addition to the Carmel Police Department. This work is adjacent to the former Huntington Bank site.

Keystone Bridge overlays/resurfacing of bridge decks

Work will consist of full closures of the bridges for east-west travel with on/off ramps for Keystone remaining open. Main Street is scheduled for weekend of Sept. 10 and 116th Street is scheduled for the weekend of Sept. 17. Concrete pavement patching on the southbound exit ramp from 116th Street to Keystone Parkway will take place Sept. 19 to 25 with no closure anticipated. All weekend closures will take place on Friday night with work taking place through late Sunday or early Monday morning.

116th Street & Range Line Road roundabout

Substantial completion of the roundabout is expected by the end of August with work continuing in the right-of-way through the fall.

106th Street & College Avenue roundabout

Construction on the roundabout will begin at the start of September. This will be a complete closure currently scheduled for 60 days.

College Avenue reconstruction

Planning for the reconstruction of College Avenue from 96th Street to 106th Street is currently ongoing. Construction is anticipated to begin in the Spring/Summer of 2023.

Monon Greenway reconstruction near Carter Green

This work between Gradle Drive and City Center is anticipated to be substantially complete by early November.

IMCU giveback program benefits Community Health Network Foundation

The REPORTER
Indiana Members Credit Union (IMCU) in June presented a check for $3,129 to Community Health Network Foundation as part of an ongoing debit card give back program.

The partnership allows IMCU members to show their support of the independent nonprofit hospital system by signing up for and using a Community Health Network debit card. Every time the card is used as a signature-based transaction, Community Health Network Foundation benefits. The more cards that are in use, the larger the contribution. Since beginning the program in 2017, Community Health Network Foundation has earned $14,734 through this IMCU giveback program.

IMCU's James Abbett and Thorpe Miller presented the check to Jennifer Bolander and Rob Baker of Community Health Network Foundation on June 8. Proceeds from the debit card give back program will benefit the Community Health Network Foundation Dale Fleming Fund, established in memory of Dale Fleming, an employee of the Human Resources department at Community Health Network who passed away after a long battle with cancer. The Dale Fleming Fund provides immediate assistance for funeral expenses, travel expenses for attending a funeral or caring for a terminally ill employee or immediate family member.

The card is available for issue to members at IMCU's 33 locations. The Community Health Network debit card is free to members with a free checking account and can be issued immediately via IMCU's Instant Issue program, which allows members to receive their debit card on the spot.

To support Community Health Network, those interested should visit an IMCU branch or imcu.com for details.

TODAY'S BIBLE READING

Listen, my dear brothers and sisters: Has not God chosen those who are poor in the eyes of the world to be rich in faith and to inherit the kingdom he promised those who love him? But you have dishonored the poor. Is it not the rich who are exploiting you? Are they not the ones who are dragging you into court? Are they not the ones who are blaspheming the noble name of him to whom you belong?

James 2:5-7 (NIV)

Dr. Paul K. Frederick

October 6, 1943 – August 4, 2022

Dr. Paul K. Frederick, 78, passed away August 4, 2022, surrounded by his family. He was born to Kenneth Frederick and Eleanor (Loudon) Frederick in Lake Forest, Illinois on October 6, 1943.

Paul graduated from Grinnell College in Iowa before attending medical school at Albany Medical College. He arrived at Indiana University in 1969 where he completed an internal medicine residency and a two-year fellowship in gastroenterology. Paul was a founding member of Indiana Gastroenterology, which was established in 1975. He also practiced medicine at Riverview Hospital in Noblesville and St. Vincent Hospital in Carmel and Indianapolis.

Paul moved to Westfield in 1980 when he married Judy in the back pasture of the home where they lived and loved for 42 years. Paul's passion was practicing medicine and he was truly sad to retire after 53 years. In his free time, he enjoyed gardening and excelled at tomatoes. He was an avid sports fan and never missed the Hoosiers, the Colts, or the Cubs. Paul was a proud pet dad to Rusty and Bowie. He cooked a mean trash can turkey, was a big fan of Diet Coke, loved every show on the ION network and was always up for his favorite dessert, a peanut buster parfait.

