Sheridan is hoping to form a combined and coterminous governmental unit with Adams Township, in part to block Westfield from annexing land into its borders for potential development.

Doubtbusters!

Who ya gonna call? Ghostbusters!

As my three friends walked towards me at the Tampa Airport, I heard the song swirling in my head. I couldn't help but laugh. Linda Butler, Patrice Lyttle, and Joan Gamble, a.k.a. the Golden Girls, had arrived for eight days with a plethora of chatter, laughter, and food. Look out mailboxes and neighbors at Quail Creek. The Golden Girls will be creating new chaos.

Last year, if you remember, one of us (Blanche) ran into the neighbor's mailbox while driving in reverse. We repaired the mailbox, not knowing the owners were watching on their Ring Doorbell Camera while vacationing in Georgia. Charlie later told me we were pretty entertaining. I advised him we would be available for more home repairs on our yearly trip. Four Golden Girls and a Hammer!

As they walked towards me, the song's words changed: Who ya gonna call? Doubtbusters!

No one can calm my doubts and encourage my heart like these girls.

Every year, in April, the pause we take in our chaotic and sometimes tangled lives is a mental and physical retreat. A respite for our souls as well.

"I'm always the type of person that likes to do a show that has some sort of message behind it," Trgovac said. "When I read this script, I realized that there was a lot of potential to it because it has some fun parts, but I also prefer to have some sort of message or seriousness behind it as well." Rave acted in this play nine years ago, in the role of Mariette, under the direction of the late Wil Pullins.

"I like to say that every production, even if it's the same script, even every performance is different," Rave said. "That's the beauty of live theater. It's really been a joy for me to watch not only the actress who is currently developing the character of Mariette as well as the other actors to see their portrayals. Matt and I feel very passionately about character develtime on that with our actors. And I think that's been well received. I think the characters are very dynamic. Our actors should be commended on the beautiful work that they've done in creating these characters and developing the storyline."

Trgovac told The Reporter he is proud of the cast for making the characters into believable people.

That cast had to be chosen from a pool of what both directors called one of the largest turnouts either has ever seen in community theater.

"We had we had a fantastic turnout," Trgovac said. "We had a total of 42 people audition for six roles. Out of those 42 people, I believe 30 were women and 12 for men. So we had to pick out three men and three women from that large group of people that auditioned."

Kissling noted that the multiple empty storefronts in downtown Sheridan make it hard to believe their lot is needed for parking.

Kissling told The Reporter his sole advocate on the town council was Daniel Bragg. However, Bragg was asked to recuse himself Kissling's business advertised with Bragg's sports media company after Wilson Farm Market declined porter nothing like that to do so while fighting its own eminent domain battle against the Indiana Department of Transportation.

Readers of this newspaper may also recall the City of Noblesville's use of eminent domain for the Pleasant Street project, as well as the pushback city officials received from both individual landowners along the path of that project and from the community at large when land was taken and were impact studies, traffic studies, and public hearings.

Kissling told The Reappears to have happened in Sheridan. He asked repeatedly for documentation showing the need for more parking that was urgent enough to eminent domain his land. One example he gave was a request for a parking study or some other justification for the necessity of taking this lot only months after he purchased it and the town provided none.

"I'll probably spend a lot of money and lose it eventubusinesses forced to close. ally because eminent domain from Page A1

The town was originally represented by the law firm Taft Stettinius & Hollister, commonly known as "Taft." The Reporter's attempts to reach both Sheridan Town Councilmembers and Taft were unsuccessful. This newspaper has learned that after our inquiries, the town has now hired new legal representation for this case.

Fishers cuts nonresident parking fee at Geist park & beach from $50 to $25

By DANIELLE ZULKOSKY WISH-TV | wishtv.com

The Fishers city government has reduced the parking fee for nonresidents visiting the Geist Waterfront Park from $50 to $25 a day for the coming summer beach

The City Council officially voted Monday to reduce the fee after the Parks and Recreation Department gave a presentation. The park's parking fee will be $25 from Memorial Day to Labor Day.

