devastated” by Meacham’s sudden passing, Carmel High School Athletics Director Jim Inskeep, said in a tweet.

“He made a significant impact on the lives of student-athletes and the Lacrosse Community in Indiana,” Inskeep wrote. “Jack was named the CHS Head Coach of the Year by his peers last week. Our prayers are with his wife, family, players, coaching staff, and friends.”

Meachum coached Carmel to its first boys lacrosse state championship in eight years when it beat Hamilton Southeastern 9-7 in the state championship game this past June in Roncalli.

In addition to his role at Carmel High School, Meachum served as the state chair for Maryland-based USA Lacrosse and was a member of the Indiana High School Lacrosse Association’s executive committee, according to his LinkedIn profile. He was a graduate of Carthage College and, more recently, the University of Indianapolis.

In a statement on Twitter, Carmel Men’s Lacrosse said, “We are saddened by the passing of Coach Jack Meachum. His impact on the Carmel Lacrosse program was undeniable and we will miss him dearly. Our thoughts and prayers are with his family, friends, and everyone of the Carmel Lacrosse family.”

Meacham was survived by his wife and family. Visitation and funeral details will be shared at a later date. A GoFundMe campaign began Wednesday to help pay for funeral costs. You can donate at this link.

Carmel High School held a vigil for the coach at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at Murray Stadium, the soccer field at 520 Stadium Drive.

TALK

My senior year saw five of us who leased a house near campus. After graduation, I was working at a walnut cabinet manufacturing factory helping to manufacture walnut cabinets and not doing much else. Weekends were leisurely with no responsibility of work, family, or community calling upon us.

One weekend, an irritation that arose was a neighborhood lady. She was a member of Jehovah’s Witnesses and would arrive early at the house, ring the doorbell, and want to talk about her religion. As you might imagine, none of us were interested in an early morning with her. After several weekend interruptions, my Chinese roommate, Wilson Wong, said that he would handle the problem. He had officially changed his first name to Wilson because the English pronunciation of his first and middle name didn’t exactly convey the message he wanted to convey.

Sure enough, as the next weekend rolled around the doorbell rang, and the lady and her children were ready to proselytize. Wilson answered the door and said in his Chinese-English accent: “You talk-a your religion, I talk-a my religion.” Of course, she readily agreed. He then began unbuttoning his shirt with a comment “I be a nudist, let’s take all our clothes off.” For some reason, the lady was no longer interested in our house.

I finished out that summer in relative peace until I answered Uncle Sam’s draft call to become a tank mechanic. As a tank mechanic, I worked primarily on the M88, which is basically a wrecker to retrieve damaged or bogged down tanks. Wikipedia reports a total of only 629 have been produced for the United States Army. These incredible machines were powered by two locomotive engines and were a thrill to operate.

stay. After making a friend at camp and participating in a few activities, he began smiling. A few weeks after camp ended, Mitchell had a conversation with Reid’s mother about camp, during which, the mom talked about how the boy the family took to camp was not the boy who came home. She said that he was smiling and laughing so much more: “It [camp] changed our world.”

CHAMP stands for Children Have a Lot of Motivation and Potential, and the camp offers opportunities for these children who have specialized needs. The overall camp experience is rewarding to campers and volunteers alike.

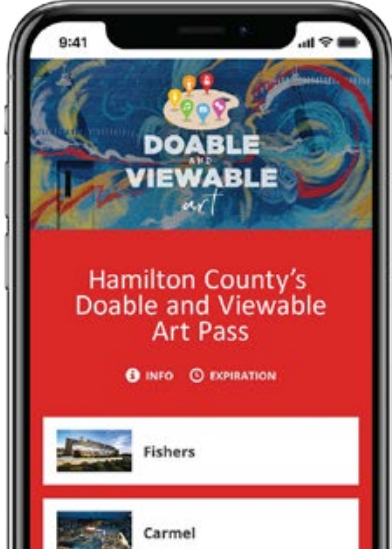

The Kiwanis Club of Cicero was so inspired by CHAMP Camp’s mission, its success, and how it transforms the lives of everyone involved, club members felt compelled to contribute $200 toward next year’s no-cost to the kids camp.

Sen. Braun visits Carmel American Legion as gubernatorial candidate

The REPORTER

U.S. Senator and gubernatorial candidate Mike Braun stopped by American Legion Post 155, 852 W. Main St., Carmel, on Tuesday evening just after 6 p.m.

After a short introduction detailing his business and political career, Braun spent approximately an hour answering questions from community members.

A vocal proponent of both term limits for all elected officials and a balanced budget, Braun encouraged voters to look at each candidate in the 2024 governor's race and see what each has done so far for Hoosiers.

Among the many topics discussed Tuesday evening, Braun told those present that he believes infrastructure should be funded by those who use it. One of his examples he used was the work

Crime prevention is a top priority for local officials

If you don't have a safe city, you don't have a great city.

In my opinion, crime prevention should be the top priority of local elected leaders. You can build great roads and attract top businesses and amenities to come to your city, but if people don't feel safe going out with their family, you'll see property values plummet and businesses begin to suffer.

Fortunately, Carmel has remained a safe community even as our population continues to grow. In 2023, Carmel was named as number one on a list of affordable safe suburbs in the U.S. and the safest suburb in Indiana, according to a June report in SmartAsset.

Click here to see our 2022 crime statistics for Carmel.

In 2022, there were only two homicides in Carmel, which is amazing for a city of more than 100,000 people, which is the fifth or sixth largest city in the state (depending on the source).

Just south of Hamilton County, Indianapolis reported 226 homicides in 2022. I understand Indianapolis is about nine times the size of Carmel, and I'm not trying to pick on Indianapolis or disparage its residents or leaders, but I just wanted to show a comparison.

We've seen homicide rates on the rise for a number of years in Indianapolis. From 2020 to 2022, more than 740 criminal homicides occurred in Indianapolis, according to IMPD statistics published on Fox59. Compare this to less than 500 criminal homicides for the three years prior, 2017 to 2019.

There are many root causes of violent crime, such as health issues, poverty, education, family situations, etc.

One way we can address crime is making sure we have enough police officers on the street. This is a problem nationwide. An analysis of two years of U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics and Census Bureau data shows a steady decline in both law enforcement jobs during the pandemic. From March 2020 to August 2022, the number of local law enforcement employees decreased by 4 percent, the most recent data show. The Census Bureau's government payroll survey shows similar trends.

Carmel has done better than most cities when it comes to hiring police, but, like most cities, we are always looking for more.

If you know someone interested in joining CPD, refer them to carmel.in.gov/government/departments-services/police/career-opportunities. They can also reach out to cpdrecruitment@carmel.in.gov. I feel very honored that I've been endorsed by the Carmel Fraternal Order of Police, and I pledge to continue to give our police department the tools and training they need to keep us safe. I also support initiatives to provide better pay and benefits and find more ways to attract new officers to join CPD.

Crime prevention is priority number one. Without a safe city, we don't have a great city.

Award-winning cabaret, concert & recording artist Jeff Harnar coming to Feinstein’s for one night only

The REPORTER

Jeff Harnar is an award-winning cabaret, concert and recording artist. Harnar has performed at Carnegie Hall for both the Cole Porter and Noël Coward Centennial Galas. His PBS concerts include The 1959 Broadway Songbook: Stephen Sondheim. Harnar toured in the Symphony Pops Concert, I Got Rhythm: Mickey & Judy’s Hollywood. He has won multiple MAC, Bistro and The Noël Coward Foundation Award. The New York Times has stated: “Jeff Harnar emerges as the most important new make cabaret performer since Michael Feinstein.”

On Sept. 8, for one night only, Harnar brings his talent to the stage at Feinstein’s, located inside The Hotel Carmichael in Carmel. The event coincides with the release of his new album by PS Classics titled A Collective Cy: Jeff Harnar sings Cy Coleman. This album, which features a full orchestra and includes special guests such as Ann Hampton Callaway, Liz Callaway, Nicolas King, and Danny Bacher, will be celebrated with the show.

This jazz-inspired meeting of Jeff Harnar, a passionate explorer of the Great American Songbook, and Cy Coleman, a master of both sophisticated pop standards and catchy Broadway show tunes, is a scintillating combination. A vocalist at the height of his powers, Harnar blazes a unique path through this ravishing set that stands out brightly among the tributes to Coleman and his contemporaries.

To celebrate the release of A Collective Cy, the Feinstein’s concert will feature highlights from Coleman’s legendary musicals Sweet Charity (“My Personal Property,” “If My Friends Could See Me Now”), See Saw (“My City,” “I’m Way Ahead”), and City of Angels (“With Every Breath I Take”), plus little-known songs like “So Little Time” (cut from Barnum).

Harnar brings his exuberance, interpretive acumen and “voice that out-Sinatrass Sinatra” (BroadwayWorld) to honor Cy Coleman whose work won multiple Tony, Grammy and Emmy awards over a six-decade career. This album was adapted from an award-winning stage show and is a celebration of a composer equally at home in the worlds of pop and Broadway.

The show was originally performed at Feinstein’s in New York City, so it is so appropriate that the celebration of the release of the corresponding album will take place at Feinstein’s in Carmel.

Much as Coleman did, Harnar marries stage-worthy savvy to the seeming effortlessness of jazz. It’s an approach and an album of which Coleman himself would have heartily approved, and indeed, two-time Coleman collaborator Tommy Tune raved, “Jeff Harnar’s singing and Cy Coleman’s music make a perfect duet.” David Zippel, Coleman’s lyricist on their Tony Award-winning City of Angels concurred: “Cy would’ve loved it.”

The stage version of A Collective Cy, directed by Sara Louise Lazarus, won the Bistro Award for “Outstanding Major Engagement” and was a New York Magazine “Critic’s Pick.” Edge New York raved, “This is a major event, and this sparkling show deserves a special Cy-tation.”

In 2022 Harnar was named the Chicago Cabaret Professionals National Honoree, was the recipient of the Mabel Mercer Foundation’s Mabel Mercer Award, and was the winner of three BroadwayWorld Cabaret Awards: Best Vocalist, Show and Director. In 2023 the Manhattan Association of Cabarets honored Harnar as “Celebrity Artist” and I Know Things Now, his fifth solo album, won the Major Recording Award. He performed in the movie Joshua Tree, 1951: A Portrait of James Dean from Iconoclast Films.

You can learn more about Harnar at JeffHarnar.com.

Feinstein’s is blessed to have such a sensational performer on their stage as Harnar’s next stops include New York, Chicago, and London. Don’t miss your opportunity to see him in person. Visit feinsteinsch.com for tickets.

Pickleball isn’t just for senior citizens

By JAY ADKINS
WISH-TV | wishtv.com

If tennis and racquetball married, their first-born would be pickleball.

Pickleball play has grown so much recently that the hardest part of the game now is finding an empty court, and it’s not just for grandparents. Pickleball play has increased 158 percent in the U.S., according to what’s called ‘picklehead statistics,’ but for those 40 million players, the odds of being injured also skyrocket.

News 8 visited the Annapolis pickleball club and talked to one player who has spent months healing from a severe knee injury.

“It’s a short paddle,” said pickleball player Bob Friend. “It’s not a string game, and it’s with a plastic ball as opposed to a core rubber ball.”

Anyone can play pickleball, but 90 percent of injuries occur in those over 50 years of age.

“I’ve had two injuries playing pickleball,” Friend said. “The last one that I had, which was my patella tendon tear in my left knee, was playing in a tournament.”

“One of the common misconceptions about pickleball is that it’s less injury-provoking than other sports,” said Dr. John-Paul Rue, an orthopedist with the Orthopedic Sports Medicine Surgeon Mercy Medical Center. “In most of the injuries that we see occur in the lower extremity, in the knees, and the ankles. They’re usually from a sudden lunging, jumping, twisting type of maneuver.”

Friend’s patella injury to his knee was intense.

“He did a sudden lunge, and what happened was his quadriceps, his thigh muscles, contracted suddenly, and actually ripped the tendon from off of the bone, just below the kneecap,” said Dr. Rue. “The first four to six weeks, you’re pretty immobile. Then, you start to gain confidence, and the brace starts to come off, because you sleep with a brace for the first five weeks.”

How can you keep pickleball fun but safe from strains, sprains, and dislocations? Dr. Rue says warm up, know your limitations, and stretch before and after playing.

Dr. Rue says it will take Friend two to three years to get back to his “full, explosive, competitive level.” He reminds players that fractures are common, especially for low bone density in later years. He advises to perhaps play a little slower than you think you need to and you’ll play a lot longer.

Vaudeville volcano

By ADAM CROWE
A Seat on the Aisle

2023 brings the fifth Fringe show for Clerical Error Productions. Pompeii and Circumstance is one of two volcanic-themed shows in the District Theater this Fringe. Unlike That's Hot, this entry is on the main-stage and takes on a much bigger story.

It is the summer of 79 AD and the Emperor is coming to Pompeii. Tensions are high and slaves scramble to prepare for this momentous visit. Hijinks abound and before too long, (spoiler alert) Mt. Vesuvius decides to steal focus.

Pompeii and Circumstance is not exactly a farce but feels more in line with Clerical Error's penchant for vaudeville. The cast is likeable, consisting of David Malloy, Kate Duffy, Blake Mellencamp, MaryAnne Matthews, Stacey Long, Tracy Herring, Bryan Ball, Manny Casillas, and an especially delightful Trick Blanchfield. All the performers have their moments and are eager to please, though the show more often drags when it should fly. Mellencamp's entrances are a delight (and he is also the playwright).

Clerical Error Productions' Pompeii and Circumstance runs at Mass Avenue's District Theater on Aug. 24 and 26 and Sept. 1 and 2. Performance times vary and are available, along with ticket information, at the Fringe page at indyfringe.org/festival.

In recent years, my Fringing has been pretty much along the lines of more scripted fare. How nice it was to get a chance to see a real showman ply his craft.

Indianapolis' own Taylor Martin can be seen this year in a show titled More Stories to be Told: Tasty Bits Too – a delicious mix of war stories and magic from the career of a Fringe mainstay.

Martin is a late addition to this year's line-up, jumping in with little notice when another performer got an out-of-town break that he couldn't refuse. Martin has performed in nearly every

More patients turning to Forté Sports Medicine and Orthopedics for specialized walk-in care

Submitted

More patients are turning to Forté Sports Medicine and Orthopedics, a Carmel-based, physician-owned practice recognized as one of the region’s most respected orthopedic and sports medicine groups, for specialized walk-in orthopedic urgent care.

In the first half of 2023, Forté Fast Orthopedic Care clinics saw 52 percent more walk-in patients compared to the first six months of 2022.

With three clinics in Carmel, Greenwood, and Noblesville, Forté Fast addresses the injuries that occur while performing daily activities and prevent people from going about their regular schedule. When unexpected injuries happen, getting a diagnosis and starting an immediate treatment plan are crucial first steps for a better, faster recovery.

Forté Fast provides walk-in access for acute issues, such as broken bones, sprains, fractures, and dislocations. Patients receive same-day services based on their individual needs, including a musculoskeletal evaluation from a fellowship-trained physician, rehab, imaging, bracing, medical supplies, and more.

“Receiving expert-level care at Forté Fast helps the overall recovery process by giving patients the opportunity to start healing faster,” said Dr. Matthew Negaard, an emergency medicine and fellowship-trained sports medicine physician who serves as medical director of Forté Fast. “Whether you need X-rays, bracing or physical therapy, we have all the services you need under one roof.”

Since January 2022, Forté Fast has seen a steady rise in patient volume. In the first six months of 2023, 1,912 patients utilized the practice’s same-day services across all clinics, up from 1,255 patients in the first six months of 2022. This trend puts Forté Fast on track to increase patient visits by more than 50 percent year over year.

One patient, Barbara, who chose to be identified only by her first name, sought Forté Fast care when she tripped and landed on her knees. The fall generated such excruciating pain that she couldn’t walk without crutches.

“I hobbled my way into the Forté Fast walk-in clinic and was seen right away,” Barbara said. “They did X-rays, found a hair-line crack in the kneecap and started physical therapy immediately. In just six weeks, I was pain-free and a proud PT graduate, thanks to the orthopedic walk-in care at Forté.”

Sen. Young leads delegation support of Indiana's Tech Hub application

CHIPS and Science Act Program would bring hundreds of millions in public & private investment to Indiana

The REPORTER

U.S. Senator Todd Young (R-Ind.) led a letter sent by all of Indiana's congressional delegation in support of the state's application to be named a Regional Technology and Innovation Hub (Tech Hub). The Tech Hub proposal, known as Heartland BioWorks, would cement Indiana's position as a leader in biotechnology, medical technology, genomics, and synthetic biology.

Sen. Young introduced the Tech Hub concept in the Endless Frontier Act of 2020, which eventually became law as a key pillar in the CHIPS and Science Act, signed into law in 2022.

"Our expansive network of universities and community colleges will ensure that everyone has access to the training needed to participate in this new economy," the Indiana delegation wrote in its support letter. "Our established life sciences sector will ensure a pipeline of innovative treatments.

Our advanced manufacturing heritage will guarantee the drugs of the future are Made in America. And our preeminent logistics infrastructure will ensure that we can distribute the products we make."

During Phase One of the Tech Hubs application process, the U.S. Department of Commerce's Economic Development Administration will designate at least 20 Tech Hubs across the country. Designated Tech

Young

Hubs will then be eligible to compete in Phase Two for $500 million in funding. Sen. Young has been a strong advocate for fully funding the Tech Hubs program so more designated Tech Hubs will be able to receive funding.

Heartland BioWorks is being led by Applied Research Institute, Inc. Application partners include the Indiana Economic Development Corporation, the Central Indiana Corporate Partnership, Ivy Tech, University of Notre Dame, Purdue University, Indiana University, the City of Indianapolis, the Central Indiana Building Trades Council, and several of the state's largest employers, including Eli Lilly and Elanco. If successful, the proposal would lead to millions in federal investment and open the floodgates for private investment in Indiana.

"Heartland BioWorks is the result of extensive research into how Indiana's existing strengths – and potential areas of growth – can meet our nation's economic and national security needs in this focus area," the letter continued. "With our deep history of public, private, and academic coordination in life sciences, a Tech Hub designation and future funding would enable the collaboration that has existed in Indiana for decades to fully reach its potential."

After Abram returned from defeating Kedorlaomer and the kings allied with him, the king of Sodom came out to meet him in the Valley of Shaveh (that is, the King's Valley).

Then Melchizedek king of Salem brought out bread and wine. He was priest of God Most High, and he blessed Abram, saying,

"Blessed be Abram by God Most High, Creator of heaven and earth. And praise be to God Most High, who delivered your enemies into your hand."

Then Abram gave him a tenth of everything.

The king of Sodom said to Abram, "Give me the people and keep the goods for yourself."

But Abram said to the king of Sodom, "With raised hand I have sworn an oath to the Lord, God Most High, Creator of heaven and earth, that I will accept nothing belonging to you, not even a thread or the strap of a sandal, so that you will never be able to say, 'I made Abram rich.' I will accept nothing but what my men have eaten and the share that belongs to the men who went with me—to Aner, Eshkol and Mamre. Let them have their share."

Royals, Millers & Rocks secure conference wins

The REPORTER

The Hamilton South-eastern girls soccer team picked up a hard-fought Hoosier Crossroads Conference win at Brownsburg, 3-2 on Wednesday.

The Class 3A No. 2 Royals scored the game's first goal. Kate Noel got a header on a corner kick and Riley Boyd put it away for the goal. The 3A No. 14 Bulldogs made a penalty kick with five minutes left in the half, and thus the score was tied 1-1 at halftime.

Brownsburg took a 2-1 lead early in the second half, but Southeastern came back to score the next two goals. Boyd tied the game at 2-2 by blasting a long-distance kick into the net, then Sloane May got the game-winner, with Ayla Conn assisting.

"Brownsburg played very hard and will do well to knock off some teams in the HCC," said Royals coach Greg Davidson.

Southeastern is 2-0 in the conference and 5-0-1 overall, and hosts 3A No. 3 Noblesville Saturday evening in another HCC game. The Millers won their conference opener on Wednesday at Avon, beating the Orioles 2-0.

Noblesville is 3-0 overall.

Westfield, the No. 13 team in 3A, also scored an HCC victory on Wednesday, beating Franklin Central 4-0.

Indianapolis 500 veteran Rupp dies at 87

Submitted
Mickey Rupp, who started the 1965 Indianapolis 500 but gained even more acclaim as a recreational vehicle and sport fishing equipment entrepreneur, died Aug. 20. He was 87.
Rupp, a native of Mansfield, Ohio, qualified 15th and finished sixth in the No. 81 G.C. Murphy Gerhardt/Offy rear-engine car in 1965. He passed his rookie test in a front-engine Chapman Special Offy roadster that year before moving to the rear-engine car for practice, qualifying and the race.
That sixth-place performance would have earned Rookie of the Year honors in many editions of “The Greatest Spectacle in Racing,” but the 1965 rookie class was arguably the strongest in “500” history. Mario Andretti finished third and Gordon Johncock fifth ahead of Rupp. Future “500” legend Al Unser and future Indy pole winner and USAC national champion Joe Leonard were among the eight other rookies in the field that year who finished behind Rupp.

Rupp’s INDYCAR SERIES driving career was quite short, with just five starts overall in 1964 and 1965. But he finished in the top 10 in three of those five races, with a best result of fifth at Milwaukee a week after he finished sixth at Indianapolis.
His commitment and responsibilities to his growing recreational vehicle empire pulled Rupp from the driver’s seat.
Rupp started building kart kits in his basement in the late 1950s and then began manufacturing his designs that included such innovations as step frames, improved braking systems and eventually four-wheel independent suspension. His Dart Karts immediately became very popular and were produced through the late 1960s, and his brother-in-law – legendary Indianapolis 500 chassis designer A.J. Watson – appeared in a magazine ad for the 1959 Dart Kart.

His company, Rupp Manufacturing (which was renamed Rupp Industries), also produced popular minibikes, snowmobiles and off-road vehicles distinguishable by their performance and bright red color schemes.
Dart Kart also gained marketplace recognition due to racing sponsorships in the early 1960s, including a USAC sprint car owned by Watson and driven by A.J. Foyt in 1960 and the car that Don Davis drove in the 1961 Indianapolis 500.

Rupp Manufacturing reached new heights in 1963 and 1964 when its karts and minibikes were supplied to Sears, which successfully sold them through the company’s widely circulated Sears Catalog.
Rupp sold Rupp Industries in the late 1970s and turned his design and entrepreneurial skills to the water. An avid sport fisherman, Rupp designed and manufactured an outrigger system that also gained rapid popularity.
Rupp Marine Inc. was formed in 1980 as demand grew for Rupp’s outrigger designs, and the company still produces sport fishing hardware sold globally from its base in Stuart, Fla.

Colts give Jonathan Taylor permission to seek trade

By ANTHONY CALHOUN
WISH-TV | wishtv.com
The Indianapolis Colts have granted All-Pro running back Jonathan Taylor permission to seek a trade, according to ESPN.
The team is seeking a first-round draft pick, or equivalent value, in return for the 24-year-old.
He has been in the midst of a contract dispute since before training camp started in late July, requesting a trade from the team after failing to agree to a contract extension.
Colts’ Owner Jim Irsay publicly rejected Taylor’s trade request late last month.
“We will not trade Jonathan Taylor,” Irsay said. “That is a certainty. Not now or not in October.”
It is unclear what caused the team’s change of heart.

Taylor spent time during camp getting treatment on his ankle away from team facilities but returned to rehab with the team last week. He remains on the physically unable to perform (PUP) list.
He also missed practice late last week due to a personal matter, which was deemed an ‘excused absence.’
The Pro Bowl RB enters the final year of his rookie contract after scoring just four touchdowns while missing six games last year for the horseshoe.
Taylor led the league in rushing in 2021 when he ran for 1,811 yards - nearly 600 more yards than the rusher in second place. He also scored 20 total touchdowns en route to an All-Pro selection.

There is no clear option for Indy behind Jonathan Taylor after backup running back Zack Moss broke his arm on the first day of training camp. Moss will miss six weeks, putting his early-season status in jeopardy.
Meanwhile, the Colts’ leading rusher over the first two preseason games has been third-string quarterback Sam Ehlinger with 70 rushing yards combined through the two weeks. The next best Colt is RB Jake Funk with 31 yards during that span.
As for the rest of the team, a trip to Philadelphia is on tap for joint practice and the final preseason game this week.
