Boys & Girls Club of Noblesville accepts generous book donation from ABWA & Ashlin Hadden Insurance

The REPORTER

Youth at the Boys & Girls Club of Noblesville (BGCN) have big dreams. Aspiring veterinarians, chefs, doctors, video game creators, police officers, teachers, entrepreneurs, and more flock to the Club each day to both have fun and prepare for their futures through programming focused on academic success, good character and citizenship, and active and healthy lifestyles.

(ABWA) Cardinal Crossroads Council and Ashlin Hadden Insurance invested in these future leaders by giving hundreds of donated books from ABWA's Summer Sizzler event to the Club's youth.

Club members were very excited to receive their very own books. Several kids even asked if they were allowed to keep their books "forever." BGCN is honored to have such supportive community partners as ABWA and Ashlin Hadden Insurance.

My sacred place

It's not at an altar. It's not even in a church. But the place is sacred. It is at my kitchen table.

Just a few days ago, I sat there holding my coffee cup. The coffee tasted a bit sweeter that morning. I opened my Bible to the Psalms. The scriptures I read there always seem to be a balm to my soul whenever it is weary.

That day, my soul was oh-so-weary. It had been a hard week. Some chapters of my life are challenging. That doesn't change as I get older. I have more people to pray for. I have more people to worry about. Life will always have its complications.

I prayed my morning prayer. Please, Lord, surround my family with a ring of protection. Keep the enemy away from their hearts. He seeks to destroy their hopes and dreams. He tries his best to confuse them whenever they have decisions to make. Let them feel your presence as they make their way through the day. Let them see your goodness today.

I've prayed that prayer so many times. As I read the 16th Psalm, my heart felt hugged. Tears found their way down my cheeks.

I've set the Lord always before me. Because he is at my right hand, I will not be shaken. Psalm 16:16

Not be shaken. There have been moments when life's circumstances shook me to my core. I still remember the details of those moments. The hurt still lingers.

Each time my world was shaken, I found myself sitting at my kitchen table, reading my Bible and praying ... words of lament. As my heart cried out to God to help

Sheridan High School athletic department earns three awards

By ZOSHA ROBERSON For The Reporter

In a triumphant display of sportsmanship, safety, and excellence, Sheridan High School has achieved an incredible feat by securing not one, not two, but three distinct athletic awards.

1. National Athletic Trainers' Association Safe Sports School Award

Sheridan High School earned the National Athletic Trainers' Association (NATA) Safe Sports School 1st Team award, recognizing its commitment to safety in sports. This award underscores the school's dedication to injury prevention, care, and treatment, ensuring that student-athletes are always in capable hands.

Under the vigilant guidance of Head Athletic Trainer Sandi Byle, Sheridan High School has not only met but exceeded the recommended safety standards. The school's dedication to providing safe practice and competition facilities, proper equipment maintenance, and injury prevention strategies has earned it this recognition. In addition, all of Sheridan's coaches are trained in CPR and AED usage, ensuring rapid response to emergencies during games.

The Blackhawk Athletic Ambassadors work to promote good sportsmanship throughout the school, and they take active service roles within their community.

Athletic Director Beth DeVinney expressed her gratitude, saying, "We remain committed to keeping our student-athletes safe during physical education classes, team practices, and games so they can accomplish their own goals of great competition, winning records, fair sportsmanship, and good health."

 Sheridan High School teacher Abby Williams' sense of adventure and quest to learn helped her earn the NEA Foundation Global Learning Fellowship, which will allow her to travel to Costa Rica next summer. Here she is on a previous adventure to Malta.

Sheridan teacher awarded global opportunity

By ZOSHA ROBERSON
 For The Reporter

English teacher Abby Williams is known at Sheridan High School as a learner and innovator with an adventurous spirit. These qualities led her to apply for and be selected for an opportunity to travel to South America.

Williams was recently named as a 2024 NEA Foundation Global Learning Fellow. The title comes with a year of study focused on becoming a more globally-minded educator, along with a field experience in Costa Rica next summer. She was one of 48 educators from 36 states chosen.

NEA Foundation is a nonprofit organization that strives to improve public education by advocating for policy change and providing opportunities to teachers. Williams explained that she was drawn to apply for the fellowship because she wants to directly apply what she learns to the classroom.

"I am honored and excited for this opportunity to enhance my global competency in an effort to help my students succeed," Williams said.

Williams will meet the cohort and begin the year of learning by attending the NEA Foundation Global Learning Fellowship Fall Conference on Oct. 14 and 15 in Washington, D.C. Then she will begin the program's

The culmination of the course will occur next summer when the cohort travels to Costa Rica for 10 days to learn about the country's public policies, education system, and history. While there she will also collaborate and learn with educators in the cohort from across the country.

Next school year, Williams will be able to bring her stories, experiences, and knowledge to her students. Superintendent Dave Mundy praised Williams' commitment to learning.

Westfield Chamber holds ribbon cutting for first American Bank of Freedom in Indiana

By AMY ADAMS
news@readthereporter.com

Westfield Chamber of Commerce partners, community leaders, bank staff, and customers gathered last Wednesday for a ceremony at 14611 N. Gray Road in the Bridgewater Marketplace Shopping Center for the ribbon cutting of the first Indiana branch of American Bank of Freedom.

Courtney Albright, director of partner and member engagement for the Westfield Chamber, welcomed everyone to the event. Westfield Chamber of Commerce Board Chair Steve Rupp introduced American Bank President and CEO Tim Nash who traveled from Missouri for the grand opening.

Nash spoke about the history of the bank which goes back to 1880 as the American Bank of Missouri and has eight branches in Missouri. The bank operates as American Bank of Freedom at its location in Rochester, Ill., near Springfield, and now in Westfield.

He also spoke of the future of the bank and how it fits the Westfield community as it is also growing quickly.

"We close about $350 million a year," Nash said. "And we will close even more now that we are in Westfield."

According to the U.S. Census Bureau, Westfield is the sixth-fastest-growing city in the nation and the fastest growing city in Indiana, and it was the only Midwestern city to appear in the Top 15. In addition to area growth, the central location will allow the bank to meet the needs of customers from Noblesville and Carmel, as well.

Mayor-elect Scott Willis said he is looking forward to American Bank of Freedom being a part of the Westfield community. As a former U.S. Marine colonel, Willis also expressed his love for the bank's colors of red, white, and blue and showed off his socks that matched the decor, saying that he wears patriotic socks every day.

American Bank of Freedom Regional President for Indiana Peter Dunbar and his staff cut the ribbon on the new bank branch, located at 14611 N. Gray Road.

Regional President Peter Dunbar will lead all aspects of American Bank of Freedom for the Indiana market.

"This community has just welcomed us," Dunbar said. "Everyone has been positive and proactive. They want businesses here. I can't say that for every community where I've been, but they do, they want business to be successful."

Dunbar has 35 years of leadership experience in commercial banking and wealth management in Chicago and Miami as well as in Indianapolis.

Born and raised in Terre Haute, Dunbar and his family moved back to the state in 2007.

"After a couple of decades of living away, we thought Indiana would be a great place to raise our children," Dunbar said.

Dunbar is part of the Hamilton County Leadership Academy Class of 2024 and is on the Booth Tarkington Civic Theatre Board of Directors. He is also involved with the IU Student Foundation, Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity, and Holy Trinity Greek Orthodox Cathedral in Carmel.

American Bank of Freedom Branch Manager John Whitaker and Assistant Manager Beth Michalak welcomed the community into the new bank.

"For me, to be able to live and work in my community and offer real value to the people here is fantastic," Dunbar said.

Branch Manager John Whitaker comes from Forum Credit Union in Westfield and has more than 10 years of banking experience. Assistant Branch Manager Beth Michalak worked with Chase Bank for about five years before taking a year off to work in the floral industry. They both say they are excited to help launch a new bank branch.

me have the strength to face whatever tomorrow would bring, I drew closer to God.

I felt His presence that morning.

When I read the words, I will not be shaken, I didn't think about being physically shaken. I thought about my faith not being shaken.

Life is hard. Then, it gets harder. Life is unfair at times.

Yet ... I love the word, yet. God is in the midst of the hard times. He is the God of Redemption. He brings beauty from ashes.

I've seen the hand of God working in my life so many times. My Bible tells me, not just in scripture, but in the margins where I have written dates and what was going on in my life.

You see, I have a history with God. He continues to write my story. Even the hard parts will find redemption. They always have ... eventually. Maybe not the way I planned or prayed for them to be, but redemption was found.

And as my favorite Christian writer, Lysa TerKeurst, says, "Your story will not be wasted."

I will not be shaken in my faith. My story will not be wasted.

I will continue to sit at my kitchen table, where I read my Bible and tell God of my hurt and worries. I picture Him sitting across from me as I pray my messy prayers. He sits with me in my messiness.

I have a good view from my kitchen table. My heart sees things differently there. That table is my altar, and my kitchen is my sacred place ... God will always meet me there.

State Rep. Garcia Wilburn seeks interns for 2024 legislative session

The REPORTER

State Rep. Victoria Garcia Wilburn (D-Fishers) invites college students and recent college graduates to apply for internships with the Indiana House Democratic Caucus.

The internships will span the upcoming legislative session running from January through March 2024 and take place in Indianapolis at the Indiana Statehouse.

Interested candidates may apply for internships focused on constituent services, fiscal analysis, graphic and print design, the Indiana Black Legislative Caucus, media relations, and policy and legislative research. Interns will receive a biweekly stipend of $900 and the chance to earn academic credit (dependent on each intern's college). This is a full-time internship of 37.5 hours per week.

"Interns are a valuable part of my office and bring a fresh perspective to addressing constituent concerns," Rep. Garcia Wilburn said.

