Three generations of Heights students write a book together

The REPORTER

Ryan Reed, a second grader at Hamilton Heights, has been telling stories for as far back as he can remember. His great-aunt, Theresa Morris, a 1988 graduate of Hamilton Heights, has been listening to those stories and taking notes. Lu Hubbell, also a Hamilton Heights graduate, is an award-winning student artist who loves to draw and paint.

What do these three have in common? They all played a part of bringing a series of children's books to life.

Theresa Morris, the founder and CEO of MPASS Education, collaborated with her great-nephew on this project. Reed was blessed with an incredible imagination and gift of storytelling and Morris had the vision to transform those oral stories into written form. Together, they created The Monsters of Math, a series of interactive children's books where a group of friends work together through everyday situations and learn how math skills help to inform their decisions. The math skills included throughout the

A happy ending to my journey

As my adoption and reunion story ends, I've continued to change some names, places, and dates.

This is my final column discussing my adoption and reunion journey. I can't thank you all enough for your love and support over the past nine months!

COLUMNIST

Your response has truly warmed my heart. I'll share some last thoughts today to wrap things up.

If you are searching for your biological relatives, my experience tells me that it's good to gather any non-identifying information, if possible, before starting your search with the state you were born in. As mentioned in a previous column, I contacted the probate court in the county that handled my adoption for this information.

If your state doesn't have open records yet, and I think it's only a matter of time before all of them do, I would obviously recommend Troy Dunn's Locator Club. The cost was and still is reasonable to join this online club. You can watch short webinars to go step-by-step and learn about various processes.

Black Heritage Celebration will return to Fishers High School

The REPORTER

Since 2008, a special tribute of culture, achievements and connection has been held during the month of February at Fishers High School. What was originally developed by parents to unite the Fishers community, the Black Heritage Celebration has evolved into a student-led community event.

Attendees of all ages and backgrounds are invited to take part in the free event from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. on Wednesday, Feb. 15. The event will feature interactive displays, student performances and presentations.

Representatives from different historically Black colleges and universities will be available to answer questions for prospective students and families. There will also be a "step and stroll" featuring members of the Divine Nine sororities and fraternities.

According to organizers, the Black Heritage Celebration has grown in attendance throughout the years. Students hope to continue the tradition, exposing more families throughout the community to highlight the accomplishments and contributions of Black people, especially in Fishers.

The Black Heritage Celebration will be held inside the College and Career Academy at Fishers High School. Attendees should enter through Door 19, located off Promise Road.

Recently, students representing Hamilton County joined more than 200 other youth at the Indiana Statehouse for VOICE Indiana's Day of Advocacy.

VOICE is a statewide organization that seeks to engage, educate, and empower youth to live tobacco-and nicotine-free.

While at the statehouse, the Hamilton County delegation met Westfield Washington Schools (WWS) Superintendent Dr. Paul Kaiser, WWS Assistant Superintendent Dr. John Atha, and WWS Assistant Superintendent for Business and Operations Brian Tomamichel, who were also in attendance at the statehouse on Wednesday.

Pharmacist concerned as CVS & Walgreens reduce hours

A local pharmacist and educator say that decisions by CVS and Walgreens to reduce their pharmacy hours nationwide could be a signal that there is a shortage in pharmacy technicians.

Senator Mike Braun (R-Ind.) and Congress-Elise Stefanik (R-N.Y.-21) last Friday introduced the Ensuring Workers Get PAID Act of 2023 to ensure America's workers receive the wages they are owed and help employers comply with the law.

In 2018, the U.S. Department of Labor (DOL) launched the Payroll Audit Independent Determination (PAID) pilot program to provide an efficient method for employers to proactively rectify inadvertent overtime and minimum wage violations. This resulted in employees receiving 100 percent of the back wages they were owed in a timelier manner. But the Biden Administration has claimed it deprived workers of their rights and abruptly ended the PAID program in January 2021.

