Health Department provides CPR mannequins to local schools

Collaboration helping to advance the field of public health

The REPORTER

The Hamilton County Health Department has provided 256 CPR mannequins to area schools to help empower students with life-saving skills.

The department purchased 32 adult and 32 infant CPR mannequins each for the Westfield Washington and Noblesville School Districts as well as Carmel High School. An additional set of mannequins were purchased for Carmel's three middle schools to share among them.

Ginder

"We know that CPR saves lives," said Jim Ginder, Health Education Specialist at the Hamilton County Health Department. "Even a seventh grader can make a difference by knowing how to administer it. We're proud to help our schools arm students with these essential skills."

The high-fidelity mannequins offer an interactive learning experience, responding to students' actions to provide immediate feedback on compression depth and speed. The feature ensures that students receive accurate training and develop confidence in their CPR skills.

Indiana law requires school districts to provide cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) and automatic external defibrillator (AED) instruction as part of their high school health curriculum.

"We are incredibly grateful to the Hamilton County Health Department for their generous donation of CPR mannequins," said Teresa Layton, Nursing Coordinator for the Westfield Washington School District. "With these resources, we can ensure that our students receive top-notch CPR training, empowering them to become confident and capable responders in emergency situations."

For more information about CPR training and resources, please call the Hamilton County Health Department at (317) 776-8500.

Finishing the Boston Marathon

So, we celebrated briefly and got a picture snapped to document this incredible moment in time.

As soon as that picture was taken, it felt like my mind reconnected with my body, and I instantly knew I was in trouble. Things weren't good. My arms and hands were vibrating from overuse from cheering so much and ringing that cowbell. I definitely didn't need more cowbell!

I was soaked and cold. Despite my rain preparation, with rain like that it's hard to stay dry.

Then, I realized I couldn't move my legs. I told my husband, "I'm not ok, I need help." I was so scared. I was also obviously worried about him, who had just run a marathon! He managed to get me pushed to the VIP tent where the disabled athletes were able to go after the race.

As we entered, someone put a medal around our necks and congratulated us. Then, they had an incredible medical team that took over, so my husband could take care of his needs. I didn't understand what was happening because this hadn't ever happened to me before.

Some of my wedding dresses

Here's another true story written by my mother, Dorothy Howard Adler.

Today I packed it away. Simple, elegant, beautiful. Perhaps my favorite. I thought of some of my other wedding dresses. One was light tan. It probably had a fancier name but it really was tan. The neck line had a collar at the sides and back. The front was straight across with tubular, grosgrain ribbon bows at each corner. The sleeves were three-quarter length with cuffs. They also boasted red ribbon bows. It was beautiful but I didn't wear it to the wedding.

Instead I wore a red satin blouse and dark blue wool skirt flecked with white. The matching jacket was three-quarter length so I wore it only when going outside. To this day I am not exactly sure what caused the mix-up. By the way, I was maid of honor. (1936)

The next time I was maid of honor, I wore my going away dress. You children have seen it upstairs in a box. It was dusty rose silk crepe. Quite nice. With it I wore a navy blue straw hat. The top was squished in and a large pink rose decorated it. Veils were "in" so the hat had a veil. It was quite nice, too. A bit expensive, but remember, it was doing double duty. Shoes were navy blue. (1941)

You can now order birth & death records online

The REPORTER

The Hamilton County Health Department has launched a new online ordering system for birth and death certificates. Prior to this, all vital records had to be ordered in person or by mail-in application.

"We are thrilled to launch the Vital Records Online Ordering System," Health Department Administrator Jason LeMaster said. "This system aligns with our commitment to improving customer service and accessibility, ensuring that vital records are easily obtainable for our community."

Hamilton County is only the fourth county in Indiana, joining Jefferson, Ripley, and Elkhart counties, to offer the Vital Record online platform. Certified birth and death certificates cost $15 per copy. All orders are processed within two business days, excluding weekends and holidays. Newborn records, however, may take 10 to 14 days to become available through the Indiana Department of Health's vital records system.

Customers have the option to choose between pick-up in-office or delivery via mail. Online orders will be charged a non-refundable $5 service and credit card processing fee by Vital Director. Customers are notified via email or text message when applications have been processed and are available for pick-up or have been mailed. To access the Vital Record's online ordering system and program information, residents can visit the Hamilton County Health Department's online portal.

For more information, residents can contact the Hamilton County Health Department's Vital Records office at (317) 776-8500 or health@hamiltoncounty.in.gov.

The bride and groom came for me. They brought a Japanese iris corsage. The three of us went to the minister's house where the knot was tied. I noticed the bride was in pale blue and wore an orchid. Taking a few mental notes, I decided I looked better than she did and my corsage was much prettier. The footnote said I hope your future father would, too.

Another wedding dress I liked very much was purchased for a cousin's wedding (Dad's cousin). Weather promised to be hot. The dress I liked was a navy blue sheer. The front of the waist was tucked horizontally and the skirt was quite full. Those were the days!

The neck line was plain so a variety of jewelry could be worn. A navy taffeta enhanced the color of the dress. Oh, yes, I enjoyed wearing that dress. It served me well on many dressy occasions.

By the time Paul got married, I needed a new dress. I went to my favorite dress shop in Bluffton with money to burn. Well, at least the price of a reasonably priced dress. And there it was. My size. A pleasing shade of light green. A good style, accordion pleated skirt. Lace blouse underlined with same material as the skirt. Would you believe it was on a sale rack? Right. Any dress $4.00. As a bonus it was washable, no ironing. You can bet it saw a lot of wear. (June 11, 1984)

But today my very favorite wedding dress was washed, packed into a box and given away. It was also from Bluffton and I got it for a reception. In the beginning it was long. Long dresses were being worn a lot, but I cut it off after deciding I'd wear it more that way.