Geist Waterfront Park opened on Memorial Day weekend in 2023. Leaders say reducing the fee was always on the table after a successful first summer.

Some people had called the $50 fee discriminatory.

Last year, a city representative told News 8 it was to keep capacity limited for Emily Davis, of Greenfield, said Wednesday she and her family will consider coming to the park and its beach on Geist Reservoir during the summer.

"We have not come during the summer because the parking is so expensive, so we've been trying to let our kids come and enjoy it during the off-season when the parking is free," Davis said. A former Fishers resident said his family would be willing to pay $25 since they've moved out of town.

Ben Woodfill, who now lives in Fortville, said, "I would pay it. We come here enough. The fact that you can park your car and do some of the things local. I don't think it's too bad. I think it's definitely reasonable, I mean, with all the lifeguards they have to pay, and the bathrooms they have to keep up."

His young daughter says she enjoys coming to Geist Waterfront Park for the beach and the other things she can enjoy. "I just like the swings and I like how I can The REPORTER hang out with my dad," Alex Woodfill said.

The other big change coming soon for out-oftown guests: They can pay at the gate.

Actors Theatre of Indiana (ATI) has announced the shows that will be performed during the 2024-2025 season, which also happens to be the 20th anniversary.

The season will kick off Sept. 13 with Ring of Fire.

Ring of Fire celebrates the iconic Johnny Cash the Man in Black - whose razor-sharp vocals and stripped-down country sound helped shape the American rock 'n' roll landscape in the 20th century. The musical follows Cash's early life in the cotton fields of Arkansas and moves to Memphis as he launches his music career, hits it big and marries the love of his life, June Carter.

actor-musicians deliver crowd-pleasing renditions of Cash's musical catalog, from country rock 'n' roll to searing ballads of love and faith, including "I Walk the Line," "Folsom Prison Blues," "I've Been Everywhere" and, of course, "Ring of Fire." Amalia and Georg work together at a modest Hungarian perfumery and have disliked each other from the very beginning. He thinks she's stuck up, and she thinks he's arrogant and mean. Inevitably, through some of the most iconic songs in the musical theatre canon, ("Vanilla Ice Cream," "She Loves Me," "Will He Like Me?"), Georg and Amalia discover the truth as well and rejoice in their love for each other at the story's sweet and musically delightful conclusion.

Liberty Fund names Gordon Wood as inaugural recipient of George F. Will Award

The REPORTER

Liberty Fund, based in Carmel, announced last Thursday that Gordon Wood, the noted historian of the American Revolution, is the winner of the inaugural George F. Will Award for the Advancement of Liberty and the Free Society.

Wood received award at a ceremony and dinner held last Wednesday in Washington, D.C. It was presented to him by George F. Will and Mitch Daniels, a senior adviser to the Liberty Fund, president emeritus of Purdue University, and a former governor of Indiana.

"Gordon Wood and George F. Will are two titans of American thought," Liberty Fund Board Chairman Nate Feltman said. "It is a real privilege to honor these great writers in this way. Throughout their extraordinary careers, Professor Wood and Mr. Will have both shown us that ideas have consequences. They have helped us understand our country's roots and inspired us to think about the meaning of the Founding for today."

"The Award celebrates original thinkers who, like George F. Will, have made exceptional contributions to the public's understanding of individual liberty, markets, self-government, constitutional government, and the rule of law," Liberty Fund President and CEO Sean Shelby said.

Gordon Wood is the Alva O. Way University Professor and Professor of History Emeritus at Brown University. Previously, he has won the Pulitzer Prize, the Bancroft Prize, and the National Humanities Medal for his impressive scholarship and writing. His books include The Creation of the American Republic, The Radicalism of the American Revolution, and Friends Divided: Thomas Jefferson and John Adams.

