Sara Cox, Director of the Little Huskies Learning Center, said, "Erika eats, sleeps, and breathes Heights! She has been a true asset to this school since her kids were little. I met her volunteering in our kiddos' classrooms years ago and she is very active in coaching baseball and other youth sports. When Little Huskies needed someone to reorganize and build the Before and After Care and Vacation Camp program to what it is today, we couldn't have asked for a better fit! Erika pours her love and care into the students, but also her staff, ensuring that everyone enjoys their time together. When you consider she has kiddos ALL YEAR LONG, it is quite impressive!"

Congratulations to the April Husky Hero. Thank you, Erika Collins, for making an impactful difference at Hamilton Heights.

Attorney General Todd Rokita warns Hoosiers of Indy 500 ticket scams

The REPORTER

Indiana Attorney General Todd Rokita warns Hoosiers of crafty scammers heading to the greatest spectacle in racing – the Indy 500. Large sporting events often attract con artists who can trick even the most experienced fans.

“As Indiana prepares for thousands of race fans, I encourage Hoosiers to exercise caution before purchasing their tickets, paying for parking, or making any online reservations,” AG Rokita said. “If you believe you’ve been scammed, please contact my office to file a complaint.”

Many counterfeit passes and tickets appear to be authentic, but track staffers can spot a fake right away. In the past, race fans have made it all the way to the gate and then turned away for fake parking passes or tickets. If the deals sound too good to be true, it usually is.

AG Rokita offers the following tips to avoid scams during this year’s race, including the Grand Prix this weekend:

- Purchase items directly from IMS whenever possible.
- Consider your source. Know the difference between a professional ticket broker (a legitimate and accredited reseller), a ticket scalper (an unregulated and unlicensed ticket seller), and a scammer selling scam tickets.

Rokita

- Know the refund policy. You should only purchase tickets from a ticket reseller that provides clear details of the terms of the transaction.

- Use payment methods that come with protection. Always use a credit card so you may have some recourse if the tickets are not as promised.

- Call the hotel directly before your trip to let them know you’re on the way.

- Check the reviews for the hotel or wherever you’re staying.

- Look for warning signs, like prices that seem a little too low or website addresses that seem odd.

- Get email confirmations for all reservations and tickets.

Hoosiers are encouraged to contact the Office of the Indiana Attorney General regarding any suspected scams or scam attempts. You can file a complaint online by visiting IndianaConsumer.com or by calling 1-800-382-5516.

More than 200 attend HAND’s workforce housing conference

The REPORTER

More than 200 central Indiana community leaders gathered at the Embassy Suites Conference Center in Noblesville on May 3 to hear from experts working to address a growing need for suburban workforce housing.

HAND’s 2023 Suburban Housing Conference, presented by the Hamilton County Community Foundation (HCCF), was the Noblesville-based nonprofit’s ninth annual event. It attracted elected officials, political candidates, municipal planners, housing developers, funding partners, nonprofit executives, community activists, and others concerned about the widening gap between household incomes and housing costs.

HCCF President & CEO Tim Kilian set the tone for the educational day, which began with a panel of local developers discussing how they navigate obstacles like high land costs and restrictive zoning ordinances.

Invest Hamilton County CEO Mike Thibideau led the discussion among developers Marchelle Berry from Radiant CDC, Alison Birge from Village Capital Corp., Nate Harris from Buckingham Cos., and Bryan Stumpf from 11th Street Development.

“Quick Hits on Housing” included an update on how housing-related bills fared in the just-completed Indiana General Assembly, from Prosperity Indiana’s Andrew Bradley, as well as an overview of the regional housing study the Indianapolis Metropolitan Planning Organization is working on, from the MPO’s Andrea Miller. Hamilton County Commissioner Christine Altman provided a brief update on the county’s plans to invest $5 million in federal ARPA funds to acquire land and build infrastructure for an attainable housing development.

Over lunch, Chris Watts, Vice President of Public Policy at the Indiana Association of Realtors, provided a real-time report on state and local real estate trends as the market recovers from its 2022 slowdown. One fascinating data point: in 2023, Hamilton County has had more million-dollar home sales (58) than home sales under $200,000 (38).

After lunch, attendees dug into three breakout session topics: Community Land Trusts, Modular Construction, and Creative Partnerships.

