If that isn't love

Top 10 stories chosen by the people who matter ... you!

The REPORTER
Observing the tradition of hometown newspapers across the country and across the decades, the Reporter looks back at the top stories from 2022. This time, we let our readers decide which stories mattered the most. The following list was compiled from our website, ReadTheReporter.com.
In the spirit of Hoosier native David Letterman, we are counting down our Top 10 list from No. 10 to No. 1.

– 10 –
The 10th most-read item on our website this year was a June 26 column by Scott Saalman entitled “Joe Aaron is dead, and I don’t feel so good myself.” Now here’s a guy who reminds us of that box of chocolates simile from Forrest Gump: you never know what you’re going to get. Scott sometimes gives us high comedy, sometimes he tugs the heartstrings and brings a tear to the eye, and sometimes he pushes the envelope so far it annoys people. And that, dear readers, is exactly the way a good columnist should be. You can revisit his most read column of the year at tinyurl.com/HCR22web10.

Number 9 is a sad moment in the County’s history this year, when Hamilton Southeastern High School Student Jake Reibel, 16, died in a single-vehicle accident on Interstate 94 near Chicago in February. We would prefer not to have tragic news on this list, but it was a story that generated an outpouring of community support. You can read the full story at tinyurl.com/HCR22web9.

The 8th most read story dates back to January when Old Town Companies construction began on the parking and residential project on the west wide of the White River in Noblesville. Called “The Village at Federal Hill,” this project was reporter to be bringing 118 apartments, with 90 parking spaces set aside for residents and 210

No. 9 on social media: A call went out to the local community, and the answer was incredible! CertaPro Painters of Indianapolis asked for help painting Ernie Taylor's sculptures at his home, 10985 E. State Road 32 – just west of the Hamilton-Boone County line – and the outpouring of support brought 200 people to Taylor's home on Sept. 9, 2022. The youngest person in the photo is 2 years old. Ernie, who is as hard to spot as a “Where’s Waldo” picture in this crowd (hint: look for the cowboy hat) is 94.

space for public use. You can read all about it at tinyurl.com/HCR22web8.

Coming in at number 7, we had an exploration of how Indiana’s property taxes compare to other states across the country. The article included a breakdown of the state’s property tax data showing that 12.3 percent of the state’s general tax revenue comes from property taxes. You can read the whole story at tinyurl.com/HCR22web7.

In 6th place we have another column, this time by Sylvia Gordon, which explores one of the many frustrations with Medicare plans. Sylvia does a fine job of untangling these topics for our readers, but this particular one resonated with more people than any of her others have this year. You can read all about it at tinyurl.com/HCR22web6.

Number 5 comes from our news-gathering partners at WISH-TV Channel 8’s reporter Jasmine Minor, when she looked into what you need to know about Indiana’s permit-less carry law. As of July 1, 2022, Hoosiers who are eligible to purchase a gun in Indiana no longer have to apply for a license to carry a firearm. Read all the details at tinyurl.com/HCR22web5.

Number 4 gets Fishers back on this list, this time with some good news. American Structurepoint earned the Grand Project Award for engineering excellence from the American Council of Engineering Companies (ACEC) of Indiana for the State Road 37 and 126th Street interchange project in Fishers. This particular project was part of the larger plan to relieve traffic congestion along the SR 37 corridor in Hamilton County. Well done on the award, and thanks for less traffic frustrations all along that road! Read more at tinyurl.com/HCR22web4.

Number 3 is about a different kind of apartment development in Carmel. Back in January we had a story about “North End,” Carmel’s first apartment housing community that integrates a dedicated portion of apartments for residents with intellectual and/or developmental disabilities. Completion is scheduled for fall of 2023. Read all the details at tinyurl.com/HCR22web3.

The second most popular item on our website this year was from our old friend Gregg Montgomery at WISH-TV, when he brought our readers the news that the Santa Tour was going to continue, as it did during the pandemic, in place of the traditional Christmas parade in downtown Noblesville. Mayor Jensen and his staff later announced they would bring the Santa Tour through the traditional parade route, though with some changes. You can read Gregg’s original article at tinyurl.com/HCR22web2.

And our No. 1 most popular story of 2021 is ... Paul Shaffer, can you give us a drum roll please? ...

COLUMNIST
Marry a man who will go shopping for you to buy a yellow coat you don't need.
That is my advice to my granddaughters. I might add, especially if he is one who hates to shop. He will be a keeper!
I have a keeper. It's been nine years since we met in the waiting room at Don Hinds Ford, and I fall in love with him over and over again because of the little things he does.

My dear friend, Don Jellison (RIP), longtime newspaper guy, once told me, "Janet, you sure know how to write those schmaltsy columns." I still remember that February evening in 2014 when he called me and asked if I would write them for his newspaper, The Hamilton County Reporter. My heart still does cartwheels when I think about it. THE newspaper guy of Hamilton County wanted me to write for his newspaper. EEEK!

Back to my schmaltsy story.
I'll say it until I take my last breath, God knew it would take an amazing man to love my heart well. I had put up quite a concrete boundary wrapped in barbed wire to guard my heart. God knew just the right man to bring into my life ... Chuck Leonard.
A few weeks ago, I returned to the little yellow house on the alley after walking three miles with my bestie, Patrice. We had stopped in the Linden Tree Boutique as we were coming back from Forest Park. I found the most beautiful yellow coat that I didn't need. It beckoned me from the storefront window. It seemed to say, "You want me!" I may have whispered, "But I don't need you."
Now if you know Chuck Leonard you know he is not a shopper ... but he is a listener. I might have mentioned something about the coat when I got home.

For many reasons, the next day was a bad day ... a really bad one.
I walked in the back door. It was after dark and I had driven home from the hospital in the pouring rain, struggling to see through not only the tsunami that had hit my windshield but the tsunami that had pounded my heart. Adding to all that was the fact that I am dealing with the not-so-wonderful aging ailment of cataracts. My mother would have said I was having a come apart.
I could not hide the mascara-stained cheeks as I saw Chuck Leonard sitting at the kitchen table. He knew my heart was hurting. He could see the invisible shards of brokenness. I told him about sitting for five hours in the surgery waiting room, the words the surgeon said and the absolutely horrendous drive home. I was a not-so-pretty sobbing mess.

Bruce Kimball, one of Carmel's most loyal advocates & public servants, passes away

The REPORTER
Carmel City Councilor Bruce Kimball passed away Friday, Dec. 30, at the age of 70. Kimball was in the middle of his second term on the Council, to which he was first elected in 2015 and then re-elected in 2019.
“I was saddened to learn today of the death of Councilor Bruce Kimball,” Mayor Jim Brainard said. “During his time on the Council, he served his District well and will be remembered as a champion of bicycling on the Monon Greenway and across the city. Bruce was also a friend, and I extend my condolences to his family and friends. Bruce loved Carmel and worked diligently to make it a special place for his constituents.”

Kimball is probably best remembered as an advocate for bicycling in Carmel and using it to attract economic development, while also improving the quality of life for local residents and visitors. He established a weekly, low-impact family bike ride that was very popular.

Kimball became more active in city government as a founding member of the Carmel City Center Community Development Corporation (4CDC). During his four years on the 4CDC, he was involved in large redevelopment projects. He was also a supporter of the arts, the Carmel Clay Historical Society, and local businesses. At the time of his death, he was semi-retired and served as a Republican precinct committeeman.

Kimball was raised in Lebanon, Ohio, where both parents were schoolteachers and active in the community. As an Eagle Scout, he served for several years as leader of the local scouting service

Kimball was a volunteer and coach for the Carmel Dads Club, he served in leadership positions in his church and community, and he was a volunteer and board member for the Carmel Farmers Market.

County GOP to hold Jan. 10 caucus to fill Kimball's seat

The REPORTER
According to Hamilton County Republican Party Chairman Mario Massillamany, the party will have a caucus Jan. 10 to select a replacement for Kimball:

"A caucus has been scheduled to fill Bruce's position on the Carmel City Council. The caucus will be held Tuesday, January 10, 2023 at 6:00pm at the Hamilton County Republican Party Headquarters, 209 E. 175th Street, Westfield, IN 46074. Nickel Plate Bar & Grill lives on in spirit of local charity

Submitted
Fishers resident John DeLucia loved the Nickel Plate Bar & Grill.