Stefanik and Braun are working to reinstate and codify the PAID program so this tool will stay in practice workers receive the wages to support both employers and employees.

"The PAID program has been successful in helping to self-audit pay practices to employers correct inadvertent wage and hour violations on their own to ensure employees are getting paid the wages they have earned," Sen. Braun said. "The Ensuring Workers Get PAID Act will bring this program back so workers receive their full wages in a timely

TODAY'S BIBLE READING

I watched as the Lamb opened the first of the seven seals. Then I heard one of the four living creatures say in a voice like thunder, "Come!" I looked, and there before me was a white horse! Its rider held a bow, and he was given a crown, and he rode out as a conqueror bent on conquest.

When the Lamb opened the second seal, I heard the second living creature say, "Come!" Then another horse came out, a fierv red one. Its rider was given power to take peace from the earth and to make people kill each other. To him was given a large sword.

When the Lamb opened the third seal, I heard the third living creature say, "Come!" I looked, and there before me was a black horse! Its rider was holding a pair of scales in his hand. Then I heard what sounded like a voice among the four living creatures, saying, "Two pounds of wheat for a day's wages, and six pounds of barley for a day's wages, and do not damage the oil and the wine!"

When the Lamb opened the fourth seal, I heard the voice of the fourth living creature say, "Come!" I looked, and there before me was a pale horse! Its rider was named Death, and Hades was following close behind him. They were given power over a fourth of the earth to kill by sword, famine and plague, and by the wild beasts of the earth.

David Coates named new leader for state's agriculture economic development division expansion, attrac-

The REPORTER

The Indiana State Department of Agriculture (ISDA) has promoted David Coates as the new director of the economic development division. He was previously the agribusiness engagement director for the department.

Coates is a graduate Wheeling University in Wheeling, W.V., with a degree in Nuclear Medicine Technology. He has an extensive background in healthcare, workforce development and entrepreneurship through experience in sales, management, and marketing.

"We are excited to promote David to this elevated role within the department," ISDA Deputy Director Jordan Seger said. "The expertise he brings in workforce development training and in sales will greatly enhance our economic development division and we are excited to see how he supports our existing programs and what new initiatives he builds under this division."

As the director of economic development for the department, Coates will be responsible for managing staff and overseeing ecoagritourism, biofuels, hardand livestock. He will manage a variety of projects and will encourage agribusiness tion and retention for the state.

This role will also lead ISDA in mirroring Indiana Economic Development Corporation (IEDC) strategies and support initiatives in key areas of agribusiness, agbiosciences, and agriculture workforce development. "I was honored to be selected as economic development director for ISDA," Coates said. "I am eager to nomic focus areas, such as, hit the ground running and support those on my team woods, the Indiana Grown to make Indiana agriculture program, international trade the best it can be. I am looking forward to the continued success of our agriculture industry for years to come."

Coates grew up with many fond memories from his grandparents' small farm in West Virginia. He has a passion for agriculture and has raised cattle, horses, swine, hay, and cover crops. During his free time, you can find him and his wife, Lisa, working on their small farm in Scott County, Ind. Together they operate a seasonal flower, sunflower and wildflower u-pick operation during summer weekends. They enjoy sharing their love of flowers while educating gardeners, beekeepers and the public on regenerative farming, seed saving and agritourism. David and Lisa have six children.

Exciting weekend ahead as girls swimming heats up

Carmel looking to defend its state championship record, going for No. 37

The REPORTER

The girls swimming post-season began across Insectional preliminaries.

Carmel hosted one of the sectionals that involve Hamilton County teams. The Greyhounds are going for a national record-extending 37th consecutive state championship, and they got off to a good start by advancing everyone on to Saturday's sectional finals.

its swimmers finish in the top eight of the prelims, so they will all compete in the championship heat of the finals. Alexandra Shackell made the most noise, as she set two new sectional records in the 50 freestyle (22.56 seconds) and the butterfly (52.12 seconds), easily earning the top seed in both events.