No specific major is required for this internship. Students must be at least a sophomore. Applications will be accepted through Oct. 31, with a priority deadline of Oct. 15. More information and a link to apply can be found at tinyurl.com/INDemsInterns.

SCHOLARSHIPS

and students can apply for a Career Scholarship Account until the Oct. 1 deadline.

"We know that Hoosiers need a credential beyond a high school diploma, like a certificate or degree, to succeed in today's competitive workforce," Goodrich said. "These new scholarships are a gamechanger for our students and can help pay for experiences that are key to helping them identify a career path and develop in-demand skills."

State Rep. Donna Schaibley (R-Carmel) said Career Scholarship Accounts are available to high school students who are enrolled in a course or educational experience approved by the Indiana Department of Education. Eligible students may also be enrolled in an apprenticeship, applied learning experience, work-based learning and/or credential attainment experience approved by the Indiana Commission for Higher Education.

SHERIDAN

2. IHSAA Sportsmanship School Award

Sheridan High School has proven its dedication to sportsmanship by earning the IHSAA Sportsmanship School Award. This honor reflects the school's commitment to fostering a positive and respectful athletic environment.

Sheridan received 113 out of 100 points to secure this award. This score considers service and leadership activities, as well as attendance at IHSAA meetings. SHS was just one of only 11 schools to receive this honor out of 411 schools.

"It is our goal to create a culture of excellence at Sheridan in organization, compliance, dedication, and fun not only for our students but for our entire community," DeVinney said.

The Blackhawk Athletic Ambassadors, a group of students elected by coaches, have played a pivotal role in promoting sportsmanship within the school. They have been actively involved in leadership development, service work at the Humane Society of Hamilton County Collection, and organizing events such as the Homecoming Pep Rally. Their contributions have been invaluable in upholding the school's commitment to sportsmanship.

Approved students will receive $5,000 over four disbursements and can use the money toward certain qualified expenses:

- Expenses to enroll in and attend sequences, courses, apprenticeships, or programs of study;
- Career coaching and navigation services;
- Postsecondary education and training;

3. Quality Program Assessment - Exemplary Award (QPA)

Sheridan High School's dedication to excellence in its athletic programs has been recognized with the Quality Program Assessment (QPA) Exemplary Award. This recognition reflects the school's commitment to maintaining the highest standards of athletic excellence.

tion and training;

- Transportation and equipment;
- Certification and credentialing examinations; and
- Any other expenses approved by the Treasurer of the State.

According to State Rep. Jerry Torr (R-Carmel), approved courses and classes, which are listed on the online application, can be in accounting, cybersecurity, information technology, software development, veterinary science and more.

"Hoosier employers are struggling to find qualified workers for high-paying jobs that require additional training," Torr said. "Providing our students with more opportunities to learn about career options and explore them is critical to their success, and it's equally important to today's job providers."

The State Board of Education is also reviewing high school diploma requirements to provide more flexibility in a student's schedule, so they can pursue work-based learning and apprenticeship experiences.

"Creating opportunities for high school students to explore career fields and gain valuable hands-on experience is a commonsense approach toward making their education more relevant and beneficial," said State Rep. Chris Jeter (R-Fishers). "This much-needed collaboration between schools and employers will help young Hoosiers identify and pursue their interests early on."

Exemplary Award. This recognition reflects the school's commitment to maintaining the highest standards of athletic excellence.

The QPA Exemplary Award is not easily earned. An applicant must be a member in good standing with the NIAAA and the State Athletic Administrator Association and earn 80 percent of available points in each of the 10 categories on the application.

Sheridan High School's achievement of the QPA Exemplary Award underscores its commitment to the educational value of its athletic programs, long-term strategic planning, continuous improvement, and professional recognition at both national and state levels.

Sheridan High School's

exceptional success in securing three different athletic awards serves as a shining example not only to its students but to the entire community. It showcases the school's dedication to excellence, safety, sportsmanship, and community involvement, making it a role model for high schools across the nation.

"I am so proud of the work of Athletic Director Beth DeVinney, Head Athletic Trainer Sandi Byle, and especially our students, parents, and fans for the outstanding accomplishments," Superintendent Dave Mundy said. "These are three prestigious awards and represent the standards of our entire community. They all stand as an example of what Sheridan Schools represent."

Women veterans deserve a Chair of Honor

By AMY ADAMS
news@readthereporter.com

Though women have served since the American Revolution, it wasn't until 1923 that the National Home for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers, the predecessor to the VA, first approved hospital space for women veterans. Richard L. Roudebush Veterans Administration Medical Center commemorated this milestone on Thursday, Sept. 14, celebrating 100 years to the day of health care for women veterans.

Westfield furniture maker Roy Adams, retired Army lieutenant colonel and director of the nonprofit Chairs of Honor, presented a rocking chair handcrafted from Indiana hardwoods.

"Chairs of Honor exists for two reasons," Adams said. "It exists to preserve the art of chairmaking. But, more importantly, it exists to preserve the stories of veterans."

With craftsmen in Indiana, Kentucky, Minnesota, Colorado, and Maine, Chairs of Honor craftsmen build and present individually funded chairs to veterans, record their personal stories of service, and attach video digitally to the chairs for families and for future generations.

"This chair is different," Adams said. "It represents a history. There are stories upon stories in this gathering today. I encourage you to sit down, hold up your phone, and share your story with us so that your stories will not be lost."

The rocking chair will be on display in the atrium of the VA medical center for women veterans to do just that.

"As a woman veteran and as an advocate, I see that chair as representative of how women are being given a seat at the table," said Lisa Wilken, an Air Force veteran from Westfield and a board member of Indiana Veterans Support Council.

Roudebush VA Medical Center Director Michael Hershman spoke at the ceremony about the history of women's healthcare in the military. Despite progress, it wasn't until 1992 that gender-specific services such as pap smears, breast exams, and birth control became available through the VA. The National Maternity Care Coordination Program was not established within the VA until 2012.

Two years ago, Dr. Christie Lodics was selected to fill the role of Women Veteran Program Manager in Indianapolis.

"In two years, we have taken it from a single role to an entire department with four employees, and we are about to hire another," Lodics said.

Now, the VA in Indianapolis has a fully staffed gynecological clinic offering reproductive health care services for women veterans including contraception, maternity care, and fertility treatment. The clinic has a separate waiting room, providing a feeling of security for women with PTSD and MST (Military Sexual Trauma). The medical center has streamlined the process for pap smears and mammograms and even has plans to open an after-hours clinic once a month. In addition to these services, the Women Veteran Program has hosted 52 outreach events to make women veterans aware of the benefits available to them, such as no-cost childbirth. Now other VA facilities are looking to replicate what Lodics and her staff are doing here.

Sheila Corcoran, the first female Commander of the Indiana Department of Veterans of Foreign Wars, served as guest speaker for the event.

Corcoran compared how she felt coming home from deployment in Iraq to how a lot of people felt during the COVID-19 shut down.

"The VA really helped me get over my isolation and anger as did the VFW," she said.

Corcoran retired from the Army Reserve after 24 years of service and has been receiving the majority of her health care from the VA for about 15 years.

"When I first started, you hardly saw any female patients here," Corcoran said. "Now there is an entire female clinic."

Kiyaana Anderson, an Air Force veteran and VA employee, talked about how women veterans have paved the way for the improvements she has seen in women's care at the VA over the past few years and encouraged other women to speak up.

"As female veterans, we have to come to the table with solutions," Anderson said. "So share your story, good, bad, or indifferent."

Over 33,000 women veterans reside in Indiana. Yet many concur that they often don't receive the recognition they deserve. The next time you see a woman get out of a vehicle with a veteran sticker, don't be too quick to assume she is the spouse of a veteran and offer her the honor she deserves.

For appointments at Richard L. Roudebush VA Medical Center, call (317) 554-0000. If you have questions about the VHA Women Veteran Program, reach out to Dr. Christie Lodics at Christie.Lodics@va.gov or call her at (317) 459-0521.

Westfield Lions Club kicks off its annual Dictionary Project

784 third graders to get their own dictionaries

Submitted

Last Thursday, the Westfield Lions Club completed the delivery of 114 dictionaries to the Oak Trace Elementary School third graders. It was the third of six stops the Lions will make to deliver Webster dictionaries to all the third graders in the Westfield Washington school system.

This is the 10th year the Westfield club has participated in the "Dictionary Project" — a nationwide effort to distribute free dictionaries to third-grade students. The Dictionary Project was started in Georgia in 1992 and since then almost 36 million children all over the U.S. have received dictionaries. The program has been adopted and refined by individuals, businesses, and civic organizations all over the country, including the Westfield Lions Club.

The Westfield Lions Club purchases the dictionaries from the Dictionary Project and then schedules deliveries with each of the elementary school principals. The Lions have been well received by the students, teachers, and principals.

"It's a lot of fun for us Lions to visit with all of these third graders and give them a little background on what the Lions Club is all about," said Lion Jeff Larrison, who serves as the chairman of their Dictionary Project. "Some of the students have heard about us and our programs or have been to our clubhouse for an event. And it makes our day to see how excited they get when they find out they each are getting their very own dictionaries."

Larrison said that over the past 10 years, the club has presented more than 6,300 dictionaries to Westfield third graders.

"Now that we've been at this for a while, we're getting recognized by kids and families when they see us out in public in our Lions Club shirts," Larrison said. "A lot of times we'll hear them tell their parents that we're the 'book guys.'"

The 50th annual Atlanta New Earth Festival went off with a bang! In addition to the over 600 vendors and tens of thousands of visitors, last Saturday night's fireworks show sponsored by Duke Energy was an incredible sight. We're sure the proximity of the festival itself and this fireworks display to Atlanta Clerk Treasurer Jennifer Farley's birthday is purely coincidental . . . right? Student Impact cuts ribbon on newly expanded space

news@readtheporter.com

Student Impact of Westfield held an open house and ribbon cutting last Wednesday for its newly updated and expanded facility at 536 N. Union St., which is within walking distance of Westfield High School, Westfield Middle School, and Westfield Intermediate School.