"More than any other historian of his generation, Professor Wood was the single most important scholar to bring forth and revitalize the rich history of republican ideas and their implications," Liberty Fund Senior Fellow Hans Eicholz said. "Through his close study of American and British pamphlets, he unearthed a whole trove of historical complexity in both moral and political thought that formed the very underpinnings of American self-government from the late colonial period forward."

Emily Beechler named Husky Hero

The REPORTER

Emily Beechler, Hamilton Heights Middle School Media Center Specialist, has been named the Husky Hero for the month of February.

Beechler has worked as a teacher at Heights for 23 years, spending the past 15 in the Media Center. She is a powerhouse of passion and inspiration to students and teachers alike.

"Being selected as a Husky Hero is a great honor," Beecher said upon learning of the honor. "I work with the very best people. Our building (and district) is full of adults who love kids, work hard, value others, and make a difference every day. To be singled out is very special, as I am acutely aware that I am surrounded by heroes every single day."

"Emily Beechler is the Media Center Specialist at HHMS, but she is SO MUCH MORE than just that," said Erin Goodman, HHMS Art Teacher, who nominated Beechler for day. When I was a new teacher to HHSC in 2017, Emily was the first staff member to reach out and check in on me. She would stop by my classroom, seventh-grade write encouraging notes, and introduce me to other staff members. She also modeled positivity, which I on the staff and students of lifting others up. She steps up to help in so many ways in our school each and every day. She is a positive leader and a pillar in our school community."

"Mrs. Beechler is an out-and staff," Heights Middle School Principal Bret Bailey said. "She is intentional with building positive relationships with her students and is focused on making a powerful and positive impact every day. Our team is extremely thankful for Mrs. Beechler. Our team is stronger because of her."

Beechler, who is motivated by her students and her team, REALLY likes middle school kids and it shows.

"They are just so weird and wonderful and goofy," Beechler said. "They act like four-year-olds one minute and 17-year-olds the next ... you have to be constantly on your toes. It's a lot of work and a lot of stress, but it's also a lot of fun. In my role, I get to have time with every single HHMS student. That is such an honor."

Beechler continued, "It is also easy to be excited about my job when I am surrounded by people who are excited about their jobs. My role is special because I get to work directly with almost every teacher in our building. Sometimes

I am teaching English and sometimes I am working with PE classes. It is very motivating to work so closely with so many amazing teachers. They teach, encourage, and challenge me to be better."

'This award is impactful because it is such an encouragement. In our current climate, being a teacher can be a little discouraging. Kids are facing rough situations, and we don't always have the tools to help them in the ways we wish we could. It can feel lonely and a little invisible. Being recognized helps teachers feel valued and a little less alone. It shows there are people outside of our building walls who "see" what we are trying to do. Thank you!"

The call

call that my family has been waiting and praying for.

It was a Saturday night in January. My husband and I had just finished dinner and were enjoying a glass of wine when my sister called. I knew that she was downtown that evening and didn't expect her to be calling, so I quickly answered.

I was met with the words that I had been longing to hear from her: "We got the call! We have a baby. We are going up tomorrow to the hospital."

You see, my sister and her husband have been waiting to be selected for adoption. They went through a very long and emotionally draining vetting process and knew that any day they could get the call. The days of waiting turned into weeks and months.

They had a nursery ready in their home that was anxiously filled with outfits and special touches; all it was missing was a baby. We knew that it could happen like this. We did not know when, but we knew that any day we could get a call and have our baby. My sister and her husband have been through so much to become parents. I've never seen two people fight harder to have a child and go through more to have a baby. They went through failed adoptions, infertility, and heartbreak in the loss of my brother-in-law's mother.

I sat on the couch with the phone on speaker phone and both my husband and I cried tears of joy. We were flooded with excitement, and, of course, worry because of the uncertainty. What if things fall through and the birth mother changes her mind? What will this do to my sister and brotherin-law? Can they handle more heartbreak? Please, God, if this is meant to be, let him be their child and we wrap our arms around him. Please don't break their hearts again.

