Supporting local youth

A world of Octobers

Submitted

Thanks to the charitable contributions of a local group of Philanthropic Educational Organization (P.E.O.) members, more scholarship assistance will be available to members at the Boys & Girls Club (BGCN) of Noblesville this year.

Noblesville's Chapter DG has donated $725 to BGCN to supplement the cost of annual memberships for local youth.

Jane Meats, president of the P.E.O. Noblesville group, explained that the women wanted to use the proceeds from the annual sale of May baskets to financially support their community. This money will be earmarked to assist children attending the Club who might need financial assistance. With this additional help from P.E.O., many more prorated memberships will be supplemented, according to BGCN Executive Director Becky Terry.

Heights art students work together to beautify Arcadia

The REPORTER

"Any fin" is possible with teamwork. Last Friday, volunteers from Duke Energy, Hamilton Heights and Keep Noblesville Beautiful worked together to paint two aquatic-themed crosswalk murals in downtown Arcadia.

With a weekly evening farmers market, new splash pad and an incoming brewery, downtown Arcadia's vibrancy continues to grow. Arcadia Clerk Treasurer Jennifer Pickett wants to continue that trend.

"I had seen the crosswalk art done by Nickel Plate Arts at the Forest Park aquatic center," Pickett said. "I thought something like that would really add to our Main Street environment."

Pickett made a grant request to Duke Energy's community relations liaison Dagny Zupin and the cross-community project began to take shape.

Celebrating a legend

By JANET HART LEONARD
For the Reporter

A little over 50 years ago, a group of Noblesville High School students packed a choir room to be directed by Mrs. Jane McFarland. Those same students packed the choir room of the Noblesville First Methodist Church to sing under her direction last Thursday evening.

It was an evening of singing the songs that were sung in the years 1964 to 1971. Choir members whose hair had become gray and whose voices may not have been so strong still found their soprano, alto tenor, and bass voices to sound just as sweet as they did all those years ago. They were honoring a teacher who had

Go Purple with Prevail!

Domestic violence often happens behind closed doors, and it is not seen as something that makes good conversation. From Prevail's perspective, the more we talk about it, the safer it is for survivors to come forward and ask for help. If you talk about domestic violence openly with your friends and family, you will hear from the people in your circle who have experienced it and you will be able to refer them to the help they need. Going Purple is one way to start the conversation.

The bright blooms of a chrysanthemum signify that the season of fall has dawned. They symbolize friendship, happiness, and well-being; they come in nearly every color of the rainbow, making them a cheerful and bright option for a fall landscape. They are bold and showy, and in my opinion, the ultimate fall decoration.

Mums require well-drained soil and a sunny location, so when planting be mindful where you place them in your landscape. If you are planting your mums in the fall in the ground, it will be more difficult for them to return the following year. The earlier, the better it is to plant mums in the ground in order to make them hardy enough to survive winter. Early buds pruned on mums and clipped will result in double the amount of fall buds, giving a fuller mound appearance.

Perhaps you are like me and utilize mums as a container flower, treating them as an annual in decorative pots to enhance your fall decor. Waiting to plant mums in the fall will most likely result in them not having enough time to establish roots before the first frost, and as a result, they most likely will not survive the winter.

If you are looking for a fun and local spot in Hamilton County to dig your own mums, stop by Spencer Farm to find a big and beautiful selection of colors ranging from red, yellow, white, rust, gold, coral, dark purple and lavender. They provide the shovel and container, and you dig the mums of your choice. You also have the option to purchase already dug mums while supplies last.

Many things represent autumn to me, but I would argue none of them quite as special as chrysanthemums. There is something about the pop of color in your flowerpots and garden, after the rest of your plants have retired to rest until next season. I love carefully selecting the right color of mums for my porch and planting them with an assortment of gourds, cabbages and scarecrows. Nothing says fall quite like an inviting front porch scattered with mums and two people enjoying a cup of coffee from their rocking chairs. I cherish the splash of color mums provide during this beautiful season of crispness, and just like Anne Shirley, I, too, and grateful to live in a world where there are Octobers.