The event would not have been possible without the support of its sponsors. In addition to the Hamilton County Community Foundation, sponsors included:

- Keystone: Merchants Bank of Indiana and Noblesville Housing Authority
- Supporting: Breathe Easy Hamilton County,

Family Promise of Hamilton County, Intend Indiana, PNC Bank

- Table: C&H Capital LLC, Church Church Hittle + Antrim, City of Carmel, City of Westfield, Federal Home Loan Bank of Indianapolis, Glick Philanthropies, Greater Indy Habitat for Humanity, Indiana Housing & Community Development Authority, Invest Hamilton County, Kittle Property Group, Lake City Bank, Multi-Family Construction Services, MIBOR REALTOR Association, Old Town, Stenz Construction, Woda Cooper Cos., Westfield-Washington Township

Strength training can help improve bone density in women over 50

“I knew very little about osteoporosis before I was diagnosed. When I found out I was shocked...”
— Ursula Andress, actress and former ‘Bond Girl’

Readers: This column from several years ago

There are many avenues to resistance and strength training which can be achieved by taking classes or working with a personal trainer. Some people prefer to utilize free weights, resistance bands, or exercise machines, or even their own body weight. Those with knee and back issues can effectively benefit from aqua workouts as well. Flexibility is crucial as well to maintain range of motion and balance.

prompted quite a lot of feedback, so I believe it bears repeating as the topic is very important. While most of my columns focus on aspects of nutrition and well-being, this is another topic of personal interest to me – the importance of strength and resistance activity for women over 50. Resistance training can counteract the weakening effects of modern and sedentary living. Obviously, most of us ladies in a particular age category want to look as fit as possible, which is a great goal but not the primary factor I will discuss today.

Sorry to do this, but here are some sobering statistics: According to the CDC (Centers for Disease Control & Prevention) the latest statistics show that approximately 5 million women over 50 suffer from osteoporosis and 80 percent of those who suffer from the disease in this country are women. The AAOS (American Academy of Orthopaedic Surgeons) estimates that 70 percent of those who suffer injuries from falls do not return to their pre-injury status. This, to me, is a staggering statistic.

While the tendency to suffer from bone density issues is often hereditary, there are activities which can stave off some of those issues. (There are also nutritional objectives which I will save for another time.) Addressing mobility, range of motion, functionality, all of these are critical to our health and well-being. Strength training can also benefit a reduction in blood pressure, lower back pain, arthritic pain – not to mention increasing the ability to lift household items, climb stairs, participate in golf, tennis, etc.

At this point I will re-emphasize my passion for the importance of maintaining bone density because without it we set ourselves up for a fall, both literally and figuratively. The pain of broken bones together with the loss of independence is something that we need to address. Having said that, I urge you to meet with your physician to access your risk for osteoporosis and the efficacy of strength and weight training for you.

Studies of postmenopausal women report that strength training can increase bone mineral density in the spine. Before beginning a program on your own or through a supervised class, it is very important to undergo a thorough medical examination to determine which activities are best for you. Your physician should provide you with a medical evaluation of fracture risk, muscle strength, range of motion, fitness, and gait.

A stronger body will serve you well physically in the years ahead and boost your confidence in your appearance and energy level. Good advice for those over 50, definitely. Forty-somethings, not a bad idea for you as well!

Matt McNally announces second run for Indiana House District 39

The REPORTER

Matt McNally, Navy pilot veteran and candidate for Statehouse in 2022, announced on Thursday his intention to run for a second time for Indiana House District 39 in 2024.

"I am running for State Representative for the same reasons that I joined the military: to help safeguard the freedoms we all enjoy as Hoosiers and Americans," McNally said.

McNally is currently serving as the Senior Vice Commander of the local VFW Post 10003, which serves veterans throughout Carmel, Fishers, and Westfield.

"When I first ran for State Representative in 2022, my campaign engaged with more than 30,000 members of our community. When we spoke to those voters, we learned what our friends and neighbors really value: freedom," McNally said. "The residents of Carmel and Westfield want the freedom to live the American Dream: start a small business, buy their first home, and see their children get the best possible education."

McNally added, "After two decades of supermajority rule, I believe decision makers at our state capitol have embraced extreme policies that are out of step with our Carmel and Westfield communities. I believe our friends and neighbors want our elected representation to put policies in place that allow them and their families the freedom to thrive."