Paul will be dearly missed by his loving wife and best friend, Judy. He will forever remain in the hearts and minds of his children, Kim (Darren), Kelli (Scott), Kirstie, Colby (Precilla) and Gary (Kelly); as well as his grandchildren, Elias, Taylor, Jacob, Irie, Dane, Charlie, Bo and Finn. Paul is also survived by his brother Eric.

In addition to his parents, Paul was preceded in death by his brother, Mark, who passed away in 2021.

A memorial visitation will be held from 2 to 6 p.m. on Saturday, August 13, 2022, at Randall and Roberts Funeral Center, 1685 Westfield Road, Noblesville.

Roncalli High School wins in case involving former employee

AG Rokita calls court decision victory for religious liberty

The REPORTER

The 7th Circuit U.S. Court of Appeals ruled Thursday that Roncalli High School has the right to uphold church teachings on same-sex marriage in its hiring and firing decisions involving ministerial employees.

"All the leftist wokeism in the world cannot compete with the wisdom of America's founders as embodied in the First Amendment," Indiana Attorney General Todd Rokita said.

"Just like the founders, we must remain resolute in resisting governmental intrusion into matters of faith and doctrine. Hoosiers have the right to worship as they choose, and churches have the right to uphold the beliefs they consider sacred."

A former guidance counselor in a same-sex marriage filed a lawsuit in 2019 against Roncalli High School and the Archdiocese of Indianapolis after Roncalli opted not to renew her contract. Eventually, a U.S. district court ruled in the Catholic institution's favor, and the guidance counselor appealed.

"Folks have different viewpoints on same-sex marriage," Rokita said.

"But the fact remains that churches and religious institutions have the right to require their ministerial staff, including educators, to support and uphold their doctrinal teachings."

In January, Rokita led a 16-state amicus brief supporting Roncalli and the Archdiocese of Indianapolis.

The court's decision affirms that the position of guidance counselor at Roncalli qualified as a ministerial role.

Carmel confirms consistency is key

Carmel girls golfers bounce back in fifth tournament, Westfield's Brown dominates

By RICHIE HALL
sports@readthereporter.com

The first week of the high school girls golf season was a busy one for Carmel, but it was also a productive and successful week.

The No. 1-ranked Greyhounds played their fifth tournament in six days Saturday at the State Preview meet, which took place at Prairie View Golf Club. Carmel was involved in a tough battle with Westfield for most of the event before surging ahead during the final three holes and winning the team championship. The Greyhounds totaled a score of 305, while the Shamrocks were the runners-up with a 311.

CONSISTENT CARMEL

The word of the day for Carmel was consistency. All five of the Greyhounds' golfers finished in the top 22, including three landing in the top 10. Michaela Headlee led the way by taking second place, scoring a 74. Sophie Mock played solid, finishing in ninth with a 76, and Claire Swathwood tied for 10th place, totaling a 77.

Headlee and Mock each drained two birdies during their rounds, while Swathwood and Ava Nguyen both made one birdie.

"The girls came in with a strong game plan of just trying to avoid some of those big numbers that we've had in the past and they did a great job of it," said Carmel coach Kelly Kluesner. "As a team they were even on No. 9, which is unbelievable for us, and then they finished 16, 17 and 18 one under par as a team. They finished well."

The Greyhounds' victory at the State Preview meet was a bit of a rebound. Carmel had won its first three tournaments of the year before placing third at Thursday's Hamilton County meet. But the 'Hounds were back in the winner's circle again at Prairie View, a place that they and other teams hope to be at the end of September for the state tournament.

"They worked on a lot of things yesterday and can't be more proud of them to win four out of five invitations in the first week," said Kluesner.

SENSATIONAL SAMANTHA

Westfield was led by junior Samantha Brown, who turned in a tremendous performance at Prairie View. Brown finished with a six-under par 66 for her round, winning the individual championship by six strokes.

"I think I played well," said Brown. "I think I kept myself in position and when I got out of position, I did a great job of punching out, getting on the green and just trying to make that putt."

Brown started her round on hole No. 3, and she did so with an eagle. She would go on to make five birdies in her round.

"It was a good way to start the high school season because I wasn't here last week," said Brown. "This is my first high school event and it was nice to get out here and then just a little confidence boost on the first hole. It's what everybody needs."

