Smooth start at Sheridan Schools

The REPORTER

The school year is off to a great start at Sheridan Community Schools. Students' first day was Tuesday, Aug. 9.

Superintendent Dr. Dave Mundy commented that it was one of the smoothest starts to a school year he has experienced. The tone with staff and administration is very enthusiastic, with a renewed sense of normalcy at all buildings.

At Sheridan Elementary, new principal Valerie Roberts said the first day was special for all students, and especially for kindergartners who had the "red carpet" rolled out for them. Parents appreciated being able to walk their children to class for the first time after two years of COVID limitations. The elementary is looking forward to bringing back family game nights, as well as various PTO events. In addition, the robotics team and other elementary clubs will come back after a long two-year hiatus.

Sheridan Middle School Principal Kent Davis and his staff have a goal for every student to be excited every day to come to school. Grades 6, 7, and 8 are a time of a lot of changes for students, so the small school atmosphere at SMS helps students take advantage of the creative learning opportunities offered by teachers.

It is a year of growth and change at Sheridan High School with many new teachers, as well as many new programs on the horizon. SHS will expand its Career Technical Education (CTE) offerings, thanks in part to being part of two winning grant proposals. The two grants will bring in several hundred thousand dollars that will go directly towards expansion and new programming in career pathways including education, advanced manufacturing, and natural resources.

Overall enrollment is up 20 students and continued growth is expected in Sheridan, according to Superintendent Mundy.

"I am excited to be back at Sheridan and start the school year," Mundy said. "I am looking forward to hosting community meetings to continually share the great things happening here."

In honor of Vietnam War veteran Bill Young, who was featured in the show, the funds were earmarked for HSHC's Pets Healing Vets program.

The REPORTER

Last Wednesday morning, West Fork Whiskey Co., 10 E. 191st St., Westfield, held the ribbon cutting and media day at its 30,000 square-foot facility. The family-friendly restaurant, Mash House, and the 21-and-older cocktail lounge are set to open to the public on Saturday, Aug. 20.

Co-Founder Blake Jones said The Mash House is going to elevate Hoosier classics using local ingredients under the direction of Chef Carlos Salazar.

“Everybody is chasing the coasts – east coast or west coast,” Jones said. “We don’t care about that. This is Indiana! We want to serve the best Hoosier food.”

That same spirit is behind their whiskey. In the spirit of farm to table dining, they make Hoosier whiskey from grain to class.

According to their website, “We create sippable, smooth whiskeys our way – always 100 percent Indiana from grain to glass. We toast to hard work and uncompromising dedication by paying respect to one of the best grain-producing states in America.”

In addition to the restaurant and lounge, there is a 5,000 square-foot event space which can be rented for weddings, fundraisers, corporate events and more.

West Fork currently operates a distillery and lounge at 1660 Bellefontaine St., Indianapolis.

When the Westfield distillery comes online in 2023, it is expected to produce more than 5,000 barrels per year. At 53 gallons per barrel, that may make the distillery one of the top 50 by volume in the United States.

Westfield’s Christine Brown, tireless advocate for youth, passes away

Submitted by City of Westfield

It is with deep sorrow that the City of Westfield announces the death of Christine Brown with the Westfield Youth Assistance Program (WYAP).

In her role as Early Intervention Advocate, Brown was a passionate advocate for children and teenagers facing challenging life circumstances. Westfield Mayor Andy Cook worked alongside Christine for nearly 10 years to help support WYAP. “I join her colleagues and the many families she helped in our shared grief,” Mayor Cook said. “Christine is responsible for impacting the lives of hundreds of kids. She was a true angel on earth, so she is well prepared for her destination.”

Brown was on a family vacation in Paris with her husband Andy and their two sons, Ethan and Adam, when she suffered a medical emergency on Sunday and was rushed to a local hospital. She died two days later on Aug. 9 with her family by her side.

“Christine was one of the most genuine, kind and loving friends that anyone could ask for,” said WYAP’s Tricia Akers. “She changed so many children’s lives in Westfield with her tireless efforts to support her ‘kiddos.’”

“There are few people that care as passionately for children and families than Christine,” WYAP Board President Steve Latour said. “Our program lost a legend. The impact that Christine made on WYAP is immeasurable. We will give great consideration to how we continue her life’s work.”

The Hamilton County Youth Assistance Program will share funeral arrangements when they become available.

Parent Project designed to reduce juvenile delinquency

The REPORTER

The Hamilton County Courts' Department of Probation Services is offering an 11-week program for parents of "strong-willed" children. The Parent Project is designed to curb destructive teen behaviors like poor school attendance, alcohol and drug use, runaways, and violence.

"Kids don't come with instruction manuals," said Rob Evans, a probation officer and class instructor. "That can leave parents feeling frustrated and helpless especially when it comes to modern problems like cell phones, social media, online schooling, and designer drugs. We are here to help."

The Parent Project has been proven to reduce juvenile delinquency and has helped over 100,000 families nationwide. It uses a support group model to allow parents to learn from each other as well as the curriculum and provides parents concrete prevention and intervention strategies that can be put into immediate use within the home.

"Parents of strong-willed children often question their ability to parent effectively," Evans added. "This program will help them identify the off-putting behaviors, empower them to take back their homes, and improve their relationship with their child. We have been providing this class to Hamilton County for over 15 years and know it can change the course of a family."

The Parent Project requires 33 hours of online classroom work. The next class begins at 5:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Sept 6. Parents meet one night a week for approximately two and one-half to three hours. The program fee is $80 per family.

BP8 program reaches out to grieving students at Heights

The REPORTER

The disruption of learning during a pandemic affected all students and educators the last couple years. For quite a few students, however, academics and school routines were also affected by something from which there is no quarantine: grief.

"Unfortunately, students in our little community have suffered a great deal of loss," Hamilton Heights High School Counselor Jessica Cantlon told the Cicero Kiwanis Club audience at the Aug. 6 meeting.

Fortunately, Cantlon, along with all Hamilton Heights school counselors and Early Intervention Advocates, have participated in specialized training to meaningfully support students through the grieving process. The grief support program is called BP8 and is offered through Brooke's Place, a center for grieving youth, established in 1999. Though Brooke's Place offers grief support services for anyone who comes to the center, Heights' counselors saw few people go to its Indianapolis location to participate.

After going through the training, Cantlon formed the first BP8 program at Heights High School last spring. Students' reactions, comments, and observed growth "were a blessing to witness," and Cantlon says she is excited to begin the second program next month. BP8 also will be launched at the middle schools this fall and used to enhance the Gathering Place grief support group at the elementary school. Having this grief-support program at school is convenient and allows the school community to reach out to grieving students in more meaningful ways than without the program.

(Left) Hamilton Heights High School Counselors Jessica Cantlon and Rebecca Johnson completed the specialty grief support facilitator training program through Brooke's Place in Indianapolis. They said the relationships and connections they saw form during the inaugural BP8 Program was a blessing to witness and look forward to starting up for second year in September. (Right) Jessica Cantlon (HHHS School Counselor), Toby Etchison (Tony Etchison Memorial Foundation board member), and Tricia Rudy (HHS School Counselor) spoke about the positive impact of the BP8 program.

