Stars Shine at Meals on Wheels' largest fundraiser

By AMY ADAMS

The ninth annual Dancing With Our Stars benefit held last Friday at the Embassy Suites by Hilton in Noblesville succeeded in raising more than $150,000 to support Meals on Wheels of Hamilton County.

Going into the show, Area Director of Wolfpack Restaurant Group Alec Wolf knew that he had a good chance of winning the People's Choice Award based on online voting, in which each dollar donated equaled one vote.

However, performing his salsa routine to "Conga" by Gloria Estefan was another matter. Wolf had only a handful of days to rehearse with professional dancer Olga Cansino when he realized his original partner, Kristen Motz, wasn't going to be able to perform.

"Olga stepped in like a hero," said event emcee Brandon Bennett, director of Noblesville

Catching fish ... & words

child will not only be heard with his ears but with his heart. The heart chamber is full of echoes from words spoken to a child long after he is grown.

A young man told me how excited he was to go fishing as a child until ... his dad ridiculed his ability to fish. He never went fishing again. He still remembers those words and how they made him feel. Those words took the joy out of the moment. I saw the hurt in his eyes. I'm sure his dad had no idea the damage he had done. The words still echo. The hurt still hurts.

I remember walking to the car after one of my grandson's ball games. I didn't know the dad and son who walked in front of us. The dad told his son, "You should have caught that ball. You should have slid into home plate." So many you should haves and not one "atta boy." It wasn't just the words but the tone of his voice. I bit my tongue. My heart hurt for that son.

A teachable moment went awry.

I once asked my grandson, Jake, if he could hear me yelling at his baseball games from the bleachers. "Grandma, I hear you," and he smiled. He knows if Grandma Janet is in the stands, she will be yelling words of affirmation from the bottom of her heart to the top of her lungs. "Go, Jake!" because Grandma believes in you and your ability to do great things.

The power of the words of a grandma sitting in the second row of the bleachers ... both physically and in life. Who knew there was so much power in the voice of a parent or grandparent while they sit in the bleachers or walk to the parking lot? The agony of defeat goes beyond the ballfield.

You can shower a child with gifts galore, but that is not what they will remember. They will remember what you said to them ... even after they are grown - the gift of words or the curse of words.

If you want to see the existential classic that is Samuel Beckett's Waiting for Godot, you will only have four chances between Sept. 28 and Oct. 1. If you don't make it to the Hyperion Players' production at The Switch Theatre, 10029 E. 126th St, Fishers, there is no way to know how long you will have to wait for another chance.

The Reporter spoke to director Molly Bellner about how long she has been waiting to direct Godot and why she finds this fascinating enough to be worth it.

"Waiting for Godot was something that I have actually wanted to direct for the last 20 years," Bellner said. "I was slated to direct it for another theater company in 2016, but my family and I ended up moving to another state in 2015, so unfortunately that production had to be canceled. Birth, death, marriage & divorce records date back nearly 200 years

As Hamilton County proudly commemorates its Bicentennial Anniversary, it also celebrates the preservation of nearly two centuries' worth of vital records. The Hamilton County Health Department and the County Clerk's office are charged with the safekeeping of hundreds of thousands of important documents – some dating back to the 19th century when Hamilton County became a county.

"These records are like time capsules, allowing us to glimpse the lives of those who has successfully digitized Hamilton County Health Decame before us," said Kathy Williams, County Clerk and co-chair of the Hamilton County Bicentennial Commission. # County eyeing local income tax increase & homeowners' tax credit

By ADAM PINSKER WISH-TV | wishtv.com

A Hamilton County Council member says his plan to raise the county income tax and use the revenue as a credit for homeowners will benefit people struggling with high property tax bills.

Brad Beaver, Republican, said, "My real concern here is older people, retired people, fixed income. They own their house. They want to live here, and our property taxes are driving them out of their house."

The 0.25 percent income tax increase would be phased in from 2024 to 2027.

"My plan is that the county would raise their income tax to exactly match the reduction in the state income tax over a total four years," Beaver said. "When we get to the end of four years, it is about $52 (milgenerate."

Beaver says the money raised would go toward homeowners in the form of a property tax credit in addition to the Homestead Exemption tax credit, which many people living in their own homes are eligible to request.

The credit would affect every homeowner differently, pecially if their property tax is capped. However, renters would not be eligible for the tax credit.

"It is not a direct effect on them, because they are not paying property tax, and commercial buildings and rental properties don't get this (Homestead Exemption) benefit."

The Hamilton County Council has already passed this measure, but for it to take effect, at least two councils of the county's four cities - Carmel, Fishers, Noblesville and Westfield must sign off on the measure before Oct. 1.

have a certain buy-in. They have to have this sort of enjoyment of the theater and a desire to be entertained in a specific way. One of the things that we as audience members enjoy about going to the theater is to be one step ahead of the action in the play. So that's what creates dramatic tension, right? We know something that the characters don't know, so we're able to see where they're headed and where their missteps might be happening and have that one-up on the characters."

With Waiting for Godot it is the opposite. The audience cannot be a step ahead because there is nothing to be a step ahead of.

"This play is an opportunity for us as an audience to just unplug and really just be present in the moment with the action of the play because it is really, really simplistic in terms of the action," Bellner said. Bellner told The Reporter she believes this is a play that will encourage conversation after the curtain closes.

"I definitely would encourage everyone to come see the show - and I'm sure that's what everybody savs - but this is just one of those shows where I feel like anyone, no matter what your background is, even if you're not a theater person – come see it and sit with your friends afterwards and talk about it," Bellner said. Other notable performances of the evening included human resource manager and community activist Sherese Martin's crowd-pleasing cha cha to "Do What I Do" by Lady Bri with her pro partner Ed Godby-Schwab and Dr. Steven DeLee's performance with pro dancer Julia Shook as Gomez and Morticia Addams in which they never broke character, even through the judges' comments.

Layton, Beef & Boards Dinner Theatre's scenic designer of over 40 years, is retiring.

Layton's first set on the ating expenses such as rent Beef & Boards stage was for and electricity for Meals on Fiddler on the Roof in 1981 - a set that is particularly meaningful to him. "I had just finished a disappointing production of Fiddler On The Roof in San Antonio," he recalled. "I was trying out a new concept (for me) and I loved the set. However, the director and lighting designer managed to destroy the entire concept."

"And at that exact moment, Doug (Stark) and Bob (Zehr) (co-owners of Beef & Boards at the time) asked me if I would be interested in designing Fiddler here in Indy, and I suddenly had the best idea of my career. I said I would do it if I could re-create my San Antonio set and light it myself, no questions er! The best gig any designer ever had."

Beef & Boards has used staged Fiddler on the Roof since – a total of seven productions.

While Michael's design work has been an integral part of Beef & Boards productions for four decades, Growing up in Oregon side of Portland, Michael's parents thought he should be a dentist.

"So I took pre-med at the University of Oregon," he recalled. "I had appeared in a few shows in college and decided I wanted to move to New York City to be an actor. My parents were not amused."

But he took the leap, dropped out of college, and enrolled in Phillip Burton's (father of Richard Burton) The curtain is going American Musical and Dra-AMDA) in New York City.

"[In] 1968, my first year in NYC, I lived in nine apartments and had about as many jobs," Layton said. "I also ran out of money and had to drop out of school."

The following year he happened to audition for an Equity children's theatre production of The Prince and the Pauper. Because he had a friend who looked like him, they were both hired.

"They paid us all as stage managers so that we could help with scenery, costumes, etc. So all of a sudden I was an Equity stage manager. I did not understand how that would change my life!"

He learned through a friend of a dinner theatre in Chattanooga that was searching for a stage manager. "I took the job, and to help out I threw together some cardboard arches and red drapes for a comedy review."

His work caught attention, so he started learning as oration with director/choremuch as he could.

"Things grew from there and I started working at theatres that starred actors from movies and TV," he said. "Once that happened, my parents thought I was a star and forgave me for everything!"

Michael's journey would eventually lead him to that fateful production of Fiddler on the Roof in San Antonio, and the offer from Doug Stark and Bob Zehr to return to Beef & Boards, this time the location in Indianapolis.

"I saw his very creative work in a small space in the original Beef & Boards in Simpsonville, Kentucky," Stark recalled. "And his setto-space relationship was always imaginative and artistic."

Stark, whose favorite role on stage is that of Tevye in Fiddler on the Roof, also has a particular affection for Lay-ton's set for that show. "The about the whole show, and set becomes more effective each time," Stark said.

Reflecting on more than 40 years of sets, both Layton and Stark agree that the set for Mamma Mia! was one of the best.

"[It was] a great collabographer Ron Morgan and my designer friend, Russell Metheny," Layton said. "I'm not sure I have ever had more fun doing a show, not to mention it was the biggest hit in the history of the theatre." "He understands our limitations and he makes us look good," Stark said, adding of the Fiddler on the Roof and Mamma Mia!, "those two sets – you walk in and you go, 'hey, this is a Broadway set!""