Dan Ventling began Student Impact in 1999 because there wasn't a central place for youth in Westfield to go after school for support, encouragement, and fun. He started with six kids and a mission to help them build relationships through love and acceptance in a safe and consistent environment.

Last year, Student Impact served 700 young people in a space originally built as a three-bedroom house.

"Kids are finding loneliness at volumes and levels that you can't fathom," Student Impact Executive Director Danyele Easterhaus said. "But we had gotten to the point that we were having to limit the number of kids because of space."

Student Impact has always been funded by the community. So, in January of 2023, the organization began fundraising for the renovation and expansion of the existing space.

Work began in May for the $550,000 build-out. On Sept. 8, Easterhaus picked up keys to a beautiful facility providing double the amount of indoor space, including a renovated original structure, finished garage, and two-story addition of roughly 2,500 square feet called The Rock.

"It is twice as good as what we imagined," Mayor-elect Scott Willis said.

Even with the expansion, the half-acre lot still provides enough space for a large backyard with a basketball goal and fire pit, with plenty of room for kids to hang out and play games.

Easterhaus said community businesses provided in-kind donations valued at $330,000.

According to Executive Program Director Brittany Delph, Heartland Growers donated all the plants for landscaping. Lowe's helped with landscape installation and painting. Chad Huff, owner of CSI Signs, created the custom signage.

"This has been a long time coming," said Westfield Chamber of Commerce Board Chair Steve Rupp. "It wouldn't have happened without the help of people and businesses in the community."

After time for guests to tour the facility, Chamber Director of Partner and Member Engagement Courtney Albright welcomed everyone.

Rupp introduced Easterhaus as the "absolute best leader" for Student Impact.

IMPD mistake causes Noblesville police to pull over & handcuff wrong woman

By ADAM PINSKER
WISH-TV | wish.tv.com

The Noblesville Police Department (NPD) says a mistake in a national crime data reporting system caused officers to pull over the wrong vehicle.

It happened Sept. 12 after Noblesville Police picked up a "be on lookout" (BOLO) for a stolen vehicle out of Indianapolis. Officers stopped a vehicle matching the description near Campus Parkway and Interstate 69.

A woman and her child were taken out of the car, and the woman was placed in handcuffs.

"During that conversation after we controlled the scene, stopped everything that was going on – it was during that discussion, we realized the information that was put into the computer must have been wrong because we had the rightful owner of that vehicle with us," NPD Lt. Bruce Barnes said.

When a police agency, in this case, the Indianapolis Metropolitan Police Thanks a lot, Piano Man!

Awhile back, I was pulled over for speeding. I try to be accountable for my actions, but this time, it really wasn't my fault. Well, maybe it was. I made bad choices and got busted. That's really all there is to it.

Parents, teachers, and preachers have warned us all for years about the dangers of peer pressure and loud rock-n-roll. I should have listened. And looking back, I'm still shocked my own kids were such bad influences on me that night.

What got me in trouble with the law that night involves Billy Joel's 1973 hit, "Piano Man." That classic most of us know and can sing along to, even if we can't carry a tune in a bucket. Well, my kids liked Billy Joel, and songs of his that told a story, like "We Didn't Start the Fire" and "Piano Man" were favorites they quickly memorized.

They had a little confusion about the lyrics at first, wanting to know things like, "Why do they put bread in his jar?"

Somewhere along the way, we'd started belting out Piano Man's last verse: "AND THE PIANO SOUNDS LIKE A CARNIVAL..." We'd sing it loudly, wherever we were. Waiting at the stoplight? Go ahead, let 'em stare. If they're any fun, they'll sing with us.

But, like they say, it's all fun and games until someone ends up with a moving violation. Okay, maybe they don't say exactly that. And how hard is it to sing loudly and obey speed limits? Well...

On that fateful night, I'd become lost in the moment. (Oddly enough, it was about 9 o'clock on a Saturday). I was driving a new Toyota that handled like a dream. A smooth ride, so easy to glide along. It was as if I was hardly moving.

The whole family was along, kids buckled safely in the back. Our tunes played at a nice, reasonable volume. All was well. But then, Piano Man began. "Turn it up Mom!" The kids begged over the harmonica intro. They started to sing. "Louder!" I complied.

We sang and swayed in karaoke fashion as we toiled down the highway. The kids giggled in anticipation as our verse came closer. (The manager gave him a smile...). Then, the music swelled and we belted it out: "And the piano sounds like a carnival!" Loudly. We drowned Joel's vocals out completely. It was probably our best performance yet. I glanced in the rear-view mirror to smile and throw high-fives at my laughing daughters. That's when I saw the flashing lights of the state trooper's car.

"So," the officer asked as he peered inside. "Why were you speeding?"

(Big sigh) I hesitated. Would it sound like a smart aleck made-up story if I told him the truth? I could only imagine how many bizarre excuses he'd heard over the years, tucked in between the usual "late for work, having a baby, the breakfast menu ends at 10." I exhaled and went for it. "You know that song, 'Piano Man'?"

In this case, the truth set me free. Big thanks to that state trooper, wherever he may be, for listening to my ridiculous-but-honest story and letting me off with a just a warning. My girls are young women now, but we still belt out that last verse together. Even if I'm behind the wheel.

But I've learned from my mistake. Now, if "Piano Man" plays, I set the cruise control.

Reducing the mental load: home maintenance, repair & upkeep

We're moving on from how to lighten your mental load in finances to another area of our homes – home maintenance, repair, and upkeep. This column topic could almost be a book!

You could take some drastic measures to help reduce the mental labor of home ownership by buying or downsizing to a smaller home. Or you could live in a condominium where you pay for someone else to handle all outdoor upkeep and maintenance.

Another option is a tiny home, which reduces both physical and mental labor – a big reason for this trend. If you do choose one of these options, you'll drastically reduce your mental load with homeownership. But tiny homes may not be viable for a lot of people.

Repairing, maintaining, and

AMY SHANKLAND

taking care of a home involves a multitude of monthly, seasonal, and yearly tasks. Most of these you can do yourself, but some involve paying a professional. For this mental load, and many others we will talk about later in this series, I highly recommend a checklist.

I adore checklists! I use them in my grant consulting business to help break down the many components of large applications. Turns out they're useful in both business and in the home.

The site lifeoptimizer.org (how's that for a great name that relates to what we're talking about?) says the reason why checklists are good is simple – without them, it's easy for us to forget things. Don't we know that too well when we refer to mental labor?

The site goes on to say that besides helping you do your task correctly every time, other benefits of using a checklist include:

1. Saving your brain power for more creative things. Since you don't have to remember all the steps you need to take, you can use your brain for something more creative. That's one goal we can reach after reducing the mental load!

2. Saving time. You eliminate having to remember the steps, so you can devote the entire time on doing the task. Hallelujah! Less stuff to keep track of.

3. You can delegate more easily. If you ever want to delegate a task, your checklist will make it easier for you to hand it over. Delegation is another wonderful tool we will refer to often. By giving the checklist to the person you delegate to you can describe exactly what you want.

I found numerous checklists available online to help you keep track of your monthly, seasonal, and yearly home maintenance tasks. The site prudentreviews.com, which was created specifically to help make life easier for homeowners, offers an excellent one.

Once you have your checklist, I recommend automating as many tasks as possible. My furnace and air-conditioning maintenance man sends us a postcard every fall and spring as a reminder to schedule our yearly furnace and air conditioner tune up. I receive an email reminder every year when it's time to tune our piano.

For companies that don't send notices, I like to schedule an automatic yearly reminder in Outlook for other maintenance tasks.

The night when lightning struck

September has always been a special month for my husband and me.

My favorite September was in 2011. I was 23 years old working as a second-year teacher in the same school that I currently teach. I had a terrible day and was really burnt out and just wanted to go home. My friend and I went to my favorite Mexican restaurant after school and one margarita later, we ran into another friend who made me forget everything about my terrible, horrible, no good, very bad day. It was decided that we were going to go out that evening with a guy that my teaching partner was dating at a bar on the east side of Indianapolis. Spoiler alert: she ended up marrying and having two kids with the guy, but that's a few years down the road from this story.

Several hours later, we rolled up to a local east side dive bar. I was not an eastsider, so to me it was just a neighborhood dive bar that seemed to have a lot of regulars in an area I was not familiar with. My friend's boyfriend had mentioned that he had a friend who was single. After we arrived at the bar, he sent his friend a text message saying I was also there.

Being someone who drinks red wine, I was a bit surprised when I went to order a glass and they only had mini bottles in little four-packs – if that gives the reader any idea of the amount of wine sold at this establishment. The wine glass looked like it might have not been used once the entire calendar year. It was more of a darts and beer sort of place and not a wine bar with charcuterie offerings. I had on a casual black dress and a green cardigan sweater.

MEGAN RATHZ
When Nature Speaks

I don't remember seeing Tim walk into the bar, but I remember looking up and he was standing and talking to my friend's boyfriend. I remember making eye contact with him and wondering when we were going to be formally introduced because I wanted to talk to him. He had on a gray Colts quarter-zip sweatshirt and jeans with an IU baseball cap. I was immediately taken by him.

When we finally talked, he asked me what I was drinking so he could order me one. I think he must have gotten a kick out of this northside girl coming to a bar that he not only had been going to for many years, but also where he was at one point a bartender, so he knew that red wine was not exactly a weekly special at this place. We talked all night, and as I was about to leave, he asked if he could have my number.