Brown had played in the Junior PGA Championship at Cog Hill Golf & Country Club at Palos Park, Ill. Early in the week, where she made her way to the third day of the four-day tournament.

"I think it taught me a lot," said Brown. "And I think just managing my game, I learned a lot out there and just staying confident and knowing that good things are eventually going to come. If it's not that round, it could be the next round, so just to stay patient and good things will come."

The Westfield team also had a consistent day. Kelsey Haverluck added a 79, while Addi Kooi carded an 82. Haverluck made two birdies, while Kooi and Claire Thompson both had one.

"It was a good day for us," said Shamrocks coach Josh Bryant. "I love how we started. I think what Prairie View does is, it always teaches you where you are, some things that you need to work on. Carmel finished really well as a team and that's the difference. But certainly, we take a million positives."

ROYALS PLACE FOURTH

Hamilton Southeastern had a strong day, placing fourth as a team by scoring 333. (Castle took third with a 320). Janelle Garcia put together a good round with a 78, followed by Lauren Stewart with an 82. Stewart and Ella Bui both made one birdie.

"We're really excited about the way things turned out today," said Royals coach Steve Guenin. "Across the board, we were pretty consistent throughout each round. We all ran into some trouble spots and hit some bumps in the road, but I thought they did a nice job of bouncing back and keeping things together when things weren't going their way. Really excited for Janelle Garcia. First time coming out here, she moved around this course, really, really well. She's just a great addition to this team."

Noblesville scored a 340 to take sixth place. Caroline Whallon, fresh off winning the Hamilton County meet, continued her solid play by tying for fourth, scoring a 75. Whallon made three birdies in her round, while Jordan Adam and Josie Kelley each drained one.

McLaughlin wins NTT P1 award in frantic Nashville qualifying

The REPORTER

Scott McLaughlin won the NTT P1 Award for the Big Machine Music City Grand Prix on Saturday, grabbing his second career pole on his last flying lap in the Firestone Fast Six.

McLaughlin's best lap was 1 minute, 14.5555 seconds in the No. 3 DEX Imaging Team Penske Chevrolet on the 11-turn, 2.1-mile temporary street circuit that includes two trips per lap over the Korean War Veterans Memorial Bridge. The pole came after New Zealand driver McLaughlin led practice earlier in the day at 1:15.4609.

"The car was phenomenal," McLaughlin said. "We did that on one lap, used tires. One of those good laps."

The start of qualifying was delayed by 90 minutes due to afternoon thunderstorms and lightning that rumbled through downtown Nashville. The rain changed the grip level of the tricky, bumpy street circuit.

2021 NTT INDYCAR SERIES Rookie of the Year McLaughlin's previous pole came this February at the season-opening Firestone Grand Prix of St. Petersburg, which he won from the top spot for his first career series victory. He also won The Honda Indy 200 at Mid-Ohio Presented by the All-New 2023 Civic Type R in early July from the second starting spot.

"Tell you what, this DEX car is really good, man," McLaughlin said. "We've been going really fast in this car. Won the St. Pete opener with it. Won Mid-Ohio and now we're pole at Nashville, which is an amazing racetrack."

Live coverage of the 80-lap race starts at 3 p.m. Sunday on NBC and the INDYCAR Radio Network. A 30-minute warmup starts at 10:15 a.m., with live coverage on Peacock Premium and the INDYCAR Radio Network.

Romain Grosjean will join McLaughlin on the front row for Sunday's race after his best lap of 1:14.6975 the No. 28 DHL Honda. This was the best qualifying effort of the season for the Frenchman, whose previous-best start was fifth in the season opener at St. Petersburg.

Rookie Christian Lundgaard continued his impressive weekend by qualifying a career-best third at 1:14.7149 in the No. 30 Shield Cleaners Honda. The Dane's previous-best start was fourth last August in the road race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

Lundgaard, who led practice Friday, came to Nashville after earning a career-best second-place finish last Saturday in the Gallagher Grand Prix on the IMS road course.

Joining Lundgaard in Row 2 is reigning series champion Alex Palou, who qualified fourth at 1:14.9087 in the No. 10 NTT DATA Chip Ganassi Racing Honda.