Nature is speaking to us and giving us beauty around every corner of autumn. Are you listening?

The local Chapter DG is one of over 6,000 chapters which include more than half a million women throughout North America. Although the group's main annual focus is supporting its national projects, the chapter voted this year to bring its outreach closer to home. According to Sandy Fink, chapter member, the women voted to use their proceeds to support their home community.

Chapter DG was organized in 1975 by 15 Hamilton County women. The chapter is proud to say it has continued as a strong advocate for the educational and social advancement for women, both locally and internationally. Today there are more than 135 active P.E.O. chapters in the state of Indiana. More information about the Sisterhood may be found at peointernational.org.

I was born and raised right here in Noblesville. I grew up in a home without domestic violence or assault - it wasn't something I saw, or even heard about. But when I was introduced to Prevail of Central Indiana, I was shocked by the number of individuals who are affected by domestic violence. In 2018 alone, Prevail helped more than 4,000 clients in Hamilton County (nearly 80 percent of clients are women and children). Domestic violence and abuse are hard topics to discuss, so you don't often hear about them. But at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, we're breaking the taboo and raising awareness for Prevail, an organization that helps families in Hamilton County.

a grant and volunteer power from Duke Energy.”

“I was excited about the prospect of expanding our crosswalk art to northern Hamilton County,” Peterson said. “Crosswalk art not only promotes safety by making it clear where pedestrians should cross, but also activates an area with color. Art is an important part of driving development and activity to a town’s Main Street.”

With the art installation date approaching, Duke Energy and Nickel Plate Arts decided to expand their volunteer pool and call in a team of experts: the Hamilton Heights Art Club. Led by art teachers Erin Goodman and Taylor Myers, the art club has completed multiple community murals including pieces in Arcadia and Cicero. Sixteen Hamilton Heights students contributed to the crosswalk mural, taking a half day to volunteer. Heights Superintendent Dr. Derek Arrowood was more than happy to bus students to the project.

“At Heights, we believe volunteering and community service is an important part of educating our students,” Dr. Arrowood said. “I appreciate our amazing educators and community partners like Duke Energy who help make these hands-on experiences possible for students.”

The crosswalk murals are visible at the intersection of West and Main streets in Arcadia. The Arcadia murals represent the tenth crosswalk project that Peterson and Nickel Plate Arts have facilitated.

“This is a great example of what can be achieved when community comes together, Zupin said.

“Duke Energy was proud to sponsor this collaborative and colorful addition to downtown Arcadia.”

become a legend to all who were blessed to be under her direction.

Mrs. McFarland, as was told, had returned to her favorite place of teaching. That says a lot when you consider she had been teaching up until last year. She retired at the ever-so-sweet age of 98.

She walked into the choir room as her students applauded. Her smile grew as she looked into the eyes of everyone who had come to celebrate her. For three hours those students sang the songs they had great difficulty learning but could not easily be forgotten. The harmony was heavenly. The memories shared that night were etched not only in the minds of her students but in their hearts.

Mrs. McFarland had taught the world-renowned opera singers Robert McFarland and Michael Sylvester. She also taught the voices of Old Noblesville how to sing: Lynne Lively Sylvester, Debbie Williams, Bruce McMahon, Jim McGee, Jim Kaylor, Janet Scott Smith, Rex Dillinger, Vicki Swaynie Jackson, Kathy Kepner Brehmer, Barbara Pyke Carter and a chorus of others who graduated from NHS. David Petrie was there to accompany the choir just as he did back in Every year at Christmas, Mrs. McFarland would bring her students from the junior high and high schools together with the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra as well as Indiana University guest soloists to perform Handel’s Messiah.

Those attending the celebration again harmonized as they sang “The Hallelujah Chorus.”

It was a pleasure to once again be together with such an amazing teacher, who at 99 years of age hasn’t lost a beat.

