Two community heroes earn Sheriff's Livesaving Award

A heartfelt congratulations to nurse Heather Lynch upon receiving a Lifesaving Award from Sheriff's Department Captain Josh Carey. Her quick actions were the difference between life and death for an inmate. Thank you as well to Jail Transport Officer Jessica Gipe, who received a Captain's Award for her brave assistance during a motorist's vehicle fire. A job well done! Both of these women went above and beyond to serve the people of Hamilton County.

What is an heirloom? It depends on whom you ask. Heirlooms hold value, but not always in the monetary way that one may think. The greatest value that may be tied to an heirloom is often the sentimental memories and stories tied to it.

The idea of passing something down through the generations in a family has always struck me. I love the idea of wondering where something came from and the sense of tradition that with items that have been handed down through different generations in families.

When I walk through an antique mall, I'm always left to wonder where did these items come from? Who used to use these plates and drank from these glasses? What stories did these items hold and what memories were tied to them for others? I'm also left to wonder, why did someone from the family of these items not keep them? Why did they end up here in the first place? Why didn't someone in the family see value in them?

Hazel Dell students raise $900 for earthquake victims

Recovery Café Hamilton County

A space to heal: Recovery Café coming to Fishers

The REPORTER

In an effort to better support central Indiana's recovery community, Recovery Café Hamilton County will open Thursday, March 2 in Fishers. The grand opening and reception will take place from 3 to 5 p.m. on Thursday at The Eller House, 7050 E. 116th St., Suite 100, Fishers.

This Recovery Café will serve those struggling with substance use issues, mental health challenges, trauma, and homelessness.

The Recovery Café's goal is to uplift and empower individuals within the recovery space to shift from surviving to thriving. The Café's model takes a holistic and inclusive approach to recovery, with an emphasis on connection to oneself and one's fellow community members.

This program is membership-based and the membership itself is completely free, with the understanding that members follow a few guidelines. These guidelines for the program are that members are drug and alcohol-free for 24 hours, that they attend a weekly recovery meeting, and that they are a contributing member of the Café community through volunteering. The Café model offers services to its members, including regular recovery meetings, healthy meals, and a wealth of information for additional recovery resources, among others.

flowers and nature are deeply tied to my memories, and an old philodendron plant that was in my childhood home for as long as I can remember is no exception. My mom and dad were married when they were 22- and 23-years-old back in 1986. Like many young couples just starting out, they lived in an apartment. One of the first things my mom got was philodendron plant for shop with her dad in Nashville, Ind., when my mom first married my dad. This was the first plant my mom ever bought.

I was born just a little over a year later, making this philodendron something that was a fixture in my childhood home. As I write this today, this philodendron plant is over 35 years old.

My mom recently gave their apartment. My mom me a start from the original

I've said many times that bought it at a little plant plant for me to have in my own home, and it got me thinking about the significance of what our children remember growing up with in their home, what we leave to them, and how nature ties into the idea of being an heirloom in families.

> walking by my living room may not think much of this plant, if they even were to notice it at all, but to me this means so much more than the start of an old plant. This is a link to my childhood, a peek into my parents' lives when they were first married, and something that has stood the test of time throughout my life.

This plant has been through a lot with my family. It has been a constant. It has seen many dogs, different houses, Christmas mornings, family dinners, great memories and some sad ones, too. It saw my parents raise two kids, my sister and me, from the time we were taken home from the hospital at birth until we both moved out to get married. It was there when my mom and sister met my now-husband for the first time, and when I brought my little girl and boy to during some really sad days from Page 1

The philodendron plant that I remember from my childhood will grace my mantle, just as it has my mother's mantle all these years, and one day, it may just end up on my daughter's mantle in her home.

Sure, it just looks like The average person a random houseplant on a mantle for a passerby, but to me it is so much more. It is an heirloom. It is a link to my past. It is a window into my parents' world during their newlywed years. It is a start of something new to have in my own home for my own children to grow up and remember being a constant in their house. I hope the start of this old philodendron that sits on my mantle will also be there to see many days and memories in my own home now. I hope it sees many happy days for my children and they grow up and look back, thinking it sure had been around for a lot of their childhood. What is a start from a plant now will, I hope, be a valuable heirloom someday for them.

Nature is giving us an opportunity to pass down heirlooms to our family. What are you passing down in your family?

I was born and raised right here in Noblesville. I grew up in a home without domestic violence or assault - it wasn't something I saw, or even heard about. But when I was introduced to Prevail of Central Indiana, I was shocked by the number of individuals who are affected by domestic violence. In 2018 alone, Prevail helped more than 4,000 clients in Hamilton County (nearly 80 percent of clients are women and children). Domestic violence and abuse are hard topics to discuss, so you don't often hear about them. Briggs wonders how sun's heat affects food in Feeding Team pantries

Dear Editor:

I read with interest Mark Hall's column answering questions from a curious public about Hamilton County food pantries. I too had the same questions in mind. Thanks, Mark, for offering this information.