When he saw the pile of bricks on the site where the restaurant stood, he had an idea. He thought having a brick would be a great keepsake and that others may feel the same way. Not one to just wander onto a construction site and help himself to materials, he sent out a message to anyone he thought may be able to assist.

Former Fishers City Councilor David George called and offered to meet at the site and allow him to grab as many bricks as he'd like – but that they had better meet soon because it wasn't clear how long the bricks would remain at the site.

DeLucia's friends Jim Harris and Todd King were willing to jump right in and assist that very afternoon. The trio met George at the site and loaded as many bricks as they could into Harris' van and King's truck.

Now what?

Alison Gatz from the Fishers Nonprofit Coalition volunteered to help put these bricks to good use. She organized the initial "Bricks for Good" program with members of the Coalition.

They found that Thanksgiving, Giving Tuesday, and Christmas provided some serious distractions from the Bricks for Good campaign, but over $6,000 has been raised so far.

As the New Year approaches, the Bricks for Good campaign is adjusting. The new way to get an authentic brick is to donate at least $100 to a participating nonprofit. The receipt can be emailed to mwalk-er@myesbin.com so that arrangements can be made to come pick up the brick at Citizens State Bank, 9 Municipal Drive, Fishers.

Celebrating 200 years of law enforcement service

Submitted by Hamilton County Sheriff's Office

Hamilton County is celebrating its 200th anniversary in 2023, and the Sheriff's Office is celebrating 200 years of a tradition of service to the Hamilton County community. Our agency is celebrating this with a special 200th Anniversary Bicentennial Badge that our men and women will be wearing on their uniforms.

The first of two important characteristics that distinguish the Office of Sheriff from other law enforcement agencies is its historical roots.

In England, the sheriff came into existence around the 9th century. This makes the sheriff the oldest continuing, non-military law enforcement entity in history. In early England the land was divided into geographic areas between a few individual kings – these geographic areas were called shires. Within each shire there was an individual called a reeve, which meant guardian. This individual was originally selected by the community to be their informal social and governmental leader.

The kings observed how influential this individual was within the community and soon incorporated that position into the governmental structure. The reeve soon became the king's appointed representative to protect the king's interest and act as mediator with people of his shire. Through time and usage, the words shire and reeve came together to be shire-reeve, guardian of the shire and eventually the word sheriff, as we know it today.

Indiana Governor William Hendricks appointed the first Hamilton County Sheriff, William P. Warrick, in 1823. Sheriff Warrick was paid a salary of $26.50 for his service in his first year. The very first county jail was built in 1824, made from logs, on the east bank of the White River just north of the old cemetery in Noblesville. The cost of the 21-foot-long, two-apartment jail was $300.

The Hamilton County Sheriff's residence and jail was built in 1875 and 1876 and is a Second Empire style brick and limestone building. It consists of the two-story, L-shaped jailer's residence, with a cellblock attached at the rear. It features a three-story square tower. This historic building served as the Sheriff's Residence and the Jail until 1977. The Jail is also listed in the National Register of Historic Places, and the 1876 Museum houses items of county historic interest, restored Victorian rooms, a research library, and jail cells which once housed the infamous Charles Manson and Ku Klux Klan leader D.C. Stephenson.

The tradition of service continues today under Hamilton County Sheriff Dennis Quakenbush. He and his staff continue to serve the public with the same professionalism and integrity that Sheriff William P. Warrick started with in 1823.

And then I saw it ... the yellow coat. Chuck Leonard had gone shopping. He had walked into the Linden Tree and asked about a yellow coat that had hung in the window. They had one left. It was just my size.

He put his arms around me. Without saying a word, I knew I was the most loved wife in the world. He hugged my heart.

While he couldn't fix me and make everything all better, he could show me he loved me. That was what I needed. All he could do was love me ... with a hug and a yellow coat.

If you see me out and about in a can-you-see-me-now yellow coat, just know I am wearing love. And Chuck Leonard knows just the right size I need.

So yes, granddaughters, find a man who will buy you a yellow coat that you don't need. You will be loved well.

No. 1 on ReadTheReporter.com: In August, Reporter Publisher Stu Clampitt visited the Noblesville Dairy Queen – famous for its hand-dipped Dilly Bars – before it was demolished to make way for the new Pleasant Street.

In early August we visited the Dairy Queen at 798 S. 10th St. for their last weekend of operation, as did countless people from across the county. That was the last location in the county offering Dilly Bars and Buster Bars that were made on-site, rather than being shipped in from somewhere else, and people flocked to the store to get as many as they could. That last blast of community support for the place that held so much nostalgia for so many was truly a sight to behold. You can read all about it at tinyurl.com/HCR22web1.

In July, The Reporter wrote a little story about Ernie Taylor, a 94-year-old man living just across the county line on SR 32 westbound. Ernie has a large yard filled with hundreds of sculptures, and he told The Reporter he was having a bit of trouble maintaining that lifetime of work. As soon as that story hit the page, the community responded in a huge way. A social media group of Westfield women started pushing the idea of helping Ernie, and the next thing we knew, CertaPro Painters of Indianapolis was organizing volunteers, Sherwin Williams was donating paint, and 200 folks showed up to repaint everything they could in one day. Sheridan Museum receives donated pre-Civil War rifle

By STEVE MARTIN
Sheridan Historical Society

Sheridan resident Marilyn Bell has had an old rifle in her family for years which she thought may have been a relic of the Civil War. Rather than discard it, she decided to donate it to the Sheridan Historical Society because the Museum does have a small collection of Civil War era gun memorabilia, so we certainly welcomed this addition to the collection.

As it turns out, the firearm is a pre-Civil War .38 caliber hunting rifle.

When Marilyn brought the rifle to the museum, it was in several pieces and there were parts missing, so a restoration gunsmith was contacted to restore the rifle. Retired local educator Joe Rushton worked with Noblesville gunsmith John Schippens to put the rifle together. As luck would have it, the gunsmith had several parts for this type of rifle in his shop, plus he was able to locate the additional pieces he needed without too much difficulty. The rifle was fully restored within a few months and returned recently to the museum.

Photo provided by Sheridan Historical Society
Sheridan Historical Society Museum Executive Director Jim Pickett, Society President Ron Stone, and Marilyn Bell are shown with Bell's donation of a Samuel Beck rifle to the Museum. Thank you, Marilyn, for this wonderful donation to our collection.

Bell had not seen the rifle since she initially brought into the museum, and she was surprised and pleased with the result of the restoration.

The top rib of the rifle barrel is stamped with the name "S. BECK." Samuel Beck was a prominent gunsmith in Indianapolis in the mid to late 19th century, at a time when skilled gunsmiths were valuable members of their community. Beck was held in high regard by his community, and his guns were worthy of that regard. While we will never know for sure if the gun was used in the Civil War, it was more likely used locally for hunting smaller game.

If you would like to know more about Samuel Beck, use your favorite search engine to research his name. He and his family have extensive Indiana and Indianapolis history.

If you would like to see the restored rifle, please come by the Sheridan Historical Society Museum located at 315 S. Main St. in uptown Sheridan. We are open to the public on Tuesday and Friday afternoons from 1 to 4 p.m., and beginning in January, we will be open on the second and fourth Saturday afternoons, also from 1 to 4 p.m. We are also open by appointment if you call ahead (317-758-5054) to make arrangements.

Hamilton County Plan Commission can provide guidance on flood zones

Submitted by Hamilton County Plan Commission
In 1913, 1958, 1964, 1999, 2003 and 2005, heavy rains caused the White River; creeks such as Big and Little Cicero Creek, Mud Creek, Stony Creek; and streams to overflow their banks. Some of the most notable floods were the result of heavy rains over several hours, ice and log jams. The largest flood of record in Hamilton County occurred in 1913.

Hamilton County is divided into nine different building and zoning jurisdictions. The Hamilton County Plan Commission covers parts of Adams, Noblesville, and Wayne townships, and all of White River Township.

The County Plan Commission offers assistance to current, new, and future property owners, insurance companies, banks, mortgage companies, etc., concerning a property's flood zone classification and whether it is in a floodway. Other information that can be given includes flood depths, areas of historical flooding, how to go about getting flood insurance, contour information, and wetland natural functions (when available) for our jurisdictional areas of Hamilton County only. Elevation Certificates that are provided to our office for our specific jurisdictional area are available upon request.