Simple, elegant. Understated may be the word. A silky fabric in a lovely, lovely blue with design in pink. Very lady-like design, not too obtrusive. It went to Jerry's wedding plus several others.

But today its wedding career is probably over. I hope someone else enjoys wearing that dress is much as I did. Once when we were going someplace special, a big (and I do mean BIG) orchid added an extra special touch.

Sure doesn't go with the story but the orchid made me chuckle as it reminded me of the fate of one orchid Dad got me. Ask me sometime.

"After receiving the bracelet, I took it to Smith's when my boys get married, I will let their bride wear it on their wedding day. I am already saving up for next year's Festival – I want to come back to visit the store owners and buy that beauti-

They lifted me out of the duo bike and laid me on a stretcher. I was kind of hysterical because I was so scared. No matter how hard I tried I couldn't move my legs. I could feel them touching them but could not move them. There was a flurry of people working with me, helping to get all my heavy, soaking wet layers off me so I could breathe. Something about when they took the medal off my neck made me realize that I had also pushed my body to its limits, and it wasn't happy with me.

In that moment, I felt like I had earned that medal. I too had "run" the race in my own way. Jamie kept checking on me because he was obviously scared too, but the medical team did a great job of reassuring him that I was in good hands.

They got me warmed up, gave me some fluids, and there was one man who stayed with me the entire time. He was such a kind and gentle spirit, and he made all the difference in keeping me calm. I wish I could go back and thank him. He sat with me for a long time, and helped me sit up with support, and then when I was ready, he started to move my legs for me. It took a while, but then it's like my brain reconnected with my legs, and I was able to somewhat move them. He did that for a good bit, and then I told him I was ready to try and get back in my duo bike and get out of there.

Standing was difficult and he helped me walk a few steps, but my legs could not hold me at that point. Jamie was also doing pretty good, and he was ready to try and push me through the crowds back to our hotel. I thanked the medical team profusely. They were my angels on earth.

We finally made our way back to our hotel room where the boys were waiting on us. My son helped me out of the bike, and as I was trying to walk to the bed, my legs collapsed and I fell. I knew I needed to get in a hot bath to warm my muscles up, so that's what I managed to do eventually. Slowly, I regained function, although it took several days to feel my full strength again. I think it was a combination of adrenaline, cold, wet, and sitting in one position for so long that took a toll.

I'm forever grateful for these wonderful opportunities. Our plans are to complete all six world marathon majors. We have three left and hope to check another one off the list later this year! More to come from Team Humbly Courageous.

County Health Department to hold drug disposal webinar

Experts to provide tips for safely removing unwanted & expired drugs from the home

The REPORTER

The Hamilton County Health Department, in collaboration with the Hamilton County Council on Alcohol and Other Drugs (HCCOAO) and the Hamilton County Sheriff's Office, will hold a webinar on Wednesday, April 24 about the proper disposal of unwanted and expired drugs.

"Proper disposal of unwanted and expired drugs is essential to safeguarding our communities, particularly in light of the growing opioid epidemic," said Captain Mark Bowen of the Hamilton County Sheriff's Office. "It's critical individuals safely remove substances from their homes to help reduce the likelihood of accidental ingestion and abuse."

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention estimates 112,000 people died of drug overdoses in the United States last year, marking the largest number of drug-related deaths ever recorded in a year.

"Most people who misuse prescription drugs get them from family, friends, and acquaintances," HCCOAO Executive Director Monica Greer said. "We know prevention starts at home. The simple step of clearing out medications that are no longer needed makes our homes safer, prevents prescription drug misuse, and can help save lives."

In addition to offering safe disposal methods for prescription and over-the-counter medications, the webinar will also discuss drug take-back locations and the environmental impact of improper drug disposal. Individuals interested in attending the webinar at 6 p.m. can register at tinyurl.com/drug-take-back-webinar.

People behind the power

What to know about the remarkable role of Duke Energy lineworkers

The REPORTER

When the lights go out – whether it is from severe weather, vehicle accidents or animal interference – lineworkers respond by getting the lights on for customers and communities.

Today, April 18, Duke Energy recognizes National Lineworker Appreciation Day and the work of these vital employees, who ensure customers and communities have safe, reliable power, and play a key role in enabling the infrastructure that will drive our energy future. “We salute our highly skilled lineworkers who work hard keeping the lights on powering our lives every day,” said Government and Community Relations Manager Mark LaBarr.

“Our line, substation and relay technicians are invaluable teammates who are among the first to respond in the aftermath of storms and large-scale weather events that can impact thousands, often making the scene safe for other first responders,” said Scott Batson, chief power grid officer at Duke Energy. “Safely powering the communities we serve is our No. 1 job and it could not be accomplished without the extraordinary commitments of these teams.”

Just another day on the job

For these thousands of Duke Energy lineworkers – from transmission technicians working on high-voltage transmission lines that carry electricity from power plants to distribution technicians working on the lines that carry power to homes and businesses – no matter the circumstances, it’s just another day on the job.

Here are a few things to know about this gutsy group and their unique role:

- Extreme elements

come with the work environment. Lineworkers frequently face challenging conditions, including storms, oppressive heat, bitterly cold temperatures, and flooding.

- The job is elevated. Line work frequently requires work in challenging weather conditions on transmission towers at heights of up to 120 feet, while attached to a 40-foot pole, or from an elevated bucket truck – always with strict safety precautions in place.