Nickel Plate Arts features artist Critt Hunter in October

The REPORTER
Veteran educator Critt Hunter is Nickel Plate Arts’ featured artist for October. Hunter spent 43 years in education, from teaching art in middle schools to serving as a principal. Hunter recently retired and moved from Kentucky to the Indianapolis area. He says the pandemic pushed him down the path of focusing solely on his own art. Jumping into art fairs, public exhibits, and selling his art led him to Nickel Plate Arts, where he is a showcase artist this October in the Stephenson House with his exhibit, “Colors of the Environment:

Hunter

The Square Peg Can Fit the Round Hole.” “The title defines my art, as well as myself,” Hunter said. As an art teacher, Hunter encouraged students to focus on their strengths, regardless of the labels they were given.

In each painting, Hunter looks to his strengths and finds ways to subtly stretch reality with arbitrary and complimentary colors. “My goal is to bring color variations to the square peg and to pleasantly surprise and please the viewer,” Hunter said. “I am grateful and honored to have my paintings exhibited, and to even sell my work as my square peg fits beyond the ‘expected’ round hole.”

Hunter’s exhibit will be on display in the Stephenson House now through Oct. 29 during regular business hours.

Meet him during October First Friday on Nickel Plate Arts campus as well as during his reception from 5 to 8 p.m. on Oct. 21. Both events are free and open to everyone.

Federal judge dismisses parts of lawsuit over anti-abortion student group in Noblesville

By BRADY GIBSON
WISH-TV | wishtv.com

A federal judge in Indianapolis has thrown out parts of a lawsuit against Noblesville Schools over the denial of an anti-abortion student group.

Judge Sarah Evans Barker issued her ruling late Friday afternoon, dismissing large sections of the suit filed on behalf of the founders of the Noblesville Students for Life club.

The lawsuit claims leaders at Noblesville High School originally approved the student organization in August of 2021, then revoked that permission less than one month later.

The plaintiffs argue the school rejected the club because of a flyer with a photo that included a “Defund Planned Parenthood” sign and claims that the club was not “student-driven.”

The judge’s ruling did allow parts of the suit, including claims of violations of the First and Fourteenth Amendments and the Equal Access Act, to continue for now.

In her ruling, Judge Barker cast doubt on whether the lawsuit would survive additional legal scrutiny.

Meet author Amy Shankland at Sheridan Public Library

The REPORTER

Author and grant consultant Amy Thornton Shankland has announced the release of her compassionate new book, Interviews by a Clueless White Woman, published by Warren Publishing.

The Sheridan Readers will welcome Shankland at 5:30 p.m. on Wednesday, Oct. 19 to the Sheridan Public Library, 103 W. 1st St.

Shankland grew up in a “typical middle-class” white household in Northern Indiana and came to realize that civil, women’s, and social rights movements didn’t solve as many problems as she was taught to believe.

Coming to terms with what she calls her own ignorance of the systemic inequalities that are far too prevalent in the world today, Shankland set out to learn from those whose “otherness” often sets them apart in society. This collection of 16 candid interviews demonstrates what we can all learn from each other if we set our differences aside to listen, learn, and grow.

After many conversations with friends and colleagues, Shankland said she was left feeling frustrated because she just felt “like a dumb white girl,” she explained. In the midst of the George Floyd tragedy and the overwhelming inequities brought to light at the height of the COVID-19 pandemic, a friend helped Shankland realize she wasn’t dumb, just “clueless,” and needed to learn more by listening and learning in order to understand the needs of others.

“We’re not talking to one another anymore,” Shankland said. “There’s too much Black vs. White, Red vs. Blue ... etc. I want to encourage people to just start understanding one another better.”

Interviews by a Clueless White Woman highlights 21 people who have experienced and continue to experience turmoil because they have “otherness”; perhaps they are people of color or members of the LGBTQ+ community, maybe they have physical, mental or emotional disabilities, or perhaps they practice a religion other than Christianity. In the book Shankland shares her candid discussions with these individuals; their voices and stories shine through – and hopefully educate along the way.