Joining Cantlon in the presentation to Kiwanis were Tricia Rudy, the elementary school counselor, and Toby Etchison, Tony Etchison Memorial Foundation board member, who shared their perspectives on the program. For Rudy, the training equipped her to sit in grief with a student and not have to provide answers for them. Showing compassion toward and acceptance of each student's grief journey is healing. Both Cantlon and Rudy mentioned how BP8 gave counselors and students a support structure across the schools, because they were all following the same program.

Etchison shared her support and appreciation for the program as a parent whose sons have benefited from participating at the high school after their father – and Toby's husband Tony – died in a farming accident. Attending the eight-week support group helped her sons' express emotions they didn't discuss with her. Additionally, her own parents had long been involved with Brooke's place.

BP8 emphasizes that a person's journey through grief is individual. It also can look different because of culture, religion, and families. Grieving isn't a gradual, straight line toward healing. Everyone faces it. In fact, one in seven children experience the death of a parent, sibling or close loved one by age 20.

More than 24,000 children and their families have been supported by Brooke's Place programs. More information about Brooke's place can be found at brookesplace.org.

Westfield Lions reveal location of new clubhouse

The REPORTER

The Westfield Lions Club has sold its landmark property on Jersey Street to make way for The Old Town Companies' "Union Square" project.

Lions President Rodney Benson said, "It was sad to leave our Jersey Street clubhouse with all its memories, but it's also exciting to start a new era for the Club." The Lions Club Building was a fixture on Jersey Street since 1957.

Rendering provided

The new home of the Westfield Lions is located halfway between Oak Ridge Road and the Monon Trail on East 169th Street in Westfield. President Benson noted, "It's an excellent location with great visibility from 169th Street."

A committee of Lions Club members is in the process of planning and coordinating the remodeling of the main building on the newly purchased property. A completion date for the remodeling project has not been established yet, but the Club says it is hopeful to have the work started before the end of the year.

Having a clubhouse that can be used by the Club, as well as the community, is extremely important to the Lions. As they did with their previous clubhouse, they will rent the building out for meetings, events, and parties.

The Westfield Lions Club was chartered in October 1930 with 20 members. Today it has over 50 members and is looking forward to growing with the new building and location. Learn more at WestfieldLions.org.

Volleyball roundup

Tigers run to victory at Carmel

By RICHIE HALL
sports@readthereporter.com

Setting and hitting are good skills to have in volleyball. So is being able to go on scoring runs.

The latter skill helped Fishers to win season-opening match last Saturday. The Tigers beat Carmel 25-19, 25-17, 25-18 at the Eric Clark Activity Center. It was also the Greyhounds' opener. The two teams played close with each other in the first set until Fishers broke away by winning the final five points of the set. The Tigers repeated that sequence again in the second and third sets, and that got them a 1-0 start to the season.

"Being able to score in bunches is a great skill," said Fishers coach Steven Peek. "You don't necessarily always want to have to rely on that because if you get in a hole and you score in bunches, now you're tied. But when you're neck and neck with really good teams, having that skill is really nice."

Neither team led by more than two points in the first set until the Tigers made their run. Fishers was leading 20-18, then Lucy Kay hit a kill to start the run. Leslie Groff added another kill, then Margo Hernandez put down one more kill on set point to get the Tigers ahead.

Fishers used a run of six straight points to take a 21-13 advantage in the second set. Roberts and Groff started things off with back-to-back kills. Kay then got the last two points, making a net tip to put the Tigers up two sets to none.

In the third set, Fishers sprinted off to a 6-1 lead. Ava Vickers hit two kills, Groff had one, Bella Street made a block and Hernandez hit an ace.

Carmel began to work its way back into the set at the middle point, recovering from a 12-7 deficit to lead 16-15. Lauren Evans helped out with a kill and a net tip, Mackenzie Sheldon also hit a kill and Kiah Jackson made a block.

Vickers ended the Greyhounds' run with a kill, and Fishers never trailed again. The Tigers went on a final run to clinch the match, with Kay hitting the winning kill.

Groff hit 15 kills for Fishers, followed by Kay with 11 kills and Roberts with nine. Vickers made four blocks and Groff had three. Hernandez dished out 35 assists and served two aces, with Adi Amirrezvari also serving up two aces. On defense, Groff collected 12 digs, followed by Natalie Lux with nine and Jules Kellogg with eight.

Evans hit 10 kills for Carmel and also had 17 digs. Emerson Evans handed out 24 assists. Lauren Dossey collected 10 digs and served one ace, Jessica Pickett had three blocks and Amanda Ailes hit one ace.

"There was a whole lot of fight in our girls," said Greyhounds coach Kristine Deem. "We've got a lot of newcomers to the team this year." The coach said the team is "figuring out what our team chemistry is and what's going to work well for us."

Carmel hosts Hamilton Southeastern on Monday, while Fishers plays its home opener on Tuesday, taking on Lawrence Central.

Hamilton Heights started off its season brilliantly last Saturday, winning four matches to take the trophy at the first-ever Peru Invitational.

The Huskies began their march to the title by beating Huntington North in two very close sets, 27-25, 26-24. Heights then cruised past Hoosier Conference opponent Rensselaer Central 25-9, 25-9. The Huskies then toughed out a three-set win over LaVille, 25-13, 21-25, 15-4, to advance to the championship match.

Once in the final, Heights played North Miami and won in straight sets, 25-18, 25-12. The Huskies used good passing and hitting to get the victory, with seniors Callie Thomas and Kami Skiles leading their team to the win.

Heights plays its next match Tuesday at Guerin Catholic.

Westfield opened its season last Saturday with a straight-set sweep of Lawrence North at CSI Gymnasium, giving first-year coach Emily Jackson her first-ever victory.

The Shamrocks won 25-16, 25-8, 25-21. Emma Dodson hit 11 kills, Mallory Weber collected 10 digs and three players – Kaylee Sutcliffe, Lilly Stanton and Izzy Jackson all served two aces.

Westfield travels to Yorktown Monday for its second match of the season.

Hamilton Southeastern got a tough assignment to open its season: Defending Class 4A state champion McCutcheon came to the Royals' gym on last Saturday morning.

The Mavericks prevailed in a close four-set match, 25-22, 25-21, 20-25, 25-22. Avery Hobson led the way for Southeastern by hitting 24 kills.

"It's an interesting way to start the season," said Royals coach Jason Young. "It's a great way to start the season. First match out of the gate, you get the defending state champs, and they looked like the defending state champs. They just made bigger plays down the stretch than we did. We got a bunch of kids who have not been in that moment yet."

Young said that "the beautiful thing about today is," it allowed the Royals to see "where we are and what we need to do to catch them."

Southeastern plays its next match Monday at Carmel.

Soccer: HSE girls open with win over Carmel

The REPORTER

Soccer season began last Saturday in Hamilton County with a full slate of games, including one between two of the best girls programs in the state.

Carmel, last year's Class 3A runner-up, traveled to Hamilton Southeastern for a morning contest, and the Royals won 4-1. Southeastern scored the lone goal of the first half, with four players getting involved: Cole Lance passed to Tatum Coleman, and she sent the ball to Sloane May, who delivered to Caroline Kelley for the goal.