McNally is a passenger airline pilot and a resident of Westfield. He has deep roots in the community - his son graduates from Westfield High School next week and his daughter will be a sophomore there in the fall. McNally has been recently elected to the board of the Westfield Kiwanis Club, an organization whose mission is to uplift all children and families in the Westfield community.

"This community has given my family so much," McNally said. "My children have received an excellent education from our public schools and my father and mother have had a wonderful retirement here, enjoying the many things that Hamilton County has to offer. I am excited to have the opportunity to prove to voters in Hamilton County that I am ready to start working together for Indiana."

McNally for Indiana can be found online at McNallyForIndiana.com. Anyone with questions or who wants to reach out to the campaign can email hello@mcnally-forindiana.com or call the campaign headquarters at (317) 218-7679.

“A reminder of what it means to be Franciscan”

Hospital unveils monument to honor dedication shown by healthcare workers during pandemic

The REPORTER

Reflections on the hardship that followed the onset of the COVID-19 pandemic marked the unveiling of a monument that will stand as a reminder of the bravery, dedication, and compassion shown by Franciscan Health physicians, nurses, and other healthcare workers.

“No one woke up in March of 2020 realizing their lives would be changed forever. No one thought it, but everyone lived it,” said Sister Marlene Shapley, OSF, vice president of mission integration for Franciscan Health Central Indiana, at the dedication and blessing Tuesday, May 16, of the Pandemic Monument outside Entrance 6 at the Franciscan Health Indianapolis campus.

The monument’s sculpture of the Tau cross, the symbol St. Francis of Assisi shared as he ministered to the sick, was created by a local artist Ryan Feeney of Indianapolis. He is best known for his bronze statue of former Indianapolis quarterback Peyton Manning outside Lucas Oil Stadium in downtown Indianapolis.

“I know it’s through your hard work, your prayers, and the grace of God that you’re all here today to celebrate this moment,” Sister Jane Marie Klein, OSF, chairwoman of the Franciscan Alliance Board of Directors, told the group gathered for the dedication.

“The second week of March 2020, the world seemed to stand still. It was a time of fear and uncertainty,” said Paul Driscoll, MD, retired Franciscan Physician Network president. “We were facing a brand-new, life-threatening illness with no road map to follow. Over the next three years, there were lulls, followed by repeated surges in the number of COVID patients to treat. Each time, the entire Franciscan community stepped up to meet the needs of our patients, often at great personal risk,” Driscoll said. “I can honestly say that the final three years of my medical career were simultaneously the most challenging and the most rewarding.”

Indianapolis Emergency Department nurse Emily Cornpropst, RN, was the first staff member of the hospital and 11th person in the state to be diagnosed with the virus in March 2020 and spent the next 16 days in isolation.

“It was very hard not being able to do anything about it,” Cornpropst said. “As an emergency nurse, I want to do something about it. I want to do what needs to be done. So, I wanted desperately to be at work, helping my team with the many sick patients that we were being flooded with.”

Medical Staff Vice President Imad Shawa, MD, underlined the risk taken by caregivers.

“The bravery, the courage that I’ve seen with every one of you when you leave home and you come to work knowing that you might get something that, at that time, you did not know if you were going to survive or not,” Shawa said. “That’s the kind of people we work with. That’s the kind of people I’m proud to be associated with. That’s the kind of institution I’m proud to call my home.”

Sister Marilyn Oliver, OSF, Franciscan Health Foundation development director, shared her personal experience of losing her brother Jack to the virus. Jack was in the Franciscan Health Indianapolis ICU on a ventilator, separated from his wife, who was hospitalized on the COVID floor. Staff arranged for Jack’s wife and their children to see him via video.

“The three children and I were all present and able to be with him for short periods of time before his final breath,” Sister Marilyn said. “Spiritual care, nurses and family sang and prayed together. While his final 17 days on the Earth were not his best days, they certainly were all they could be thanks to the staff here. May God bless each of you, our COVID heroes.”

“We don’t ever forget those hands we hold of our dying patients,” said Cornpropst, who was also with her grandfather, hospitalized with COVID, as he drew his last breath. “I was so grateful for the staff that cared for my grandpa as well as for me during that very difficult time.”