Our office maintains a comprehensive library of manuals and materials dealing with flood hazard matters, including reducing loss in high-risk flood hazard areas, flood proofing for both residential and non-residential structures, elevating residential structures, installing manufactured homes in flood hazard areas, as well as design guidelines for flood damage reduction, flood area maps, flood elevations, repairing your flooded home, etc.

We have also provided the Noblesville Library and the Sheridan Library with copies of the above listed information. The Noblesville Library is located at 1 Library Plaza on Cumberland Road, Noblesville (just west of Conner Street) and the Sheridan Library is located at 103 W. First St., Sheridan.

You may reach our office by coming to the Hamilton County Government and Judicial Center, 1 Hamilton County Square, Suite 306, Noblesville, or by calling (317) 776-8490.

Even media folks were able to get a Clue at Beef & Boards this week

Reporter photo
Beef & Boards Dinner Theatre marked their golden anniversary over the weekend with both their first staging of Clue and a season-opening media reception. It was a wonderful opportunity to catch up with old and new friends in the business. In an era when video games often get turned into movies and TV series, The Reporter found a play based on a movie based on a Parker Brothers board game to be an amusing change of pace. If you'd like to get tickets for Clue or any other play during their 50th anniversary year, go to beefandboards.com. Still on the fence about this one? Read our Wednesday edition for Ken Klingenstein's "A Seat On the Aisle" review of Clue.

Connor Gavin Petro

November 13, 2004 – December 18, 2022

Connor Gavin Petro, 18, Sheridan, passed away on Sunday morning, December 18, 2022, in Tipton County. He was born on November 13, 2004, at Wishard Hospital in Indianapolis.

Gavin was a senior at Sheridan High School. He loved playing football for the Blackhawks. Due to injuries, #55 had to sit out his senior year, but that didn't keep him from supporting his teammates. Gavin was there for every game, sporting his trademark daisy duke shorts and cutoff sleeves. He dreamt of going further as a player, becoming a lineman, and possibly playing for his favorite team, the New England Patriots.

He was a very hard worker who enjoyed his employment at both Menards and Wilson's Farm Market.

Ask anybody about Gavin, and you would probably get the same description – he was a gentle giant until you made him mad. His size could be intimidating, but once you got to know him, you quickly realized that he was harmless. He was fiercely devoted to his family and friends.

Gavin could instantly light up a room. He had a smile that could change your whole day. He loved to joke around, and nobody was immune from being a target, not even his teachers.

Gavin loved his family. He was his dad's sidekick, his mom's protector, and the brother that every sister should be lucky enough to have. As he and his sister started getting older, they started doing more things together. He also had a very close relationship with his grandfather and uncle. His two younger brothers always looked up to him, even if they did have to endure some teasing ... but that's what brothers are for. For them, continuing Gavin's legacy on the field would be an honor.

Although his time here on Earth was short, he did what he was sent here to do ... share his love, humor, and his strength. God just needed him back to make Heaven a little rowdier.

Gavin made an impact on everyone he met, and he will continue to live in the hearts of those of us who were lucky enough to be a part of his life.

Gavin is survived by his parents, John Gordon and Sarah Nicole (O'Connor) Petro of Sheridan; paternal grandfather, Gordon Ledbetter of Atlanta; maternal grandmother, Shannon Stewart of Arkansas; brothers, Gayge Petro of Sheridan, Brayden Petro of Sheridan, Noah Petro of Kokomo, and Johan Petro of Kokomo; sister, Savannah O'Connor Petro of Sheridan; and his canine BFF, Hank.

He was preceded in death by his maternal grandfather, John O'Connor; maternal great-grandmother, Helen Jones; paternal grandmother, Yvonne Petro; maternal great-grandparents, Ronald and Gloria Stewart; great-great-grandmother, Hazel Liddle; and great-great-great-aunt, Ruby Lynn.

A celebration of Gavin's life took place at on Wednesday, December 28, 2022, in the Sheridan High School / Middle School Auditorium, 3030 W. 246th St., Sheridan, with visitation prior to the service.

Arrangements have been entrusted to Kercheval Funeral Home in Sheridan.

Don't rush your reunion

As my adoption and reunion story continues, I've changed some names, places, and dates.

Around Thanksgiving in 2015, my birth mother Linda and I once again were in the middle of one of our marathon phone conversations. I had sent her a book about a son who had been reunited with his birth mother. The man had been given up for adoption in 1972, one year after I had been placed for adoption.

We talked about the differences and similarities between the man's story and my own. Thankfully most of his birth mother's horrible experiences were not shared by Linda. Both of us were struck by the speed at which mother and son had met and merged their lives. At one point he was even going to have her live with him but changed his mind as they both realized things were going too fast.

Linda became teary-eyed at this point in our talk. I had finally told her that I loved her a couple of months prior. How could I not? She had made incredible sacrifices to make certain I had a good life, even taking good care of me in the womb.

"Amy, I can't say that back to you yet," she cried, "In some ways you're still a stranger to me." My heart melted in sympathy for her.

"I understand," I replied. "Just like in that book, I really think we should keep taking our time in this process. I even contacted the author to tell her how much I liked her book, and she advised that I do the same thing."

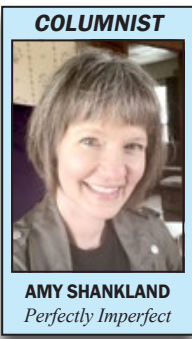

I think that has been the number one message I've repeated to myself and one that I would share with others who are on a journey like mine. At times I wanted to meet everyone I am biologically related to all at once. I used to always hunger for more information and knowledge. I wanted to meet my half-sisters and learn all about them. I yearned to spend an entire afternoon or even a day with Jack and Linda.

But to do all of that and try to rush everything would have been wrong. Tempting, but wrong. It would be absolutely overwhelming for me and probably the same for my biological relatives. I had to remember that we're human, and just like all human beings, we have both our good points and our faults. It was easy to fantasize and paint a certain picture about my birthparents and their relatives.

Like any important relationship, taking time to really get to know one another is vital in an adoptee reunion scenario. I've joked with both Jack and Linda that I'm glad they're not derelicts. They're good, kind, intelligent people whom I enjoy speaking with. To have found them so quickly and to know a little more about them every time we speak, and in turn learn more about myself, is a blessing.

My adoption reunion story could have gone in so many different directions. I thanked God every day that overall, it had been a good experience. I looked forward to the day that I would meet Linda. I looked forward to other days where I hopefully would meet my half-sisters, aunts, uncles, nieces, and nephews.

I also wanted to meet Jack's wife, Dawn. I didn't know for certain, of course, what would happen, but I kept my faith and remained cautiously optimistic.

Mark Hall is ready to serve his constituents on County Council

Welcome to the Timesheet. This column is the first of regular communications from an elected official to those I'm honored to serve.

As your employee, it's important that the voters know what I'm spending time on. It's vital in today's climate to be transparent in government. You hired me as your Hamilton County Councilman, and my hope is that you'll choose to be informed by regularly reading this column, getting involved, and by asking any questions you may have.

Here is where my time has been spent recently.

I didn't begin official employment until Jan. 1, 2023, but dozens of meetings had already taken place. Over recent years, attending County Council, Noblesville Common Council, and Cicero Town Council meetings has allowed important relationships with local officials to flourish. Additionally, the information on local projects has proven invaluable with many impacting county operations or requiring county support.

Hitting the ground running is a top personal priority, making department head and stakeholder meetings, studying the 2023 budget, reading the ARPA meeting minutes, and attending several days of new elected official training, critical to a strong start. Twenty-nine different meetings are in the rear-view mirror with another half dozen scheduled early in the new year. The first County Council meeting of 2023 is 7 p.m. on Wednesday, Jan. 4 in the Commissioners Courtroom at the Hamilton County Government and Judicial Center. If you can't be there live, you can watch online on Hamilton County Television (HCTV1.com).

MARK HALL

To date, it's a pleasure to report that we have an incredibly impressive team working in county government. The wide range of services requires exceptionally diverse skill sets, planning, and accountability. County services include but aren't limited to the courts, hazardous waste removal, probation, highways, bridges, the auditor, the jail, treasurer, assessor, elections, surveyor, drainage, weights and measurements, clerk, recorder, sheriff, health department, prosecutor, emergency operations, 911 communications, parks, coroner and many more. Add to that all the teams of professionals who support buildings, grounds, county executives, judges, information technology, security and collectively you have hundreds of people serving the citizens of Hamilton County every day. We are regularly served by county government.