- They get physical. Line work is an outdoor, hands-on, physical role. Besides working safely with high voltage, the steel-toe boots, hooks for scaling poles, and climbing belts lineworkers use or wear can weigh up to 30 pounds each.

- Commitment is contagious. Lineworkers’ dedication to their jobs, passion for their craft, continued learning and eternal support of one another on and off the job makes a difference in the lives of customers who depend on reliable power.

- Family and community are priorities. Lineworkers often live close to and work in their own communities – from larger cities to more rural towns – and Duke Energy continues to hire across the range of geographic areas it serves.

- Conversing in code is customary. Lineworkers have their own lingo – nicknames for tools and tasks have been passed down from one generation of lineworkers to the next.

- Long-term learning improves expertise.

Lineworkers are highly skilled professionals who undergo rigorous training to work with electricity safely and efficiently. Their extensive progression of training over several years includes written and field tests that must be successfully completed to demonstrate expertise and job knowledge.

- Safety is foundational. Line teams prioritize safety above everything else – mitigating hazards whenever possible and always watching out for the safety of those around them.

- Guarding the future grid

Beyond keeping the lights on, lineworkers also play a key role in power grid improvement projects that are helping modernize and strengthen Duke Energy’s system. This includes protection against storms and other impacts, making the grid more reliable and resilient, as well as integrating new and cleaner energy technologies.

“The grid is a massive, complex system that works nonstop to provide reliable power to our customers. Our transmission and distribution line, substation and relay technicians have a fundamental role in making sure it is prepared to support the growth we are seeing in our regions,” Batson said. “This work can include upgrading lines and poles, undergrounding outage-prone lines where data indicates it is prudent to do so, and enhancing grid reliability through the integration of smart, self-healing technology – which saved more than 1.5 million customer interruptions and avoided more than 3.5 million hours of customer outage time in 2023.”

Hiring and developing craft and skilled talent is critical to address the growing energy needs of customers and to continue to make grid upgrades for the future. The company continues to hire talent and works closely with community colleges across its company footprint to recruit diverse, skilled candidates.

Thank a lineworker on social media

National Lineworker Appreciation Day is April 18, but throughout the week Duke Energy will be sharing special stories in appreciation of the essential workers who power our lives on the social platform X at @DukeEnergy and Facebook at facebook.com/DukeEnergy. To honor lineworkers and their families on National Lineworker Appreciation Day, please use the hashtag #ThankALineworker.

Commission winner Valerie Eickmeier stands before the Palladium lobby wall where her triptych of oil paintings, The Wind Makes the Sea Dance, will hang.

Music-inspired painting by former Herron dean will hang at the Palladium

The REPORTER

A proposal from a former dean of the Herron School of Art and Design has won the first visual arts prize awarded through the Center for the Performing Arts’ annual New Works commission program.

Carmel resident Valerie Eickmeier will receive $2,500 to support the creation of a triptych of oil paintings, each 24 by 36 inches, titled The Wind Makes the Sea Dance, inspired by the three movements of Claude Debussy’s 1905 Impressionist composition La mer.

“When I’m painting, I listen to it over and over,” she said.

A St. Louis native, Eickmeier received her MFA from Washington University and moved to central Indiana in 1982 to teach at Herron, where she served as dean from 1998 to 2018. Her own career as an artist has included many visiting artist lectures, private and corporate commissions, and more than 60 gallery and museum exhibitions across the nation. She has lived in Carmel since 2001 and has attended many events at the Center.

The new visual arts award is an extension of the New Works project, now in its third year of performing arts commissions. Eickmeier’s finished work will be unveiled June 1 in conjunction with the New Works Premiere Performances at the Tarkington theater, the debut of winning stage works by choreographer Iris Rose Santiago and composers Hippocrates Cheng and Jared Thompson. Afterward, The Wind Makes the Sea Dance will hang for one year in a prominent place in the South Lobby of the Palladium concert hall.

New Works: An Arts Commission Project is an initiative by the Center for the Performing Arts to promote and sustain local artists and arts communities across a range of disciplines. New Works is supported by the Allen Whitehill Clowes Charitable Foundation. More information is available at TheCenterPresents.org/NewWorks.

Activities are made possible in part by Noblesville Creates, a regional partner, Indiana Arts Commission, a state agency, and the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency.

Sen. Mike Braun slams Democrats' dismissal of Mayorkas impeachment

The REPORTER

On Wednesday evening, U.S. Senator Mike Braun (R-Ind.) released the following statement on Senate Majority Leader Chuck Schumer's (D-N.Y.) unprecedented dismissal of the impeachment trial against DHS Secretary Mayorkas.

"President Biden's allies in the Senate voted down the Mayorkas impeachment trial because they don't want to talk about the truth: President Biden broke the law by opening our border to the world and it's costing Americans their lives,"

Braun

Sen. Braun said. "Democrats are setting a precedent for dismissing Senate rules they simply don't agree with, and the implications of this day will ripple through American politics forever."

Rep. Jim Banks grills Columbia University president on inclusion of "Ashkenormativity" in Student Orientation Glossary

The REPORTER

During Wednesday's House Education and Workforce hearing on Columbia University's response to antisemitism, Rep. Jim Banks (R-Ind.-03) questioned Columbia President Minouche Shafik on an orientation glossary that was passed out to new students at the Columbia University School of Social Work.

In the document shared with new students, "Ashkenormativity" is defined as "a system of oppression that favors white Jewish folk [sic], based on the assumption that all Jewish folk are Ashkenazi, or from Western Europe."