I asked her if it was a boy or a girl. My sister said that all they knew was they had been matched and they were meeting the birth mom with the baby at the hospital the next morning.

I went to sleep that evening knowing that our worlds were about to change. The next morning, I woke up to another phone call from my sister saying that the little baby was a boy, and they were headed a couple of hours up north to meet him.

My sister and brother-in-law made their way to the hospital and found the room. They met the birth mother and her family and got to know each other. Meanwhile, back at home, the following days were spent in prayer and were riddled with anxiety. What if the birth mom meets them and decides to parent? As a mom, I cannot imagine the decision of placing your child for adoption and the emotional toll that would take on a family. As the hopeful soon-to-be aunt and sister, I just wanted her to sign the papers and know how much my family was going to love and cherish this baby.

My mom and I would proceed to text my sister on a loop, trying to find out what was going on a few hours north in a hospital, with a woman we have never met, who now held the hearts of my sister and brother-in-law in her hands.

Sunday turned into Monday and I'm at work trying to focus and not psychotically check my phone every two seconds to see if there was an update. My mom would ask me if I talked to my sister, and I'd do the same to her.

People my sister has never met were praying rosaries near and far, and pleading that God protect this child and their hearts. Stay tuned for next time to see what it really was tan. The neck line had a collar at the sides and back. The front was straight across with tubular, grosgrain ribbon bows at each corner. The sleeves were three-quarter length with cuffs. They also boasted red ribbon bows. It was beautiful but I didn't wear it to the wedding.

Instead I wore a red satin blouse and dark blue wool skirt flecked with white. The matching jacket was three-quarter length so I wore it only when going outside. To this day I am not exactly sure what caused the mixup. By the way, I was maid of honor. (1936)

How to be an easy target in the Big Easy

I'm going down New Orleans I've got to see Dr. John Got my mojo working Everything will be fine

– Van Morrison My HOKAs were shined in

That's not a euphemism for something dirty, so get your mind out of the gutter.

Technically, I was in a gutter in the French Quarter when the aforementioned event unfolded, sitting on a curb with my wife near the intersection of St. Peter and Chartres, watching fortune tellers at card tables and a jazz band busking along Jackson Square. Trumpets, saxophones, and flashed trombones like lightning with mercy in the Louisiana sunshine, followed by bass drum thunder, the crack of snares, and the rhythmic burps of a tuba.

By "shined" I mean a real, honest-to-goodness shoeshine.

By "HOKAs" I mean my HOKA Clifton 9 brand running shoes. Not patent leather dress shoes, mind you, but, instead, canvas SNEAKERS. A sneaker shoeshine was not on the to-do list when charting our first Big Easy encounter. A visit to Café Du Monde, yes. A WWOZ walk-thru, yes. Seeing Kermit Ruffins and Irvin Mayfield perform at Kermit's Tremé Mother In Law Lounge on a Tuesday night, yes. But a shoeshine, no, especially not for tennis shoes.

I guess I had the right to decline the shine, but I'm of Hoosier ilk – I avoid hurting people's feelings despite knowing that I'm nothing but a Midwestern mark to them, a turnip wagon refugee on vacation.

As soon as our butts parked on the curb for a brief rest, an older man in a red T-shirt descended like a hungry grackle homing in on beignet crumbs. He kneeled before me, as if proposing marriage, then gripped my bony kneecap, his palm three times the size of my toward the wallet lump of my front pocket. I was being played like a piano. His spider fingers possessed the adeptness of Professor Longhair rattling the ivories. I bent forward to block the alleged pickpocket's progression.

He straightened, glanced at my wife. "You have a fine woman. Yes, sir. Where you from?"

'Indiana," my wife said, before I could lie about living in New Orleans and possibly save our asses.

"Indiana," he repeated, our truth, "I don't have cash." state's name sticking to his tongue like a favorite chorus mired in molasses. It took him 20 seconds to sound out those four syllables. His grin was wolfish. That's when I knew that he knew that he had us.