Meeting dozens of dedicated professional staff these last few weeks and learning about their work, their challenges, and specifically what is working in county government and what could be improved, has given me invaluable insight into our government operations. I've learned a great deal. I've also had the opportunity to serve several constituents working with them to solve a problem with the State Department of Health.

In the near future, the council will work with the Commissioners on State Road 37, 191st Street, the 4-H Fairgrounds, the domestic violence shelter, and several facility renovation and improvement projects. A longer, more comprehensive list of 2023 priorities will be reviewed for you in future columns.

Over the last few days, I've had the opportunity to observe Hamilton County's Emergency Operations Center, the Highway Department, along with County Buildings and Grounds professionals prepare for what could have been a major storm event. It is with confidence I report that these dedicated professionals spent countless hours preparing for and executing support services for the citizenry as the storm unfolded. Fortunately, the most severe impact of the storm missed Hamilton County, but the teams were working all night and were prepared to support us further if the weather, roads, and/or infrastructure was more severely impacted.

This is my time sheet. This is where I am spending my time prior to beginning in office in a few days. There are several projects in queue for 2023, and while my job is primarily the financial oversight of the county budget it is important, that I understand the Board of Commissioners' priorities and balance them with the stewardship of taxpayer dollars. That is the job, and I am so very excited to do the people's business.

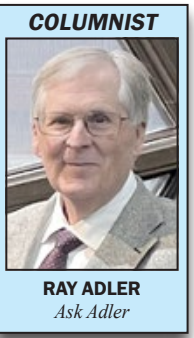

As a taxpayer myself, and listening to so many of you, my employers, it's important for the taxpayers to have access to all the information you want. I work for you and although you may not choose to do a deep dive into what your County Council does, it's important that you always can do so. Feel free to contact me at (317) 832-1104 or mark.hall@hamiltoncounty.in.gov with questions, feedback or if you would like to talk about county business.

How do people of faith handle divorce?

The Pope recently issued a paper on changes in the Catholic Church concerning divorce.

Our office frequently has requests for a "church divorce" or encounters a client who has questions concerning the Bible's view of divorce. The typical situation in our office is where an individual is married to an alcoholic or is one who is physically abusive. The victim spouse is concerned about the biblical ramifications of filing for divorce. Almost all cite to Matthew 19:6, which indicates divorce is not preferred and appears to be permitted only for sexual immorality.

We counsel them that Paul, in 1 Corinthians 7:15, also permits a spouse to be free from bondage if the unbelieving spouse departs. In Romans 7:2 the spouse is also free from marriage bonds if the other spouse dies.

RAY ADLER
Ask Adler

To have a "church divorce," or one acceptable to God, a person may, but need not, divorce for a permissible biblical reason: (1) sexual immorality; (2) departure of an unbelieving spouse; or (3) death of the spouse.

"Death," in biblical terms, can refer to spiritual death as well as physical death. How does spiritual death occur? A spouse should follow the mandates of Matthew 5 and Matthew 18. These passages provide a process to follow when you sin against someone or someone else sins against you.

For example, if your spouse sins against you, Matthew 18:15 directs you to go and tell your spouse's fault to them privately. (Spouse, your continued excess- sive drinking is unacceptable.) If the spouse does not hear, take one or two witnesses and repeat. Sometimes this is referred to as an intervention. (The spouse is told that continued excessive drinking is unacceptable and solutions are sought.) If the spouse refuses to listen to the witnesses, take them before the church. If the spouse refuses to hear the church, let your spouse be to you like a heathen and a tax collector.

God gives everyone a choice. He set up the secular government and court system (Romans 13:1) so that when both sides cannot agree to resolve problems in the church under biblical principles – the preferred method – they have a choice to do so in another forum rather than resort to the law of the jungle.

In the case of the abusive or alcoholic spouse, if the spouse refuses to listen to the church, they are excommunicated in one last attempt to bring them back to the faith. If they fail to return to the faith, it could be considered that they are spiritually dead. The victim spouse can proceed with a divorce in secular courts, having satisfied biblical requirements to be free of the marriage covenant with God.

We work with each individual's home church to make sure this procedure is consistent with their theology and have found that many local churches accept and welcome the above stated procedure. When both parties are willing to submit to the church's authority under biblical guidelines, the success rate in preventing divorce is astonishingly good, which is the ultimate goal.

General Assembly should do the right thing about cigarette taxes

A principal recommendation of the recent Governor’s Public Health Commission report is the urgent need to increase state funding of public health. It’s an essential component of their plan to improve Indiana’s health.

In fact, it recommends that funding increase from the present $55 per person to the national average of $91. That’s not enough, but it’s a good start. Historically, the Indiana legislature has placed public health funding at a very low priority; according to the United Health Foundation’s America’s Health Rankings of the states, Indiana is 45th lowest (alternatively reported as 48th by some sources). It’s just an unfortunate Hoosier tradition. The report demonstrates that Indiana’s lack of public health funding is reflected in our miserable state of health; Indiana persistently ranks in the bottom 10 states on key health measures resulting in unacceptable losses – both human and economic. According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, Indiana ranks 40th lowest in life expectancy. I could go on.

It’s time, once again, to consider increasing the cigarette tax, not only to discourage smoking but also to use the new tax revenue to fund the numerous proposals recommended by the Commission. It’s an obvious source of funding.

How many times over the past 25 years have I called for increasing the cigarette tax, and how many times has the legislature failed to act? The influence of the tobacco industry on Indiana legislators runs dark and deep, and many times is present indirectly through other entities acting on its behalf.

One of the first things I learned in politics is to never expect a politician to do the right thing because it is the right thing to do. It’s time during this upcoming budget session for the General Assembly to muster the political courage to do the right thing and increase the cigarette tax.

It’s just that simple. Indiana’s tax is $0.995 per pack, with the last increase in 2007. The national average is $1.91. And look at our surrounding states: Michigan’s cigarette tax is $2 per pack; Ohio is $1.60; Illinois, $2.98; Wisconsin, $2.52; and even the tobacco state of Kentucky is $1.10 per pack. These states have understood that increasing tobacco taxes discourages the amount of smoking, increases cessation rates, discourages youth initiation, and provides increased tax revenue.

Indiana has some catching up to do. Despite decreased smoking rates resulting from increased taxes, economic studies have never demonstrated a point of diminishing tax revenues even in the states with the highest cigarette taxes – New York and Connecticut are $4.35 per pack.

It is well known from multiple authoritative sources that increasing the cigarette tax is probably the most effective single strategy for reducing smoking rates. It’s particularly effective when combined with a comprehensive, multifaceted state smoking prevention and cessation program, which has also languished in Indiana from inadequate funding. According to the American Lung Association, every 10 percent increase in the price of cigarettes reduces consumption by about 4 percent among adults and about 7 percent among youth.

The CDC ranks Indiana 10th highest in adult smoking (19.2 percent) among the states. Reducing that rate is key to improving the health of Indiana. A $1.50 per pack increase would raise $262 million in tax revenue: $240 million could be utilized to fund the Commission’s recommendations and $22 million to restore Indiana’s once vibrant tobacco prevention and cessation program.

Get the frog out

Editor’s Note: At 46, Brad Fischer, Brownsburg, was diagnosed with stage 4 gastric cancer. He was given one year to live. Brad’s memoir, The Sand Bucket List, chronicles his experiences and observations on life, often through humor. Scaramouch columnist Scott Saalman read the book over the holiday break, loved it, and wanted to give it the spotlight it deserves. The following is a condensed chapter. Buy Brad’s book on Amazon.

Tonya, my wife, enjoyed her workouts at Hoosier Trainer, a local gym in Brownsburg, owned and led by a young woman named Monica, and encouraged me to go with her to give it a try.

I was expecting other women to be there. What I wasn’t expecting was all women. I walked into the gym and immediately felt like a duck out of water. But I decided to man up and give it a shot.