Elena Mitu, administrative director of Central Indiana Environmental Services, observed, “The pandemic opened my eyes to how incredible healthcare workers are. We truly had each other’s back and kept each other going, even during the tragic time when we lost one of my employees to COVID.”

Sister Marlene delivered the prayer of dedication, saying, “Today, this monument is for you, as a reminder of what it means to be Franciscan. It means that you gave from your hearts to our patients and our community.”

An identical memorial will eventually be placed at the Franciscan Health Mooresville campus. Funding for both memorials came solely from the generous donations of grateful former patients, Franciscan support staff, and corporate physicians, medical and partners.

Rep. Spartz co-leads legislation to “rein in administrative state”

Submitted

Rep. Victoria Spartz (R-Ind.) reintroduced on Wednesday bicameral legislation, the Sunshine for Regulatory Decrees and Settlements Act, with Sen. Chuck Grassley (R-Iowa) to end the practice of “sue-and-settle,” a method employed by the executive branch that subverts the Administrative Procedure Act and comes with a serious cost to taxpayers.

“Our Founding Fathers understood the importance of checks and balances and the dangers of abuse of power,” Rep. Spartz said. “Unfortunately, the executive branch has been taking advantage of the ineffective legislative branch. The Sunshine for Regulatory Decrees and Settlements Act brings transparency to sue-and-settle techniques employed by activist federal agencies.”

The practice of “sue-and-settle” involves closed-door negotiations between federal agencies and allied special interest groups resulting in mutually agreed upon settlements which force the agency into a time-limited rulemaking process. The Sunshine for Regulatory Decrees and Settlements Act resolves this problem by requiring public notices, courts to consider public input and regulatory statutes, the Attorney General to certify on proper agency’s authority and funding, and reporting to Congress to improve transparency and legislative oversight. It also establishes timeframes for public input.

This legislation is co-sponsored in the House by Reps. Michael Cloud (R-Texas), Rick Crawford (R-Ark.), John Moolenaar (R-Mich.), Chris Stewart (R-Utah), and Tom Tiffany (R-Wis.), and in the Senate by Sens. Marsha Blackburn (R-Tenn.), John Cornyn (R-Texas), Ted Cruz (R-Texas), Josh Hawley (R-Mo.), Marco Rubio (R-Fla.), and Thom Tillis (R-N.C.).

Americans are “unretiring”: Sen. Mike Braun releases report on older workers

Submitted

U.S. Senate Special Committee on Aging Ranking Member Mike Braun released a report Thursday titled, “What’s Working for Older Workers,” which examines the challenges that older workers are facing and provides recommendations for Congress and the Administration to support older workers, protect their retirement security and strengthen their workforce participation.

“After spending 40 years running a business on Main Street, I understand the crucial role that older Americans represent in our economy,” Sen. Braun said. “Too many older Americans are suffering in the current economy. My report details the initiatives I have taken in Congress to alleviate challenges for older workers by removing burdensome rules, protecting their retirement savings and implementing effective programs to connect older Americans to good paying jobs, as well as tackling issues like high inflation that forced some older Americans back to work.”

Over the last two decades, the share of the workforce aged 55 or older almost doubled. By 2028, over a quarter of the workforce will be aged 55 or older. Inflation has been a factor in forcing retirees back to work; 43 percent of those considering returning to work are doing so because of inflation.

The report identifies that older Americans are increasingly turning to the gig economy to supplement their incomes and savings due to the flexibility it provides. Nearly one in three independent or “gig” workers are over age 55.

In October 2022, the Department of Labor (DOL)

proposed a rule that would eliminate a bulk of independent jobs. Braun has led the charge in the Senate to challenge this rule.

In addition, the DOL has finalized a rule that allows fiduciaries to invest based on ESG factors which tend to produce a lower rate of return. Braun introduced a bipartisan and bicameral measure to eliminate this rule, which President Biden used his first veto on. Last week, Braun introduced a bill that would counter this rule.