The next weekend, he came to pick me up at my mom's house. Normally, I would have suggested that we meet at the place we were going just in case he was Jeffrey Dahmer, but I just knew that he wasn't. Plus I had people who had known him since he was a kid and could verify he had not murdered anyone. I still remember glancing over at him on the drive into Broad Ripple and noticing his lip was sweating. I thought it was so cute that he was actually nervous to be around me. I loved it when he smiled.

He picked me up and took me to Mama Corolla's, the best Italian restaurant in Indianapolis. I think after making the trek down to the east side, he knew he wanted to take me somewhere nicer than the place we met.

We had the loveliest dinner and talked all night. I think I just kind of knew that it was going to work out with him because when you know, you know.

We had about a 45-minute wait for our table, which I was excited about because it was just more time we could talk. He asked me what I wanted to drink, and I told him to order me a glass of house merlot. We took our wine out to the front courtyard area and sat in chairs for our table getting to know each other. We took up our table way too long and talked the entire night. On the stroll back to the car, he mentioned wanting to go out again. I was so excited because I figured he must've had as good of a time as I had if he was thinking about seeing me again. The night ended with a kiss and the rest is really history for the two of us.

The following September 16, he took me to various spots from our first year of dating and gave me a purple rose at each location. It ended on the canal in downtown Indianapolis where he proposed to me.

Here's the text message from our friend on the night my future husband and I met.

This September marks 12 years since we met.

I remember when I was little hearing my parents talk about a scene in The Godfather where it is described as a lightning strike when one meets their soulmate. When you know you've found yours, it's undeniable. I don't know when exactly the lightning struck. It could have been that night we met at the bar, the car ride to dinner, or maybe even when we were sitting out on the chairs talking before our first date, but it struck and I'm more in love with him every single day.

do for Student Impact but for the city of Westfield," Rupp said.

Easterhaus recognized Delph, Student Life Manager Emily Horkay, Youth Advocate Lead Dom Hackman, and Youth Advocates Mac Whitesell, Trinity Bocklage, and Jaden Bocklage.

"There are so many people who need to be thanked," she said. "The only way we can do this is with many hands."

She went on to introduce Willis who has served on the board for over two years and has helped with cleanup on the property for longer than that.

"It takes a village," Willis said.

In addition to clapping for all the staff members, supporters, vendors, and students, the crowd even gave a round of applause for the next-door neighbors.

The kids who attended the ribbon cutting were excited to see the new and improved space for the first time. One student was already taking advantage of the gaming room, which is part of the addition since Student Impact does not offer Wi-Fi to the youth and discourages phone use.

The first official day for WMS and WHS students will be Monday, Sept. 25, from 3:40 to 5:30 p.m., and the first day for WIS students will be Tuesday, Sept. 26, from 3:45 to 5 p.m. Starting on Wednesday, Oct. 4, from 8 to 9 a.m., students can enjoy a pancake breakfast every first and third week.

Visit TheRockWestfield.org to learn more about Student Impact, to register a student, and to find out how you can support the youth of Westfield.

Hoosier innovation should power Indiana's economic development strategy

For the future of Indiana's economy, innovation and entrepreneurial risk-taking will drive our growth and prosperity. Multiple studies show that new, small businesses under five years old have created 100 percent of net new jobs in the United States since the 1970s.

Meanwhile, Indiana's economic development strategy heavily relies on paying large, established corporations to create jobs here. While this strategy is often initially successful, these jobs usually last until those companies consume our cheap utilities, labor, and government subsidies. Then they ask for more government support or they move to another state or country.

Where do those incentive dollars wind up? In the pockets of the corporate shareholders on Wall Street, not Main Street.

What does this all mean? Five, maybe 10 counties benefit from the state's investments, while the other 82 must fend for themselves. It is a broken, unbalanced, and short-sighted strategy. A third of our state lives in communities with a population under 30,000 – places that should always be great to live, work, and raise a family. For Indiana to reach its potential, we need a new approach to economic development that treats all 92 counties as communities of opportunity and attracts and retains talent across our regions and small towns.

As I travel the state running for Governor, I have found this isn't a problem that the federal government can or will solve. There's too much gridlock and dysfunction coming from Washington, D.C.

We have to do this on our own.

It's time for a new, innovative, and comprehensive economic development playbook for Indiana.

That's why we've proposed my Indiana Main Street Initiative to reclaim our historic downtowns, restore community pride, enhance small business formation, and stimulate economic and population growth for small town Indiana. For the first time in our state's history, the Indiana Main Street Initiative lays out an economic development plan and playbook for the 2.7 million Hoosiers living in our small towns with 30,000 people or less. I wrote this plan because I believe Hoosiers are the solution. We need even more innovative and self-reliant Hoosiers to step in and build businesses, large and small.

Recently, I visited ReElement Technologies, a company that embodies Hoosier innovation. This Fishers-based company is transforming the electrification industry by refining critical battery minerals and rare earth elements from yesterday's gadgets. Using research from Purdue University, ReElement Technologies exemplifies the potential of Indiana entrepreneurship.

At the heart of this success story is the transformation of the RCA Thomson plant in Marion, where ReElement Technologies plans to invest and grow. Once a symbol of a bygone era in manufacturing, the revitalization of this facility showcases the power of innovative thinking and strategic collaboration. Instead of a shuttered factory, ReElement Technologies saw an opportunity to repurpose this facility for its critical battery mineral refining operations.

Indiana innovators have a record of changing the script for future economic development by adapting Purdue's cutting-edge technology for the purification of the elements needed for everything from power tools to F-35 jets. As your next Governor, we will unleash the power of Hoosier-built, transformative innovation and breathe new life into communities across the state, many of which are devastated by deindustrialization. We will prioritize policies that fuel new job growth from inside Indiana by supporting startups and introducing cutting-edge industries to our state.

By harnessing the power of Hoosier innovation in our regions and revitalizing our Main Streets, we will position Indiana as a leader in the global marketplace and pursue economic growth that benefits all 92 counties.

Don't wear your pajamas in public

Darn it

"You might as well like yourself. Just think about all the time you're going to have to spend with you. And if you don't think too much of yourself, how do you expect others to?" – Jerry Lewis as Prof. Kelp in "The Nutty Professor," 1963

SHARON McMAHON

as it appears to their physical attributes or fitness levels.

In working with clients as a fitness instructor and nutrition/wellness consultant, I have learned that most women seem to have an "ideal" that they have formulated over the years and often feel "less than" if they have not achieved that. And, frankly, I see this played out as I observe my friends, family, and random strangers I see in the grocery store. It can happen at every age but more so as we enter our middle years and beyond that we "give up" and don't feel it is helpful or important to work on our fitness level, our healthy eating plan (not a DIET!) and our mode of dress.

When we give up on self-improvement the results are apparent to others, yes, but most importantly to ourselves – and as the quote above indicates – think of all the time you get to spend with you! How we present ourselves in public reflects our own view of how we see ourselves. And how we think is likely to be reflected in how we feel, how we look, and most importantly our emotional and physical health. Age is not a factor; self-improvement is not just for the young!

Using myself as an example, as a teenager and young adult I was very active and within my prescribed weight for my height. Moving forward, maintenance becomes important! Flexibility for coordination and balance, weight training for toned muscles, and aerobic conditioning for heart and lungs are all needed on a regular basis particularly as we age.

While I have always been a vegetarian, as a young person I was not careful about balancing my eating for nutritional purposes, and I have always enjoyed dairy products and sweets. Although I do still sometimes enjoy those latter items, I do so only in moderation and work to make sure I am balancing with protein and complex carbohydrates as well as vitamin supplementation.

Now – the last point of the top three issues, i.e., fitness, eating plan and mode of dress, please hear me out. Men and women PLEASE do not wear your pajamas in public! Sigh. Most often the way we present ourselves by our chosen mode of apparel sends a message to others and most importantly to us regarding the way we perceive ourselves. There are ways to present ourselves – dressed – which fit whatever our style may be: casual, professional, trendy, etc. that do not include sleepwear as streetwear. Clean, fitted, stylish, and appropriate attire does not mean expensive wear. There are options for any budget.

I can guarantee that if you truly want to be the best YOU, to feel good, be healthy, and look great, just move your body finding some activity that you enjoy that will also give you the rewards you deserve. Enjoy your occasional treats but provide your body with the energy and nutrition it deserves.

Finally, leave the lounge-wear at home and present yourself looking your best. You won't regret it!

My parents went through the Great Depression and were very conservative. They told this story about their friend.

Mary Catherine invited us to an afternoon party. She knew we had a morning event that day and also an evening banquet. "Just bring your clothes along. You can change at my house," she said. "Just go upstairs and use any room you want to," she said when it was time to freshen up. Any room! Four doors stood open. Each one was a bedroom more beautiful than the one before. Another door opened into a large bathroom.

Mary Catherine had a dishwasher. They were still rare in private homes. And Mary Catherine's carpet! She's spent a whole year's salary to carpet two (yes, two) rooms. Her husband had a good job, they lived on a large farm, so M.C.'s paycheck was cream. They traveled a lot and brought home fabulous souvenirs.

But mention children and Mary Catherine's eyes filled with tears and her husband's face would cloud up. We had two healthy, intelligent preschoolers. I never mentioned children after I learned their situation. This was back in the days when children were treasures from God, not something to prevent or abort.

It was obvious there was plenty of money around. M.C. told me once how her parents started on a shoestring and eventually were quite successful. One day it happened that we needed to stop at the parents' home. It was an imposing structure but there was no parking along the street. Their driveway was behind the house, so we went through a paved alley to the drive. Thinking it would not be proper for me to go to the back door, I was following a cement walk toward the front when I came to a side door.

Why not use it? I rang the bell and while waiting for an answer, I made what seemed to me a strange observation: the door curtain was darned. Not once. Not twice. Several times.