Kelley scored again with 25 minutes left in the second half, with Coleman making the assist. Carmel

The county auditor and the county treasurer are entitled to receive all pleadings, motions, petitions, and other filings related to the defense to the application for judgment.
Such sale will be held on 09/29/2022 at the 2nd Floor Historic Courtroom, 33 N 9th St., Noblesville, In 46060 and that sale will continue until all tracts and real property have been offered for sale. At the discretion of local officials, the tax sale may switch to an online format. If those measures are taking place, the public auction will be conducted as an electronic sale under IC 6-1.1-24-2 (b) 10 at www.zeusauction.com commencing on the same date/time listed above. All location updates will be posted at www.sriservices.com prior to the tax sale.
Property will not be sold for an amount which is less than the sum of:
(A) the delinquent taxes and special assessments on each tract or item of real property; and
(B) the taxes and special assessments on the real property that are due and payable in the year of the sale, whether or not they are delinquent; and
(C) all penalties due on the delinquencies, and
(D) an amount prescribed by the county auditor that equals the sum of:
(1) fifty-five dollars ($55) for postage and publication costs; and
(2) any other costs incurred by the county that are directly attributable to the tax sale; and
(E) any unpaid costs due under IC 6-1.1-24-2(c) from a prior tax sale.
No property listed below shall be sold if, at any time before the sale, the Total Amount for Judgment is paid in full. If the real property is sold in the tax sale, the amount required to redeem such property will be 110% of the minimum bid for which the tract or real property was offered at the time of sale, if redeemed not more than six (6) months after the date of sale, or 115% of the minimum bid for which the tract or real property was offered at the time of sale, if redeemed more than six (6) months after the date of sale, plus the amount by which the purchase price exceeds the minimum bid on the real property plus five percent (5%) per annum interest on the amount by which the purchase price exceeds the minimum bid on the property. All taxes and special assessments upon the property paid by the purchaser subsequent to the sale, plus five percent (5%) per annum interest on those taxes and special assessments, will also be required to be paid to redeem such property.
In addition, IC 6-1.1-25-2 (e) states the total amount required for redemption may include the following costs incurred and paid by the purchaser or the purchaser's assignee or the county before redemption:
(1) The attorney's fees and cost of giving notice under IC 6-1.1-25-4.5; (2) The costs of title search or examining and update the abstract of title for the tract or item of real property. The period of redemption shall expire on Friday, September 29, 2023 for certificates sold in the tax sale. For certificates struck to the county, the period of redemption may expire Friday, January 27, 2023.
If the tract or item of real property is sold for an amount more than the minimum bid and the property is not redeemed, the owner of record of the property who is divested of ownership at the time the tax deed is issued may have a right to the tax sale surplus.
The Auditor and Treasurer specifically reserve the right to withhold from the sale any parcel which has been listed in error, or which otherwise becomes ineligible for sale either prior to 09/29/2022 or during the duration of the sale.
This notice of real property tax sale, and the tax sale itself are undertaken and will be conducted pursuant to the requirements of the laws of the State of Indiana which regulate the sale of land for delinquent taxes, pursuant to I.C. 6-1.1-24-1 et seq.
The County does not warrant the accuracy of the street address or common description of the property, and a misstatement in the key number or street address does not invalidate an otherwise valid sale.
Minimum bid amounts are prescribed by law and are subject to change prior to the auction date.
Pursuant to IC 6-1.1-24-3(e), property descriptions may be omitted for properties appearing on the certified list in consecutive years. A complete property list may be obtained at www.sriservices.com or in an alternative form upon request.

Bringing different sports together

New organization building alliance to benefit all Noblesville sports

By RICHIE HALL
sports@readthereporter.com

Coaches of all sports tell their teams that when players come together, great things can happen.

So, what about if all different sports came together? The Noblesville Youth Sports Alliance believes that can lead to great things happening as well.

The NYSA is a new organization, in existence for not even a year. Its website (noblesvillesports.com) says that the NYSA “exists to promote and elevate local youth sports organizations” in the Noblesville community “with marketing, scholarships and charitable contributions.

David Leyda, the executive director of NYSA, said that 17 different programs are part of the alliance, including the majority of the youth sports programs in Noblesville.

“We cover every sport you can think of in Noblesville,” said Leyda.

NYSA got started with talks between the City of Noblesville and Noblesville Schools. Those talks began in September of 2021. Noblesville Mayor Chris Jensen and then-Noblesville Schools assistant superintendent David Mundy started initial conversations with the various organizations. NYSA formed its articles of incorporation in February, soon receiving its 501(c)(3) non-profit charity designation.

“Noblesville is fortunate to have many successful youth sports groups,” said Jensen. “Through conversations with many residents and stakeholders, it became apparent that a unified coordinating and marketing structure would help sustain gains made to date and enhance our overall position going forward.”

NYSA’s first actions were to establish a budget. The City of Noblesville committed to provide two years of funding, $20,000 per year. The alliance also established a social media and website presence, then developed an advertising and marketing plan. NYSA began connecting with the Hamilton County Sports Authority, “to make sure we were collaborating well with them,” said Leyda.

Leyda said that from the city’s perspective, when businesses come to the city and say they’re interested in moving to Noblesville, one of the common questions the city get is “what are your youth sports like?” Leyda noted that it was complicated to give those businesses the full rundown of youth sports.

“Similarly, when families approach the school corporation, talk about coming to Noblesville, they would experience the same challenges. That’s the promotion and marketing aspect of the alliance, making sure potential businesses know what programs are available,” said Leyda, who also said that NYSA also wants to make sure that new and existing families are also aware of those programs.

Leyda boils NYSA’s reach down to three major points, one that he wants everyone to be aware of: “One community, 6,500-plus kids, 17 programs, because that’s our impact. That’s really the promotional and marketing aspect of the alliance,” he said.

One of the big points of NYSA is that since it is an alliance, the youth sports organizations can help each other out.

Leyda said that if “there’s potential issues with fundraising, they need help trying to bolster the number of kids on the program,” then the different groups in the Alliance ance “can come together and help,” said Leyda. “If you think about across 17 programs, the amount of experience among the people running these programs is vast. NYSA will entertain future sports or organizations that want to join the alliance. “We do have membership criteria and we do have an application process that we are working on,” said Leyda. I was born and raised right here in Noblesville. I grew up in a home without domestic violence or assault - it wasn't something I saw, or even heard about. But when I was introduced to Prevail of Central Indiana, I was shocked by the number of individuals who are affected by domestic violence. In 2018 alone, Prevail helped more than 4,000 clients in Hamilton County (nearly 80 percent of clients are women and children). Domestic violence and abuse are hard topics to discuss, so you don't often hear about them. But at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, we're breaking the taboo and raising awareness for Prevail, an organization that helps families in Hamilton County.

The Secrets of Audrey Grace

Audrey Grace peeks out the window of her beauty shop before she pulls down the Venetian blinds. They’ve seen better days and so has Audrey Grace. It’s been a long week.

She sits down in the shampoo chair, which is still warm from her last client. She looks in the mirror and notices the deep wrinkles on her forehead. She’s not worried about the wrinkles but the reasons for them. Why does life have to be so complicated? Why does she have to know what she knows?

For twenty years, Audrey Grace has heard the rumors, the gossip and the speculations. She may not be a preacher or a lawyer, but she holds a lot of secrets ... she is a hairdresser. Hairdressers have a code of silence when it comes to telling secrets.

Welcome to Grace’s Beauty Shop tucked into a small town in Sunny Gap, Kentucky. It’s 1989.

