Perry greets students when they enter training with Perry on Sept. 29, 2017. Canine Companions is a leader in the service dog industry, promoting greater independence for owners with their dogs. The organization provides service dogs to adults, children and veterans with disabilities and facility dogs to professionals working in healthcare, criminal justice and educational settings. Since its founding in 1975, the dogs and all follow-up services are provid-

Perry was raised by a family in Chicago. When he was about 2 years old, he went to Canine Companions in Ohio to begin his advanced training. While there, he learned some basic tasks like how to pick up objects and open and close drawers and cabinets. Perry knew over 40 commands when Cathy met him at team training. Once Perry was trained, Cathy had to attend a twoweek team training in Ohio to learn how to work with him, which included quizzes and homework assignments.

Canine Companions wants to make sure that the new team will have all the skills needed to be successful. Cathy and Perry have to get recertified as a team every two years and are required to send a vet report annually. Canine Companions wants to make sure the dogs are heathy, up to date on all vaccines, and that they remain at their ideal weight. It costs about $50,000 to $60,000 to raise and train a service dog, so Canine Companions wants to make sure the dogs are taken care of by the recipients.

The list of Perry's benefits to students at SES is long.

He is very helpful with students with autism during emergency drills by decreasing the children's fears and anxiety. SES Principal Valerie Roberts said, "Many times when a student is upset or having a tough day, Perry can accomplish things we can't! Something about the comfort and unconditional love of a dog just puts the students right at ease and helps transition them back to the classroom! Perry has been a huge asset to the mental health of our entire building!"

Reflecting on her years with Perry, Cathy recalled one story that particularly melted her heart. A student who struggled with reading was coming down to read with Perry for 10 minutes twice a week. After a few weeks, the student announced to Cathy that he was the best reader in the school. He may not have been the best reader in the school, but Cathy knows that increasing confidence in reading is a crucial step to being more successful in reading.

Perry has helped many children who are struggling to leave their mom or dad in the mornings. The student will take Perry's leash and have Perry walk them to class, providing a great distraction and comfort for separation anxiety. He also participates in the annual talent show, game nights, and the school carnival. Perry dressed up as a lion and jumped through a ring of fire, which was a huge hit at the carnival.

During his time off, Perry has visited residents at nursing homes, Janus Developmental Services, and people in local hospitals. A visit with Perry can bring joy and happiness to people everywhere.

'Having Perry at school with me has been one of the greatest joys of my life," Cathy said. "I love how the children and the staff interact with him. He has changed our school in so many more ways than I ever thought possible."

Indiana Archaeology Month starts Sept. 1

The REPORTER

Next month marks the 27th anniversary of a statewide celebration of archaeology in Indiana.

This year's celebration starts Sept. 1, which Gov. Eric J. Holcomb has declared Indiana Archaeology Month Kickoff Day.

All month long, Hoosier history buffs can meet archaeologists and learn about the state's fascinating past. Through the past years' celebrations, thousands of members of the public have been able to experience archaeology in this and many other ways.

A variety of events for all ages will be offered by universities, museums, organizations, and individuals throughout Indiana. The Indiana Department of Natural Resources Division of Historic Preservation & Archaeology (DHPA) coordinates the activities. Click here to see a schedule of "Archaeology tells us about the past, but it also helps us figure out more about ourselves today and what we might be like in the future," said Dan Bortner, DNR director and State Historic Preservation Officer. "This month provides a fun way for Hoosiers to learn how."

This year's commemorative poster focuses on the diversity of Indiana's Late Precontact ceramics. The ceramics of the Late Precontact period (AD 1000 to AD 1500) of Indiana indicate that Native American groups were not static but were diverse, dynamic, and complex.

"Archaeologists examine the different decorative styles of pottery to interpret shifting movements and cultural interactions of people through time in areas that would become Indiana and the Midwest," said State Archaeologist Amy Johnson.