The Greyhounds got the top seed in all 11 swimming events. Lynsey Bowen was first in the 200 and 500 freestyles, Molly Sweeney paced the individual medley and breaststroke, Berit Berglund was first in the 100 freestyle and backstroke, and Carmel placed first in all three relays.

"I was really happy with how the girls swam today," said Grevhounds coach Chris Plumb. "They raced well, they didn't take it for granted, they had a lot of team energy and excitement, and I feel really good about Saturday.'

Noblesville advanced 26 of its 27 swims on to Saturday's finals, with 21 reaching the championship heat and the other five making the consols. The Millers had two relays finish second in the prelims, with the team of Julia Santerre, Katie Sutton, Alli Knott and Amelia Field the 200 free relay runner-up, and the squad of Olivia Motz, Sutton, Santerre and Emily Knott placing second in the 400 free relay. "We always try to treat prelims as par tof the process, so we want the kids to swim really well here," said Noblesville coach Aleks Fansler. "They know they're going to come back here and swim. But for a lot of our kids, getting some good drops is nice and surprising for us." Westfield advanced 12 swims to the championship heat, with the other 165 making it to the consolation heat. The Shamrocks had their best finish in the medley relay, where Eliana Hill, Kate Harrison, Alexa Boil-lat and Alexandra Irvin took seconds.

"I think the kids that diana on Thursday with the needed to be really good tonight were really, really good tonight," said Westfield coach Darrick Thomas. "We did have couple of ninth places we'd like to sneak in, but overall the team atmosphere was great, attitudes were really awesome, positive, so it was a great night for us as a team."

Guerin Catholic had 10 In fact, Carmel had all of swims advance to Saturday. All three of the Golden Eagles' relay teams reached the championship heat, with Jane Cline, Erin Reynon, Bridgette Keller and Christianna Dunasky placing sixth in the 200 free relay and Reynon, Kalen Moe, Keller and Dunasky taking sixth in the 400 free relay.

Championship Saturday begins at 9 a.m. with the diving prelims, followed by the finals in swimming and diving at 1 p.m.

Tigers keep on winning, beat Shamrocks in conference game

By JAMES SEAY

For The Reporter

WESTFIELD – The Fishers Tigers improved to 11-8 on the season with a gutsy win 45-35 over the Westfield Shamrocks Thursday night at Westfield's CSI Gymnasium. The Tigers are on a fourgame winning streak while the Rocks have dropped their third straight game.

Jalen Haralson led all scorers with 18 points. Jon-Anthony Hall added nine and Millen McCartney paced the Tigers with six. Trey Buchanan led West-Alex Romack added 11.

The Rocks started off quick with a three-pointer by Trey Buchanan. The Tigers were quick to respond with an aggressive move to the basketball by Hall which resulted in free throws. The first quarter found both teams stymied by aggressive defense, but it ended with a powerful two-hand slam by Hall and then another dunk by Romack at the buzzer. The score was tied at 9-9 after one quarter.

was a back-and-forth affair said Sumpter.

as neither team led by more than two points at any point in the game. Fishers held to a slim one-point lead at halftime, 18-17.

The Tigers were pushed by a second half surge by sophomore star Jalen Haralson in the second half to extend the one-point lead to 30-25 by the end of the third quarter. After being held to three points in the first half, the FHS sophomore exploded for 15 points in the second half to secure the Tigers' fourth Hoosier Crossroads Conference win on the season.

Haralson was surprised field with 14 points and by the defensive plan deployed by WHS. "They applied the box and one on my teammate Taden which was a surprise by me," he said. "We just have to be ready for anything they throw at us."

Coach Shane Sumpter of Westfield echoed similar thoughts regarding his team's defensive prowess.

"For Fishers it starts with Haralson and Metzger, we were able to jam up a lane a bit – if you would have told me before the game, we would hold them to 45 I The rest of the first half would have been ecstatic,"