JANET HART LEONARD
From the Hart

ty shop since I was a little girl, and my mother took me first to Opal’s beauty shop in the back of her house on Logan Street. Mom would get a perm a couple of times a year to add curls to her hair. She never colored her hair. I would hear the chatter of ladies in the tiny beauty shop. I knew well the smell of the chemicals in the perm solution. The smell alone would curl my nose hairs. I saw the frustration of a lady caught under the hairdryer when a bit of gossip was being offered and she could not hear it. She poked her head out from under the dryer. “Say that again.”

On the way home, my mother would emphasize ... what you hear at the beauty shop stays at the beauty shop.

Over the years, I found my thrill in being in a beauty shop as I would visit Nob City, Beauty By Boots, Trends, and now Deb Alvey’s Salons. They prettied up many of my friends as well as those of my mother. Those hair salons held a lot of secrets. A good beautician not only knows how to cut and color hair, but they know how to keep a secret. In their time as hairdressers, Opal Grissom, Janet Boser, Boots Howard, Sandy Baker and Deb Alvey might know more about the people of Noblesville than their families do.

It was after I published my book in late May that I decided to venture into a second book, only this one would be fiction. One of my favorite fiction writers is Fannie Flagg. I love how she adds laughter amidst the adventure and mystery. Fannie knew how to bring the best as well as the worst in her characters. She brought them to life, and I felt like they were a part of my life. I was always so eager to finish one of her books, like Fried Green Tomatoes, but I was also sad when I had to let go of the characters.

I’m a Fannie Flagg wannabe.

And so, while sitting on the porch of Debbie’s Daughter’s Bakery on Conner Street this week, I began to write and write and write. I told the owners, Rocky and Jess, that I might need to pay rent for time on the porch. I think I’ve become their greeter. “Welcome, you’re going to love whatever you order.”

I’ve written 14 chapters. I love the characters, except for a few of them. A couple of them are just full of the devil. I’m working diligently on the details and personalities of the people who live in my book. Most of what I write in the book is not true, but there might be a bit of truth. However, my hairdressers have taught me well. Only I will know what truth is added to the made-up stories. Did that really happen? Hmmm ... maybe? I will never tell.

There will be humor and laughter as well as moments where tears may fall. Yes, there will be hope and faith. Oh, and the mystery – the sweetness of a good mystery I hope will be found by my readers.

What happens when the preacher comes up missing? Stay tuned!

Courthouse Bell

What is the little structure on the east side of the courthouse square? It is a bell from the Hamilton County Old Folks Home. The Old Folks Home was the home for elderly paupers who didn’t have family able to help them or money to pay somebody to do so. It was a precursor to modern day nursing and assisted living facilities.

The Home was located on the site of the current Noblesville High School on North Cumberland Road in Noblesville. It was built in 1857 with additions in 1878, 1903, 1905 and 1910 and was deactivated in 1983. It was reported to the County Commissioners in 1985 that it was a fire hazard and should be bulldozed. I recall making the remark that it had existed for more than 125 years without burning, so it couldn’t be a fire hazard. Approximately two weeks later, it burned to the ground. Wisdom comes from experience and experience comes from mistakes.

Philip Henderson, as president of the County Commissioners, was the moving force behind creating the bell housing and was joined by commissioners George Stevens and Jere Roudebush. Roscoe Moorhouse’s company did the actual construction work.

The Home had a large garden, and those that were able to do so helped raise the food to offset the cost to the county to maintain the facility. The dinner bell was a signal to come in for a meal. Dinner bells and County Homes are part of our past.

Behind the scenes initiatives highlighted at County Council

The August County Council meeting had a long agenda that had two public hearings and several presentations highlighting some of the activities continuing to happen behind the scenes.

Due to a planned absence, I presided over the Council meeting, which was an interesting introduction given the amount of information on the agenda. As with every meeting, you can watch recordings or live stream meetings from our YouTube channel at tinyurl.com/Ham-CoCouncilYouTube.

The council meeting started with two public hearings that were procedural items for some projects that we discussed in July. The projects in question were two major highway projects that have been in the works for several years – the new Pleasant Street bridge and a new intersection improvement at 146th Street and Allisonville Road. By definition, both projects classify as “Major Bridge,” and the bond issuance is to use that fund as the revenue source. This and other bonds you may see advancing through the council are for projects that are needed to support the continuing growth in our county and are built into our county’s fiscal plan. Many counties are not positioned to do this, but we can because of good fiscal management.

The next item I want to highlight is the County Council appointee application process. During this month’s meeting, we had the opportunity to showcase the ineffective nature of the current process as we filled a position on the newly formed consolidated Board of Zoning

KEN ALEXANDER
Council Minutes

Appeals (BZA) and the library board appointment for Hamilton East Public Library. These two appointments sparked a spirited debate about recommendations and the questions that arose about the qualifications of these individuals are items that could be automated if done correctly. The Information Systems Services (ISS) department was tasked by the Council to improve the board appointment process. Our goal was to create an online form that not only captures information about interested parties but also can be a tool to inform people about the roles and responsibilities of these different board and commission positions. ISS has created an online portal and SharePoint site to support this appointment process. They walked through the application process, and it was well received. The Council agreed to move forward and go live prior to budget hearings in September. It is great to see something evolve from a mere idea I had, and I was excited to work with some of the extremely talented people we have working in our County. Look for a press release later this month.

The last item I want to highlight is the future of the Hamilton County Fairgrounds. It was part of a presentation by Purdue Extension, mentioned in a few appropriation requests and was the location of several projects identified in the General Obligation Bond that was introduced to Council this month.

A bit of history on the existing fairgrounds:

There has not been a sizeable investment in the fairgrounds over the past 25 years. The current facility has major drainage issues that the county has tried to fix in isolation and not as part of a total storm water drainage plan. During the past few years, the county fairgrounds was used to support COVID-19 vaccinations and it supports many meetings needing a large space. The expansion of Pleasant Street will impact two of the buildings on campus that will need to be replaced to help support event rentals. A few county departments have offices in this facility or adjacent such as Hamilton County Soil & Water, Household Hazardous Waste, and the extension office. There is a lot of activity, but it also does not cover its operating costs, which is subsidized by the county.

Last year, the county commissioned a design and master plan for the fairgrounds property. It is called the Silos @ 37. This master plan showed a multi-phased project that is budgeted currently at $64 million with the first phase being $26.5 million. This item has sparked a healthy debate that dates back a few months. While there is a growing sentiment that the county fairgrounds need to be invested in to make it viable, there is a desire to have a complete understanding of the pros and cons of this location and a thorough understanding of the fiscal plan that will be required to complete the first phase.

Additionally, Hamilton County Tourism commissioned a study that discussed the return on investment for this facility if the master plan is implemented. While that study is not complete, it was stated that even when partially or fully implemented, the facility will most likely still need to be subsidized for operations and will not cover its debt service for the improvements. The initial ask in the bond is a series of projects that add up to approximately $15 million. In the end the Council tabled these appropriations. A joint meeting with the Commissioners and Council is being scheduled to address several issues and the fairgrounds project is one of the main topics to be addressed.