Throughout her research, when Shankland asked her interviewees what the first step toward understanding was, she heard over and over “Just talk to me.” Most people were open to talking about their cultures, what they deal with on a daily basis, their religion, their disabilities, etc. Shankland said she hopes that sharing these interviews will help increase understanding and unite us in our humanity.

“I learned so much from writing this book,” Shankland said. “The biggest thing I need to do now is to keep on learning. My eyes are open and I look forward to correcting my mistakes and doing better as I live the rest of my life.”

Shankland says she also hopes these interviews will open the door for more discussions because even though she’s learned a lot, she recognizes that there is still much more to learn. She wants readers to walk away asking “How can I do better?”

Interviews by a Clueless White Woman can be ordered on Amazon.com, BarnesandNoble.com, warrenpublishing.net, and asked for wherever books are sold.

One of the most popular shows in Las Vegas is coming to Carmel on Oct. 16 as Feinstein’s at Hotel Carmichael, 1 Carmichael Square, Carmel, presents The Edwards Twins and their Ultimate Variety Show.

Remember all the wonderful Variety Shows of the ‘70s and ‘80s? Now is your chance to see them live and recreated by Las Vegas’ No. 1 impersonators of all time. Anthony and Eddie Edwards use state-of-the-art makeup to look and sound like the superstars of today and yesterday. See all your favorite legendary superstars come alive.

Twin brothers Anthony and Eddie Edwards are described as one of the country’s premiere celebrity illusionists. From Cher and Dolly Parton, Elton John and Barbara Streisand, this talented duo has mastered the sights and sounds of some of the world’s most beloved performers.

The Edwards Twins were noted as “The best I’ve ever seen,” by Carol Burnett. USA Today lists them as “The best you’ll ever see” while NBC’s The Today Show calls them “Extraordinary.”

Anthony and Eddie Edwards are not just identical to each other, but to more than 150 of the greatest superstars to appear on the stages of Las Vegas. Both boys were fascinated with celebrities at a very early age. Living near the famous NBC-TV studios in Burbank, they would sneak in and watch various TV shows being taped. They would then mimic the stars and memorize the skits from The Sonny and Cher Show, The Carol Burnett Show and Laugh-In.

Now they are renowned as two of the most skilled impressionists on tour today. In their 35th year, the Edwards Twins will amaze you with their dead-on impressions of superstar performers such as Billy Joel, Lady Gaga, Neil Diamond, Bette Midler and many others.

The twins opened for Cher in Las Vegas and starred with Michael Douglas and Alan Arkin in Netflix’s The Kominsky Method, which won several Emmys.

They have appeared on The Tonight Show, Entertainment Tonight, The Today Show and on Ellen. Now back on tour after sold-out extended engagements all over the world, the Edwards Twins bring their ultimate celebrity concert to Feinstein’s for one night only.

Cicero Friends of the Library thanks “Dave” for his generous gift

Dear Editor:

Imagine finding an anonymous check in your mailbox. It’s the stuff of best-selling novels.

This time wasn’t fiction. In fact, it was a surprise gift of $500 from “Dave” sent to the Friends of the Library, an auxiliary organization that supports projects such as the summer reading program, special speakers, and other events at the Hamilton North Public Library in Cicero.

This sweet gesture was fueled by nothing less than chocolate cake. It seems that Dave attended the classic car show on Labor Day at Red Bridge Park where the Friends of the Library members had all sorts of baked goodies for their annual bake sale fundraiser.

There was no return address, just a local money order with an orange sticky note “Enjoyed chocolate cake from bake sale today, [smiley face] Dave.”

Despite our best efforts, we can’t seem to identify the correct Dave in Cicero, so we are expressing our deepest appreciation for this generous donation with the promise to Dave, and anyone else who enjoys baked goods, that there will be chocolate cake at next year’s bake sale.

We also invite our community to be a part of Friends of the Library. For more information, call Jenn Crusenberry at (317) 984-5623.