TODAY'S BIBLE READING

The angel who talked with me had a measuring rod of gold to measure the city, its gates and its walls. The city was laid out like a square, as long as it was wide. He measured the city with the rod and found it to be 12,000 stadia in length, and as wide and high as it is long. The angel measured the wall using human measurement, and it was 144 cubits thick. The wall was made of jasper, and the city of pure gold, as pure as glass. The foundations of the city walls were decorated with every kind of precious stone. The first foundation was jasper, the second sapphire, the third agate, the fourth emerald, the fifth onyx, the sixth ruby, the seventh chrysolite, the eighth beryl, the ninth topaz, the tenth turquoise, the eleventh jacinth, and the twelfth amethyst. The twelve gates were twelve pearls, each gate made of a single pearl. The great street of the city was of gold, as pure as transparent glass.

Carmel Academy keeps centuries-old dance alive

By KATIERA WINFREY
WISH-TV | wishstv.com

Keeping a centuries-old dance form alive is one way to keep up with tradition. The Carmel-based Nrityangan Kathak Academy is teaching a new generation a north Indian classical dance form. Instructor Anindita Sen says when it comes to North Indian classical dance, this one is unique, as it has Hindu, Persian, and Islamic influences, making it a very rich form of dance. She says it's an important piece of art to keep alive, but also a vital part of culture. "Telling a story is what we do through our movement," Sen said. A lifetime of dance has set the stage for Sen to share her knowledge. And there's freedom in the footwork. It sets the pace for the dance called kathak.

Hundreds of dancers have passed through this program over the years, and this group is taking the next steps, twirls, and pose. Pritikaa Biswas has been here before. As a graduate of the program, the movement has brought her closer to culture, and she now helps teach kathak. "The reason I was drawn to kathak was that it gave me an opportunity to look more into my culture and my heritage," Biswas said. "I've learned certain things about hand movements and footwork that I haven't been able to discover in other dance forms." The footwork and graceful movements are paramount to the style, but Sen says there are layers of difficulty. "It is challenging because it's not something that you can just show up one week and not show up for three more weeks," Sen said. "The dance builds on what you learned." For centuries, dancers have performed kathak. Mughals who ruled at the time, first brought the dance to its courts. And while this is a passion project, there's passion for keeping these dancers connected to heritage. Sen says most of the girls in the program aren't from the northern part of India, and most were born in America, but that's the beauty of building community through culture. "I love the fact that Indiana is turning into such a diverse community on the fact that people appreciate what we bring to the table," Sen said.

Nita resided for the majority of her life in Noblesville, where she spent 35 years working for Firestone Industrial Products, where she also made many lifelong friends. Nita loved a good joke or prank and always had a laugh to share. She was also an avid reader and always had a good book – or five – to lend. Nita was a devoted sister and a wonderful aunt to many nieces and nephews with whom she cherished a special bond. Carmel gets 30th sectional win in a row, Fishers beats Southeastern

sports@readthereporter.com

CARMEL – The Carmel girls tennis team kept its sectional championship streak rolling on Thursday.

The No. 2-ranked and defending state champion Greyhounds beat No. 9 Westfield 4-1 at the Todd Witsken Tennis Center to win the sectional title. Carmel has now won 30 consecutive sectional titles, and 39 overall.

All five matches were decided in straight sets. The ‘Hounds swept both doubles, with Ali Griffin and Alexa Lewis taking the No. 1 match and Marina Duncan and Alex Widjaja winning the No. 2 flight. Meanwhile, No. 1 singles Nora Perkins and No. 2 singles Elyse Nelson both got victories.

“We came out with authority, started off pretty good,” said Carmel coach Dan Brunette. “I knew that

2 doubles and 3 singles was a strong point for Westfield and they played pretty well in those spots today.”

Brunette was complimentary of the Shamrocks, calling them a good team and noting their No. 9 ranking.

“And I think we needed some tests early on here,” said Brunette. “It’s good for us, and it’s good for us to face a little bit of adversity and deal with it.”

The Shamrocks’ lone win came at No. 3 singles, where Addi Kooi held off Grace Kim 6-3, 7-6 (2). Kim came back from 5-2 down in the second set to force a tiebreak.

Carmel will play the winner of the Kokomo sectional Tuesday in the semifinals of the Kokomo regional. The Kokomo sectional championship is set for this afternoon between Northwestern and the host Wildkats.

‘Hounds come out on top in sectional championship

By RICHIE HALL
sports@readthereporter.com

WESTFIELD – The Carmel boys track and field team won a competitive and well-balanced sectional championship on Thursday.