Good fiscal management is how we have positioned ourselves to be able to take on some big projects. It has been that stewardship and good foresight that has led us to the investment at Baker’s Corner. We must be consistent in our approach to these big projects, and while tabling the appropriations for the fairgrounds may not be a popular decision, it is the right one. The council is not comfortable moving forward without an identified financial source for the first phase of this project at a minimum. We need to look at our options of investing in a facility that must be subsidized or exploring the benefit of relocating the facility and creating a financial plan that provides for the full buildout of the building program identified in the Silos @ 37 master plan.

If items mentioned above are of interest, please reach out to me or any member of the County Council. As always, I am thankful that the Hamilton County Reporter for publishing my Council updates and a special thanks to you, the readers and residents of Hamilton County, for reading it and being engaged in the discussion. Our County is better because of you all. I welcome your questions at ken.alexander@hamilton-county.in.gov.

Democrats keep delivering for Hoosiers

President Joe Biden promised Americans he would tell it straight and make the government work for working families once again.

The Inflation Reduction Act (IRA) accomplishes this goal, and thanks to the leadership of Indiana Democrats like André Carson and Frank Mrvan, this Congressional session will be remembered as one of the most productive in American history.

For decades, special interests have blocked progress and have kept voters from seeing the kitchen-table issues they care about most solved. Not anymore. Older Hoosiers wanted to see lower prices for their prescription drugs. This bill got it done. Younger Hoosiers demanded politicians take climate change seriously. The IRA delivered the biggest energy investment in our nation’s history. And, voters who have been worried about our country’s debts can be rest assured. The IRA reduces the deficit by $300 billion and does not raise taxes on Hoosiers because for the first time in a long while, multi-billion-dollar corporations will finally pay their fair share.

America’s middle class is being rebuilt for the better, and Democrats are repairing the F-rated quality of life and D- rated workforce Republicans have created in the Hoosier State. The Indiana Democratic Party has delivered on jobs, broadband, infrastructure, health care for veterans, lower drug and insurance costs, and plans that combat climate change and global inflation. All the Indiana GOP has done was make abortion against the law, pass permitless carry for firearms, and put politics in our schools.

Indiana Democrats are focused on creating a better future for Hoosier families – no matter who they are or where they live. As for the Republicans, they divide us with their extremist agenda. Democrats will hit the road once more sharing this record directly with voters, and we are confident they will put pocketbook issues ahead of endless culture wars.

Starting my research

With my non-identifying info regarding my adoption in hand, I had some solid things to go on for a more advanced search for my biological parents. What leapt out at me was the fact that I knew my birth-parents' age at the time of my adoption (20), years in school (junior and sophomore), where they went to college, and where they were originally from.

My mind turned to yearbooks. Notre Dame and St. Mary's College were just a couple of hours away. Perhaps I could take an afternoon off work and drive up to look at some yearbooks.

I emailed both colleges to find out where their archives were located and their hours of operation. And on a hot, sunny Wednesday afternoon in July, I headed to South Bend. As I walked up to the Hesburgh Library, a familiar sight featuring "Touchdown Jesus" on one side, my heart was pounding. I hoped I appeared calm and composed to the college kid with the beard and glasses who pointed the yearbook area out to me.

If my biological father was a junior from 1969 to 1970, that means he graduated in 1971. I didn't realize just how many seniors that year were from Indianapolis. I must have seen and written down information about 30 different young men. None of them really looked like me as I had hoped, so I was a bit discouraged about how many different people I would have to research.

But St. Mary's is a smaller college. As I got back into my car to drive to Le Mans Hall on that campus, I felt hopeful. The main driveway going through St. Mary's enveloped me in tall, mature trees and fingers of sunlight.

After getting a little turned around upon entering the building, I found the right spot. A young lady with dark hair directed me to the yearbooks. I was feeling nervous that they wouldn't have the 1972 edition, but thankfully they did. I sat down on a leather bench to peruse it.

I went to the index and was disappointed to not see any girl from Cleveland, Ohio. I thought perhaps she had resided in a nearby suburb instead, so I copied down the three names listed from Ohio. I took their pictures with my cell phone.

None of the girls looked like me, but I still wondered if one of them was my birth mother. I drove back to central Indiana feeling disappointed. My hope had been that I would see one of their pictures and have a "lightning moment" recognizing some of my own features. But that had not happened.

Then I had a terrible thought when I went to bed that night. What if I had gotten the years wrong? What if my birth mother was going to be a sophomore after I was born and my birth father was going to be a junior? That would mean my efforts that day had possibly been wasted. Discouraged, it was difficult for me to fall asleep.

I decided to go back up to St. Mary's a month later, and this time found a couple of girls from the Cleveland area who graduated in both 1973 and 1974. Once again, none of them looked like me, but it was a start.

Plenty of 'Nunsense' going on at Actors Theatre of Indiana

The REPORTER

Actors Theatre of Indiana has announced the first show for the 2022-2023 season – NUNSENSE: A musical. With book, music and lyrics by Dan Goggins, this hilarious musical comedy is a delightful way to begin the latest season.

Single tickets will be available beginning Friday, Aug. 12. The show begins Sept. 9 and runs through Sept. 25 at The Studio Theater on the campus of The Center for the Performing Arts in Carmel.

When the Little Sisters of Hoboken discover that their cook, Sister Julia, Child of God, has accidentally poisoned 52 of the sisters, they find themselves in dire need of funds for the burials. The sisters decide that the best way to raise the money is to put on a variety show, so they take over the school auditorium, which is currently set up for the eighth-grade production of Grease.

Here we meet Reverend Mother Regina, a former circus performer; Sister Mary Hubert, the Mistress of Novices; a street-wise nun from Brooklyn named Sister Robert Anne; Sister Mary Leo, a novice who is a wannabe ballerina; and the delightfully wacky Sister Mary Amnesia, the nun who lost her memory when a crucifix fell on her head.

With star turns, tap dancing, an audience quiz, and comic surprises, whether you went to Catholic school or not ... this show is habit forming.

As ATI heads into the new season, patrons are reminded that no masks or proof of vaccination is required for these shows at this time. Tickets can be purchased starting Aug. 12 by visiting ATIstage.org or by calling The Center for the Performing Arts box office at (317) 843-3800.

With plenty of laughs & adventure, you simply must see Shipwrecked

By DANIEL SHOCK
Reviewed for
A Seat on the Aisle

Shipwrecked: An Entertainment! The Amazing Adventures of Louis de Rougemont (As Told by Himself) is a lighthearted, comedy with a vaudevillian style. Directed by Lori Raffel and presented by Carmel Community Players as their last show of the season, it will delight people of all ages who can sit still and laugh for 90 minutes.

The play, written by Donald Margulies, begins unexpectedly as our storyteller Louis de Rougemont walks on to stage with the house lights still up and the audience still chatting. He checks his props and then addresses the audience directly to give us the running time (90 minutes) and to settle us down and remind us to put our devices away. It almost felt as if we were being put to bed and getting ready for a story. My first thought as the show began was that Mr. Rougemont is very much like P.T. Barnum ... a showman.

Shipwrecked is Rougemont's story. Rougemont, hero and yarn spinner, was also enthralled by these same tales as a boy. Well, not Gilligan's Island or any story written after 1868, the year our storyteller sets off on an adventure of his own. His tale has everything you want in a story, like this: a salty and morally ambiguous sea captain, sea monsters, rare treasure, harrowing events, sea turtles you can ride like a horse, love and a faithful dog. Our hero tells his account with the aid of six other performers, dressed in black, playing multiple characters who move seamlessly in and out of scenes, changing costumes and props right in front of us.