Noblesville voter: It’s time for professionalism on our school board

Dear Editor:

When I consider who I’d like to represent me in public office, I put high marks on professionalism. After having many interactions with the incumbent running for school board in Noblesville, I question his professionalism.

I have personally watched him lash out at a parent in a group discussion, silence high school students praising Noblesville at a board meeting, lose his composure at a candidate forum, and even refuse to add an agenda item to a board meeting four days after a major policy shift in the district announced on a Friday evening.

Now I read about his behavior behind closed doors and through text messaging toward another board member.

Our sitting school board president has lost my vote this November.

When I look at the other candidates, the latest candidate forum helped me get an idea of who would be best for our schools. The current city employee, who garnered the ‘s and the incumbent’s endorsement as soon as he announced his candidacy, seemed unaware of happenings in the schools. Having the moderator rebut one of his statements at the forum and then responded, “I don’t know what that is” in response to a question about the Panorama surveys leaves me questioning his readiness to take on the job.

It also does not present well when his mailers have the wrong date for early voting. It is not Oct. 11, but the 12th as stated at in.gov/idr/hoosiers-vote/vote-early. As a fellow veteran, I appreciate his service, but we need someone ready on day one.

The other two candidates at the GOP forum, Melba and Misti, were the only ones to immediately mention using any discernment when it came to spending and referendums. With inflation and recession being dinner table discussions now, there is a high value on fiscal responsibility. We currently pay an extra half-percent of our property value over the tax cap for two referenda.

According to the latest financial report, Noblesville schools has $180 million of debt after $5 million last year alone. This includes over $4 million in outstanding bonds, but not the $17 million in bonds just added a couple of months ago for more projects. I would rather see referenda for these projects instead of for teacher pay. Investing in better pay for our teachers should be prioritized in the regular budget, not left up to referenda at the ballot box. Both women have these priorities of better teacher pay and true fiscal responsibility.

We need leadership in Noblesville schools that not only understands what is taking place in the schools, but also puts kids first, allows teachers to teach with better pay, and places a high value on professionalism and transparency to the taxpayers and parents. Noblesville needs better than an incumbent who repeatedly lacks decorum and professionalism.

I believe Melba and Misti are the two board members who are committed to professionalism, won’t needlessly put us further into debt, and will not only put kids first, but make sure our teachers are prioritized instead of leaving their pay to a ballot measure.

Grace Charter Authority approves new classical charter school for Hamilton County

Submitted

Valor Classical Academy reached another significant milestone on Monday when the school’s charter proposal received unanimous approval from the authorizing board of Grace Schools Charter Authority, LLC.

The charter school recently held a local public hearing in the Carmel Clay school district in September, which was covered by WISH-TV.

Valor Classical Academy will become Hamilton County’s first tuition-free, K-12, classical charter school. The school will provide a civic-centered education rooted in American heritage and focused on character and virtue. Students will be taught to love learning and to develop good habits and character through the study of content-rich materials and enduring methods.

Valor is pursuing the former Orchard Park Elementary under Indiana’s “Dollar Law” for charter schools. In an effort to continue the appropriate educational use of the Orchard Park building, the charter school petitioned the Court for a ruling on this law. The Court is expected to render its decision before Dec. 31.

Valor Classical Academy will hold a school information night at 6:30 p.m. on Thursday, Oct. 27 at the # tick, tick. . . BOOM! will move you, make you think about your life choices

By DANIEL SHOCK
A Seat on the Aisle

I took two of my children, ages 20 and 12, to the Phoenix Theatre in downtown Indianapolis to see tick, tick ... BOOM! – a rock musical adapted from an autobiographical one-man show by Jonathan Larson.

Larson is most well-known for his masterwork musical, RENT, for which he was awarded many posthumous awards – Pulitzer, Tony, Drama Desk, and many others. tick, tick... BOOM! was adapted again last year into a Netflix movie musical starring the

With that knowledge of his impending tragic end, we watch the character of young Jon, played by Patrick Dinnson, struggle with his life choices as his 30th birthday approaches like a time bomb (hence the title). Jon is a composer trying to establish himself in the New York musical theatre world. He is frustrated with the slow progress. He works at a diner while he tries to pay the bills and make his art.