"Yes, sir, you have a fine woman."

"She's a dandy," I said. "I will be your bodyguard," he proposed and chuckled.

The man leaned in again. His head eclipsed Jackson Square. He pulled a ratty, red rag from his pants pocket, gave it an exaggerated shake as if evicting fleas.

He wasn't the first street denizen to prey upon us. Earlier, a robed, bald guy with sandals and a fistful of beads said "peace" and slid three bracelets up my left wrist, an act that I assumed was a New Orleans custom reserved for new arrivals, similar to lei greeters ceremoniously putting flowers around the necks of arriving tourists in Hawaii. "Thank you," I said, appreciating the monk-like man's Crescent City welcome.

Recognizing an impasse had befallen on the robed and the rube, Mr. Peace Train's smile disappeared, along with my trio of bracelets. "You do great work," I said, even though my sneakers didn't look any different. The shoeshine shyster stood. I handed him a $20 bill. The earlier bracelet incident had resulted in a visit to an ATM in anticipation of future monk encounters. Our body guard walked away.

Apparently, the only thing easy in the Big Easy was me.

My wife and I rose from the curb, our perch of vulnerability. Stepping from the gutter, the burps of the tuba revived our enthusiasm for Crawfish Town, as did the Jazzmen who sang, "While you stroll in New Orleans, you ought to go see the Mardi Gras. If you go to New Orleans, you ought to go see the Mardi Gras ..." Though $20 lighter, we continued to indulge in the sights, sounds, and food, knowing there was no other city for which we could care more.

Fishers awards over $30K to local teachers

Three teachers from HSE Schools receive Educator Innovation Grants to fuel innovation in the classroom

The REPORTER

Fishers Mayor Scott Fadness surprised three local teachers in their classrooms last Wednesday as he awarded over $30,000 in funds as part of the city's new Educator Innovation Grant program.

"It's vital that we invest in our schools and empower our teachers with the tools to foster curiosity through hands-on learning," Mayor Fadness said. "This program celebrates the creativity and commitment of our educators and the spirit of innovation that makes Fishers unique."

The city launched the grant program earlier this year, allocating $500,000 from the 2024 budget to empowering educators within HSE Schools with the resources to bring innovation to the classroom and inspire students to rethink learning. Applications are accepted on a rolling basis and there is no funding cap on project requests. Grants are awarded by a selection committee comprised of educators, community entrepreneurs, and HSE alumni.

"One of the things we truly believe in at Hamilton Southeastern Schools is that schools equal strong communities," HSE Schools Superintendent Patrick Mapes said. "We are so happy to have a partnership with the City of Fishers to support our students, teachers, and our mission to have a top-quality education program in our community."

Recipients of the inaugural Educator Innovation Grant include:

• Lisa Harvey (third grade teacher at Fishers Elementary): $4,500 to bring hands-on and experimental learning to the classroom through the LEGO Education SPIKE Program. LEGO Education engages students in hands-on investigations of STEM concepts. The lessons also include connections to real-world careers in STEM to inspire students to begin think-

• Robyn Stout (fifth grade teacher at Sand Creek Intermediate): $3,600 to expand the STEM lab and robotics program with pneumatics kits to provide students with real-life applications as to how robots play a part in automating jobs in various industries. Prior to the launch of the project, Schroeder will partner with local industry leaders to get a "10,000foot view" of what pneumatics looks like from an industry standpoint. Through the STEM Lab, students will learn how pneumatics work on a micro level and simulate jobs that occur in real-world manufacturing plants.

· Becky Schroeder (11th grade teacher, Hamilton Southeastern High School): $22,000 for a pilot program to bring virtual reality to high school students. The immersive virtual reality platform will allow students to experience a wide range of educational content in an engaging and interactive way. Students can explore historical sites, scientific concepts, and cultural landmarks from around the world in a safe and controlled environment. "By using VR technology, we can transport our students beyond the walls of our classrooms and provide them with meaningful, real-world experiences," Schroeder said.