Director Lori Raffel has assembled a wonderful cast of actors for Shipwrecked. Earl Campbell as Louis de Rougemont carries the show on his shoulders with the energy of a 10-year-old boy who can hardly contain his excitement. Campbell barely has time to catch his breath as he narrates and acts his way through the story. He is charmingly funny as this dreamer, and he is perfectly cast.

The rest of the ensemble is equally funny and well-placed in their parts. Vickie Phipps and Joe Aiello (Player 1 and Player 2) have the larger supporting roles. Phipps starts off as our hero's mother, reading him stories as he convalesces. She then has great fun as the Sea Captain, romantic interest and other roles. Aiello comes close to stealing the show as the ship's trusty mascot and loyal canine. I doubled over with surprise and laughter with another of Aiello's roles ... I won't spoil it. Filling out the rest of the roles are Margot Everitt, Jayda Glynn, Hannah Janowicz and Tom Smith. Each of them has their moment to shine and the show wouldn't be what it is without them.

The technical aspects of the show are simple and well done. The set by director Lori Raffel allows the performance to shine. Costumes and props were put together by the cast and staff very effectively. Lights and sound by Karissa Monson and Lori Raffel highlighted the performances wonderfully.

I was surprised to read that Rougemont's story is based on a true tale. My first thought, comparing Rougemont to Barnum, turned out to be not too far off – in my judgement. As Lori Raffel says in her director's notes: "Based on a true story, part of the magic of Shipwrecked ... is that the themes are timeless. Our need as a society to build heroes only so we can knock them down is as old as time. At the end of the play, you will have your own opinion on what is truth and what is embellishment in the story, and that is just how it should be."

He decided to break the ice with himself

I self-published my first book 28 years ago: Break The Ice: 200 Fun Question to Help Break the Ice at Business Meetings, Training Sessions and other Gatherings. What it lacked in plot, it made up for in questions. Two hundred questions to be exact. It was the reader's job to provide the answers.

Even in 1994 the book's content was a bit outdated since some questions referenced drive-in movies, 8-track tapes, Gilligan's Island, and other topics tied to nostalgia.

I had forgotten about "Break The Ice" until my daughter, Delaney, recently texted me a photo of a copy in her possession while she and her husband took a vacation. "Road trip classic," she captioned the text.

Later, she admitted that she had to Google what a CB handle was, referencing the book's Question #8, "What was your CB handle in the 1970s?"

I joked that CBs were to the '70s what texting is to The Now. "Moon Shadow" was my CB handle, inspired by that Cat Stevens' song. Unfortunately, "Dream Weaver" was taken by an uncle.

I was happy to know my little book of 200 questions was still being useful, helping my daughter and son-in-law learn more about each other despite being married for two years. Of course, I couldn't help but retrieve my old copy. It was time to break the ice with myself.

Question #40: What is the name of a movie you saw at a drive-in?

Irwin Allen's "The Poseidon Adventure." My parents took me to see it at the Starlite Drive-In in 1972. It was about a cruise ship flipped by a rogue, 90-foot tidal wave out on the briny. Most of the script involved an upside-down movie set showing survivors trying to climb and swim their way "up" to the ship's bottom. It was the coolest movie a seven-year-old boy could possibly see – my first-ever disaster flick. Ernest Borgnine! Gene Hackman! What was not to like! Here it is 50 years later, and I still can't bring myself to board a cruise ship.

Question #60: What is the title of a 45 rpm record that you owned?

In the 1970s, I owned hundreds of 45 rpm records. I bequeathed them to my younger brother when I went to college. I never saw them again. I'd kill to have them now. My first 45 rpm record was "Blinded By The Light," by Manfred Mann's Earth Band, which, by the way, was written by Bruce Springsteen. Despite hearing the song hundreds of times (including Bruce's recording), I still don't understand 75 percent of the lyrics. It's like the aftermath of a rhyming dictionary explosion. I still love both versions though.

Question #70: What is the most memorable sporting event you ever saw?

Easy. The 1980 Wimbledon Championship between Borg and McEnroe. After I watched that grueling, dramatic, grass-court match, I was inspired to take up the sport. I begged my parents for a Head tennis racket, which was fairly expensive, and became obsessed with the game. It wasn't unusual to play two or three matches a day in the scorching Southern Indiana heat. I was a scrappy, top-spinning, dive-on-the-asphalt, loudmouthed, human backboard type of player. The inner sides of my tennis shoes would rip after a couple of matches, and I would wrap them with black electrician's tape.

In my early 30s, I ripped my ACL while stepping on a rock during a backcourt forehand, and that was all she wrote for my Wimbledon dreams. I haven't even played doubles since my 40s, but my tennis court times remain my fondest memories.

Question #90: What is the worst decision you ever made?

There's no way I will answer that one publicly. I'm no fool.

Question #107: Where were you when you experienced your first kiss?

Brian King's basement. Seventh grade. In a closet. Spin the Bottle.

Question #117: If you suddenly became the leader of a musical group, what would you name it?

Courtesy Flush.

Question #128: Where can you find the best cheeseburger?

Saxony Pizzeria in Fishers.

The $6.99 double cheeseburger Tuesday night special is my Cheeseburger in Paradise.

Question #130: What was one of the first 33-1/3 rpm record albums you owned?

Simple. On the Christmas that I was given my first "stereo" turntable, I received two complementary albums: Cat Stevens' Greatest Hits and Kiss' Destroyer. Who knew Kris Kringle was a Kiss fan?

Question #131: In your opinion, what is the greatest thing since sliced bread?

Back when this book was published, my answer was likely the Diaper Genie. Just as my infant son needed perpetual changing, so did the Diaper Genie, which, during its changings, brought to mind poop sausages, each of our baby boy's plastic-encased A-bombs attached to the payload released before it and after it.

With diapering duty long behind me now, today, my answer to Question #131 would be: the Payday candy bar. I'm nuts for the Payday. You can get three for the price of two at Kroger.

Question #135: What famous person has someone said you remind them of?

Woody Harrelson. I don't see it, but you'd be surprised how many strangers have asked, "Are you Woody Harrelson?" Sometimes I play along and regale them about the filming of Cheers. Anything for a free beer.

Did HSE Schools make the grade?

A data-driven analysis of Indiana's top 20 elementary schools

In 1983, US News & World Report published its first school ranking, "America's Best Colleges." US News & World Report's ranking systems are considered by many to be the most popular and the most influential serving as a "valuable reference" when it comes to making important educational choices.

US News & World Report publishes rankings for Best Colleges, Best High Schools, Best Elementary Schools, Best Middle Schools as well as other educational rankings. The data for schools, kindergarten through 12th grade, can be found at usnews.com/education/k12. Using filters, the data can be sorted by many factors, including school name, grade level, location, and public school type. This provides a valuable data resource for parents as well as school administrators and school board members.

US News & World Report ranked 1,016 elementary schools across Indiana for their report titled, "The 2022 Best K-8 Schools." The rankings are 50 percent based on mathematics and reading proficiency scores as reported on state assessments. The other 50 percent is based on mathematics and reading performance scores which take into account socioeconomic factors and historically underserved minorities. Typically, factors such as overcrowding, high student-teacher ratios, high minority enrollment percentages, and high economically disadvantaged percentages are found to be some of the causes for school populations to have lower standardized testing scores.