Jon also feels pulled to different possibilities both personal and professional by the other two people in his life who have made the choice or are in the process of making that choice for something else. Jon's girlfriend, Susan (Gabriella Gomez) is a dancer who feels the pull of a different life. She wants to move out of New York City for a less stressful life – one that includes a dishwasher. Jon's best friend, Michael (played by Eddie Dean) was a talented actor who gave up the struggle for a corporate job that more than just pays the bills. Both of them urge Jon to look at his options and give up the struggle.

This is a powerful show. It deals with such easy questions as "What do I want to do for the rest of my life?" All of us who work in the arts have faced these choices to some degree. I went to college wanting to study theatre and be an actor. I chickened out after a few weeks. I wrote my drama teacher in high school and apologized for quitting. He showed up the next day to assured me that changing my mind was not a failure.

Director Emily Ristine has put together a show that will move you, make you laugh and cry and think about the choices you've made. The cast is superb. Patrick Dinnson as Jon is on stage and singing 99 percent of the 1 hour and 25 minute run time. His performance seems easy and effortless. Gabriella Gomez plays Jon's girlfriend Susan as well as a few other characters. She makes you feel Susan's sadness and disappointment as she feels that pull to another life. Even if you want the change, you mourn the life you had. Eddie Dean as Jon's best friend Michael is magnificent and moving when he sings in the song "Real Life." You have no trouble believing the friendship between the two men. The three actors have an easy, charming chemistry.

Music was directed by Tenen Karimu and was provided by a talented band positioned perfectly above the stage. Set Design by Zac Hunter was elegant and functional and served the many locations well. Lighting and sound were also well done.

There is some strong language in the show. My 12-year-old enjoyed the show and was not harmed in anyway by it. My 20-year-old daughter really connected with the story as she is facing those same choices in her life now.

tick, tick ... BOOM! will be playing at the Phoenix Theatre, 705 N. Illinois St., Indianapolis, through Oct. 30. You can purchase tickets at phoenixtheatre.org/tick-tickboom.

Carmel-based dental advisory firm welcomes three to growing team

Submitted

Carmel-based Four Quadrants Advisory, a concierge financial planning firm for entrepreneurial dental practice owners, has welcomed three new team members – two new regional sales executives and a lead generation specialist – to help grow the company’s trajectory.

Adam Mormile (Ohio-based) and Ben Line (Michigan-based) have been added to the team as dental sales representatives. In their new roles, they will cover the entirety of their respective states for prospecting and take part in any and all dental-related matters, such as speaking engagements and trade shows nationwide.

Mormile brings more than a decade of sales experience to Four Quadrants, most recently running his insurance agency, Mormile & Associates LLC. There, he focused on growing the company from scratch and oversaw all aspects of the business, including management of multiple employees, sales goals and quotas, and revenue budgeting and forecasting, ultimately increasing market share in a competitive market. Prior to Mormile & Associates, Mormile worked at Farmers Insurance Group.

Before joining Four Quadrants, Line worked for DiaMedical USA as an EMS Equipment & Supplies Sales Manager for two years. During his time at DiaMedical USA, he brought in an impressive amount in sales –increasing sales revenue for his division by over 100 percent within a year. In addition, he created partnerships with multiple medical device and equipment manufacturers for distributors.

Four Quadrants’ newest lead generation specialist is Katie Davenport (Indianapolis-based). Davenport worked for Driven Dental Implant Marketing as a Virtual Patient Advocate prior to joining Four Quadrants. During her two years at Driven Dental Implant Marketing, Davenport closed millions of dollars of dentistry production through virtual role consulting with prospective patients and scheduling qualified leads.

“We are thrilled to welcome Adam, Ben and Katie to the Four Quadrants team,” Four Quadrants

Founder and CEO Jason Smith said. “Their extensive experience proves they are equipped to support our growing team and put our clients at the forefront as they look to review the state of their practices, improve inefficiencies and get their cash flow on track.”