Dr. Shafik testified that the glossary was not "a product of the School of Social Work." However, the glossary was originally listed on the Columbia School of Social Work's official website but has since been deleted. An archived webpage of the glossary featured on social-work.columbia.edu can be found here.

Excerpts from the hearing

Banks: I understand you're very proud of the Columbia University School of Social Work, right?

Shafik: Yes, it's the oldest social work school in the country.

Banks: Yeah, so can you define for us the word "Ashkenormativity?"

Shafik: I am not familiar with that term. I believe it appeared in a student glossary that was prepared by a group of students.

Banks: It appears in the orientation guidebook that's given to all of the students at the School of Social Work, but you can't define it for us?

Shafik: No, I'm saying, I'm not—

Banks: You seem to be familiar.

Shafik: I don't use that term, I don't know that term. I believe that glossary was prepared by students for other students ... I don't think it's a part of that.

Banks: You agree, it's handed out to all of the students who at the orient—I mean, that's what it is. It's the orientation glossary of terms for incoming students at the School of Social Work.

Shafik: I don't think it's a product of the School of Social Work. I think a group of students put this together.

Banks: It's handed out to students at the School of Social Work. Let me read to you how Ashkenormativity is defined by your ... you don't seem to know if it comes from students or professors at the school, but Ashkenormativity is defined as a system of oppression that favors white Jewish folks based on the assumption that all Jewish folks are Ashkenazi or from Western Europe. Do you have a response to that definition of Ashkenormativity? Is that appropriate? This is handed out to your students.

Shafik: By other students. It is not a product of the faculty of Columbia University.

Banks: It is handed out to your students. Obviously, you allow this to be handed out to your students. Is that appropriate?

Shafik: As I said, this is not a product of the faculty or the administration. It is something that a group of students produced. I don't agree with it. I think it's not very useful. I don't condone it.

Banks: OK. Can you help me understand something else? I didn't go to an Ivy League school admittedly. Can you explain why the word "folks" is spelled "F-O-L-X" throughout this guidebook and in other places at the School of Social Work? What does that mean? Serious question.

Shafik: They don't know how to spell? I mean, I'm not familiar with that spelling.

Banks: I don't find it a laughing matter.

Shafik: No, I'm not laughing either. I think it's ...

Banks: You're denying that this is an official product of the school, but this is handed out to all of your—you are aware that it's handed out to all of your students, and you're not doing anything to stop it.

Shafik: As I said, it's not an official product of the administration.

Banks: Is this how Columbia University spells the word folks?

Shafik: No.

Banks: Okay. And does Columbia University recognize the word? Because it's not found in the Webster's dictionary — or anywhere else — Ashkenormativity. Is that an acceptable term at Columbia University?

Shafik: Congressman,

I am with you. I agree with you that I don't find this a meaningful way of ...

Banks: This is handed out on your watch.

Shafik: As I said, this is not a product of Columbia University faculty. The Board of Trustees, is this appropriate? Either one of you?

Greenwald: That term is shockingly offensive, Congressman.

Banks: Ma'am?

Shipman: We had discussions about that memo on the Board, and my understanding is that we have asked that anything that is looking as though it's orientation materials in any way be run by the Dean, and I think that is the agreement. As President Shafik has said, we're not going to be able to limit what individual students say to each other. We don't like it. It's not the kind of learning we promote at Columbia, obviously.

Banks: You understand how this fosters an environment of anti-Semitism when the president even admits that she doesn't know if this is an official document of the school or written by students, but it's still allowed to be handed out to your students.

Shipman: It's outrageous.

Banks: And it fosters—it's the reason that we hold this hearing. It fosters an environment of anti-Semitism at your university. President, are you going to stop this from being handed out again to incoming students at the orientation of the School of Social Work?

Shafik: We will make sure that it is not part of any orientation process.

Banks: Can you name a real-world example of a system of oppression that favors white Jewish folks? Can you give us an example?

Shafik: No.

Banks: Do you believe that white Jewish folks are privileged, that they're oppressors? Do you believe that?

Shafik: No, no.

Banks: This is what's being fed to your students. It's despicable. You haven't done anything about it, you should do something about it. I yield back.

Fishers reduces nonresident parking fee at Geist beach from $50 to $25

By DANIELLE ZULKOSKY
WISH-TV | wishstv.com

The Fishers city government has reduced the parking fee for nonresidents visiting the Geist Waterfront Park from $50 to $25 a day for the coming summer beach season.

The City Council officially voted Monday to reduce the fee after the Parks and Recreation Department gave a presentation. The park's parking fee will be $25 from Memorial Day to Labor Day.

Geist Waterfront Park opened on Memorial Day weekend in 2023. Leaders say reducing the fee was always on the table after a successful first summer.

Some people had called the $50 fee discriminatory.

Last year, a city representative told News 8 it was to keep capacity limited for safety.

Emily Davis, of Greenfield, said Wednesday she and her family will consider coming to the park and its beach on Geist Reservoir during the summer.

"We have not come during the summer because the parking is so expensive, so we've been trying to let our kids come and enjoy it during the off-season when the parking is free," Davis said. "So, the parking going down in price would be much more helpful for the out-of-town residents."

Davis says the $50 fee was unfair because Geist Reservoir is one of the few bodies of water in central Indiana. "I don't like it (the $50 fee) because we don't have any really nice parks in Greenfield, so we come up here because the parks are much nicer and, since we don't live anywhere close to Florida or anything, this is the only beach we have to enjoy."

A former Fishers resident said his family would be willing to pay $25 since they've moved out of town.