Interested visual artists had between Feb. 24 and April 10 to submit their applications to be considered to compete in the Make-Off. Ten artists were chosen to compete and will be assigned an area in the space.

The theme for the first Make-Off is sustainable art, which involves awareness of environmental issues, such as the materials artists use to create their works, reducing waste, and adopting practices that can reduce the impact of their work on the environment.

Winners will be selected by a panel including past and current Makers-in-Residence. All work will be on display in the Ignite Studio from May 6 to June 15. All ages are invited to take this unique opportunity to witness the artistic process at work, while participating in your own art projects.

This Child Abuse Prevention Month, I'm calling for accountability for residential care facility industry truth about childhood sexual abuse is that it is likely much more prevalent than we understand it to be and instances of it are incredibly underreported.

Currently, it's estimated that one in four girls and one in 20

It's a horrible crime with lifelong consequences for the victim.

As the nation takes a moment to reflect on the prevalence of child abuse during Child Abuse Prevention Month this April, I want to point to a growing issue that we are only starting to grasp the full extent of: young adult residential care facilities. Per state law, being a mandatory reporter means reporting suspicious behavior to the state first – not up the chain of command at your job. In addition, if DCS finds that a facility and its employees do not have a thorough understanding of the specific laws that apply to them surrounding criminality and child sex abuse, onsite training from DCS needs to take place.

These policies will go far toward creating the culture of accountability that the residential care facility industry sorely needs. Facilities that receive state funding to care for kids should be held to the highest of standards.

The bride and groom came for me. They brought a Japanese iris corsage. The three of us went to the minister's house where the knot was tied. I noticed the bride was in pale blue and wore an orchid. Good news from Stony Creek Church of Christ—

The wisdom of silence & a controlled tongue

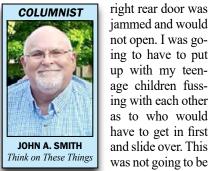

Some decades ago I walked out of a Kroger store in Winchester, Ky. When I pushed my cart to where my car was parked, I discovered, much to my outrage, that someone had hit the right rear quarter panel of my car and did not leave a note or anything to identify them.

The culprit obviously did not know how to drive and did not have even a shred of human decency. They had hit the bumper on the right rear corner and preceded to rip, dent, bang, crush and otherwise destroy the right rear quarter panel. I had a $500 deductible on my insurance and was furious that I would be out that money because of somebody's stupidity and lack of virtue.

For some unknown reason, I did not say a word. I just stood there fuming. My blood pressure was rising, my heart was racing, and my breathing was becoming shallow. I only knew of one thing to do and that was to call the police.

I was carrying a 12 pack of Diet Pepsi and a sack of groceries, so I decided to sit them in the back seat before going back into the store to have to get in first and slide over. This fun! I stomped over to the left rear door and noticed a pair of gloves and bag that I did not recognize. My green satchel was not in the front seat. Suddenly I was gripped with a sickening sense of stupidity and an overwhelming sense of relief. What if I had called the police? What if I had expressed my rage in such a way that everyone would have seen it? What if I had found the person, I assumed was responsible and flew all over them? I don't know why I was struck speechless when I first saw the damaged car, but I am grateful.

As I reflect on this episode, I am reminded of a than reveals a lack of knowlstatement made by the wise edge or wisdom. We are adman of Proverbs: "Even a fool, when he keeps silent, is considered wise; when he closes his lips, he is counted prudent" (Prov. 17:28). The wise man of Proverbs warns us against the multiplying of words: "When there are use the phone (yes, this was many words, transgression right rear door was restrains his lips is wise" (10:19). The person who multiples his words for the sake of hearing himself or because of a lack of discipline sets himself up for many a verbal pitfall. Often those who love to multiply words think little of the consequence of the words. Like an unbridled was not going to be animal that runs wild without thought or awareness of the damage being done, the unbridled tongue sets afire the forests of life (James 3:5-6).