Pato O'Ward qualified fifth at 1:14.9261 in the No. 5 Arrow McLaren SP Chevrolet. Two-time series champion and Nashville-area native Josef Newgarden rounded out the Firestone Fast Six at 1:15.1461 in the No. 2 PPG Team Penske Chevrolet.

Newgarden made an interesting gamble that didn't pay off. He was the only driver in the Firestone Fast Six to qualify on Firestone primary tires. The other five drivers used Firestone alternate tires, which this weekend are constructed with rubber derived from the drought-resistant guayule shrub native to the American Southwest. The primary tire lasts longer but isn't as grippy as the alternate tire.

Still, Newgarden, O'Ward and Palou are the trio among the top six drivers in the series standings who will start the treacherous street race from the first three rows. Points leader Will Power, 2022 Indianapolis 500 presented by Gainbridge winner Marcus Ericsson and six-time series champion Scott Dixon weren't so lucky.

Power, who leads Ericsson by nine points with four races to go, will start eighth in the No. 12 Verizon Team Penske Chevrolet. He lost his quickest lap of the second round of qualifying, which would have advanced him into the Firestone Fast Six, when he was penalized for causing a local yellow that affected the lap of the trailing O'Ward late in that session. Power ran long into a run-off area.

"It's always tough in quali with track position and penalties and getting caught by reds (flags)," Power said. "That's just the way it is. It's hard."

Chip Ganassi Racing teammates Dixon and Ericsson didn't make it out of the first round of qualifying. Dixon will start 14th in the No. 9 PNC Bank Chip Ganassi Racing Honda as he pursues his record-tying seventh season championship.

Ericsson will start 18th in the 26-car field in the No. 8 Huski Chocolate Chip Ga-nassi Racing Honda. But he can take heart knowing he won the inaugural race on this circuit last year from the same starting spot.

"We need to come up with a good strategy and play the race how it comes," Ericsson said. "There have been a lot of incidents this weekend, again like last year. I think there are still going to be opportunities. We're just lacking a bit too much speed at the moment."

Lundqvist to start from pole after Indy Lights qualifying canceled

Linus Lundqvist moved one step closer to his first Indy Lights Presented by Cooper Tires championship Saturday when he was awarded the pole for the Indy Lights Music City Grand Prix, as lightning-laden thunderstorms that rolled through downtown Nashville forced the cancellation of qualifying.

The starting field was set by entrant points, per the series rulebook. Swedish driver Lundqvist leads the championship standings by 77 points over Hunter McElrea with four races remaining, with an identical gap in the entrant points with his No. 26 HMD Motorsports with Dale Coyne Racing entry. Lundqvist will start from the pole for the sixth time this season.

"I'm a little bit sad that qualifying got canceled," Lundqvist said. "I think this place around a qualifying session would have been awesome. I think it would have been a good fight between us. But we'll take starting on pole for the race. I'm definitely taking advantage of that aspect."

Live coverage of Indy Lights' debut race on the 11-turn, 2.1-mile temporary street circuit starts at 1 p.m. Sunday on Peacock Premium and the INDYCAR Radio Network. The race will be 35 laps or 55 minutes, whichever comes first.

McElrea, winner of the last two Lights races, will start second in the No. 27 Andretti Autosport car.

Row 2 will consist of Andretti Autosport teammates Sting Ray Robb and Matthew Brabham, starting third and fourth, respectively, in the No. 2 Sekady car and the No. 83 Andretti Autosport entry.

Perhaps the driver most dismayed to see qualifying canceled was Benjamin Pedersen. The Dane will start sixth despite leading practice Friday and this morning in his No. 24 Global Racing Group with HMD car.

Pedersen's best lap Saturday was 1 minute, 21.0820 seconds. That was quicker than his practice-topping time of 1:21.8473 on Friday afternoon.

"This whole week has been a really great week so far," Pedersen said. "The car is on rails. This place is super cool. Pretty disappointed about qualifying being canceled because I really feel we had a good shot at fighting for pole."

"But that's how it is. We've had some great races this year in terms of moving forward positions, so I'm going to be super aggressive. I have nothing to lose."

Lundqvist was fourth quickest in both practice sessions.

"We'll see what tomorrow can bring," Lundqvist said. "The weather looks a little bit dodgy. It might be wet. That will make things interesting, for sure."