Overall, archaeologists have recorded more than 75,000 sites in Indiana since the early 1800s, helping shape public understanding of the precontact and historic people who also called the land we now call Indiana home.

National Preparedness Month: Red Cross urges everyone to get ready now for emergencies

The REPORTER

People everywhere are feeling the impacts of climate change with more frequent and intense weather events threatening our communities. September is National Preparedness Month and the American Red Cross – Indiana Region urges everyone to get ready for these emergencies now.

Just last year, more than 40 percent of Americans – some 130 million people - were living in a county struck by a climate-related disaster, according to analysis from the Washington Post. Disasters can happen anywhere, anytime. You can be ready by visiting redcross.org/prepare.

"More powerful climate driven occurrences are happening across the U.S. than ever before," said Chad Priest, CEO of the American Red Cross – Indiana Region. "In fact, there have been more climate-related disasters in the nation over the past two decades than in any other country. It's vital that everyone take steps to be prepared."

Three easy steps

Three simple steps can help to keep your family safe during disasters: 1) Get a Kit. 2) Make a Plan. 3) Be Informed.

1. Build your emergency kit with a gallon of water per person, per day, non-perishable food, a flashlight and a battery-powered radio. Also include a first aid kit, medications, supplies for infants or pets, a multi-purpose tool and personal hygiene items. And don't forget to add copies of important papers, cell phone chargers, blankets, maps of the area and emergency contact information.

2. Plan what to do in case you are separated from your family during an emergency and what to do if you have to evacuate. Make sure to coordinate your plan with your child's school, your work and your community's emergency plans.

3. Stay informed by finding out what emergency situations may occur where you live, work and go to school, how local officials will contact you during a disaster and how you will get important information, such as evacuation orders.

Include your pets in your emergency plans. Remember, if you and your family need to evacuate, so does your pet. It's important to plan in advance to know which pet-friendly hotels are in your area, and where your pets can stay in an emergency

Planned Parenthood & ACLU sue over Indiana abortion law

The REPORTER & WISH-TV

Planned Parenthood is suing to block Indiana's new abortion law.

The suit, filed Tuesday in Monroe County, claims the ban on nearly all abortions passed by the General Assembly in July violates the Indiana Constitution.

The lawsuit claims Senate Enrolled Act 1 (Special Session) violates the state constitutional right to privacy and equal privileges protections. "This ban is dangerous and cruel," said Rebecca Gibron, chief executive officer of Planned Parenthood Great Northwest, Hawai'i, Alaska, Indiana and Kentucky. "It will directly harm the people of Indiana and send ripple effects through our entire health care sysdisproportionately harming our communities of color due to centuries of systemically racist policies - increasing the ma-Black women by as much as 33 percent and 21 percent across the board."

The new law is set to take effect Sept. 15.

State Sen. Shelli Yoder, D-Bloomington, said the lawsuit is a way to fight for women's right to privacy and bodily autonomy. She said nobody should be surprised a legal challenge was filed.

of right to privacy and violation of right to privacy; it was going to be in the face of women's equal protections under the law and still individuals voted for this," Sen. Yoder said, "so this lawsuit should come as no surprise."

Jim Bopp, an attorney based in Terre Haute and legal counsel for the National Right to Life Committee, said the Indiana Supreme Court already upheld the state's existing abortion laws in a case based on similar arguments. He said the court ruled the state had a compelling interest in protecting the rights of the unborn. Abortion rights supporters, he said, "are going to move heaven and earth to guarantee that right even by making preposterous legal claims that have already been rejected by the Indiana courts."

Ken Falk, Legal Director for the ACLU of Indiana, said the state constitution protects the right to privacy.

"From its very inception, the Indiana Constitution has protected the right to privacy," Falk said. "Implicit in this right, is the right for a woman to make medical decisions regarding her own reproductive health. This ban on abortion will force Hoosiers to carry pregnancies against their will, leading to life-altering consequences and serious health risks. Deeply private, personal, and unique decisions about reproductive health should be made by women in consultation with their doctors. Whether Indiana elected officials personally agree with abortion access or not, it is not up to the government to make these decisions for Hoosiers."