It was once said, "Speak little because for one sin that we may commit by keeping silent where it would be well to speak, we commit a hundred by speaking upon all occasions.

Silence demonstrates self-mastery. The wise man chooses his words with calmness and deliberation. He speaks sparingly rather than spending his words foolishly in a flurry of verbal activity. When he has nothing to say, he says just that – nothing. His silence conceals rather monished in Proverbs to think before we speak: "He who gives an answer before he hears, it is folly and shame to him" (18:13).

There are a multitude of reasons why a person might impulsively speak before having all the facts. Some out pre-cell phone days). The is unavoidable, but he who of pride speak quickly thinking they already know the facts and the answer. Others speak quickly out of a lack of patience. Those with uncontrolled tempers whose words are ignited at the slightest provocation speak quickly without regard for all the facts of the matter. Regardless of the reason, hastily spoken words often lead to grievous injury and shame.

So noxious is this problem and so dangerous are these quick, foolish tongues that the inspired writer of Proverbs declares, "Do you see a man hasty in his words? There is more hope for a fool than for him" (29:20). The fool may be taught, but the man who is quick with his words closes himself off to the education that might lift him out of his self-imposed foolishness.

May each of us heed the words of James, "let everyone be quick to hear, slow to speak and slow to anger" (1:19). May we learn and demonstrate the wisdom of silence and few words.

Rosemary (Zimmerer) Richard March 8, 1945 - April 19, 2024

Rosemary (Zimmerer) Richard, 79, Westfield, was welcomed into heaven on April 19, 2024.

Rosie was born on March 8, 1945, to Nora (Lechner) and Mark Zimmerer in Kokomo, where she attended Saint Patrick's parish elementary school and St. Joseph's High School Academy in Tipton. She was a 1967 graduate of Saint Mary's College and received her Master of Social Work from Indiana University in 1969. She began her career as a licensed, clinical social worker and helped establish the Regional Mental Health Center of Howard Community Hospital in 1972. Her later work focused on child advocacy and group therapies at the Family Service Association of Howard County. For two decades, she offered nurturing, supportive counseling to clients who benefitted from her sincere concern and personal approach. She was in demand with clients who filled a waitlist to see her. She cheered client victories, recognized their needs, and believed everyone deserved good care if they couldn't always afford it.

Rosie was unmatched in her love and welcoming of everyone. Her home was a friendly gathering place and her arms were always open for a hug. She remembered and celebrated what made people uniquely special. Her holiday decorations heightened the festivity for everyone, and her table was always full of delicious food and desserts, especially her signature apple pie. Her kind and gentle demeanor shined through in every situation.

Rosie and her husband of 50 years, J. Arnold Richard, were proud parents of Eric (Rosemary) Richard, Paul (Monica) Richard, Amy (David) Krupa, and Adam (Natalie) Richard. She was the proud grandmother of Alexandra, Andrew, and Olivia Richard, Kyle and Sabrina Richard, and Violet and Ivy Krupa.

Experienced Millers improve to 5-1 with win over tough Royals

By RICHIE HALL

sports@readthereporter.com

NOBLESVILLE – The years of playing experience on the Noblesville girls tennis team are starting to reap some nice rewards.

The Millers are having a splendid season so far. Noblesville improved its dual-meet record to 5-1 for the year after beating county and Hoosier Crossroads Conference opponent Hamilton Southeastern 4-1 last Thursday at the Noblesville Tennis Complex.

Noblesville through all three singles matches in straight sets. No. 1 Bella Duncan was a 6-3, 6-2 winner, No. 2 Allie Stamm got a 6-1, 6-2 victory, while No. 3 Josie Flinchum picked up a 6-2, 6-1 win. The Millers' No. 2 doubles team of senior Ava Shoemaker and freshman Jayde Stamm toughed out a 7-6 (1), 6-3 victory.