Many evenings I darned socks, trying to keep the repairs smooth and even so little feet or big feet would not get blisters. Overalls were worthy of at least two patches – large ones to cover the front of each leg. A work shirt would rate a few patches. Any ripped hem deserved to be mended. Safety pins were a no-no if a button could be replaced. But darn the curtains? Well, maybe if the darn could be hidden by a fold. Not all of these darned could be covered in the folds.

I rang the bell again but no one came, so I went back to the car thinking about the darns. Back in the "shoestring" days darns had probably been a necessity. Now in more affluent times they were still practical. The old adage came to mind. A penny saved is a penny earned. Waste not, want not. We live in a throw-away age. It is easier to dispose than mend or reuse. The bread wrapper no longer wraps tomorrow's sandwich or polishes the range top.

Like the lady who darned the door curtain, I find old habits hard to break. Bread wrappers are plastic, but a slightly used paper napkin can wipe a stove. A vacuum cleaner bag can do duty more than once. (At three for $1.89 I don't find it too difficult to open the bottom carefully, shake the dirt into the trash, and tape it shut with masking tape.) The best casserole I ever made was a medley of leftovers.

The variety of second – even third – uses is endless, cheap, and often more interesting than first uses. Yes, the pennies still add up. And Galli-oomph bugs are still fun!

Mom would cut a salt box in half and stretch a rubber band through an empty thread spool. When the spool was wound tight and the "bug" was put on the floor it would move. A free toy.

Ambition & talent shine in Westfield's production of Sweeney Todd this month

Main Street Productions opens the 2023-24 season with a challenging offering, Sweeney Todd – The Demon Barber of Fleet Street, presented at their Basile Westfield Playhouse venue.

For those of you unfamiliar with the Sweeney Todd tale – it is an old one. The character of the deadly barber who murders his clients first appeared in a story titled The String of Pearls: A Romance in the late 1840s. It has been continuously adapted and reworked as plays, a melodrama and a 1936 film, finally evolving into the dynamic groundbreaking work by Sondheim in 1979.

Andrea Odle deftly directs the fine cast, with musical direction by Laura Hicks and choreography by assistant-director Amber Shatto. The action is staged on a wide set designed by Jay Ganz, lit by Clay Howard, and costumes are by Karen Webster-Cones. Tessa Gibbons does the makeup design.

The cast is filled with stunning vocal talent. Mike Lipphardt soars as Sweeney Todd, bringing a masterful interpretation to the vengeful man, mixing his sullen and dangerous personae with a strong righteousness. Claire Slaven's Mrs. Lovett is well-crafted and endearing, even as she concocts her meaty pies. Ms. Slaven's voice, solo or meshed with Lipphardt's, is a pleasant experience.

Nate Moore and Lizzie Schultz combine talents as the romantic couple – Anthony

Hope and Johanna Barker. Their songs together are tender and sweet. Moore's Anthony is a heroic protector while Ms. Schultz' Johanna has all the vulnerability and beauty that is needed.

In supporting roles – Alex Bast as Tobias, John Parks Whitaker as Judge Turpin, Bailey Hunt as The Beadle, and Tessa Gibbons as the Beggar Woman all do amazingly dynamic work. There is no weak link in any of the casting, and the dedication top-to-bottom for characterization and for storytelling as a whole is very much flawless.

I cannot say enough about the quality of voices here. The cast of Sweeney Todd is at very near a professional tier in their singing talents, especially considering that they are rendering a highly intricate and elaborate Sondheim score. One can easily forget that these stage practitioners are college students or office workers or bankers who do theatre as an artistic pastime.

Bottom line: As ambitious a project as this is for a community theatre company, it is not a surprise to me that every aspect of the show is top-notch and brilliant. Ms. Odle and her various cohorts have issued more than a few note-worthy productions over the past few years, and audiences have come to expect this high level of endeavor. This is a completely thrilling production and all involved are to be congratulated. Highly recommended!

Carmel is a great city, but it can be even better

Carmel is consistently ranked as one of the best places to live in the United States. In 2023 alone, our city was named as the Best Place to Live in Indiana by Niche.com, the Most Affordable Safe Suburb in the U.S. by SmartAsset, and the Best Place to Live in the Midwest by Livability.

This comes after Carmel ranked in the top three places to live in the U.S. by Money Magazine in 2021 (No. 2), 2018 (No. 3) and 2012 (No. 1).

With a city that's so highly regarded across the country, you would think there's not much more we can improve in our community, but the truth is a city that isn't getting better is a city that's falling behind. We must continue to make improvements. Here are a few things I think we should continue to invest in or things we could do better as a community.

ADAM AASEN

Crime prevention
Carmel consistently ranks as one of the safest cities in our state, but we must remain vigilant to keep our community safe. We must continue to invest in training and tools for our police and firefighters and we must offer competitive salaries and benefits so CPD and CFD can continue to attract the best to join their departments.

Protecting our neighborhoods

Our revitalized downtown is a place where residents can live, work and play, but we must ensure we are protecting the charm and character of our existing residential neighborhoods. We can do this by protecting green space and preventing overdevelopment. We can first conduct a housing study to review housing inventory and needs. We also must engage the public to ensure they have a true voice in what gets built in our community.

Some issues of concern include the number of multi-story apartment buildings and out-of-state corporate investors buying up residential properties and turning them into rentals or Airbnbs. We can't ignore these concerns. We also need to continue to invest in sidewalks, lighting, and crosswalks to keep our neighborhoods safe.

Fiscal responsibility & transparency

Carmel is currently in good financial shape, but it will take experienced leadership to ensure we stay on the right track. We must focus on smart investments that have a strong ROI and prioritize funding NEEDS before WANTS. I'm not against investing in those "little extras" that help us stand out, but only if we are adequately funding needs like road repaving first. We also need to have a strong plan to maintain our city's infrastructure down the road, and we must reduce our debt. All these conversations must be done in public, and residents should have a voice.

Helping our small businesses

As a former small restaurant owner, my heart always goes out to the little guy. Small businesses are the heart of our economy and give us character. We can do more to help our small businesses. We can help new small businesses better navigate government red tape when they first open. We can help potential new businesses find affordable commercial spaces and we can continue to plan community events that drive customers to our small businesses. Mom-and-pop places have been through a lot over the last four years, and we must continue to support them.

If you have any questions or concerns, please reach out to me at adamforcarmel@gmail.com.

Adam Aasen is a City Councilor representing Carmel's Southeast District.

Department, reports a vehicle stolen, it's the reporting agency's responsibility to enter the information into the National Crime Information Center's database where police agencies across the country can see it.

However, the wrong information was put in the system.

"We discovered that the driver of the vehicle that we had stopped, her name was Amber, and her last name was the same last name of the person who had reported her vehicle stolen to IMPD," Barnes said. "The only difference is the Ambra with the same last name lived in Indianapolis."

NPD contacted the owner of the car before making the stop and the owner told them the vehicle had not been recovered.

Noblesville officers had no idea the car they were pulling over wasn't stolen until after they pulled the driver out. Barnes defends how his agency approached the situation.

"A stolen vehicle by its nature is a very high-risk stop for us," Barnes said. "Now you put into that scenario that there is a stolen gun."

News 8 contacted IMPD for comment on this story, but a spokesperson Friday told News 8 no one was available to speak on camera.

Charles A. Price, Jr.

May 12, 1938 – September 18, 2023

Charles A. Price, Jr., 85, Sheridan, passed away at Wellbrooke of Westfield on Monday evening, September 18, 2023. Born in Clinton County, Ind., on May 12, 1938, he was the son of the late Charles A. Price, Sr. and Geneva Mae (Hubbart) Price.

He was a 1957 graduate of Sheridan High School and a member of the Sheridan First Christian Church. Charles was a humble man of strong faith and lived his life by those guiding principles.

As a business owner in Sheridan and a lifelong resident, Charles seemed to know just about everyone in town. His career path started in 1954 at age 16, when he began working part time for Boyer Heating and Air Conditioning in Sheridan. Over the next 19 years, Charles would learn the ins and outs of the business, eventually purchasing it in October of 1973. Price Heating moved to its current location on 2nd Street in Sheridan in December of 1975 and has continued to be part of the fabric of the community that it serves.

As if owning one business wasn't enough to keep the family busy most days, Charles added a second one into the mix. The Price family purchased McDonald Hardware of Sheridan in 1979, operating the family-run hardware store until its sale in 2000 to its current proprietors. After 50 years in the HVAC business, Charles decided that it was time for his boys to do the heavy lifting at the shop so he could become "upper management" and eventually retire.

Charles had an amazing work ethic, combined with a personality that could instantly put you at ease in just about any situation. There weren't too many occasions that Charles couldn't find an opportunity to work in a story or two. Talking with people was his favorite part of whatever he was involved in.

Charles had many interests in life, and as you would expect, most of them involved his family. He and his wife, Sherry, loved to go square dancing and country line dancing. They were also huge Sheridan Blackhawk fans. Blackhawk football was a family tradition, and they treated it as such, supporting it in whatever way they were able. He also enjoyed snowmobiling and racing go-carts.

As the years carried forward, Charles and Sherry loved their newfound roles as grandparents and later great-grandparents. If the grandchildren were involved in it, it instantly became top priority. Whether it was at the shop, going to ballgames, reunions, cookouts, chasing the grandkids, or just driving around town with Sherry riding shotgun, Charles cherished opportunities to spend time with family.

Charles is survived by the love of his life, his high school sweetheart, Sherry Rose (Hoover) Price. She and Charles were married on Christmas Eve of 1955. Also surviving are sons, Randy L. Price (Debbie) of Sheridan, and Jerry A. Price of Sheridan; daughters, Ramona K. Moore (Daniel) of Borden, Ind., and Elizabeth A. Walden of Sheridan; 10 grandchildren; 21 great-grandchildren; two great-great grandchildren; three sisters, Judith Ann Jessup (William) of Zionsville, Nancy Carole Keesling of Sheridan, and Linda Lou Williams (Jesse) of Sheridan; brother-in-law, Rex Hoover (Frances) of Texas; and sisters-in-law, Winona Moss of Sheridan and Wilanna McClay of Westfield.