Let's take a look and see what the numbers say.

Looking at the top 20

public elementary schools in Indiana, one takeaway which stands out is the fact that Brownsburg Community Schools has five elementary schools and Penn-Harris-Madison has four elementary schools on the list. The more affluent school districts, including Zionsville and Carmel Clay, each only have one elementary school to make the top 20. Student-teacher ratios averaged 18 to 1. Looking at minority enrollment, the range for the Top 20 is from 2.8 percent to 49.7 percent. The range for economically disadvantaged is from 3 percent to 43 percent.

How do Hamilton Southeastern (HSE) elementary schools rank and compare with the top 20 in Indiana? Let's take a look to compare ranking numbers, enrollment numbers, student-teacher ratios, and socioeconomic factors such as minority enrollment and economically disadvantaged percentages.

Looking at the data for HSE elementary schools, the top-ranking elementary school came in at number 104. HSE did not have a single elementary school rank in the top 100 out of 1,016 ranked elementary schools in the state of Indiana.

These rankings are calculated based on equally weighted factors of proficiency scores and performance scores. Data is based on the 2018-2019, 2019-2020, and 2020-2021 school years with school information being provided by the government. HSE Schools' proficiency percentages are very low in comparison to nearby top performing school districts.

This was more than likely a sizable factor contributing to the low rankings by US News & World Report. For example, see the yellow chart above for a comparison between Brownsburg Community Schools' Proficiency Percentages for 2021 versus Hamilton Southeastern Schools' Proficiency Percentages for 2021 as provided by the ILEARN assessment for children in grades three to eight. (Data provided by the Indiana Department of Education)

Proficiency percentages provide a rate of student achievement – the percentage of students learning and progressing at or above grade level. Children who fall behind grade level for consecutive years may find it increasingly difficult to catch up with their peers. Keeping students at or above grade level is necessary to ensure college and career readiness.

I encourage you to check out the data available at US News & World Report and data from the Indiana Department of Education. Then, if you are concerned with Hamilton Southeastern Schools' rankings and don't think they are making the grade, you can help turn things around.

School board members set policy. Policy establishes priorities. Voting for school board candidates who will make policy so academic success and learning outcomes become Priority Number 1 for HSE Schools is the first step in helping the children in our community get back to grade level in both Math and English/Language Arts.

Conner Prairie kicks off $24M in capital projects

The REPORTER

Indiana's premier living history museum and one of the most visited outdoor museums in the United States, Conner Prairie, announced on Friday $24 million in new capital projects that museum officials say will provide broader, deeper, bolder experiences to better serve its visitors and members.

These include:

- Enhanced Museum Experience Center, with more access to space to host a variety of hands-on exhibits, Smithsonian Institution speakers and learning opportunities, a diversified collection, a dedicated youth leadership institute space, and local and global artist exhibits.
- Outdoor Nature Experience, activating Conner

Prairie's largest educational asset: 3.3 miles of the White River and more than 260 acres of prairie and woodland. Two trails, one that is fully accessible, will feature up to four education hubs with evolving content that includes the past, present and future role of the river, environmental science education opportunities, and visual art displays.

- Promised Land as Proving Ground (PLPG), a comprehensive, new permanent exhibit set to open in Summer 2023, will tell a more inclusive story of Indiana's history, focused on the faith and lifeways, religious traditions, foodways, agriculture, music, dance and art of the African Diaspora and the African American culture and traditions. It will cover centuries of history from pre-colonial to present day.

Additionally, Conner Prairie will renovate its theater and create spaces that provide access to historic artifacts, either from its own collection or from traveling exhibits, while improving how visitors enter the Museum and access Prairietown, furthering Conner Prairie's commitment to accessibility for all guests.

"Conner Prairie has a unique opportunity to leverage our strengths in historical education, hands-on learning and play to offer new, immersive guest experiences that respond to community needs while also changing the way the world views and engages with museums," Conner Prairie CEO Norman Burns said.

Private philanthropic giving to the Prairie Pathways Campaign of $15 million or more will support the new capital projects. The museum anticipates the remaining funds will be provided by partnerships currently in development.

Burns

Bradford

Conner Prairie is pleased to announce the lead gift to the Prairie Pathways Campaign of $3.5 million from Jay and Nancy Ricker, part of their overall $5 million commitment to Conner Prairie. In addition, commitments of $1 million or more have been received from the Allen Whitehill Clowes Charitable Foundation, Steve and Sandy Hageman, the Nina Mason Pulliam Charitable Trust, and an anonymous donor.

"Our passion for meeting the needs of our visitors, patrons, and community has propelled us to imagine the broader, deeper, bolder pathways that will be made possible by these capital projects," Conner Prairie Vice President & Chief Advancement Officer Andrew

Bradford said.

Conner Prairie's plans for continued growth are centered around strong partnerships locally, regionally, and nationally, such as the Smithsonian national affiliate program and the White River Alliance educational and conservation initiative, which provides hands-on ways for the public to learn more about the river and participate in its improvement.

Hamilton Heights honors Athletic Hall of Fame Class of 2022 inductees

The REPORTER

The Hamilton Heights Athletic Hall of Fame Selection Committee has announced its Class of 2022, which includes one team, three multi-sport athletes and a standout basketball player who is still a recordholder.

This year's inductees include Roger Bryan ('60), Brittney (Curfman) Hensley ('01), Chad Sherer ('08), Jessica (Carr) Kuramata ('11), and the 2012-13 Hamilton Heights Girls State Runner-Up Team.

"On behalf of the Hall of Fame selection committee, we are very excited about this class," said Mitch Street, Hamilton Heights High School Hall of Fame Committee Chairman and Dean of Students. "In Roger Bryant, we have our first Walnut Grove graduate being recognized in the Hall of Fame. We are excited that Roger is going to deservedly get this recognition."

"With the induction of Brittney Hensley, not only do we have a unique multi-sport athlete, but we have the first girls' soccer player being inducted," Street continued. "The girls' soccer program has become one of the most successful programs in our school history. The induction of Chad Sherer gives us another multi-sport athlete that went on to play football at Indiana University, but perhaps recognizes what many might believe to be the best overall athlete to come through Heights."

"The last of our individuals being inducted is Jessica Carr," Street said. "She was our first female Indiana Basketball All-Star and is the all-time leading scorer in history. To round out the class, the committee is proud to induct the 2012-2013 girls' basketball team. Not only are they the first and only girls' team to participate in a state championship, but they along with Jessica Carr represent the girls' basketball program, which has become one of our most successful programs."

Roger Bryant

Bryant is a 1960 graduate of Walnut Grove High School, where he was a standout basketball player.

He was a 1,000-point scorer (1,071) during his career. He was All Hamilton County for three years. He holds the record of 71 points for the most points scored in a single Hamilton County Tourney and also for the single game scoring record with 32 points. He has remained in the community and is a frequent attendee at Hamilton Heights boys' and girls' basketball games.

Brittney (Curfman) Hensley

Hensley is a 2001 graduate of Hamilton Heights High School.

During her tenure at the high school, she was one of the more unique athletes to walk the halls. She was a four-sport athlete, where she competed in basketball, track, soccer, and football. At the time of graduation, she held records in soccer for most goals in a season and goals in a career. Her single season goals are currently second and third respectively, and she is second in career goals. She was all-conference, all-county, and all-state in each of her four years playing soccer.