Layton also has a soft spot for his Les Misérables set, which allowed Beef & Boards to achieve such a big show in its intimate space. He reflects that it was "the best use of space and gorgeous overall – who knew?" But he is quick to point out the set is only one part of a production's effectiveness. "Just because I am the set designer does not mean that I care only about the scenery," Layton said. "It's always

I have been known to shed many tears for many performances."

Still, in his 53-year career, he has designed approximately 800 shows, 330 of which have been at Beef & Boards in Indianapolis. He is quick to thank those who helped him achieve "some beautiful things. I cannot overstate my appreciation for the technical directors and shop crews who have brought all of this to life."

Looking back, his fondest memories are of "the people, of course."

"Making shows together, whether you are painting scenery or working in the office," Layton said. "Doug, Bob, and now the Stark family have been incredibly generous and supportive over all these years. I have worked with many people (backstage, onstage, upstairs, everywhere) downstairs, who are now lifelong friends. I am forever grateful."

How families can have fun on a budget Both things

can be true

Mother told me this story one day.

My relative was an old man. He had had a stroke and was confined to bed. I went to see him hoping to cheer him up a little. He already had company: his niece and her daughter and his wife's niece and her daughter. The wife was not the most diplomatic person in the world. I figured that out all by myself when I heard her ask her husband this question: did you ever see such a pretty little girl?

It was obvious that she meant her little

I thought we almost needed Solomon for that one. The old man looked from one little blonde girl to the other little blonde girl a time or two, then replied, "They're both as pretty as pictures. I can't see a nickel's worth of difference."

I think that answer cheered us all up. Mom told another story about not hurting feelings of others.

Part of the fun of going trick or treating is having people guess who you are. I learned the hard way never to guess a child with my first guess. I'd been asked to judge a rather large group of children and I was told the last three to be identified would be prizewinners.

Since only a few minutes were allowed for this, I thought I should just as rapidly as possible. One girl was well-masked, but I knew as soon as I looked at her exceptionally beautiful eyes, it had to be Susie.

She looked so crestfallen that I never again identified anyone on the first guess.

Last year, three little neighbor kids rang the doorbell. I invited him in and began guessing. They could hardly suppress their giggles. I really didn't know the girl who had driven the car, but I thought there would be plenty of time later to decide who she was. The little ones and I were only on the second or third round of guesses when their driver said, "They are your neighbor children and I'm their cousin." Then she told their names. What a spoilsport!

The moral to that is: Don't let your cousin take you Halloweening.

"This course will prepare you for a lifetime of worthwhile personal financial planning. The tools you will learn are useful, realistic, and easy to work into your regular routine. They will help you gain control over the financial impact of the choices you make. # County Councilman Mark Hall's Timesheet Timesheet. This column is a report of work done on behalf of the people of Hamilton County. It's to be informative too, a place to learn about projects and how our county government works.

As your employee, it's important to me that you know what is being worked on as transparently as possible in government. You hired me as your County Councilman, and my hope is that you'll choose to be informed by regularly reading this column, getting involved, and by asking questions. Council meetings are at 7 p.m. the first Wednesday of every month at the judicial center in downtown Noblesville. They are also available to watch online for those unable to attend in person.

Here is where my time this past month has been spent.

August simply roared by; we began the 2024 public budget meetings on Tuesday, Sept. 5 at 8:30 a.m. in the Commissioners Courtroom with almost 30 scheduled presentations for the 2024 budget. The planning for 2024 continued the morn-6. Having attended budget county budgets.

sessions in years long, interesting, and very important days. This is the culmination of countless hours of work by dozens of people.

Time month was largely consumed being immersed into County budgeting, finances, tax rates, and trend with lots of department heads. Hamilton County government services are vast; to do the job well requires a deep dive into the budget requests and getting answers to lots of questions.

When starting the budget review process, I expected some pushback ardship of taxpayer money. given the depth of examination and the number of questions. The reality has been that almost to a person, department heads have welcomed the questions, engaged in healthy dialogue, and a few even indicated that they appreciate the due diligence, my attention turned to many remarking that they large capital expenditures too are taxpayers. The pri- and examining alternatives mary job of your County Council is financial oversight for Hamilton County. With the county tax analysis. This included de- base increasing 8.7 pertailed budget discussions cent, any reoccurring expenses that increase annually beyond that percentage eventually become unsustainable. These must be scrutinized in order to properly manage reserves, our bond rating, debt, and our tax rate. The challenge becomes a balance of great services with great stew-It's walking a tightrope of sorts balancing the two.

A large amount of my time has been spent working through requested increases in personnel costs, benefits costs, and justifications for any net new county employees. Next to any proposed big investments in equipment and depreciable assets.

This process, along with statutory regulations that govern procurement, are in place to ensure value and multiple checks and balances on behalf of the taxpayers. Highway project expenses are still high, but we think that some moderation in component costs for the County's health has begun.

In addition to the County Council public meetings, August's work included attending a Cicero Town Council public meeting, meeting with rare opportunity to lower Judge Jon Brown regarding future court requirements and judge caseloads, payers money. The project is still in the idea stage and far from a success, but I'm attempting to help create a space that can serve several groups of our fellow citizens with as little public money as possible.

This is my timesheet. This is where my time went during month eight. There are quite a few projects in the queue, and while my job is primarily the financial oversight of the county budget, it is important to understand the Board of Commissioners' priorities and balance them with the stewardship of taxpayer dollars. That is the job, and I am excited to do the people's business.

As a taxpayer myself, and listening to so many of you, our employers, it's important for the taxpayers to have access to all the information you want. For you that may be mostly casual, career, uniform, and everything in between. # Cornelia Colebanks Chapter, National Society Daughters of the American Revolution celebrating Constitution Week

The REPORTER

Communities throughout the nation will be celebrating the spirit and meaning of the country's Constitution beginning Sept. 17. On this day in 1787, at Independence Hall in Philadelphia, 39 delegates at the Constitutional Convention signed the Constitution of the United States of America.

Nearly 170 years later, in 1955, DAR spearheaded an effort to set aside one week annually when Americans could celebrate this iconic signing. After petitioning Congress to set aside the week of Sept. 17 to 23, on Aug. 2, 1956, President Dwight D. Eisenhower signed Constitution Week into law.

This year, Carmel Mayor James Brainard has issued a proclamation declaring Sept. vation.

House where he met the love of his life, Nellie Elizabeth Carter (Karnes). They were married on December 22, 1962.

He received a bachelor's and master's degree from Butler and eventually earned his Doctorate in Educational Administration from Ball State. #### Steven Lee Armfield

February 26, 1952 - September 1, 2023

Steven Lee Armfield, 71, Sheridan, passed away at Wellbrooke of Kokomo on Friday morning, September 1, 2023. Born on February 26, 1952, in Noblesville, he was the son of the late Paul Herbert and Eunice Mae (Paxton) Armfield.

After graduating from Sheridan High School with the Class of 1970, Steve continued forward with his education. He earned his associate degree in agriculture from Vincennes University in 1972, followed by his Bachelor of Science in Animal Science from Purdue University in 1974.

A lifelong farmer, Steve learned the ropes from his father, studied the intricacies of the family business while at college, and returned home to master his craft. Raising and showing Hampshire hogs was a family affair. For 30 years he showed at the Indiana State Fair and anywhere else he could find to enter, which often led to him enlisting the help of his nephews. There was never a dull moment, and the memories made will be cherished. He was a proud member of the Indiana Pork Producers and the Purdue Alumni Association.

Farming may have been his passion, but serving others was the way Steve chose to live his life. For 17 years, he was a Reserve Deputy with the Hamilton County Sheriff's Department. The responsibility he felt as an officer, combined with the pride he felt for his community, made him both great at his job and a wonderful friend to the people he helped every day. He was a member of the Sheridan Rotary Club and the Sheridan Masonic Lodge F&AM 309.

Steve loved his friends and his family unconditionally; however, if you were on the wrong side of either the Green Bay Packers or Purdue football ... there might be a few issues. You always knew where you stood with Steve, especially when it came to football, but you always knew you were loved.

Steve is survived by his sister, Dorothy K. Waitt of Logansport; nephews, Kenneth Waitt (Michelle) of Cicero, and Kent Alan Waitt (Brenda) of Sheridan; four great-nieces, Kristine Chapman (Eric) of Windfall, Kayla Tobias (Jacob) of Sheridan, Kelsie McFauls (Tyler) of Fithian, Ill., and Katie Waitt of Cicero; and seven great-great-nieces and nephews, Caleb Chapman, Jake Chapman, Sammy Chapman, Chloe Chapman, Kadence Tobias, Kenzie Tobias, and Kayley Tobias.

He was preceded in death by his parents, Paul Herbert and Eunice Mae (Paxton) Armfield; and by his soul mate, his girlfriend, Carol Ann Pulley.

Masonic services were held on Wednesday evening, September 6, 2023, at Kercheval Funeral Home, 306 E. 10th St., Sheridan, with funeral services immediately following the Masonic honors. Visitation took place on Wednesday, September 6, 2023, at the funeral home, prior to services.

Steve was laid to rest on Thursday, September 7, 2023, at Crown View Cemetery in Sheridan. Steve's nephew, Kenny Waitt, officiated.

Shawn Edward Messenger December 27, 1962 – August 29, 2023

Shawn Edward Messenger, 60, Noblesville, passed away on Tuesday evening, August 29, 2023, at Ascension St. Vincent Hospital in Indianapolis. Born on December 27, 1962, in Noblesville, he was the son of John E. and Jeraldine "Jeri" Messenger, both of whom survive him.

Shawn was a 1981 graduate of Noblesville High School. Early in his career he went to work for Marsh Grocery Stores before making the move to auto sales. He got his feet wet with a few different dealerships in the area, including Hare Chevrolet, before finding himself at Andy Mohr Buick in Fishers. Always wanting to better his sales numbers and become a more effective manager, Shawn attended the NADA Dealer Academy. This helped prepare him with the tools he needed for his current position as a Sales Manager for Andy Mohr.

Shawn lived life on his own terms; he was a free spirit who loved the freedom to do what he wanted, when he wanted, and in whichever manner he chose to do it. He loved going to concerts and was fortunate to do it at a time when some of the best touring bands were still on the road. His most memorable shows were Kid Rock, KISS, and Led Zeppelin. As much as he enjoyed the energy of being at a show, he was equally excited to just float around on a boat, without a care in the world. Sometimes sports would catch his interest, especially when it came to the Colts, the Pacers, and NASCAR (but not so much after Jeff Gordon retired).

The one thing that could always focus his attention was his family. There was nobody on the planet who loved being a dad (and later a grandpa) more than Shawn. He had a gift for being able to "reach" young people, allowing him to be both a father figure and mentor to so many, outside of his own family. You can learn a lot from family, and one of the lessons Shawn took to heart was how to cook. He became the resident Grill Master, learning the tricks of the trade from his brother Jeff, who just happened to be a professional chef.

Shawn is survived by his parents, John E. and Jeraldine "Jeri" Messenger of Noblesville; two sons, Korey Messenger of Noblesville, and Derek Messenger of Westfield; grandson, Karson Messenger; sisters, Deborah L. Craig of Cookeville, Tenn., and Linda K. Riffey of Noblesville; stepsisters, Beth Green and Kelli Green-Klingerman; stepbrother, Garry Green; niece, Callie J. Craig; and nephews, Ryan Messenger, James Messenger, Dustin Messenger, Travis Riffey, and Josh Riffey.

He was preceded in death by two brothers, Kevin L. Messenger and Jeffrey A. Messenger; and by his paternal grandparents, Lee and Maple Messenger.

Services will be held at 1 p.m. on Saturday, September 9, 2023, at Kercheval Funeral Home, 306 E. 10th St., Sheridan, with visitation from 11 a.m. until the time of service. Burial will follow at Crown View Cemetery in Sheridan. Rev. V.J. Stover will be officiating.

Tom grew up in Sheridan where he graduated with the Class of 1952 from Sheridan High School. After graduation, he attended Indiana University Indianapolis Extension Center (later to become IUPUI) until he joined the Army in April of 1956. He served his country as an Army medic and was stationed in Germany where he found time to explore several parts of Europe. Upon discharge from the Army in February of 1958, he returned to Indiana where he continued his education at Butler University. He received his Bachelor of Science degree in pharmacy in 1961.

Upon graduation, he began his lifelong career as a pharmacist. His journey began at Elliott's Pharmacy in Sheridan, where he served the community until the mid-1980s. He went on to work for Kroger, and eventually Marsh Pharmacy, until he made the decision to retire at the young age of 83. He took great pride in his work, caring for his patients throughout his career the only way he knew how ... as a trusted and learned friend. The friendships that he formed with his patients and coworkers were dear to him and sustained him until the end.

Tom loved his family dearly and especially looked forward to the annual Indy 500 family get-togethers. He had fond memories of his parents' restaurant and from that grew his love of cooking for others. One was never hungry in Tom's house. He was an avid gardener and produced beautiful vegetables. More than anything, Tom enjoyed taking long car rides with his "lovely bride" Jean. He was known to drive out of state to eat a good cheeseburger or just to explore.