Another point I would like to make is a heads-up suggestion to whomever is responsible for the outdoor food box pantries we see around each town and city in Hamilton County.

Has anyone ever considered a proper way to showcase the canned food in these wooden boxes when the temperature is extremely hot in the summer? The majority of the wooden boxes face toward the sun, mostly the west, which is the hottest direction of the sun in the summer. Are these pantry boxes ventilated and would a temperature curtain help in keeping it cooler inside of a box that is out in the heat of the day?

Some matters are definitely the fault of Mr. Bishop's script. Most everything is written in a seemingly overly intricate way. That's not to say all was lost here. There were several good scenes and some nice work by many in the cast. Jeffrey Haber and Hannah Jancowicz showed good presence, especially in their scenes together. Haber played Eddie – a struggling comedian, and Ms. Janowicz took the role of Nikki - a likewise struggling actress. Together they have some proficient moments which stand out with some sense of apt collaboration. Likewise, Kelly Keller's Ken De La Maize is sufficiently offered as a pretentious Broadway/Hollywood director. But, in my opinion, most of the other characterizations are rather over-the-top, and while you can make an argument that that is what the script called for, I feel they are nonetheless overly done.

Nickel Plate Arts celebrates record success for 10th annual Comic Book in a Day event

The REPORTER

More than 370 people attended the 10th annual Comic Book in a Day event, hosted by Nickel Plate Arts. The event offered the opportunity to create a comic book from scratch in just eight hours with the help of featured artists – including celebrity special guest and legendary comic artist Bob Hall - and staff members.

"I had an absolute blast," Hall said. "I was astounded by the talent and the passion of all of the contestants, and I was very inspired by the spirit of the event. I am honored that I was able to share some insights and connect with so many fans.'

This year was a record-breaking year; more artists were involved in the challenge than ever before, and more pages of art were created in eight hours than ever before.

"The community really showed up in a big way, and we are thankful for all of the participants, our featured artists, and anyone who came out to watch the challenge and contributed to making the event a success," Nickel Plate Arts Director Ailithir McGill said. "We are already looking forward to next year's Comic Book in a Day event."

Sen. Young: Hoosiers prepared metronet to lead on national security

The REPORTER

Last week, U.S. Senator Todd Young (R-Ind.) traveled across the state on his Jobs, Innovation, and Security Tour and met with Hoosiers to discuss how Indiana is positioned as a leader in areas important to our national security.

Stops on Young's tour included NSWC Crane, New Albany, Fishers, West Lafayette, South Bend, and Fort Wavne.

"I am excited about all of the innovative ways Hoosiers are contributing to our national security," Sen. Young said. "Indiana 21st century economy, and way in the years ahead."

During the tour, Young visited multiple high-tech research and manufacturing facilities to discuss how his CHIPS and Science Act will help bring investment to Indiana and reshore the fabrication of computer chips and other key technologies.

On Feb. 22, Young joined Fishers Mayor Scott Fadness and National Association of Manufacturers President and CEO Jay Timmons to visit INCOG BioPharma Services' re-Fishers.

on White River Township this month The REPORTER

The Hamilton County Bicentennial Commission announces its lineup of grant-funded events for March 2023.

This month the commission celebrates White River Township, located in the northeastern corner of Hamilton County and home to the community of Strawtown. This largely rural township has a long tradition of farming, beginning with Native American settlement hundreds of years ago where Strawtown currently sits.

During March, the commission will highlight how White River Township impacts the Hamilton County community with events at Strawtown Koteewi Park and Walnut Grove Community Center. The traveling exhibit will also tour during the month. You can aged 5 to 12 to sign up for see details and other events hamcoturns200.com/

Metronet debuts multi-gigabit internet service in Noblesville & Northeast Indy

The REPORTER

Metronet announced on Tuesday that residents and businesses in Noblesville and Northeast Indianapolis are among the first in the state to have access to faster internet with Metronet's ultra-high-speed multi-gigabit service.

In addition to Metronet's current offerings of 1 gigabit per second, speeds up to 2 gigabits are now available for residents; businesses may choose speeds up to 10 gigabits. With access to Metronet's multi-gigabit symmetrical upload and download speeds, customers will experience higher-quality video conferencing, streaming, gaming, and online learning.