Monica turned on the music and started us with some leg stretches, quickly moving side to side. I followed along the best I could, mimicking Monica’s moves. We went from stretches, to squats, bicep lunges, tricep kickbacks, lateral shoulder raises, and a host of other moves I was learning for the first time. And, although I had first thought that the weights I grabbed would be too light for me, I quickly realized that after the 150 reps we were doing, even the weight of my arms felt heavy. I was huffing and puffing and could feel my muscles aching, begging me to quit. I looked at the clock wondering if the fifty-minute workout was almost over, only to see that we were only ten minutes in.

It wasn’t only Monica’s encouragement that kept me moving; it was the commitment of all the others in the class. There were brief moments when we were all shuffling left and right to the music that I thought we must look like a bad MC Hammer music video. By the end, my T-shirt was wet with sweat. I felt proud and accomplished that I had completed the class without quitting or dying.

Our family schedule made it difficult for Tonya and me to return at the same time. I felt even more uncomfortable showing up without Tonya. I wanted to wear a T-shirt that said, “I’m not a creeper. I just like the workout.” I kept my head down and made my way to the back of the room trying to be as stealth-like as possible.

There is a large side garage door that Monica will leave open on nice weather days. I stood with my mat and weights quietly in the back, but right as the music began and Monica started counting our first set of squats, a young lady came up to me from behind and flatly said, “Excuse me. Could you get the f__ out?”

I wasn’t certain the F word rhymed with “duck.” However, I was pretty sure the message was the same: she was wanting me to leave. Maybe I should have worn the not a creeper T-shirt. Or maybe this workout truly was exclusive for women. She was smiling. My resentment and embarrassment were replaced by confusion. I assumed “get the frog out” was equal to “get the flip out” – a slightly softer and more playful way of asking me to exit. She clearly was not angry with me, but why was she asking me to leave?

“Can you get the frog out?” she repeated more clearly with the smile still on her face.

“You want me to get the frog out?”

She pointed to the floor along the back wall. Surprisingly – and delightfully – I witnessed a small frog hopping around. He wasn’t particularly good at keeping rhythm to the music and wasn’t even trying to follow Monica’s lead with the leg squats.

I briskly approached the frog, ready to confront his shenanigans. His random bouncing from side to side stopped and he froze along the wall. As I bent down to grab him, he took a giant leap forward, escaping my grasp. He hopped right and back left, I followed him, bent down, and scooped him up with my hands. I walked out of the garage door, set him on the ground and watched him rapidly hop away.

A couple of the ladies quietly clapped. The young lady who had brought the frog to my attention added in an affirming voice, “Thanks. You looked like someone who could handle a frog.”

I had faced my admission test and passed. I still felt a little uncomfortable being the only guy in a gym full of women. My timing and rhythm in the workouts definitely needed some work. But I was someone who could redirect an adrift amphibian.

I was the guy who could catch a frog! After my cancer diagnosis, what I found surprising is how much I missed Monica’s classes – not just the physical benefits, but the emotional and mental boost. As I was continuing my rounds of chemo, I started going again.

I started worrying less about what others may be thinking. I wasn’t there to impress anyone. I no longer focused on what I should look like or be able to do. I was there for me. I wanted to become a better version of myself – not just in my physical health but in all my personal qualities.

When it comes to working out – and life in general – the measure that matters most isn’t our waistline, the size of our biceps, or the baggage we bring into a room. What matters most is our tenacity to struggle and sweat, our eagerness to root each other on to do one more rep, our joy from dancing with others, our strength to let go of our fears and insecurities, and our courage to confront the obstacles in our lives. And yes . . . our fortitude, when necessary, to get the frog out!

Care coordination & cost-containment measures under attack for employers

During an interim study committee this fall, legislators convened to hear stakeholder testimony regarding prior authorization in Indiana.

Requiring prior authorization from a patient’s health payer before receiving some medical treatments or procedures ensures that patients receive the care they need and protects against duplicative care and unnecessary procedures. It is not without controversy. Large hospitals would prefer to have largely unchecked authority to do what they want while payers (patients and the employers who pay for health claims) want assurance that they are not an open checkbook every time they require care.

With the legislative session right around the corner, as a stakeholder, employers should be concerned that hospitals will ask for this tool to be removed on services and should be prepared to act to protect this safeguard that coordinates care and prevents additional costs to the individual patient and employer.

The “managed care” model of health insurance created in the early 1970s has thankfully allowed more Americans to gain coverage and live longer. Today, through the prior authorization process, health payers similarly coordinate patient care across various healthcare systems to improve quality and achieve better health outcomes. In the long run, this also controls costs for both the patient and the payer, which is usually the patient’s employer. It is more than just cost control, as it is widely used to confirm service at the right care level, in the right order, and at the right clinical time.

The prior authorization process is not perfect, but it is constantly being improved upon through updates in technology and the gathering of feedback and input from physicians.

It serves an important role in our healthcare system for coordination of care and preventing fraud, waste, and abuse. Health payers use prior authorization for notification purposes to activate the next steps for care coordination. In mental health treatment, for example, it allows the health payer to know if a member may need additional wraparound services and can engage directly to ensure they are received.

Prior authorization also prevents duplication. If a provider ordered an MRI for a member, and that member then goes to another provider for a second opinion, the health payer knows that the MRI has already been completed and can prevent the member from undergoing, and paying for, the same service twice.

Most importantly, prior authorization ensures patient safety. If one provider has a member on one medication, and a different provider prescribes another that has a potentially harmful interaction, the payer is alerted and can manage that care to protect the patient.

In each of these instances, the health plan is the only entity that has a full picture view of the patient’s healthcare journey and prior authorization is the first step in the process to what makes that possible.

Not all medical services require prior authorization. For obvious reasons, it is prohibited by federal law for emergency services to protect patients. Additionally, state and federal law requires that health payers implement internal appeals processes for their decisions and utilize state certified independent review organizations to confirm or overturn decisions that must be made under strict legal and regulatory timelines.

In 2018, the Indiana General Assembly passed legislation streamlining the prior authorization process by requiring electronic requests and implementing uniform standards and forms. This tightened minimum turnaround times and placed prohibitions on claim denials for most requests that

Pay now or pay more later: ensuring Hamilton County families have Medicaid coverage for ABA therapy

By JENNA BURKHARD
Guest Columnist

In a few weeks, our state legislators will convene for the 2023 legislative session.

One issue that will likely be top-of-mind is Indiana’s high healthcare costs, which are creating a heavy burden on Hoosiers in Hamilton County who are already feeling the pain in their pocketbooks from high inflation.

The emphasis on high healthcare costs has spurred a flurry of proposals for lowering costs – including cutting the state’s spending on essential programs like Medicare and Medicaid. Policymakers must consider these proposals carefully and focus on adopting precise cost-cutting strategies instead of across-the-board cuts which could have unintended consequences and raise our healthcare costs in the long run.

A prime example of short-sighted cuts would be lowering coverage for preventative care. Cutting back on these types of care would ultimately lead to worse health outcomes and a much higher price tag down the road.

As an ABA therapist, I work daily to support and advocate for individuals with intellectual disabilities and their families – including individuals with Autism Spectrum Disorder (ASD). One of the most scientifically validated therapies for individuals with autism is called Applied Behavior Analysis (ABA) therapy. ABA therapy is a prime example of a routine intervention that can far improve outcomes in the long run.

Importantly, ABA therapy is far more effective as an early intervention. Participating in ABA therapy at an early age has lifelong impacts on people with ASD and their families – allowing them to be more independent, make their own income, and have a more robust social life. Simply put, early investment in ABA therapy pays off in the long run.

That’s why it is surprising that ABA may be singled out as a place to cut Medicaid coverage.

One of the main goals of ABA therapy is to limit the duration of service and prepare clients to leave the therapy setting and be able to translate their learned skills to the real world. That means most individuals with ASD receive this therapy for one or two years – and receive a lifetime of benefits, both for themselves and for their families who can now more reliably enter the workforce instead of 24/7 childcare at home.

Compare that to an entire adulthood of lost opportunities for individuals and their families if access to this care is stripped away. According to one study, services for adults with autism have a much higher cost than services for children, by a factor of three, costing as much as $196 billion a year, compared to $61 billion for children services.

Indiana has a reputation for providing superior autism services for those who need it while remaining fiscally responsible. That’s why state legislators and other decision-makers in Indiana should reject any Medicaid cuts for preventative autism care.

Drastic cuts would immediately impact families in Hamilton County and across the state coping with autism who rely on this care and would particularly burden low-income families who often need care the most. Just as important, a reduction in coverage today would be fiscally shortsighted, ignoring the future costs that are inevitable when children who lost access to services are increasingly dependent on the state.

Hoosiers deserve quality and accessible autism services. Drastic reductions in Medicaid reimbursement for ABA therapy will cost taxpayers more while hurting families.

Taking their time to get it right

From one point behind, Millers prevail in Hall of Fame Classic

By RICHIE HALL
sports@readthereporter.com

NEW CASTLE – In a game full of wild plays and crazy-fast runs, six seconds was enough time for the Millers to make one more.

Noblesville was down by one point to Bedford North Lawrence in the championship game of the girls Hall of Fame Classic last Thursday at New Castle. The Millers had the ball out of a timeout. Noblesville’s Reagan Wilson rushed down the floor, one end to the other, got to the basket and laid the ball in while being fouled with 0.8 seconds left in double overtime.

Now, Noblesville was ahead. Wilson then made the free throw, then stole the inbound pass as time ran out. With that, the Millers were the Hall of Fame Classic champions, 69-67, over the Stars.

“The play was written up, and it was like ‘(Meredith) Tippner, throw it in to Reagan and see what happens,’” said Wilson. “Our team had worked so hard for this win and I wasn’t going to let them down.”

“I kept reminding her, you have six seconds,” said Millers coach Donna Buckley. “That’s a lot of time. Keep the ball in your hands. She just made a great play.”

Everyone on the Noblesville team had to make great plays to win the game, and that’s what everybody did. The Millers had beaten BNL the previous week at the Stars’ own tournament, so both teams were indeed pumped up.

Noblesville led 12-9 after the first quarter, with Tippner scoring the first seven points. BNL’s Karsyn Norman tied the game with a 3-pointer, then the Millers went on a 6-0 run for an 18-12 advantage. Wilson made two layins, then Tippner hit a jumper.

Another Wilson basket put Noblesville up 20-15, but the Stars finished the half on an 8-0 run, giving them a 23-20 halftime lead. Mallo-ry Pride scored four of those points for BNL.

The second half opened with Brooklyn Ely draining a 3 to tie the game at 23-23. Norman made a layin to push the Stars up 25-23, but Noblesville answered with an 8-0 run. Wilson scored, then Ely and Kaitlyn Shoemaker both hit triples.

Ava Shoemaker was back on the floor for the Millers, and she made her presence known early with a first-quar-ter 3. She also hit a layin with around two minutes to go in the third to give Noblesville its largest lead at 35-27.

“That’s what makes this group really special,” said Buckley. “We have a lot of kids. The last time we played them, Brooklyn didn’t score. She got a lot of looks and just didn’t capitalize, but she certainly did that tonight, hit some big, big 3s.”

But the Stars came back, scoring the next eight points, and the game was tied at 35-35 going into the fourth. Chloe Spreen scored five points, she would be named the tournament MVP once the game was (finally) done.

During the fourth quar-ter and both overtimes, each team would make a spurt of five or six points, but the other team would come back. Case in point: Bedford North Law-rence led 47-42 after a Spreen triple, but Kaitlyn Shoemaker answered that with a 3, and Tippner tied the game with a layin.

“We see this every game and with the strength of the schedule, we have the oth-er coaches say, ‘Hey, what’s your easy game?’ We don’t have an easy game. Every game comes down to the wire like this, so I think Buckley has prepared us so well for this,” said Wilson.

“Yes, and with the tour-nament last year, we played in championship games ev-ery single day,” said Tippner. “She’s prepared us. We’re a team that’s going to fight to-gether until the end.”

Millers take defense to next level, cream Northridge at Holiday Tourney

By RICHIE HALL
sports@readthereporter.com

NOBLESVILLE – The Noblesville boys basketball team hosted yet another suc-cessful holiday tournament last week.

The Millers welcomed eight teams to their annu-al tournament, beginning with first-round play last Tuesday. Noblesville easi-ly beat Northridge 56-26 in its first game, then defeat-ed Crown Point 61-44 in a semi-final last Wednesday. In the championship game, the Millers fell to Lawrence Central 48-45, making the Bears the first-ever two-time champion at the tournament.

High-energy

Noblesville has made high-energy defense its trademark during the first few weeks of the season.

In their first six games, the Millers have held all of their opponents under 50 points. But Noblesville took its defense to a level it had not been in a few years in its opening-round game.

The Raiders had come into the tournament with a 7-1 record, but the Millers were able to stay ahead of Northridge in the first half, then got better on defense as the second half progressed. As a result, the 26 points scored by the Raiders were the fewest Noblesville al-lowed an opponent in a game since Dec. 1, 2017, when the Millers only gave up 22 points to Fishers.

Aaron Fine started the game with a 3-pointer for Noblesville, but Northridge then went on a 7-0 run. That prompted a talking-to from Millers coach Scott Mc-Clelland.

“I just didn’t think we played very hard,” said Mc-Clelland. “So, we called a timeout and got after them.”

Noblesville’s players got the message. The Mill-ers went on a 13-0 run that stretched into the early part of the second quarter. Luke Almodovar made a personal 7-0 run – two 3s and a free throw – to put Noblesville up 10-7.

Preston Roberts finished the first quarter with a lay-in to put the Millers up 12-7. Roberts also got the first basket of the second quarter, and Hunter Walston fol-lowed that up with a dunk. The run was finished and Noblesville led 16-7.

“I thought Preston gave us a nice spark off the bench,” said McClelland.

County teams wrestle on the road

Hounds & Huskies win championships, Sheridan's Peyton Cross sets school record

The REPORTER

Hamilton County's wrestling teams all went on road trips last week, traveling across Indiana to compete in holiday tournaments.

One of the larger tournaments in the state was the Mooresville Holiday Classic, which took place last Wednesday and Thursday and featured 32 teams. Carmel, Guerin Catholic and Hamilton Southeastern all competed there, and all three of those teams had something to be happy about once the awards were given out.

The Greyhounds were the happiest of all, as they ran away with the team championship. Carmel scored 293 points, well ahead of runner-up Delta's 208.5 points.

Twelve of the Greyhounds' 14 wrestlers placed in the top eight at the tournament. Four Carmel athletes won their weight classes, starting with Caleb Mattingly at 126 pounds. Isaac Ward followed by taking first at 132, then Michael Major won at 138. Trevor Gallagher added a championship at 152 pounds.

Two more Hounds were runners-up: Nayl Sbay at 145 and Jack Milligan at 285. Jackson Elliott (at 113), Alex Ryan (at 182) and Seth Richardson (at 195) all placed third. Other place-winners were Lito Ledezma (fourth at 120), Jairo Ojeda (fifth at 160) and Matthew Green (eighth at 170).

Hamilton Southeastern had a strong tournament, finishing a close fourth with 166.5 points, just behind third-place Terre Haute South's 168 points. The Royals had seven place-winners, including two champions: Zack Wagner at 170 and Dom Burgett at 285; Burgett remains unbeaten for the season at 15-0.

Zach Lang scored a runner-up finish for Southeastern at 152 pounds. The other Royals place-winners were Aidan Smalley (sixth at 106), Nick Anderson (sixth at 120), Nick Jakubs (sixth at 160), and Chris Casler (eighth at 138).

Guerin Catholic finished 28th, totaling 48 points. Peter Nguyen was the Golden Eagles' lone place-winner, but he made an impact, finishing second at 120 pounds. Nguyen made his way to the championship match before falling to Delta's Neal Mosier in a match of unbeaten wrestlers, by an 8-2 decision. Nguyen is still 19-1 for the season.

Carmel and Hamilton

Southeastern's girls teams were also at the Mooresville Holiday Classic, and both squads had top 10 team finishes last Thursday. The Greyhounds placed fifth by scoring 78 points, with the Royals taking sixth place, totaling 76 points.

Chloe DeLeon was a Carmel champion, winning at 126 pounds. Two more Greyhounds placed third: Zentavia Coatie at 120 and Grace Marshall at 182. Other place-winners were Josie Bellotti (fifth at 160), Jessica Xie (sixth at 113) and Alisha Calcuttawala (seventh at 145).

The Royals were led by Emily Anderson, the winner at 120 pounds. Anderson is unbeaten for the season at 15-0. Two more Southeastern wrestlers were runners-up: Jayda Harris at 160 and Fanta Sall at 195. Kelli Crawford took fifth at 182 and Charlie Parsons was sixth at 152.

Hamilton Heights won a rumble on the Ohio River last Thursday at the 14th annual Cub Classic in Madison.

The Huskies, ranked No. 5 in Class 2A, edged out two other top teams to claim the championship. Heights scored 272.5 points, ahead of runner-up and 3A No. 4

East Central (261 points) and 2A No. 9 Heritage Hills (241 points).

The Huskies had four champions on the day. Carson Fettig won at 145 pounds, then Heights swept the heaviest three divisions: Evan Tilton at 195 (keeping him undefeated at 28-0), Josh Brown at 220 and Mason Moran at 285. Four more Heights wrestlers finished as runners-up: Justin Tilton at 126, Simon Kuhn at 132, Alex Furst at 138, Michael Cain at 170 and Jimmy Lacey at 182.

Blain Zachary (at 152) and Aiden Furst (at 160) both placed third in their weight classes. Cooper Doucette (at 113) and Gavin Archer (at 120), both got fifth-place finishes.

Noblesville competed in the North Montgomery Duals last Thursday and Friday.

The Thursday portion was a round-robin of dual meets, and the Millers went 4-1 in that competition. Noblesville defeated Lapel 78-3, North Montgomery 60-22, Pendleton Heights 39-36 and North Putnam 60-22, losing only to Rochester 62-6.

Carlos Argueta finished 4-0 for the Millers at 195 pounds. Four more wrestlers went 4-1: Luke Chastain at 126, Caleb Leeman at 138, C.J. Livingston at 145 and Austin Hastings at 220. Five Noblesville athletes finished Thursday with 3-2 records: Bryan Young at 106, Lawson McRae at 113, Carter Richardson at 152, Aden Widget at 170 and Oscar Solis-Rodrigues at 182.

On Friday, the teams returned to North Montgomery for the individual competition. Team scores were kept as well, and the Millers finished third with a score of 140 points. Rochester ran away with the team title by scoring 227 points, followed by Rensselaer Central's 201 points.

Noblesville had eight place-winners, and all eight wrestled in the same weight class as they did on Thursday. Leeman and Hastings both finished as runners-up in their divisions, with Widget and Solis-Rodrigues

University girls end the year with 41-point win over Bishop Chatard

By RICHIE HALL
sports@readthereporter.com

CARMEL – After 22 days, the University girls basketball team was back on the floor.

The Trailblazers had been idle due to finals and weather, so they were definitely ready to play a game against another school. University got that chance last Saturday in a New Year's Eve game with Bishop Chatard at the U Center.

How ready? Try "41-point win" ready. The Blazers took care of the Trojans 75-34. University poured in 25 points in the first quarter, then ramped up its defense in the second period. The Trailblazers outscored Chatard in every quarter and had four players scored in double figures.

"It's not ideal to not play in a month, but I think at the same time it helps you, because we had time to really go through and re-work our playbook, our defenses and everything," said University coach Justin Blanding. "We were pretty sharp. "The Trojans held an early lead of 8-4 two minutes into the game. The Blazers then went on an 11-0 run and never seemed to be in trouble again. Jordan Patterson was outstanding in that stretch, scoring eight points on a three-point play, a 3-point basket and a steal.

A putback by Chatard's Grace Felts ended the run, but Payton Seay made a layin, then Patterson drained a second triple to get University up 20-10.

"They hit a couple in the beginning," said Patterson. "We didn't panic. We just settled in on defense. We were just really intense. That was a really big point of focus."

Taylor Seay finished the quarter with her own 3, and University led 25-15. The Trojans' Addison Duncan started the second period with a layin, briefly bringing Chatard within 25-17.

But the Trojans would get no more points in the half. Instead, the Trailblaz-ers cruised to halftime on a 19-0 run, leading 44-17 at the break. Payton Seay made a couple layins to start the run. Kelsey DuBois took over in the last couple minutes of the half with seven points, making an and-1 along the way.

"We started out playing a little bit of zone since we've been working on it," said Blanding. "And that's probably not the best thing to do starting out." So, the Blazers switched back to man and "got into a rhythm," said Blanding.

"It wasn't anything special, it was just an adjustment we had to make," said Blanding.

University played a steady third quarter, adding 18 more points to lead 62-30 at the end of the period. Patterson opened the quarter with her third 3 of the game. Later, Keira Bright got into the act, nailing two triples and totaling eight points during the period.

"She's our best shooter in the program," Blanding said of Patterson. "But like I tell her all the time, you're not going to make shots if you don't take them. She came out tonight, she did a really good job."

The Trailblazers sprinted to the finish line, outscoring Chatard 13-4 in the fourth quarter. University ended the game on an 11-0 run, with four players contributing to that stretch.

Three seniors led the way for the Blazers. Payton Seay scored 20 points, collected nine rebounds and made four steals. DuBois added 15 points and five rebounds, while Patterson scored a season-high 14 points. Taylor Seay had 10 points and a career-high five assists; she is a sophomore, but was a part of the team last year that won a regional championship. An-

Golden Eagles win final two games at Phil Cox Memorial Tournament

The REPORTER

The Guerin Catholic boys basketball team finished fifth at the Phil Cox Memorial Tournament last week at Kokomo.

The Golden Eagles were dealt a tough loss to start the tournament, falling to Warren Central 41-40 last Thursday in a back-and-forth game. The Warriors led 12-9 after the first quarter, but Guerin Catholic came back to lead 22-21 at halftime. Warren then dominated the third quarter, leading 33-27 by the end of the period. The Warriors led 38-30 at one point during the fourth quarter before the Golden Eagles came back, but Warren Central was able to hang on for the win.

Robert Sorensen reached double-double status for Guerin Catholic, scoring 17 points (including three 3-pointers) and collecting 10 rebounds. Dylan Murans had six rebounds.

Guerin Catholic rebounded on the second day of the tournament, winning two games last Friday to clinch fifth place.

In a consolation game, the Golden Eagles beat Columbia City 54-40. Guerin Catholic steadily built a comfortable first-half lead, going up 26-18 by halftime, then pulled away in the third quarter by outscoring Columbia City 19-9.

Four players reached double figures for the Golden Eagles. Lucas Parker and Ty Sanders both scored 13 points, while Dylan Murans and Kamea Chandler each scored 11. Parker made three 3-pointers. Sanders collected nine rebounds, with Jack Cherry and Sorensen both getting five rebounds. Cherry also handed out five assists.

Guerin Catholic took care of South Bend Riley 54-36 in the fifth-place game. The Golden Eagles outscored Riley in all four quarters, leading 18-9 after one period and 31-16 at

Southeastern girls score two wins over out-of-state opponents

The REPORTER

Hamilton Southeastern won two games against out-of-state competitors last week at the Paul Loggan Memorial Tournament at North Central.

The Royals edged out Springsboro (Ohio) 42-41 in their first game last Wednesday. Southeastern was in control early, leading by double digits five minutes into the game, then leading 17-8 at the end of the first quarter and 31-20 at halftime. Springsboro allowed the Royals only two points in the third period and took the lead in the fourth, but HSE was able to hang on for the win.

"Give our team credit, we didn't fold when things weren't going our way," said

Southeastern coach Brian Satterfield. "We found ways to finally score and made key stops when needed."

Riley Makalusky scored 14 points, collected six rebounds and made five steals. Maya Makalusky added 13 points, while Olivia Brown had 11 points, six steals and four assists.

The Royals had it much easier in their second game, sailing to a big win over Henderson County (Ky.) last Thursday. Southeastern won 77-36.

The Royals trailed 10-4 at the start of the game, but then blasted off on a 16-0 run. Southeastern ultimately led 23-12 after one quarter and 43-21 at halftime, outscoring Henderson County in each quarter.

"Our defense picked up after the first couple of minutes and we took them out of their comfort zone," said Satterfield. "It was great to see contributions from all at both ends of the floor."

Four Southeastern players scored in double figures: Maya Makalusky had 17 points, Teegan Acres scored 12, Riley Makalusky added 11 and Kayla Stidham contributed 10 points. Kennedy Holman led the rebounds with five and also dished out five assists. Brown had four assists, and Acres made four steals.