He was preceded in death by his parents, Charles A. Price, Sr. and Geneva Mae (Hubbart) Price; father-in-law and mother-in-law, William and Clara Mae Hoover; brothers-in-law, Kenneth G. "Tuffy" Keesling, John Robert Hoover, and Paul McClay; sister-in-law, Phyllis Quick and her husband, Martin; and by his two canine BFFs, Coffee and Kenya.

Visitation and services were held on Saturday, September 23, 2023, at Kercheval Funeral Home, 306 E. 10th St., Sheridan. Burial followed at Crown View Cemetery. Pastor Michael Srbljan officiated.

In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be presented to the Sheridan First Christian Church or to the Leukemia and Lymphoma Society.

Garry Dale Streeval

June 14, 1948 – September 15, 2023

"According to the grace of God which is given unto me, as a wise masterbuilder, I have laid the foundation, and another buildeth thereon. But let every man take heed how he buildeth thereupon." 1 Corinthians 3:10

75 years ago on June 14, 1948, a priceless treasure named Garry Dale Streeval was revealed in the small town of Franklin, Ind.

He was one of seven children in eight years born to Helen Streeval. His surviving siblings are Allen Streeval, Tim (Cheryl) Streeval, Joe (Cheryl) Streeval, Mary Kay (Myron) Rawlings, and Rebecca Hargreaves. He was preceded in death by his brother, Michael Streeval, and beloved mother, Helen Allman Streeval.

The special qualities of leadership and the imprint of the Hand of God were vividly apparent to all who encountered him. Upon meeting the emerging prodigy, one of his forthcoming mentors, the late Elder Robert Cavaness, remarked, "Keep your eye on Garry Streeval. He's going to go far." Indeed, the places he would go! However, he would not go alone, as he found the love of his life, the gorgeous and elegant Karen Davis, and married her on March 24, 1969.

Reverend and Mrs. Streeval, along with their beautiful three-year-old daughter, Beth, moved to Noblesville and founded Calvary Apostolic Church in the summer of 1975. His steady leadership and faithful service has blossomed into a flourishing congregation with its debt-free, multi-million-dollar campus located at 16400 Cumberland Road. While serving as pastor and traveling extensively across the United States as a highly sought after conference speaker, Reverend Streeval also managed the local Indiana Gas branch in Noblesville and concluded his career as a top echelon executive with the company.

He wore many hats in life as a successful leader – perhaps, most importantly, as the leader of his home. He once earned the Father of the Year award due to a biography article submitted by his daughter, Julie, as she aptly described how her dad "could do anything!"

His lovingly entitled "downline" includes his faithful wife Karen; three daughters, Beth and husband, Pastor Rusty Adkins of Molino, Fla., Julie and husband, Pastor Jon Hair of Moss Bluff, La., and Carissa and husband, Pastor Bryan Tanton, who are shepherding his founding work of Calvary Apostolic Church in Noblesville. Papa Streeval leaves nine grandchildren to cherish his memory: Brianna (Manny) Simone, Braedyn (Hannah) Adkins, Brienn Adkins, Julianna Hair, Bryanne (Clark) Copeland, Jace Hair, Britlyn Tanton, Breleigh Tanton, Brocktyn Adkins; and his first great-grandchild, Riley Adkins.

Friends and guests of the late Bishop Garry Streeval were invited to his viewing on Thursday, September 21 at Calvary Apostolic Church, 16400 Cumberland Road, Noblesville. A celebratory homegoing service followed at White River Christian Church, 1685 N. 10th St., Noblesville. Committal service and burial were held on Friday, September 22 in the Crownland Cemetery, 1776 Monument St., Noblesville.

Memorial donations can be made to Calvary Apostolic Church of Noblesville.

Bulldogs stun 'Rocks in matchup of unbeatens, spoil Westfield homecoming

By CRAIG ADKINS
For The Reporter

WESTFIELD – There was a lot on the line last Friday night at Westfield. It was a battle of two unbeaten teams in what was probably the best matchup in the state with two highly-ranked teams in Class 6A.

One team came prepared, while the other found itself playing from behind all night long. The visiting Bulldogs had their way all night long in spoiling Westfield's homecoming, giving the 'Rocks its first loss of the season, 37-7.

Forcing Westfield to punt after three plays, Brownsburg showed why it's highly-ranked in 6A. On its first play from scrimmage, Garrett Sherrell busted outside of the tackles and down the visiting sideline 57 yards for the first score of the game. That put the Bulldogs up 7-0 and 11:01 still in the first period.

"Obviously, we weren't really prepared to play. We were embarrassed in all three phases of the game," said Westfield head coach Jake Gilbert.

The Shamrocks started putting together a drive on their second series, but wound up turning the ball over on downs at the Brownsburg 36.

The ensuing set of downs for the Bulldogs resulted in quarterback Jake Dunn rushing 29 yards untouched for a touchdown. Midway through the first, it was 14-0.

"They were coached and played better and deserve all of the credit. That's a great football team. They were ready tonight, came over and kicked our butts," continued Gilbert.

After another 'Rocks punt, Dunn used his legs again. On the third play, Dunn raced 26 yards to pay dirt and through one period, Brownsburg had jumped out to a 21-0 lead, stunning Westfield.

Another three and out, Westfield punted again. The defense had a better series, holding kicker Spencer Porath to a 45-yard field goal that pushed it to 24-0.

"They just annihilated us and outcoached and outplayed us. Credit to Brownsburg. They're a great program for a reason. They certainly showed that tonight against us," stated Gilbert.

Late in the second, the Bulldogs methodically marched down the field to use up a lot of clock. On a first and goal at the seven, Dunn connected with a wide-open tight end Cameron Edwards. The two-point run attempt failed that made for a 30-0 halftime score.

The first drive of the third would be no different. Brownsburg scored in just five plays. Edwards was again all alone over the middle for a 41-yard touchdown pass for a 37-0 count. "I don't know that we did anything well, to be honest. Some of that was self-inflicted mistakes. But again, credit to them for taking our offense away," said Gilbert.

The next drive on offense, Westfield was able to find their way back to what they do best. With a running clock and 5:15 left in the third, Jackson Gilbert found Maximus Nosler for a completion beyond his defender and scored 39 yards later.

That would eventually be the final of 37-7.

"We came in scoring 35 points per game and we scored seven on their JV and none on their varsity, so essentially we got shutout by their varsity, so they deserve all of that credit," continued Gilbert.

Garrett Sherrell led with a game-high 153 yards on 15 carries with a touchdown. Jake Dunn scored twice in his four rushes for 67 yards. Dunn also threw for 156 yards on 8-for-12 passing and two touchdown passes. Cameron Edwards highlighted the receiving with three catches for 51 yards and two scores.

Brownsburg moved to 6-0 and 4-0 in HCC play. Next week, the Bulldogs host Zionsville (3-3, 1-3), which lost 34-24 at home to Hamilton Southeastern.

Kendall Garnett ran 18 times for 79 yards for tops in Westfield rushing. Jackson Gilbert was 8-of-14 passing for 96 yards and a TD. Cars-en Melvin subbed in to go 3-for-6 and 25 yards with an interception. Maximus Nosler led the receivers with four receptions for 73 yards and the lone Shamrock score.

At halftime, seniors Isabelle Snyder and quarterback Jackson Gilbert were crowned homecoming queen and king.

Westfield (5-1, 3-1 HCC) takes its first loss of the season. The 'Rocks hit the road to face the Avon Orioles (0-6, 0-4 HCC) Friday.

Guerin Catholic falls to Bishop Chatard in overtime nail-biter

By JAMES SEAY
For The Reporter

In a thrilling showdown between two of Indiana's top Class 3A football teams, the Guerin Catholic Golden Eagles battled fiercely against the Bishop Chatard Trojans last Friday. The clash of Circle City Conference rivals was deadlocked 0-0 after the first half and 7-7 after regulation. After many successful stops in the Trojans red zone, luck ran out for the Golden Eagles in overtime as Bishop Chatard prevailed 13-7.

The first half of the game witnessed both teams delivering hard-hitting action with formidable defenses. Guerin's defense was able to stand strong despite several long drives that went deep into the Golden Eagles' territory. Senior Aaron Keller made the first of several big plays on the night when he was able to stop a fourth-and-one conversion to force a turnover on downs deep in BCHS territory.

The defense would go on to continue with stout defense in the second quarter. After forcing a field goal attempt within their own five-yard line, Guerin was able to continue to hold the high-flying Trojans off of the scoreboard. After being forced to punt, Bishop Chatard appeared to touch a punt that was ultimately called a touchback. Both teams went into the half without managing to put any points on the scoreboard.

The second half was a different affair as both offenses began to find some room. Upon receiving the second-half kickoff, the Trojans immediately turned the ball over after Keller completed an interception that was returned to the enemy 12-yard line. It was the second game changing play by Keller, but it wouldn't be his last. Senior quarterback Ryan Zimmerman was able to open up scoring with a 'tush push' into the end zone to put the Golden Eagles on top 7-0.

On the ensuing possession, Bishop Chatard was once again able to put together a long drive deep into GCHS territory. The defense responded by employing stout defense to force a turnover on downs once again within their five-yard line. This was the third time the defense was able to stop the Trojans who came into the game averaging 32.2 points per contest.