All three new sales hires will field questions and inquiries from Four Quadrants’ new complimentary dental practice form.

Four Quadrants has been in business for nearly 20 years helping high-achieving dental practice owners reach their financial goals and freedom. For the first time, the firm offers a complimentary assessment to get you started on the right path.

‘Hounds win 1-2 battle, HSE, Fishers set up Mudsock semi-final showdown

The REPORTER

3A Sectional 8 at Fishers Fifth-ranked Royals score four in each half to take down Anderson

Hamilton Southeastern wasted very little time in making their way past the Anderson Indians on Monday night in the first round of boys soccer sectional action at Fishers.

They were able to score four goals in each half to completely overwhelm Anderson, 8-0.

The Royals had three players that netted a pair of goals each. Logan Puls (two assists), Evan Shideler and Logan Wright (assist) were those three, while Jonathan Leeper and Drew MacDonald also found the back of the net to account for their eight scores.

The Indians end their season with a 6-9 record and HSE (12-2-3) advances to the first semifinal on Wednesday and will play Fishers for the second time this season.

No. 3 Tigers make quick work of Bearcats to set up rematch with HSE

The Fishers Tigers had their game in high gear throughout the first half on Monday night on their home field in their first-round matchup with Muncie Central.

(Above) A large crowd, including a loud Carmel student section, was at Murray Stadium on Tuesday to see the 1-2 showdown between the Greyhounds and Zionsville. (Right) Carmel senior Callum Mckeown takes the ball down the field.

Quick scoring in the first half is all that it took for Fishers to get their point across to the Bearcats in a 6-0 shutout of Muncie Central.

Kyle Clayton scored three goals for a hat trick in the first 40 minute, along with assisting on another. Santi Morales scored a pair and Noah Reinhart (two assists) added a goal for the six Tiger tallies. Fishers also got assists from Ethan Slabaugh, Caleb Hernandez and Grant Scott

Muncie Central falls to 9-7 to close out its season. Fishers (11-2-4) moves on to a rematch with Hamilton Southeastern Wednesday at Fishers in a Mudsock part II battle. The Tigers won the first Mudsock game on Sept. 6, also at home, 1-0.

The Tigers and Royals will duke it out in the first semifinal at 5:30 p.m., followed by Noblesville (10-3-3) face Pendleton Heights (10-6) in the second semifinal at around 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday. The Millers are the defending Sectional 8 champion and won the 2021 Class 3A state title.

3A Sectional 10 at Carmel

One early score made a big difference for Carmel when it hosted Zionsville Tuesday in the first round of Sectional 10, which the Greyhounds are hosting at Murray Stadium.

It was a No. 1 vs. No. 2 showdown, and top-ranked Carmel got a 2-0 victory over the second-ranked Eagles. Will Latham scored the first goal for the ‘Hounds in the 10th minute, off a Braeden Thomson assist, and that 1-0 lead would hold through halftime.

“I’m sure all coaches talk about the first 10 minutes of each half, and five minutes after a goal is scored is when there’s the most emotion invested in the game, and being able to try to control those moments in the game,” said Carmel coach Shane

Schmidt. “If we can control those moments, it really helps us try to establish control in a game. I don’t think we really had control in that game. I don’t think you can when you play a top team like Zionsville.”

Nevertheless, the Greyhounds were able to stand firm against the Eagles’ tough attack in the second half. Carmel’s offense helped out, of course: Colin Fetting put in the second goal during the 52nd minute, with Latham providing the assist. Meanwhile, goalkeeper

Adam Keleher making several big saves in the second half to keep Zionsville from a potential comeback.

“No matter how you look at it, you’re going to have to play good teams at some point in time if you keep advancing in the state tournament,” said Schmidt.

Carmel is 12-2-3 and will play No. 20 North Central at 7:30 p.m. tonight in the second game of the sectional semi-finals. The Panthers beat Westfield 1-0 in Tuesday’s first game;