Ben Woodfill, who now lives in Fortville, said, "I would pay it. We come here enough. The fact that you can park your car and do some of the things local. I don't think it's too bad. I think it's definitely reasonable, I mean, with all the lifeguards they have to pay, and the bathrooms they have to keep up."

His young daughter says she enjoys coming to Geist Waterfront Park for the beach and the other things she can enjoy. "I just like the swings and I like how I can hang out with my dad," Alex Woodfill said.

The other big change coming soon for out-of-town guests: They can pay at the gate.

Fishers residents can already use their city IDs to gain entry for free.

Raju Chinthala: we need to target organized theft rings

The REPORTER

Fifth District Congressional candidate Raju Chinthala has expressed deep concerns about a growing trend of international organized theft rings operating in Indiana and across the Midwest, as confirmed by the FBI last week.

"As your next Congressman, I am deeply concerned about the rise in organized theft rings operating within our communities, as highlighted by recent FBI reports," Chinthala said. "We cannot tolerate criminal activity, regardless of where it originates. It's clear that stricter visa policies and thorough background checks are necessary to ensure the safety and security of our citizens."

According to the FBI, international theft groups are typically comprised of individuals from South American countries who travel to the United States to participate in organized theft rings and are likely responsible for select organized burglaries and thefts in Indiana. These theft groups usually target homes in affluent neighborhoods when the residents are out of town.

"This crime is definitely on the FBI's radar, and we are tracking identified international organized theft groups to intercept them as they move between targets and are working with our law enforcement partners to mitigate the threat," said FBI Indianapolis Special Agent in Charge Herbert J. Stapleton.

Staying aware is key to avoiding becoming a victim. Tips include:

- Vary your daily routine.
- Don't post on social media that you're on vacation.
- Utilize a doorbell camera with an alarm system.

Chinthala

• Keep inside lights on with timers.

• Take photos of valuables and keep those items in a safe.

• Don't leave large amounts of cash in the home.

"I am committed to advocating for stronger immigration controls and enforcement measures to prevent criminals from entering our country," Chinthala said. "This includes holding sponsors accountable for those they bring into the United States and swiftly deporting individuals involved in illegal activities. We must prioritize the safety of our communities and take decisive action. As your representative, I will work to protect our neighborhoods and uphold the rule of law."

Jennifer McCormick challenges candidates to regional town hall meetings on reproductive rights

Submitted

Former Indiana Superintendent of Public Instruction and Democratic candidate for Indiana Governor, Jennifer McCormick, invites all candidates for governor to participate in three regional Town Hall meetings centered around reproductive rights here in Indiana.

"Nearly two years ago, women's freedoms were stripped from them when extreme politicians at the Indiana Statehouse convened a special session and passed one of the earliest abortion bans in the nation following the Dobbs decision," McCormick said. "Hoosier voters deserve to know if their candidates for governor will protect or further attack access to reproductive healthcare in Indiana. Therefore, I am challenging all candidates to join me at Town Halls across the state to discuss the future of reproductive rights and freedoms in Indiana."

Regional Town Hall meetings will take place across the state, beginning in Fishers on April 24, in Bloomington on April 25, and concluding in Merrillville on April 29. All Town Halls are open to the media and the public.

The Fishers Town Hall is scheduled for 7 to 8 p.m. on Wednesday, April 24 at Holy Family Episcopal Church, 11445 Fishers Point Blvd.

About Jennifer McCormick

Jennifer McCormick is a lifelong educator and fifth-generation Hoosier from New Castle, Ind. She has spent decades serving Indiana as a teacher, principal, and, most recently, state superintendent of public instruction.

McCormick

While superintendent in rural Indiana, McCormick fought to protect local control of school districts to ensure parents, teachers, and administrators could make the best decisions for their children. As state superintendent, she was a powerful advocate for teachers and students, ensuring they had the resources they needed to succeed while protecting taxpayer dollars by demanding transparency and fiscal accountability.

McCormick says she believes it's time to elect a public servant leader who empowers Hoosier voices so that together, everyone can make Indiana an attractive state in which to live, work, and thrive.

Holcomb, INDOT, ISP mark start of 2024 construction season & urge drivers to travel safely in work zones

The REPORTER

The Indiana Department of Transportation officially marked the start of its 2024 construction season Wednesday, emphasizing the critical importance of work zone safety as construction and road maintenance projects begin across the state.

INDOT Commissioner Mike Smith was joined by Indiana State Police, Indiana Constructors Inc., agency employees, and industry partners at INDOT's Indianapolis Subdistrict office for an event marking the seventh year of delivering Governor Eric J. Holcomb's Next Level Roads plan, which invests $60 billion over 20 years to improve existing roads and bridges and finish major projects in Indiana. The plan was enacted with bipartisan support via House Enrolled Act (HEA) 1002 in 2017.

"We have made leaps and bounds when it comes to improving roads and bridges in Indiana," Gov. Holcomb said. "Our top-rated infrastructure and transportation network is making it easier for Hoosiers to get where they need to go and making Indiana even more attractive for continued economic development and persistent growth."

INDOT will deliver just over 1,000 construction projects in 2024. When combined with preventative maintenance, the state is investing more than $2.8 billion in infrastructure improvements.

Earlier this year, INDOT announced a new goal related to safety, renewing the agency's hyperfocus on safer roadways and work zones in Indiana.