Late in the fourth quarter, the Chatard offense was able to find the end zone after being aided by an untimely personal foul on Guerin's defense. After exchanging possessions, BCHS was able to put together a drive that entered the red zone while the final seconds of the clock ticked away. After setting up for a field goal that would have broken the 7-7 stalemate, Keller completed his third game-changing play of the night by blocking what could have potentially been the game-tying field goal.

After four gut-wrenching quarters, the teams were deadlocked at seven points apiece. The Golden Eagles had the first chance during the overtime period. They quickly moved the ball to the Trojan one-yard line to set up the go-ahead touchdown. On fourth-and-goal from the one-yard Guerin failed to convert the touchdown. On the following possession, Chatard was able to run into the end zone for the game-ending touchdown.

Golden Eagles Coach Tom Dilleley proclaimed, "We will continue to play with the same passion, enthusiasm, and team spirit moving forward. We will get back to work and execute better versus a good Northview team next week."

After the loss, Guerin

Catholic falls to 4-2 on the season and 1-2 in conference play. The Golden Eagles will travel to face the Northview Knights Friday at 7 p.m.

Huskies put hammer down on Twin Lakes

Fourth straight shutout win & still undefeated

By RICHIE HALL

sports@readthereporter.com

ARCADIA – The defense of the Hamilton Heights football team has gone from amazing to possibly unprecedented in Huskies history.

At its Homecoming game last Friday, Heights rolled to a 45-0 victory over Twin Lakes, a team that ventured onto the Huskies' field with a 4-1 record. But after a slow start, Heights put up 28 points in the second quarter, and cruised through the second half to keep its record perfect for the season at 6-0.

The victory was the fourth consecutive shutout by the Huskies. The last team to score on Heights was North Montgomery, who got a touchdown in the fourth quarter of the Huskies' Week 2 game. Since then, Heights has pitched 16 straight quarters of shutout ball.

Huskies coach Jon Kirschner said there's no magic formula for his team's defense: "They're just aggressive and fast. That's it," he said.

"We're really not giving up," said Heights senior Dean Mason, who showed that defense can turn into offense when he scored on a 30-yard interception return during the Huskies' second-quarter blitz. "We might give up a little 15-yard pass here and there, but then we're going to get it back with a five-yard loss."

The Heights defense held Twin Lakes to minus 21 yards rushing for the game.

"And that stuff doesn't develop overnight," said Kirschner. "That takes work in the offseason, the weight room, on the football field, in practice, the summer trainings and all the things that we do."

The Heights offense did its job as well. It took the Huskies until the end of the first quarter to score, which they did when Tyler Champion caught a 22-yard touchdown pass from Bodie Derrer. Teigan Scoles made the extra-point kick, his first of six for the game.

Scoles was busy in the second quarter, kicking four extra points after the four Heights touchdowns. Owen VanHaaren ran in the first score from eight yards, then Derrer took a 15-yard run into the end zone less than a minute later. Mason added his pick six, and just like that, the Huskies led 28-0.

Champion made it 35-0 after taking a Derrer throw 49 yards into the end zone with 4:13 left in the half. Due to the lead, the entire second half was played with a running clock. Scoles nailed a 21-yard field goal in the third quarter, and VanHaaren ran the ball in from three yards in the fourth quarter, with Scoles kicking that extra point.

Derrer had an outstanding game, going 16-for-21 with 223 yards and two touchdowns. Champion had four catches for 89 yards. VanHaaren totaled 103 yards rushing.

Royals roar back to take down Eagles

The REPORTER

Hamilton Southeastern recovered from a second-quarter deficit at Zionsville last Friday and went on to beat the Eagles 34-24 in a Hoosier Crossroads Conference game.

Neither team scored in the first quarter. Zionsville took a quick 14-0 lead with two touchdown passes from Eli Showalter.

But the Royals responded by outscoring the Eagles 17-0 in the remainder of the quarter. Chandler Weston and Donovan Hamilton were a force in that period, first combining for a 64-yard touchdown pass play to get Southeastern on the board with 7:57 left in the half.

The two Royals teamed up again with 1:43 remaining, this time on a 34-yard scoring reception. Hugo Belmonte made both extra-point kicks, and he boot-ed HSE into the lead at the halftime horn by making a 37-yard field goal.

Southeastern never trailed in the second half. AZ Wallace made sure of that when he made a two-yard run into the end zone just three minutes into the half, with Belmonte making the extra-point kick.

Zionsville added points in the third quarter on a Trevor Henkle field goal, but Belmonte matched him with a 26-yard field goal with 4:52 to go in the fourth period. The Royals got the ball back seconds later, and Weston and Hamilton teamed up for one more touchdown, a 26-yard score. Belmonte finished that off with his fourth extra point of the night.

Weston had an outstanding game, going 13 of 18 for 285 yards. Hamilton grabbed eight catches for 225 yards. Jalen Alexander led the rushing with 47 yards.

Southeastern is 3-1 in conference play and 5-1 overall. The Royals return home Friday to host Noblesville.

Noblesville falls to Franklin Central, now 3-3 for season

The REPORTER

Noblesville dropped a tough overtime Hoosier Crossroads Conference game at Franklin Central last Friday, 28-27.

Jacob Baker got the Millers on the board in the first period with a one-yard touchdown run. The Flashes answered with a score, but Gage Gulley got Noblesville in front with a two-yard run to the end zone.

Franklin Central tied the game at 14-14 by halftime. The Millers reclaimed the lead in the third period; Logan Shoffner zoomed in from 16 yards to score. Jack Letourneau made all three extra-point kicks.

The Flashes tied the game in the fourth quarter, and the contest went to overtime. Franklin Central scored first and kicked the extra point. Gulley made a two-yard touchdown run; Noblesville went for two, but the attempt was no good.

Shoffner led the rushing with 95 yards, followed by Gulley with 91 yards. Baker was 6-of-10 from the air, with Aiden Brewer getting five receptions. Jackson Peterson and Cole Richardson both had one interception during the game.

The Millers are 1-3 in conference play and 3-3 overall and play Friday at Hamilton Southeastern.

'Hounds get Homecoming victory over North Central

The REPORTER

Carmel got a solid Homecoming victory over North Central last Friday, with the Greyhounds winning 27-6 at Carmel Stadium.

The 'Hounds got their first touchdown with 59 seconds left in the first quarter. Norvil Tucker zoomed down to the Panthers' three-yard line to get Carmel in scoring position, then took the ball in from there to score the game's first points.

Lukas Krishtanmoorthy made the extra point kick, then added three more points in the second quarter with a field goal. Tucker found the end zone again just before halftime, with an 18-yard run to put the 'Hounds ahead 17-0 at the break.

Tucker added one more touchdown in the fourth quarter with a 21-yard run. Krishtanmoorthy made the extra-point kick, giving him a perfect 3-of-3 night, then kicked another field goal to complete Carmel's scoring. The Panthers scored with 1:17 left in the game, but the Greyhounds had the contest well in hand by then.

Tucker finished the game with 141 yards on 12 carries. Quarterback Anthony Coellner went 9-of-14, with Nate Rogers getting seven receptions.

The 'Hounds are 4-2 and play Friday at Ben Davis.

Tigers snatch win from Orioles

The REPORTER

Fishers got back on the winning track last Friday with a 21-13 Homecoming and Hoosier Crossroads Conference victory over Avon.

The Orioles got on the board first with a field goal, but the Tigers answered right away with a touchdown midway through the first quarter. Bennett Gorak threw the first of his three touchdown passes to Noah McPeck for a 16-yard score.

Avon went ahead early in the second quarter with a rushing touchdown, but Gorak and McPeck teamed up again for a short touchdown pass in the second period, and a Jonathan Tangara kick gave the Tigers a 13-10 lead at halftime.

Gorak tossed his third scoring pass to JonAnthony Hall, who took it in from six yards. A two-point conversion throw from Jase Ruggles to Sekai Bogle was good. The Orioles made another field goal in the fourth quarter, but the Tigers defense allowed them nothing else.

Carter Imes had an outstanding defensive performance, with 16 tackles, three for a loss. Jev Hutton made seven tackles and Jake Prewitt had six. On offense, Gorak went 16 of 24 for 253 yards; Hall caught seven of those passes for 163 yards.

Fishers is 2-2 in HCC play and 4-2 overall. The Tigers stay at home Friday to take on conference opponent Franklin Central.

Sheridan slams Taylor to score another Hoosier Heartland Conference win

The REPORTER

Sheridan stayed unbeaten in the Hoosier Heartland Conference last Friday with a 56-6 victory at Taylor.

The Class 1A No. 7 Blackhawks took care of the Titans early. Eli Kolb got Sheridan on the board just 21 seconds into the game with a long touchdown run. Owen Bell kicked the extra point, his first of many Friday night.

Bell also threw for three first-quarter touchdowns. His first two went to Nolan Page, including a 90-yard throw that put the 'Hawks up 21-0. Before that, Bell and Page connected on an 11-yard score. Bell then threw a 19-yard pass to Trent DeCraene, and that got Sheridan ahead 28-0 at the end of the quarter.

The Blackhawks went back on the ground in the second quarter. Bell punched the ball in from the one, Kolb ran in from 37 yards, and Cole Mackintosh took a 27-yard scoring run. With that, Sheridan led 49-0 at halftime.

The 'Hawks had one more touchdown to score in the fourth quarter. Hayden Alexander took a fumble recovery seven yards into the end zone. Bell kicked the extra point, making him a perfect 8-for-8 on the night. He also threw 6-for-7 and totaled 162 yards. Kolb led the rushing with 73 yards.

Sheridan is now 4-0 in HHC play and continues to share the conference lead with Carroll. The Cougars beat Tri-Central 42-0 to maintain their unbeaten record for the season at 6-0.

The Blackhawks are 5-1 overall and host Delphi next Friday for another HHC game.