Following the ACLU's ternal mortality rate for announcement Tuesday of a lawsuit against SB 1, Indiana Democratic Party Executive Director Lauren Ganapini released this statement:

"The Indiana Republican Party used $240,000 in taxpayer dollars to pass a near-total abortion ban that is against the beliefs of a majority of Hoosiers. These policies are too extreme for our state, and the ACLU's "Lawmakers who voted action is a necessary step to for this knew that this was prevent the dangerous congoing to be a direct issue sequences that will follow should Senate Bill 1 become law. The only way to stop the Indiana GOP's extremist agenda is by voting them out in November, and the Indiana Democratic Party urges Hoosiers to support pro-choice candidates who will restore a woman's right to choose."

Indiana Senate President Pro Tem Rodric Bray, R-Martinsville, was undeterred in his commitment to the new law.

"We set out to pass a bill in the special session that would protect life and support mothers and babies, and that's what we did," Sen. Bray said. "It was always our intent to draft a bill that could withstand a constitutional challenge, and I hope to see that will be the case."

"Feel-good" Margaritaville is "thoroughly enjoyable"

Let's start with this premise: Nobody doesn't like Jimmy Buffett ... oh, I guess there may be someone somewhere who dislikes the easy-going feeling of Buffett's tunes and lyrics,

A Seat on the Aisle but I've never run of such an unhappy person.

Given that premise what a brilliant idea to take Buffett's song catalogue and weave them into a story of an island, an entertainer on zations. that island, and the visitors who are come there to recharge. Thus, we have Escape to Margaritaville which opened last week on the B&B stage.

Shaped by director Douglas E. Stark, with musical direction by Terry Woods and choreography by Ron Morgan, the show is a pleasing romantic romp which entertains with an interesting set of love stories, plenty of humorous situations, and many colorful he was doing everything he could for his country. His time spent in a forward unit also earned him a Purple Heart. After returning home, Art proudly continued to serve his country for many more years through the United States Air Force.

In addition to his military career, Art worked as a setup man for Ford Motor Company, setting and calibrating the machines for the production line, retiring after 28 years of dedicated service.

He was a member of the K.V. Elliott Post 67 of the Sheridan American Legion. He was also a member of the Sheridan Church of God, and most recently was attending Six Points Church in Sheridan.

Art never found himself at a loss for something to do. He enjoyed hunting and fishing, shooting pool with friends (usually Gail Ewing or Josh Kennedy), pitching horseshoes up at the park with the Sheridan Horseshoe League, heading over to the Sale Barn at Strawtown (most likely with Gail Ewing and/or Vernard Moore), or sometimes just sitting, not so quietly, in front of the TV watching boxing.

Art loved his family, especially when it came to his grandkids. He loved following everything they were involved in. His dedication to family and friends and his strong work ethic are just the beginning of a wonderful legacy that his family can carry forward.

Art is survived by the love of his life, Patricia "Patty" (Hancock) Massingill. Art and Patty were married on July 19, 1969. Also surviving are sons, Randy Lee Massingill (and Art's favorite daughter-in-law, Connie) of Rockwood, Tenn., Mark Allen Massingill of French Lick, Ind., and Jeremy Fendly (Gina); daughter, Kelly Lynn Johnson (Toby) of Sheridan; grandchildren, Kristal Johnson, Isaac Johnson, Stevie Massingill, Lane Massingill, Cameron Massingill, Logan Massingill, Chase Massingill, and Courtney Wilson; great-grandchildren, Caiden Fendley, Lucy Hester, Toby Davis, Jaxon Massingill, Walker Massingill, Navy Rain Johnson, and Charlie Wilson; brother, Chuckie Massingill; sisters, Ann Nesbitt (Larry) of Coatsville, Coleen "Cookie" Walton of Sheridan, and Elaine Burtron (Carl) of Sheridan; and many, many, special nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by his parents, Luther and Vergie (Moore) Massingill; father-in-law and mother-inlaw, Glen and Ruth Hancock; sister, Alice Jane Collins, and her husband Bill Collins; brother-in-law, George Walton; and sister-in-law, Terri Massingill.