TODAY'S BIBLE READING

I was given a reed like a measuring rod and was told, "Go and measure the temple of God and the altar, with its worshipers. But exclude the outer court; do not measure it, because it has been given to the Gentiles. They will trample on the holy city for 42 months. And I will appoint my two witnesses, and they will prophesy for 1,260 days, clothed in sackcloth." They are "the two olive trees" and the two lampstands, and "they stand before the Lord of the earth." If anyone tries to harm them, fire comes from their mouths and devours their enemies. This is how anyone who wants to harm them must die. They have power to shut up the heavens so that it will not rain during the time they are prophesying; and they have power to turn the waters into blood and to strike the earth with every kind of plague as often as they want.

Faith, not luck: Shamrocks beat Carmel at sectional quarterfinal

By RICHARD TORRES

For Reporter

CARMEL – Counted out long before the opening tip Tuesday night, the defending sectional champion Westfield Shamrocks never lost faith.

Even with their star junior guard, Trey Buchanan, hobbled by a high ankle sprain leading up to and during the Class 4A Sectional 8 quarterfinals against host 12th-ranked Carmel, the Shamrocks still believed.

Despite the loss of eight seniors from last year's first-ever sectional title roster, the Shamrocks knew what was possible. Not even a 12-point second half deficit, nor a nine-point Carmel lead to start the fourth quarter inside the Eric Clark Activity Center could sway the Shamrocks' confidence.

"The entire week, we said, 'Hey, no one is picking us to win. Let's play loose. Let's play free. Let's give ourselves a chance in the fourth quarter to win it," Sumpter said.

"That's all we were saying, and at halftime, we stayed with that theme. What do we mean by that? Well, a five-point game with four or five minutes to go. That's really what we had. When we got it to that point, I felt really good."

By game's end, their locker room after surviving three ties, three lead changes and a frenzied final eight minutes to topple the Greyhounds, 43-40.

Down 33-24 enter-Shamrocks utilized their past to pave their future and seized their opportunity in the present behind clutch performances by senior Alex Romack, Buchanan and junior Seth LaRavia.

Learning how to win in 2021-22, the Shamrocks (16-7) proved they still can, taking their first lead since the night's opening 30 seconds, 35-33, with a bucket from Romack in the post and 4:05 remaining.

A 3-pointer by Buchanan with 2:06 left tied up the score 38-all before LaRavia's second of two 3-pointers in the fourth put the Shamrocks ahead 41-40.

Buchanan, who was visibly hindered by his injury, feet, burying a pair of foul shots with 15.8 ticks on the clock and the Greyhounds playing without their star, senior Sam Orme, who fouled out to send Westfield to the line.

Buchanan sprained his ankle last week, and the sharpshooting guard had been sidelined until Monday night, as he struggled to recover in time to play against Carmel (15-8).

"He turned it the game after the Franklin (Central) game, so the very first practice, high ankle sprain, and the very first time he did anything yesterday for 10 minutes, and he was still a game-time decision," Sumpter said. "He was in tears in here at halftime. And what do you know? He hits a three and two big free throws. Just a gutsy performance."

His only other bucket came in the second quarter following an 8-2 run by Carmel to put the Greyhounds up 19-9. Carmel ran out to an 11-4 lead in the first quarter, following Westfield head coach Shane a short-lived Westfield 2-0 lead, but the Shamrocks began chipping away at their 23-13 halftime deficit in the

A 9-2 run by the Shamrocks cut the margin to 27-22, but Carmel charged back to make it 33-24, leading to a frantic flurry in the fourth.

Shamrocks rejoiced inside come out with a fire, like a higher level of intensity from the rest of the game. We didn't have time to mess around anymore," Romack said. "Just had to get it done.

"A lot of people probaing the fourth quarter, the bly didn't have us winning this game, and I think that chip on our shoulder, we just wanted to prove that we're still good. We're still here. You can't count us out."

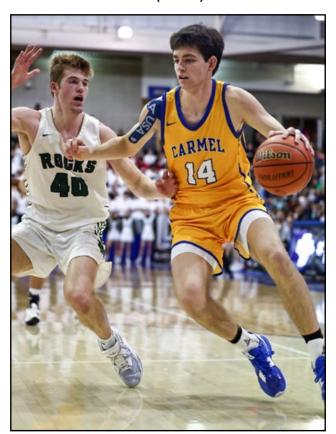

Romack, who finished with a game-high 20 points, scored eight of them in the fourth. All eight came during the Shamrocks' 11-0 run in the fourth that positioned them in front 35-33.

"I just think there's a lot of belief in our school now. I think our culture has totally changed. We come into these games, and our guys believe they can win no matter what it says on their jerseys. That's just the fact," Sumpter. "They believe we can win."