The sectional took place at Westfield’s Riverview Health Stadium this year instead of the usual Carmel Stadium. The Greyhounds finished ahead in a tight battle with Hamilton Southeastern, winning their fourth consecutive sectional title by scoring 124 points. The Royals were a strong second with 113 points.

Carmel won four events. Adom Quist won a very close 110 hurdles battle with Fishers’ Tyler Tarter, as both finished in a time of 14.57 seconds; Quist got first by a few millimeters. Kole Mathison was a double winner in the long-distance events, winning the 1600 run and leading a 1-2 finish in the 3200 run; Tony Provenzano placed second. Drew Franklin dominated the discus, with a winning throw of 188 feet, 5 inches, nearly 29 feet ahead of the state standard.

The Greyhounds also had several athletes finish in the top three in their events, which automatically sends them to next Thursday’s regional at Lafayette Jefferson.

“I’m very happy with what happened today,” said Greyhounds coach Ken Browner. “We got everybody we expected to get out except the 4x1. That was unfortunate, but I still think we Michael Griffith won two events for the Royals, taking the 400 dash and winning the long jump in 23 feet, 1.75 inches. Lamine Sall placed third in the long jump in 22 feet, 1 inch; both HSE jumpers were well ahead of the state standard.

Noblesville placed third with 90 points and won three events. Christ Degni had a hand in all three, as he swept the 100 and 200 dashes, then joined Derrell Coleman, Sidney Weaver and Cameron Wilson for a close victory in the 4x100 relay. The Millers ran the race in 42.55 seconds, Southeastern was second in 42.56 seconds.

Third-ranked Millers pour it on to capture outright HCC championship

The REPORTER

After taking the first game of the series on Wednesday, it was all business as the Millers headed to Boone County to face Zionsville. The two were scoreless for the first few innings and then Noblesville's offense cut loose en route to an 11-1 dominating road win over the Eagles, giving the Millers their first outright HCC championship since 2014. They were co-champs in 2016.

Jacob Edwards lined a single to center in the top of the fourth to drive in Jack Shade for a 1-0 lead for the Millers.

Zionsville tied it up 1-1 in the home half of the fourth with Max Bond sent a base hit to left, scoring Elliott Peter.

After that, it was all Millers and they kept their foot on the gas.

Hunter Corbett led off the fifth with a single to left and would move to second on a ground ball single by sophomore brother Trevor. Aiden Reynolds next reached on an error by pitcher Wrigley Bumgardner to load the bases. Bryce Riggs walked for a 2-1 score.

Nolan Decker would also reach on an error, this time by third baseman Elliott Peter. That allowed Trevor Corbett to make it home and it was 3-1.

Jack Shade sent a fly ball to center for a sacrifice, driving in Reynolds for 4-1. Aiden Ramsey made it 5-1, grounding into a double play, but courtesy runner Logan Shoffner made his way home on an error by Bond behind the plate.

Edwards walked to start the sixth. Sean McMahon came in to courtesy run. Blake Widget walked for two on. Tyler Utterback bunted into a fielder's choice, forcing McMahon out at third.

Widget went home on an error by shortstop Josh Girvan. Trevor Corbett collected another hit, grounding to left, driving in Utterback for a 7-1 count.

Noblesville put the game completely out of reach with four more in the top of the seventh.

Decker, Shade and Ramsey lead off the seventh with consecutive walks. Then, Blake Widget took a 1-1 pitch for a ride on a deep extra-base hit to center for a bases-clearing triple, sending Decker, Shade and Ramsey around to score, pushing it to 10-1. Widget would score on a passed ball with two outs that produced the final score of 11-1.

Bryce Riggs sent the Eagles down in order in the bottom of the seventh to seal the game for the series sweep and the outright Hoosier Crossroads Conference championship.

Trevor Corbett connected for two of the five Miller hits, while Widget led all with three RBIs. Shade and Widget both scored twice.

Riggs had another solid performance on the mound, moving his season record to 7-0. The senior hurler struck out seven, gave up three hits and walked just one in his six frames of work.

Third-ranked Noblesville (20-6, 11-3 HCC) clinched its fourth HCC championship (2008, 2014) and first since 2016. The Millers finished one game ahead of Fishers (19-11, 10-4 HCC) in the league standings.

The Millers close out the regular season on the road at Lafayette Jeff (17-11) at Loeb Stadium tonight at 7 p.m.