"INDOT's goal is to reduce fatalities and incapacitating injuries on Indiana roadways by 25 percent in the next decade," Commissioner Smith said. "Part of that is also reducing work zone incidents by five percent. Changing driver behavior is huge in this effort, and is likely our biggest challenge, but it's also an opportunity to educate Hoosiers on the importance of safe driving habits. We urge drivers to slow down in work zones, wear your seatbelts and put the phone down."

In late 2023, INDOT launched Buckle Up Phone Down, a public safety initiative tackling two of the most impactful actions both drivers and passengers can take to prevent crashes and serious injuries – or survive if one occurs. The initiative has direct ties to the 2024 National Work Zone Awareness Week theme: "Work zones are temporary. Actions are forever."

Additionally, INDOT will implement its worksite speed control pilot program this fall in effort to improve safety for both motorists and workers in work zones. The five-year pilot was authorized by HEA 1015 during the 2023 legislative session.

"I cannot stress enough the importance of making smart decisions behind the wheel, especially in work zones," Indiana State Police Sgt. John Perrine said. "The choices you make may seem small, but they have huge impact. The lives of road crews, law enforcement and other drivers are at stake."

During the event, INDOT Highway Technician Joe Greene shared his story of when he was struck in a work zone last spring. He returned to work this past March.

"Please slow down and pay attention," Greene said. "No text, phone call, or distraction is worth someone else's life."

TODAY'S BIBLE READING

JOSEPH'S BROTHERS GO TO EGYPT

He turned away from them and began to weep, but then came back and spoke to them again. He had Simeon taken from them and bound before their eyes.

Joseph gave orders to fill their bags with grain, to put each man's silver back in his sack, and to give them provisions for their journey. After this was done for them, they loaded their grain on their donkeys and left.

At the place where they stopped for the night one of them opened his sack to get feed for his donkey, and he saw his silver in the mouth of his sack. "My silver has been returned," he said to his brothers. "Here it is in my sack."

Their hearts sank and they turned to each other trembling and said, "What is this that God has done to us?"

Roundup: GC earns conference sweep, HSE wins over Avon, Sheridan beats Clinton Prairie in conference opener

The REPORTER

The Guerin Catholic baseball team earned its first Circle City Conference sweep of the season Wednesday.

The Golden Eagles beat Brebeuf Jesuit at the Braves' field on Tuesday, and Guerin Catholic followed that with a 3-0 Wednesday victory over Brebeuf at Grand Park. The win improves GC's conference record to 3-1 for the season.

Guerin Catholic scored all three of its runs in the fifth inning, all on one swing. Ian Taylor hit an inside-the-park home run, also scoring Gavin Spaulding and Nolan Ratcliff.

"Ian Taylor came up big," said GC coach Keith Nunley. "(Brebeuf pitcher) Maverick Geske pitched a heck of a game."

Karson Smith and Bryson Dorsey both finished with two hits; one of Dorsey's hits was a double. Tate Troxell, an Alabama commit, hit a double. Troxell also got the pitching win, striking out seven over five innings. Nate Gremelspacher threw the final two innings, tossing three strikeouts.

"I'm really enjoying coaching these guys," said Nunley. "They're awesome. They work really hard for us."

The Golden Eagles are 7-1 overall. They travel to the Catholic Classic at Lafayette Central Catholic this weekend, taking on South Bend St. Joseph Friday night in their first game. Guerin Catholic then plays Highland and the host LCC Knights on Saturday.

Wednesday night, a pair of Hoosier Crossroads Conference teams were duking it out for positioning in the middle of the pack, despite it being early in the season.

Hamilton Southeastern grabbed a fourth inning lead and held on for a 2-1 league win at home over Avon.

The Orioles got on the board quick 1-0 in the top of the first with an RBI single.

The Royals answered to tie it up 1-1 in the bottom of the second on Nolan Colbert's line drive to center, scoring Colin Goley.

Goley drove in what wound up being the game-winning run when he lined a base hit to right, sending Michael Hoog home for the 2-1 win.

Ethan Lund threw five innings for HSE for the win. The senior hurler struck out nine Avon hitters and walked just two.

Hits were at a premium against Oriole pitching. Kam Seitz, Hoog, Goley and Colbert accounted for the four Royal hits.

The series concludes tonight as Hamilton Southeastern (6-5, 3-2 HCC) heads to Avon (5-4, 1-2 HCC) for a 6 p.m. start.

ference winner on Wednesday, beating Clinton Prairie 3-2 in its Hoosier Heartland Conference opener.

The Blackhawks never trailed, scoring two runs in the first inning. Zach Bales hit a center field line drive that scored Dayne Voegel, then Jack Oland got home on Cole Mackintosh's sacrifice fly. The Gophers got a run back in the third inning, but Sheridan scored again in the fourth, as Caleb Alexander's right field hit brought Camden Spencer home.

Keegan Stout and Alexander both had two hits. Bales pitched a dominant complete game, tossing 14 strikeouts.

The Blackhawks are 6-2 and play another HHC game tonight at Eastern.

University dropped a 5-4 game to Brownsburg Wednesday at RoundTripper Academy.

The Trailblazers scored a run in the third inning; Ryan Castetter got home on Mark Hamby's RBI groundout. The Bulldogs responded with three runs in the top of the fourth after three consecutive base hits.

Brownsburg added one run each in the fifth and sixth innings. University made a comeback in the bottom of the sixth, starting with a two-RBI hit for Owen Schellhase that sent Jimmy Caldwell and Beckett Suh home. The 'Blazers loaded the bases and Co-per Burnett scored when Castetter drew a walk. But the Bulldogs got the third out and held off University in the seventh.

Castetter and Burnett were both 2-for-3, with Burnett hitting a double. Suh pitched four innings, striking out five.