Haralson's leadership helps Tigers secure victory over rival Hamilton Southeastern

By RICHIE HALL

CARMEL – Sectional environments are sometimes not easy for young players.

If a young team is also playing its main rival, that only adds to the nerves. A young Fishers team faced that situation on Tuesday, when the Tigers took on Hamilton Southeastern in the quarterfinals of Class 4A Sectional 8 at Carmel's Eric Clark Activity Center.

But thanks to the leadership and maturity of Jalen Haralson, Fishers made it through. The Tigers used an 18-4 run during the third quarter to break out of a close game with the Royals and eventually win 68-49.

Southeastern led for most of the first quarter before Haralson pushed Fishers ahead 8-7 on a layin with 1:38 left in the period. Braeden Totten tied the game with a free throw seconds later, and that 8-8 score is where the first quarter ended.

Free throws from Keenan Garner and Haralson got the Tigers up 12-8. The Royals came back to tie it with baskets from Joe Karwowski and Donovan Hamilton. The back and forth continued throughout the second period, with HSE's Reph Stevenson getting involved; he scored six points in the quarter.

Totten gave the Royals a 25-24 halftime lead with a layin. Hamilton, Karwowski and Stevenson all had seven points for the Royals, while Haralson had 21 points for Fishers at halftime.

"He really carried us in the first half," said Tigers coach Garrett Winegar. "He had 21 of our 25. And then from there on, other guys started stepping up and making plays, and that's when we went on our run."

back-and-forth early in the third quarter. Karwowski's layin put Southeastern ahead 28-25, but Garner answered that with a three-point play.

The Royals went up 31-28 after Totten hit a 3-pointer, but that's when Fishers started its run. Taden Metzger got hot, nailing back-to-back triples to put the Tigers up 34-31. They would hold the lead from that point forward.

Metzger shots was a big focus Fishers wanted to have at halftime.

We had to get him some shots," said Winegar. "We had to find a way to get Taden some shots, so we went to a couple different actions. We just tried to put them in that we can do it again this year," Buchanan said. "Playing against them every day and getting us better, I was only a sophomore last year, playing against Braden, especially every day, just going at him, it made me a lot better, and it helped me develop those leadership qualities for this year, losing eight seniors. Me and Romack had to kind of step into that role. Their DNA is definitely still in our program."

Their identity bled through in the final seconds, avenged their 49-38 loss at as the Shamrocks forced a turnover and a scoring opportunity on Orme's fifth foul, while defending two failed 3-pointer tries by the Greyhounds in the last 8.9 seconds.

Orme had 13 points for the Greyhounds. Couto posted 11 points, followed by eight from Spencer White.

Charles Farrell added six points for Westfield, along with six from LaRavia off the bench and two points apiece by Durante

Morton and Sam Bishop.

"Have the last four or five years changed (us)? Yeah. When you win a Hall of Fame championship. When you win a sectional championship for the first time ever. When you have a Braden Smith, who shows the way, and you have a Cam Haffner. When you have those guys, yeah, it carries," Sumpter said. "I feel really special about what we have going on at Westfield."

The Shamrocks' win Carmel on Jan. 7, and now they will face Noblesville in the semifinals at 6 p.m. on Friday night. The Millers (17-6) lost at Westfield, 48-43, on Dec. 16 during the regular season.

"I just wanted to do everything I could to help our team win there. We had to play hard. Everyone played well that fourth quarter. Seth hit some big shots, had a couple of good steals. It was a good team effort, especially in the fourth quarter," Romack said.

'Blazers blast Blackhawks at Sectional 43 opener

The REPORTER

The University boys opened defense of their Class 2A Sectional championship with a 58-30 win over Sheridan in a Tuesday all-county matchup at the Sectional 43 opener at Cascade High School.

The Trailblazers overwhelmed the Blackhawks in the first half, making 11 three pointers on their way to a 53-15 halftime lead.

Caleb Wright put Sheridan on top early with a three-point basket before University outscored Sheridan 27-4 over the rest of the opening period. Kahmi Bracey put the Blazers on top for good with a corner three pointer off an assist from Sabien Cain with 6:11 left in the period. Bracey scored 11 points in the quarter, making a trio of three pointers.

The University onslaught continued in the second quarter, with the Trailblazers making seven three pointers including four by junior Bryce Gray. University opened up a 44-10 lead with three minutes left in the quarter on an Andre Ozlowski three pointer. The Blazers led by as many as 40 late in the second quarter. Cain had eight second-quarter points.

The second half was played with a running clock and at a rapid pace, with only one clock stoppage. The Blazers substituted liberally in closing out the win.

"I'm proud of my kids' energy to start the game," University commented coach Brandon Lafferman.