Although she was likely best known for her success on the soccer field, she also was the kicker for the football team, where at the time of her graduation she held the record for most PATs in a game and a season.

She went on to play soccer at Indiana Wesleyan University. She still resides in the community and actively serves alongside her family.

Chad Sherer

Sherer is a 2008 graduate of Hamilton Heights High School.

State & local Democrats speak out over new abortion law

The REPORTER

Editor's note: Our news-gathering partners at WISH-TV News 8 contributed to this story.

The Indiana Democratic Party held a press conference at the Statehouse to provide an update on the state of the 2022 elections in Indiana. The press conference follows the passage of what Democrats say is a harmful abortion ban in Indiana, effective on Sept. 15.

Multiple Democratic candidates on Tuesday said they will push for a repeal of Indiana's new abortion ban if elected.

Their comments came days after Republican Governor Eric Holcomb signed legislation Friday that bans all abortions in the state with limited exceptions for rape, incest, fatal fetal abnormalities or serious physical risk to the mother.

The abortion ban drew very little public comment in support during the special session that ended Friday night. Supporters of abortion rights said the measure was too restrictive while anti-abortion groups said it didn't go far enough.

Candidates Victoria Garcia Wilburn and Jocelyn Vare said Tuesday they would settle for returning Indiana law to its current status, which allows abortion for any reason up to 20 weeks.

Victoria Garcia Wilburn is the Democratic candidate for the recently redrawn House District 32. Jocelyn Vare is both a member of the Fishers City Council and the Democratic candidate for State Senate District 31.

"This last week, like so many other Hoosiers, I followed the special session closely," Wilburn said. "I listened to testimony upon testimony, the overwhelming majority of which opposed the passage of Senate Bill 1. From the Republican supermajority, I heard responses that were void of compassion, empathy and science. And immediately following the Governor's signature, we heard from two of the state's top employers — Eli Lilly & Company and Cummins — speaking out against this bill and indicating that it will cause them to grow outside of our State."

Vare also spoke about the GOP supermajority as bearing the responsibility for the effects of this new law.

I know my district and I know our community," Vare said. "I know Hoosiers and I know Hoosier women. I serve them. I listen to them. Every voice. Every vote. In this house, a Supermajority rules Indiana. Therefore, they are solely responsible for all bad legislation that is concocted here. Hoosiers, we are here today because we are dismayed by the Supermajority's new abortion ban that controls and humiliates the women in our state."

Wilburn said she is concerned this new law will further endanger an already strained Hoosier healthcare system.

"As a healthcare provider and community researcher, I know all too well that our state is operating from a deficit when it comes to helping families, when it comes to caring for pregnant women, when it comes to providing healthcare to our infants, when it comes to offering enriching childcare opportunities across our state ... we are nowhere near prepared to handle the onslaught of societal harms and tragic health outcomes that will be the result of Senate Bill 1," Wilburn said.

Asked on Friday whether he was concerned the abortion ban could backfire on Republicans in November, House Speaker Todd Huston, a Republican from Fishers, said if voters are displeased, they will have the opportunity to act on their frustrations.

Democrats on Tuesday said they were confident they could use the abortion issue to break the supermajorities Republicans currently hold in both Indiana legislative chambers.

"You don't have to be a Democrat to vote for a Democrat," Vare said. "You just need to believe that Indiana is better when lawmakers chose to listen to the voice of voters. Without more Democrats in the Statehouse, the Supermajority will continue to choose to ignore you."

Vare told The Reporter she thinks Hamilton County could be a key area if Democrats are to gain enough ground to influence state policy.

"It is important to note that the Indiana Democratic Party featured two Hamilton County Democratic candidates at this statewide press conference," Vare told The Reporter. "Victoria Garcia Wilburn and I are running Statehouse races to represent Hamilton County and are considered top Democratic candidates in Indiana. In the entire state, Hamilton County is where several Democratic candidates have a strong potential for election victories. The 2022 midterm election could prove for the first time that Hamilton County is no longer dominated by the Republican Party."

Red Geranium Market returns Aug. 20

Shop among 50 artisan vendors, enjoy live music & good food

The REPORTER

The First Presbyterian Church (FPC) of Noblesville will hold its seventh annual Red Geranium Artisan Market from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Saturday, Aug. 20 at the church, located at 1207 Conner St., Noblesville. The market features a variety of local, tri-state and international artisans, food, live music in a festive open-air environment.

Visitors will find 50 different artisan vendor booths located both inside and outside the historical church. The Red Geranium committee juries all the artisans and only selects unique, one-of-a-kind, and handmade items to provide a variety of shopping that includes fine art, antiques, furniture, boutique clothing, children's clothing and accessories, photography, jewelry, wood, fiber, mosaic and glass craft, pottery, garden art, re-purposed and up-cycled unique creations and more.

This year, the market has 35 returning vendors, including a few long-time artisan favorites like Anderson Ironwork & Woodcraft Design, Studio 510 Women's Boutique, DLC Designs, Gem.Geek, and the unique pressed flower art of Always in Bloom. Along with the 50 artisan booths, the seventh annual Red Geranium will have live, local talent at the music stage throughout the day to entertain you and several food options to snack on while you shop. The market is a family and pet-friendly event with no admission fees and plenty of free parking available at the City Hall parking lot on 10th Street.

This year's Red Geranium Artisan Market is sure to be just as successful as last year's.

The Red Geranium Artisan Market is different than most craft shows because it is branded as "A Market with a Mission." Each of the artisans rent booth space for the day from FPC to help the church's mission team raise money for local, state, national, and international mission projects it sponsors. New this year will be a special international artisan booth, which will showcase handcrafted items like pysanky eggs made by Ukrainian artist Marina Shepeluk of Zhytomyr, Ukraine, and "Africa Bags – The Bags of Hope" made in Malawi, Africa. The sale of these items will go directly back to the artisans who made them. Several of the artisan vendors donate all their sales to local charitable organizations. Be sure to look for the heart shaped signs indicating these special people who serve others through sales of their artwork.

As you can see, the Red Geranium Artisan Market is a special event. The members of FPC are proud to serve others and hope to provide all visitors with an extraordinary day of art, music, food, fun for whole family in a relaxed and friendly environment.

More about First Presbyterian Church's Mission Program & History of the Red Geranium Market

Submitted

Seven years ago, the First Presbyterian Church's (FPC) mission team decided we wanted to create a fun outreach day for our community that would promote local artists while generating income for our local, state, and international mission projects. Our first market was held in 2016, with around 20 excited and eager vendors. Each year the market has grown in size and variety of vendors.

FPC believes that mission is crucial to the life of our church. As believers, we are called to actively spread God's word and love to make a positive difference in the world, whether it be our loved ones or strangers from another country.

FPC actively supports local, state, national and international missions. Some of the local mission projects we support are Habitat for Humanity, The Good Samaritan Network, Hamilton County Humane Society, Janus Developmental Services, Noblesville Boys & Girls Club, Samaritan's Purse (Operation Christmas Child), Family Promise of Hamilton County, Serve Noblesville, FeedingTeam.org of Hamilton County, and the Christian Free Legal Clinic.

Our national and international mission projects include OMS (One Mission Society) Hungary, CRU New York, Last Bell Ukraine, and Dorcas Basket Dominican Republic.