The Trailblazers are 4-4-1 and host Liberty Christian today in a Pioneer Conference North game.

Golden Eagles take down Greyhounds for first time ever

The REPORTER

The Guerin Catholic girls tennis season finally began its season Tuesday, and it was worth the wait.

The Golden Eagles traveled to Carmel's Todd Witsken Tennis Center to play the No. 1-ranked and three-time defending state champion Greyhounds. Guerin Catholic beat Carmel 3-2, marking the first time a GC tennis program has ever defeated a Greyhounds program.

feated Maddie Littell 6-2, 6-4, 6-2, while No. 3 singles Grace Docktor came back to beat Vasha Singh 3-6, 6-4, 6-2.

"I really think it's a testament to how hard we've worked to build this program for the past seven years," said GC coach Becky Ragsdale. She credited her players with doing "a good job of staying in the moment."

The Golden Eagles followed that up with a 5-0 Wednesday win over University. Geon won at No.

1 singles over Laurel Buttrick; Geon took the first set 6-4 and Buttrick won the second set 6-4 before Geon won a super tiebreak to get the victory.

Indiana Fever introduce newest player Caitlin Clark

By ASHLEY FOWLER
WISH-TV | wishtv.com

Caitlin Clark arrived in Indianapolis on Wednesday for her first press conference as a member of the Indiana Fever.

The Fever selected Clark with the No. 1 overall pick in Monday night's WNBA draft.

Clark comes to the Circle City after one of the most decorated college hoops careers of all time.

Wednesday's press conference at Gainbridge Fieldhouse marked Clark's first public appearance as a Fever player. She was joined on stage by General Manager Lin Dunn and head coach Christie Sides.

Clark told the crowd she was "super excited" to be in Indianapolis and commented on how amazing it was to see one of her basketball idols at the event.

"This is a dream come true. These are the moments you dream of. Tamika Catchings is here. That's pretty incredible – somebody I grew up idolizing. Like I said after I got drafted...I can't think of a better place for myself to start my career – a place that loves basketball, supports women's basketball, and an organization that really does things the right way," Clark said.

Dunn and Sides also shared their excitement and said they are looking forward to having Clark joined the already-talented Fever roster.

"It's incredible for us to have the opportunity to have someone like her join our team," Sides said. "We established a great culture last year and laid a great foundation and to add someone like her and, and her awesome support staff, her family, to our Fever family, it just puts us in a whole different ballgame."

The Indiana Fever start the preseason on the road in Dallas against the Wings on Friday, May 3. They'll host the Atlanta Dream at Gainbridge Fieldhouse on Friday, May 10, before starting the regular season on Tuesday, May 14 at the Connecticut Sun.

Indiana Pacers guard Tyrese Haliburton selected to 2024 USA Basketball Men's National Team

Team set to compete at Olympic Games Paris 2024

The REPORTER

USA Basketball announced today that Indiana Pacers guard Tyrese Haliburton was named a member of the 2024 USA Basketball Men's National Team, which will compete at the Olympic Games Paris 2024, set for July 26-Aug. 11, 2024. The team was selected by USA Basketball Men's National Team managing director Grant Hill and approved by the USA Basketball Board of Directors.

"We want to congratulate Tyrese and we're thrilled that he has been selected to represent our country and the Pacers organization as a member of the 2024 USA Basketball Men's National Team," said Pacers President of Basketball Operations Kevin Pritchard. "We are incredibly proud of Tyrese for all he's accomplished in his career thus far, which includes being an integral part of our success this season, and we can't wait to see him shine on the international stage among the best players in the world at the upcoming Summer Olympics."

Holiday (Boston Celtics), LeBron James (Los Angeles Lakers), Kawhi Leonard (L.A. Clippers) and Jayson Tatum (Boston Celtics).

"It's an honor to introduce the 2024 USA Basketball Men's National Team," Hill said. "I'm grateful to these 12 men for their commitment to represent USA Basketball. The United States is home to some of the best basketball players in the world and I appreciate the vast interest in being part of this roster. These decisions weren't easy, but it was a pleasure to go through the process and reach this outcome."

"We have the utmost respect for the level of competition we will face this summer. The Olympics represent the pinnacle of sport and the world will be watching the USA as we play in the toughest basketball tournament in history."

Haliburton is one of six players who has competed at the World Cup, including Curry (2010, 2014), Davis (2014), Durant (2010), Edwards (2023), James (2006), and Tatum (2019). Haliburton and Edwards competed at the 2023 FIBA Men's World Cup in Manila, helping to secure the United States' Olympic bid.

USA Basketball will commence training camp on July 6 in Las Vegas. Following the game vs. Canada, the Americans will embark on an international training window that begins when the USA hosts Australia and Serbia on July 15 and 17, respectively, at Etihad Arena in Abu Dhabi. Australia and Serbia will also face off on July 18 in Abu Dhabi.

The USA Basketball Showcase continues at London's O2 Arena when the USA men take on the national teams of South Sudan on July 20 and Germany on July 22, followed by a tilt between the USA women and Germany on July 23.

The USA Basketball Showcase features a series of games that help the USA Basketball National Teams prepare for major competitions, including the Olympic Summer Games and FIBA World Cup. For more information on the USA Basketball Showcase and to purchase tickets, click here.

The USA officially qualified for the Paris Games as one of the top two nations from the FIBA Americas zone at the 2023 FIBA World Cup in September. The American men will compete for their fifth straight – and 17th overall – Olympic gold medal.

As part of Group C, the American men will face Serbia on July 28, South Sudan on July 31 and the winner of the Olympic Qualifying Tournament (OQT) in Puerto Rico on Aug. 3 in the first round of the Olympic tournament. The 5-on-5 Olympic basketball group phase will take place in Lille, France, before the tournament moves to Paris for knockout and medal rounds.

In total, USA Basketball will be represented by four teams at the 2024 Olympic Summer Games, including 5-on-5 men and women and 3x3 men and women. The USA are reigning Olympic champions in 5-on-5 men and women and 3x3 women, with 3x3 men set to make their Olympic debut this summer. More information about all four USA Basketball teams will be announced at a later date.

Meet the Candidates

Dear Readers,

It's primary election season, and we have a fine selection of candidates for you to get to know.

In these pages you will read all about the candidates who have chosen to respond to The Hamilton County Reporter's request to share their information and help you make an informed decision at the polls on or before May 7. Candidate information is presented as it was submitted.

The Reporter takes no responsibility for any typographical, grammatical or factual errors. These are the candidates speaking to you in their own words (or in the words of duly designated campaign staff). The only edits we have made have been to cut down those statements that were submitted over the 200-word limit we set to ensure everyone had equal space in our pages.

Candidates vying for the same office are grouped together in a shaded box.

Sincerely, The Hamilton County Reporter

COUNTY

Robert (Bob) Bragg

Republican for Hamilton County Treasurer

My objectives:

1. Maximize return on investments with minimal risk:

Hamilton County's rate of return was 3.95% in 2023 and 0.99% in 2022 compared to 5.30% and 1.48% for the State of Indiana's Investment fund (www.TrustIndiana.in.gov). Matching the state fund would have resulted in an additional $8.7 million in investment income over 2 years.

2. Adopt benchmarks to evaluate investment performance:

Currently, there is no stated benchmark for investment returns. I will adopt the US Treasury three-month Bill ETF (TBIL) and the "Trust Indiana" fund as our benchmarks to properly evaluate performance.

3. Increase transparency in investments:

Currently, there is no data on invested funds on the Treasurer's web page. I will post investment returns and investment composition every quarter.

4. Increase adoption rates for E-billing of property tax statements:

The Treasurer mailed 125,000 paper copies of property tax bills in 2023. E-billing has been available for 12 years but I do not believe it has been communicated effectively. I believe we can save over $50,000 a year by reducing paper statements.

I am a lifelong investor and a fiscal conservative with over 30 years' service to Hamilton County. I am a 1989 graduate of Taylor University.

Connect with Bragg on Facebook.

Gary Duncan

Republican for County Surveyor

I look forward to being the next Hamilton County Surveyor. I have been a Professional Engineer since 1999, with a broad and diverse background that includes 10-years as a consulting engineer and project manager, 11-years as the Assistant City Engineer in the City of Carmel, and 9-years as the Staff Engineer in the Hamilton County Surveyor's Office.

I am 53-years old. I live in Carmel with my wife Rachel who is a graduate of Purdue University and a Professional Engineer. We have two sons. A graduate of Ball State and a sophomore at Purdue.

I hold a Bachelors of Science in Civil Engineering from Norwich University and a Master of Science in Civil Engineering from Purdue University.

I have extensive knowledge of urban drainage, agricultural drainage, public project development, budgeting, funding, design, construction, and project management which allows me to make cost effective decisions regarding drainage infrastructure.

While not an official position, I act as the Deputy Surveyor, which has allowed me to learn all aspects of the position, work with each member of the current staff, other elected officials, and department heads, and immediately assume the responsibilities of County Surveyor at the start of the next term.

WE have balanced budget, cash reserves, and have maintained a flat property rate for 10years, it even went down a few cents this year. We have well funded the sheriff and the jail, parks department and many hiway and bridge projects. I have been conservative with your tax dollars. Re-elect Brad Beaver to Hamilton County Council.

Megan and Joel have always had a heart for healthcare. His wife is a nurse practitioner at Community Health. Joel is a pharmacy technician in the Coumadin Clinic and Outpatient Pharmacy at Riverview Health in Noblesville.

Levi is running for State Senate so that our children can live in the Indiana they deserve. This starts with our kids feeling safe at school. The simplest way to ensure this is with common sense gun laws.

If elected into the Indiana State Senate, Levi's top priority would be spearheading legislation so that Democrats and Republicans can join together to keep our Hoosier children safe. His goal is to reach across the aisle and find Republican legislators that believe in the Second Amendment, but that also believe in requiring background checks at gun shows and on third party sales.

Dr. Valerie McCray

Democrat for United States Senate

My name is Dr. Valerie McCray and I'm working hard to become your next U.S. Senator representing Indiana.

As a Psychologist, I've witnessed how U.S. policies profoundly affect the mental well-being of our people. I've worked directly with veterans struggling with PTSD, incarcerated individuals in desperate need of support and rehabilitation, and youth struggling to overcome the effects of violence. It's clear that mental health must be a national priority and we cannot address our nation's challenges one crisis at a time. That's why I'm running for U.S. Senate.

Relentlessly, I will fight for beyond-subsistence wages, unions, healthcare for all, women's rights to choose, equal rights for everyone, strengthening public education, and repealing Citizens United so people (not corporations) can be truly represented. In addition, I will champion student loan debt reduction, closing the wealth gap, and funding environmental restoration efforts.

I am both compassionate and fierce, and can relate to the struggles of working class Hoosiers. I will break barriers and build a brighter future for Indiana. Together, we can build a movement for change – one that prioritizes mental health and ensures every individual has access to resources needed and policies that help us thrive.