Millers & 'Hounds defend sectional titles

Hamilton Heights sends team to regional for first time ever

By RICHIE HALL

sports@readthereporter.com

There's always something happening that will make the girls golf sectional a grand occasion.

Noblesville and Carmel both defended sectional titles last Monday (Sept. 18) at their respective courses. The Greyhounds put together one of the lowest sectional scores in history, while Westfield's Samantha Brown made it a three-peat for medalist honors.

But of the teams that celebrated accomplishments at the sectional, no team was cheering louder than Hamilton Heights. For the first time in school history, the Huskies advanced a full team to the regional after placing third at the Noblesville sectional at Harbour Trees.

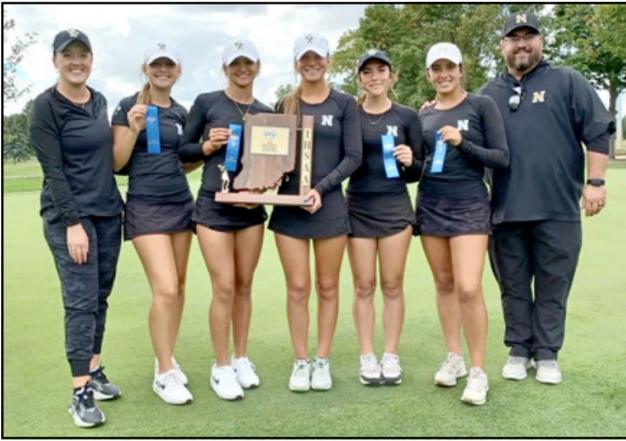

The Millers won their own sectional with a 319, with Hamilton Southeastern placing second with a 347. Heights finished third with a 402; the top three teams advance from the sectional to the regional. The Huskies have had individual golfers move on to regional over the past several years, including Syndi Zebrauskas, Ashlyn Tharp, and 2016 state qualifier Caitie Gehlhausen.

But this year, all five Heights players will compete at the regional as a team. Huskies coach Bryan Jones was telling people he had "no words" after his team advanced, but fortunately he was able to find some when he spoke to the Reporter.

"The biggest thing that I told them is just not to quit," said Jones. He noted that when Heights had played at Harbour Trees at the beginning of the season for the county meet, the team carded a 459. That's an improvement of 57 strokes over the season.

"Golf is the most frustrating sport ever, but it's an amazing sport because you get rewarding moments like this," said Jones.

Even more remarkable is that the Huskies' two seniors, Camryn Runner and Hadleigh Cherry, had just started playing golf this summer.

(Top) Noblesville won its own sectional Monday at Harbour Trees, totaling a 319 to claim its 19th sectional title in program history. (Above) Carmel claimed the Guerin Catholic sectional at Pebble Brook, matching its score of 286 from last year.

"And then I have three freshmen that just keep working and keep grinding and keep getting better," said Jones. "And they're all competitors."

Presley Cherry led Heights with a 90, while Taylor Morrison scored a 92.

"I'm just so proud of them," said Jones of his team. "They never gave up. That was the thing I said to them. It's like, 'If you give up, you can't win.' They just kept grinding."

The Millers never give up when it comes to golf, and they got rewarded with their 19th sectional title in program history. It was also the first time Noblesville had won back-to-back trophies since 2011 and 2012.

"It was a tough day," said Millers coach Justin Werkley. "The golf course played really hard. It was just a grind-it-out type of day. I don't think they were thrilled with how they played overall, but at the end of the day they played pretty well considering the conditions. And obviously, the goal is to get to the regional, so we're excited to play on Saturday."

Playoff win

A Noblesville golfer also won medalist honors for the second consecutive year. Senior Jordan Adam scored a 75, placing her in a tie with Hamilton Southeastern's Ella Bui. Adam won a playoff on the first hole to claim first place, following in the footsteps of now-graduated Caroline Whallon, last year's medalist.

The playoff took place on the 18th hole, a lovely but intimidating Par 3 where golfers must hit their tee shots over a large water hazard right on to the green – there's not much fairway separating the water from the green.

But Adam has played that hole several times before, and she said her key to success was "going back to my target and picking my spot and then just believing in myself and going for it."

Adam made three birdies in her sectional round, with Josie Kelley and Olivia Fowler both making one. Fowler tied for third individually with a 79, while Olivia Anderson was fifth with an 82. Kelley tied for sixth with an 83.

Southeastern scored a 347 to advance to the regional. Bui also scored 75, while Janelle Garcia tied for sixth by scoring an 83. Both made one birdie, with Sophie Roberts also draining one birdie.

"It was tough out there today," said Royals coach Steve Guenin. "Tough course, it was long, the roughs were tough. It was a tough test for sure."

But Southeastern advanced and joined Noblesville and Heights at Edgewood, the site of the Lapel regional.

"We did advance, so we're excited about getting ready to go again next week," said Guenin.

Fishers placed fourth at the sectional with a 409. Sophia Rush led the Tigers with a 99.

Over at Pebble Brook, the site of the Guerin Catholic sectional, the history made there was about numbers – low numbers.

Carmel won its second championship in a row, and 14th in program history, by carding a 286. Not only is that the Greyhounds' same score from last year, it also is one of the lowest sectional scores in IHSAA history. The 286 ranks tied for fourth on the all-time list; in addition to the two Greyhounds efforts, Westfield totaled a 286 at South Grove in 2019.

Carmel's first three golfers all placed in the top five individually. Claire Swathwood scored a two under par 68 for runner-up honors, making her one of only 39 golfers to card a 68 in a sectional. Michaela Headlee finished with a one under 69 to take third.

"Both of them are just being great senior leaders for this team," said Greyhounds coach Kelly Kluesner. "They're fun to watch. And then you've got Sophie (Mock), bogeys her first two holes and then stays even the rest of the day. Their mental games are strong and it's just fun to watch."

Mock's 72 placed her fifth. Swathwood totaled five birdies, in her round, while Kamryn Williams made three birdies on her way to a 77. Headlee drained two birdies and Mock had one.

"It means a lot, especially because this is our last year together," said Williams, another senior leader for Carmel. "And we've already accomplished so much together as a team."

"It was a good day for everyone," said Kluesner. "This is just a step in the process for us and it was good to see everybody having fun out there and just playing the course."

Westfield scored an impressive 291 and had the meet medalist for the third consecutive year. Samantha Brown totaled a three under par 67, becoming the 21st player to achieve a 67 or better in a sectional.

"I think I played well on the back," said Brown. "I held it together. The front was a little bit shaky, but we got through it, I would say."

Brown scored a 30 on the back nine, where she made four or five birdies. At one point, she made three birdies in a row.

Addi Kooi also had a tremendous back nine, finishing with a 32 on her way to a fourth-place score of 70. Kooi made three birdies in her round, all on the back nine. Kelsey Haverluck and Sam Lemieux both made two birdies, while Sami Hanavan had one.

Guerin Catholic carded its best score of the season with a 317 to finish third and join the top two schools in advancing to the Lafayette Jefferson regional at Battle Ground.

Ali Scott scored a 73 to finish seventh overall. Sarah Rigg added a 77. Scott, Rigg and Gracie Navarro all made two birdies in their respective rounds.

University totaled a 444. Graclyn Cates led the Trailblazers with a 93.

AT PEBBLE BROOK

Team scores: Carmel 286, Westfield 291, Guerin Catholic 317, Brebeuf Jesuit 342, Lebanon 347, Cardinal Ritter 441, University 444, Speedway 448, Pike 454.

Medalist: Samantha Brown (Westfield) 37-30=67.

Carmel scores: Claire Swathwood 35-33=68, Michaela Headlee 35-34=69, Sophie Mock 38-34=72, Kamryn Williams 42-35=77, Maddie Headlee 45-38=83.

Sheridan secures second consecutive conference title

The REPORTER

Another year, another Hoosier Heartland Conference trophy for the Sheridan girls soccer team.

The Blackhawks easily clinched their second consecutive HHC championship last Wednesday, beating Rossville 7-0 at the Sheridan field. Just like last season, the 'Hawks were perfect in the conference at 5-0.

"We've been really lucky with all the players that are coming in," said Sheridan coach Brian Prange. The coach said his group of talented players are "working together. They're buying into the system. They're getting hungry."

The Blackhawks led 2-0 at halftime. Junior Cecilia Timme scored the first goal 10 minutes into the game, then senior Emma Alexander kicked in the second goal with eight minutes left in the half.

"I'm very excited and I'm very proud of our team," said Alexander. "And I'm excited to see what the future holds for us."

Sheridan then revved things up in the second half. Cecilia Timme and junior Mac Smith both scored to make it 4-0. Freshman Sadie Timme added the fifth goal during the 56th minute, then junior Suri Birmingham put in another goal seconds later. Cecilia Timme added the final goal in the 67th minute.

Goalkeeper Makenzy Terry got the shutout for the Blackhawks. Prange said the team's defense and midfield have been "really good" this season. Sheridan has only allowed 13 goals and all of its victories have been shutouts.

"We do a nice job of cutting off the passing lanes, a good job shifting and most of the time transitioning out of the backfield and creating opportunities forward," said Prange.

The Blackhawks traveled to Evansville this past weekend to play two teams. Sheridan dropped a 2-0 game to Whiteland last Friday night and fell to Bloomington North 1-0 last Saturday afternoon. Prange said his team "had a great team effort" in both games.

The 'Hawks are 8-5-1 for the season.

Eligible activities for PRO Housing funding will be subject to CDBG regulations applicable to entitlement communities, unless otherwise noted, and must meet one of the national objectives: 1) principally benefit low- and moderate-income persons, 2) eliminate slums and blight, and 3) meet an urgent need.

Hamilton County is proposing the following activities for PRO Housing funding as they identify and remove barriers to affordable housing production and preservation in Hamilton County:
