Book 'em, Danno, murder one!

On recent murder mystery dinner train rides, the Big Caboose Players and the Nickel Plate Express have killed people in the 1920s and the 1980s. This month, someone dies in Hawaii and everybody gets lei'd! One of the people you see here will not survive the Luau Express on June 24 and 25, and someone else in this frame is already plotting how to get away with murder. If you didn't get tickets for this sold-out dinner and death extravaganza, have no fear! This September you can ride back to the 1920s again for a killer evening. History of Arcadia's Delta Chapter of Phi Beta Psi, Part I

Submitted by Vicki Cooper
Phi Beta Psi, Delta Chapter

As Hamilton County celebrates its bicentennial, plans are underway in Arcadia for a centennial celebration in September for Delta Chapter of Phi Beta Psi Sorority.

Chapter beginnings

Delta was installed as the 15th chapter of Phi Beta Psi on Sept. 6, 1923, with the sponsorship of Pi Chapter in Kokomo. The founding members were Bonnie Karr Hill, Harriett Walker King, Frieda Drumm, Grace Gwinn, Nelle Ryan, Martha Gwinn Cox, and Helen Sowers Rodenbeck. Perhaps someone in our area currently can claim relationship to one of these ladies!

After installation by the National Sorority, Delta Chapter held their first meeting on Sept. 10, 1923, and elected their first officers. At this time, each chapter was expected to pay $35 a year to the National treasury. Nowadays each member pays $35 a year. In October 1923, this small group initiated five new members and were now 12 strong.

The National Phi Beta Psi organization started in February of 1904, two years after JCPenney was founded, which means our sorority is older than the Boy Scouts of America, Feb. 8, 1910; Kiwanis Organization, Jan. 21, 1915; and the American Legion, March 16, 1919. We are a philanthropic sorority whose National Project is Cancer Research, which was adopted in 1941. Since that time, we have donated $11,057,853 to research doctors all across the country.

Please note that every penny given to our National Project goes to cancer research. There are no upfront costs – it all goes to cancer research!

First projects & early growth

Delta's first project was to plan and carry out a Christmas party for the children of Arcadia. Another project in Delta's first year was the showing of a movie Mighty Lak' a Rose at the Bee Pint theater in Arcadia costing them $22.50: $7.50 to rent the theater and $15 for the film. Delta's ninth meeting as a chapter of Phi Beta Psi was, of all things, a slumber party at Frieda's house! By 1925, they had 15 members and seven inactive members.

In 1926, this young chapter of Delta hosted the first Indiana State Convention. Since Arcadia had no hotel, the sisters made use of their friends' homes for all the delegates. Everything went well until a bad storm came through which knocked out the electricity all over town. There was nothing to do but use candles.

In the fall of 1927, the Arcadia girls branched out to include girls from Cicero and Tipton. This growth led to Theta Delta chapter in Tipton being installed in May 1930. Delta became a mother!

This charter, signed on Sept. 6, 1923 by the founding members, established the Delta Chapter of the Phi Beta Psi Sorority in Arcadia.

When the 25th anniversary of National Phi Beta Psi was celebrated at the National Convention in Ohio, Frieda Drumm was again honored by being Grand (Natl.) Treasurer after having served as Grand Inspectress the year before.

The Great Depression

Financial standing of Delta during the Depression was much the same as the country in general. For instance, on Jan. 2, 1934, there was $14.99 in the treasury. However, lack of money didn't hinder the enthusiasm of Delta Chapter. They'd been building a Scholarship Fund for a while and $150 was given to one girl and $50 to another.

In 1936, the Grand Inspectress visited a Delta meeting. The bill for the party after the meeting was $4.58. In 1937, the Chapter started buying things for the hospital, first purchasing a chair for $18.75. Later in 1939, Delta bought a steam table and two more chairs for the hospital.

World War II & post-War years

In June 1942, Delta bought its first $100 bond and hosted in November the State Convention at the Lincoln Hotel. After the convention, they presented an oxygen tent to the hospital and $200 to National Project of cancer research.

In October 1945, Delta started the Kathryn Sumner Achievement Award of $25, presenting it to a high school senior girl each year. This award is still given to a Hamilton Heights High School graduating senior each year but is now $400.

The chapter assumed the responsibility of the Cancer Drive in 1947. The final report showed $1,092.08, which made the Delta sisters very proud! The building of the new Riverview Hospital, which opened in May 1950, was important to Delta because they worked and saved for several years to make enough to furnish a room and were able to present a check for $500 to the hospital.

In April 1955, Delta became a grandmother when their daughter chapter Theta Delta in Tipton sponsored a new chapter, Theta Alpha Alpha of Sheridan. In June 1955, Delta discontinued a project they had been doing for several years of baking cookies for the Service Men's Center in Indianapolis. The need wasn't so great then, it was said.

A new moneymaker was tried in 1955 when each Phi Beta was given $1 from the treasury to grow it. After six months the treasury received $205.34. Joanna Wise and Eulanda Sumner made candles. Georgia Day got the change her husband left in his pockets. Pat Shaffer bet hers on a dog race in Florida – and her dog won! Delta ended 1955 planning a surprise party for Frieda Drumm, one of Delta's founders.

Indiana University & Purdue University officially OK 2024 split

By CAMILA FERNANDEZ
WISH-TV | wishtv.com

Wednesday was an historic day for both Indiana University and Purdue University. Leaders of each university signed documents to effectively end IUPUI. Each university will start their separate Indianapolis operations in fall 2024.

Community leaders say there's a lot that lies ahead for the two institutions.

Both universities say it's a new and exciting chapter. They say by separating both universities, they can offer more opportunities for their students and graduates as well as leverage each university's unique strengths.

Community leaders say it would not be possible without the support of the presidents of both universities as well as state and local leaders.

IU says it plans to double enrollment in key tech-focused academic programs, invest in expanded research and lab space, and grow its Indianapolis-based science, technology, engineering, and mathematics faculty.

"This is tremendous," IU President Pamela Whitten. "It's wonderful for Indiana University. It's wonderful for Purdue University, but most importantly, it's for the city of Indianapolis and for the state of Indiana."

Purdue University in Indianapolis will assume responsibility for the existing engineering, computer science, and technology programs, and confer Purdue West Lafayette degrees.

Purdue has also received $60 million from the Indiana General Assembly to fund the first "academic and student success building" on a 28-acre campus in downtown Indianapolis.

Purdue University in Indianapolis will be Purdue's first comprehensive urban campus.

Purdue University President Mung Chiang said, "This has long been a dream for the Boilermakers and today we get to do it and we thank all of the outstanding support."

Indiana State Department of Agriculture names deputy director

The REPORTER

The Indiana State Department of Agriculture (ISDA) announced Thursday that Katie Nelson has been selected as Deputy Director of the Indiana State Department of Agriculture.

"We are so excited to promote a longstanding public servant, like Katie, to second in command for the Indiana State Department of Agriculture," said Lt. Gov. Suzanne Crouch, who also serves as Secretary of Agriculture and Rural Development. "I have worked alongside Katie for over six years now and she has been a strong advocate for farmers and agriculture in Indiana. I am sure that she will continue to push this industry forward in the coming years. Congratulations, Katie."

As deputy director of the department, Nelson will support the director in achieving ISDA's mission and strategies. Among many responsibilities, she will oversee the day-to-day operations of the department, represent ISDA at events, engage with producer organizations and identify opportunities to grow the state's agriculture sector.

Nelson has served and will continue to serve as a liaison between agricultural businesses, state agencies and local units of govern-

"We are excited to see Katie flourish in this role within our department," said Don Lamb, director of the Indiana State Department of Agriculture. "Katie has a passion for agriculture, public service, and supporting staff. I am hopeful this role will continue to support her as a public servant and bring our staff and department great success."

Nelson has been with the department since 2017. She was previously Director of Legislative Affairs within the department, a role she has held since 2020. Prior to that she was the program manager of policy and regulatory affairs at ISDA.

Nelson's past work at ISDA has included evaluating the legislative and regulatory landscape at all levels of government while positioning the department to support Indiana's agricultural industry. She also served as executive director of the Indiana Land Resources Council, which was created to assist state and local decision-makers with land use tools and policies.

"Working for ISDA over the last several years has provided me with numerous opportunities for personal and professional growth, and allowed me to support my favorite industry, agriculture,"

Nelson said. "I am looking forward to this new challenge of supporting our outstanding staff and continuing to pursue the ISDA mission of bettering Indiana agriculture within policy work, growing economically and enhancing our stewardship of natural resources."

Nelson graduated in December 2016 from the University of Missouri with a bachelor's degree in political science. In 2019, she graduated from the Agribusiness Council of Indiana's Emerging Professionals Leadership Program. She also is a 2021 graduate of the Richard G. Lugar Excellence in Public Service Series. In the summer of 2024, she will become a graduate of the AgriInstitute's Agriculture Leadership Program, Class 20.

Nelson resides in Franklin with her husband, two children and beloved dog.

TODAY'S BIBLE READING

To the woman he said, "I will make your pains in childbearing very severe; with painful labor you will give birth to children. Your desire will be for your husband, and he will rule over you."

To Adam he said, "Because you listened to your wife and ate fruit from the tree about which I commanded you, 'You must not eat from it,' 'Cursed is the ground because of you; through painful toil you will eat food from it all the days of your life. It will produce thorns and thistles for you, and you will eat the plants of the field. By the sweat of your brow you will eat your food until you return to the ground, since from it you were taken; for dust you are and to dust you will return.'"