Services will be at 2 p.m. on Thursday, September 1, 2022, at Kercheval Funeral Home, 306 E. 10th St., Sheridan, with Visitation from 11 a.m. until the time of service.

Burial with Military Honors will follow at Crown View Cemetery in Sheridan.

Pastor Josh Kennedy will be officiating. Condolences: kerchevalfuneralhome.com

Roxanna Lynn Reese

Roxanna Lynn Reese, 54, Tipton, passed away on Sunday, August 28, 2022, at Methodist Hospital in Indianapolis. She was born on February 22, 1968, in Noblesville.

February 22, 1968 - August 28, 2022

Roxanna loved being outdoors, and she enjoyed the simple things in life: Fishing off a bank, walking barefoot on a beach, watching a sunrise or sunset, standing under a waterfall, or viewing a canopy of fall leaves. She had a compassion for helping others, and her lively spirit and love of music kept her singing and dancing. She was blessed with a green thumb, and she loved the pleasures of gardening, planting trees and tending to her flowers. She was an avid collector of many things, but bells were her favorite!

Roxanna's animals were her pride and joy: her dog, Mr. Wigglez, and her 13 cats: Marblez, Sparklez, Twinklez, Reblez, Starz, Lazer, Tazer, Zeus, Ozzy, Izzy, Ziggy, Gigglez and Ticklez. Roxanna loved being with her family and friends, but her heart was devoted to all the children in her life. She was known for wanting a "proper" hug and never allowing them to leave without telling them how much she loved them. Roxanna is survived by her husband, Michael Reese; mother, Carolyn Sue Blondiau; daughter, Britney Needler (Craig); sons, Harley Needler and Greg Needler Jr. (Erin); first husband, Greg Needler; nine grandchildren, Harmony, Ellie Mae, Alexis, Alice, Piper Lynn, Oliver, Felix, Fitz, and Flex; siblings, Wanda Russ (Dennis), John Nelson, Christina Merrite, Jarred Uhrick, and Jennifer Edwards; mother-in-law, Linda Travison (John); father-in-law, David Reese; sister-in-law, Elizabeth Bender (Harry); brothers-inlaw, Justin Reese (Rachael) and Jamey Reese (Abbey); as well as several nieces and nephews, and aunts and uncles.

She was preceded in death by her father, Robert Arlo Uhrick; stepmother, Pamma Uhrick; and her stepfather, Wayne "Bliz" Blondiau, who raised her.

Visitation will be from 4 to 7 p.m. on Thursday, September 1, 2022, at Randall & Roberts Funeral Home, 1150 Logan St., Noblesville. An additional visitation will be held at the funeral home from 10 to 11 a.m. on Friday, September 2, 2022. Services will follow at 11 a.m., with Pastor Darrell Jones Officiating. Burial will be at Cicero Cemetery, 5 Morse Ct., Cicero. A Celebration of Life Ceremony will follow from 1 p.m. to 12 a.m. at Osprey Pointe Pavilion, 19777 Morse Park Lane, Noblesville.

Due to limited parking at the funeral home, we encourage guests to ride share from Osprey Pointe Pavilion. There will be a lake side pitch-in, and guests are encouraged to bring a dish, drinks, lawn chairs, and musical instruments for the Ceremony. Roxanna preferred casual come-as-youare attire for funeral services and the Celebration of Life

Memorial contributions may be made to Multiple Myeloma Research Foundation, P.O. Box 414238, Boston, MA 02241-4238 (themmrf.org); or Humane Society for Hamilton County, 10501 Hague Road, Fishers, IN 46038 (hamiltonhumane.com); or you may plant a tree in Roxanna's memory or plant a perennial in her flower bed memorial at her home in Tipton.