The Royals are 15-1 and play Thursday at Warren Central.

HOLIDAY

He also credited Aiden Brewer with doing what the team needed him to do.

"And that was guard and defend and rebounding. He was able to clean up some stuff," said McClelland.

Northridge never got too far behind the Millers in the second quarter, at one point closing to within 18-14. But Noblesville closed the half on a 10-3 run to take a 28-17 halftime lead. Roberts scored two more baskets, including a putback, with Almodovar adding six more points, including an emphatic one-handed dunk.

"I thought Almo made a couple of really nice, high-energy plays in the second quarter," said McClelland.

Bean helped out the Millers in the early part of the third quarter with five points, including a three-point play. Meanwhile, Northridge hung around through the majority of the period, still within 35-24 with 2:30 left in the third quarter.

But Noblesville took off after that. The Millers ate up the last 10-1/2 minutes of the game with a 21-2 run, only allowing the Raiders two points in the fourth quarter. Seven different Noblesville players scored during that run, including Baron Walker, who got loud cheers from his teammates after nailing a 3-pointer in the game's final minutes. Fine hit a 3 in the fourth period as well, and had six points during the quarter.

Three Millers reached double figures in scoring. Almodovar led with 17 points, followed by Fine and Roberts with 11 points each. Fine had two 3s for the game.

Find different ways

McClelland said his team had to grind this one out, but Noblesville got the job done, as it has done in six out of its seven games this year. The Millers are winning every way possible: Of their six wins, three of them have been by eight points or less, while the other three were by 29 points or more.

"You can find different ways to win," said McClelland. "I think that only builds confidence and it'll put you in a position for later down the road to be successful."

In their semi-final game, Noblesville used a big third quarter to beat Crown Point 61-44. The Bulldogs led the Millers 14-13 after the first quarter, then Noblesville edged ahead in the second period to take a 24-23 lead by halftime.

The Millers blasted through the third period, outscoring Crown Point 26-10. Almodovar threw in three 3s for nine points, and Fine scored nine points in that quarter as well. That gave Noblesville a 50-33 lead, and the Millers kept their advantage around that margin in the fourth period.

Almodovar finished the game with 21 points and five triples. Fine scored 17 points and Walston added 10 points.

With the win, the Millers advanced to play Lawrence Central, and the title game between the two teams was hard-fought, exciting, and occasionally crazy, especially during the last few seconds.

"LC's playing very good basketball," said McClelland. "I think they've really improved since the beginning of the season."

The Millers led for most of the first half, save for the opening seconds. Lawrence Central scored the first basket of the game before layins by Brewer and Fine put Noblesville up 4-2.

Joshua Mickens tied the game with a pair of free throws, but Almodovar was good on a three-point play, and the Millers were up 7-4. Noblesville steadily stretched its lead for the next several minutes, eventually leading 24-14 with two minutes left in the second quarter.

Fine was playing well during that stretch, pouring in 10 points, a total that included two 3-pointers in the second quarter. Bean helped out with an and-1 near the middle part of the period. The Bears made a comeback during the final two minutes of the half, but Noblesville still led 25-20 at halftime.

The Millers got back up 29-20 at the start of the third quarter, as Walston hit a pair of free throws and Almodovar made a dunk. But LC took control after that, outscoring Noblesville 13-2 over the remaining six minutes of the quarter to lead 33-31. DaJohn Craig, who would be named the Tournament MVP after the game, scored seven points in the third.

"We got out-toughed a little bit in the third quarter, so that was disappointing," said McClelland.

front for the entire fourth quarter. A layin by Craig put them up 40-33, after which the Millers scored five quick points with a Fine layin and an Almodovar 3. Lawrence Central put up six fast points – three layins – to go up 46-38, then Bryson Luter's layin gave the Bears their biggest lead at 48-38 with about a minute to go.

Noblesville finished the game on a wild 7-0 run. Fine and Bean made layins, then Walston scored off a quick steal, followed by a free throw. The Millers got the ball back with seconds left, but were unable to get a shot off before the buzzer.

McClelland said that missed layups were becoming a concern for the team –

"several guys admitted to that in the locker room," he said. Free throws also became an issue, as the Millers were 10-of-17 from the line.

"The missed layups and the missed free throws, it just gets magnified in a game like this," said McClelland. "Then you got to take care of the ball. They sped us up, we didn't run a lot of offense. They pressed us, and then went back to man. And instead of just having a little bit of poise and trying to run some offense, we were so quick to just put the ball on the floor."

Fine finished the game with 17 points, while Almodovar added 10 points. Almodovar was named to the All-Tournament team after the championship game.

While the Millers (7-2) were disappointed, McClelland said that the game was "a loss in December in the whole scheme of things. I think you have to keep that in perspective," he said.

Noblesville will get a chance to rebound from the loss on Tuesday, when the Millers play at Pike.

"So, let's see how we respond to this kind of team," said McClelland. "We've played nine games, and in those nine games, I think we've played so many different styles and found ways to win in so many different types of games." The coach said those are things that will be "growing and learning experiences down the road."

Mount Vernon extended the advantage to 27-9 three minutes in to the second

Wilson and Tippner were both named to the All-Tournament team at the conclusion of the game.

Noblesville trailed 51-49 late in the quarter, but Wilson hit a floater, and regulation ended at 51-51. In the first overtime, the Stars scored the first six points for a 57-51 advantage, but the Millers went on a 7-1 run to tie it up again. Ely and Wilson both drained 3s.

It was Noblesville's turn to go up fast in the second overtime. Tippner's and-l and two Dani Mendez free throws put the Millers ahead 63-58. The Stars answered that with a 3 by Emma Brown and a Norman floater. There were four different lead changes in the final 36.5 seconds, with Wilson making sure Noblesville came out on top.

Mendez and Wilson both made five steals, Wilson and Kaitlyn Shoemaker each dished out four assists, and Ava Shoemaker had four blocked shots.

Greyhounds have no trouble sweeping double dual meet

The REPORTER

The Carmel swim teams hosted Zionsville and Homestead last Wednesday in a double dual meet.

Both Greyhounds teams easily defeated each of their opponents. On the girls side, Carmel took care of Zionsville 136-34 and Homestead 125-45, with victories in 10 of the 11 events.

Alex Shackell was a double winner for the Greyhound girls, taking the 50 and 100 freestyles. In both races, Shackell led a 1-2-3 sweep of the event. Carmel also swept the top four in the 200 free (with Lynsey Bowen winning) and the individual medley (which Molly Sweeney won). Also placing first in individual events were Lexie Ward (500 free), Berit Berglund (backstroke) and Lucy Enoch (breaststroke); the Hounds also won all three relays.

Carmel's boys beat Zionsville 101-69 and Homestead 120-50, with seven event victories. Aaron Shackell was first in the 200 free and breaststroke. Sean Sullivan won the 50 free and Brandon Malicki took the breaststroke, and the Greyhounds were also winners in the medley and 200 free relays.

Carmel coach Chris Plumb said his swimmers are coming off what he called "really good meets" at the junior nationals and nationals events, including setting some national records in age group competition.

"So, we felt good about our team coming out of that and now we're in some heavy training," said Plumb. "Kids are seeing that, but that always helps you come February and March."

Plumb said that in the regular-season meets, "instead of training in practice, it's an opportunity to make training in a meet." The coach said that instead of doing similar race performances in practice, the swimmers get on the blocks and "get more of the feel for what actually the meet is."

The Hounds have two more regular-season meets left, as they host Fishers on Tuesday and Pike on Thursday, Jan. 12. All the while, Carmel will be training for the post-season, which begins with the girls sectionals on Feb. 2 and the boys sectionals on Feb. 16. The girls have won 36 consecutive state championships, while the boys have won eight state titles in a row.

PREVAIL
Advocating for Victims of Crime & Abuse

I was born and raised right here in Noblesville. I grew up in a home without domestic violence or assault - it wasn't something I saw, or even heard about. But when I was introduced to Prevail of Central Indiana, I was shocked by the number of individuals who are affected by domestic violence. In 2018 alone, Prevail helped more than 4,000 clients in Hamilton County (nearly 80 percent of clients are women and children). Domestic violence and abuse are hard topics to discuss, so you don't often hear about them. But at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, we're breaking the taboo and raising awareness for Prevail, an organization that helps families in Hamilton County.