The No. 1 doubles match featured all-senior teams for both schools. Southeastern's Peighton Bough and Maya Wetzel won a first-set tiebreak, then Noblesville's Lina Hamashuk and Cami Crist blasted through the second set 6-0. The Royals team took the lead in the third set and held off a comeback by the Millers to win the set 6-4, thus claiming the match.

No. 4 Millers complete sweep of Franklin Central

By CRAIG ADKINS

For The Reporter

cool weather last Friday didn't slow down Noblesville against Franklin Central. It would take more than the temperature dropping to try and slow down the Millers' offense.

Behind solid pitching from Nolan Decker and spreading out scoring over five different innings, Noblesville won its fifth game in a row, sweeping Franklin Central in the second game of the Hoosier Crossroads Conference series, 7-2.

Trevor Corbett led off the home half of the first, reaching on an error by right fielder Carson Back on a high fly ball. Corbett raced home on a wild pitch with Jacob Baker up for the early 1-0 lead.

Two batters later with two down, Aiden Ramsey faced an 0-2 count. The junior was hit by a Weston Harvey inside fastball, right on the face shield of his helmet. After several minutes, Ramsey would be back on his feet and helped to the dugout and would not return to the game.

The bottom of the order came through in the second. Blake Widget reached on an infield single and moved to second when Brady Bishop walked on four pitches. Corbett drove in Widget with his own infield base hit. Aiden Reynolds grounded out for termine the outcome. the second out, plating Bishop to make it 3-0. Decker got himself into a zone before any signs of trouble. The senior southpaw struck out eight in the first five innings, giving up just two hits and three total baserunners during that span.

"It's one of Nolan's strengths. He commands three pitches in the strike zone," Noblesville head coach Justin Keever said.

Control was a big factor and that's what Decker had in comparison to his counterpart Weston Harvey. Through four innings, Harvey had thrown twice as many (88) as Decker (44).

"Part of that pitch count stuff has a lot to do with our hitters. Our hitters' approaches have just been really sound all year long. Just quality at-bat after quality atbat. Regardless of what the box score says, every time we're going to the plate, guys are having savage at-bats," Keever continued.

Corbett grabbed his second RBI on a sacrifice fly to center, scoring Bishop for a 4-0 score in the fourth.

Tanner Miller scored on NOBLESVILLE – The a wild pitch in the fifth with Bishop up for 5-0.

One big factor that keeps Noblesville in position to win is that it doesn't matter who produces.

"When you have team atbats, when it's not just about you, but it's about the team," stated Keever.

Throughout the lineup, the Millers are capable of producing.

"Credit to our guys that just passed the baton all night long and really all season long to this point," said Keever.

The Flashes got their first run on the board in the sixth and another in the seventh before Decker shut the door.

Noblesville scored three over the fifth and sixth innings to keep the visitors at a distance, holding on for the five-run victory.

Decker (3-0) threw a complete game, striking out 10 and walking just two, while scattering six hits.

Reynolds went 2-for-3 with an RBI and scored. Corbett had two RBIs and Bishop scored twice.

The Millers were able to send the game to an extra inning, but the Bulldogs capitalized in that extra frame for a 6-3 road win.

Columbus North was able to draw three walks and one hit-by-pitch, grabbing a 1-0 lead in the top of the first.

In the bottom, Reynolds took a 2-2 pitch over the left center fence for a solo home run, his first of the season, tying the game 1-1 through one inning.

Both offenses would be settled down until the fifth. Pitcher Blake Osbourne drew a one-out walk and moved to second on a single by Brock Kintner. Osbourne scored on a Conner Hensley hit and Kintner made it 3-1 heading home on a wild pitch by Joe Glander.

Noblesville was able to get one of the runs back in the bottom. Sam Deno came in to pinch hit for Blake Widget and led off with a double. Deno was driven in on Corbett's single up the middle, cutting the deficit to 3-2.

The Carmel softball team hosted its annual Invitational last weekend.

Noblesville also participated in the invitational, which features some of the toughest competition across the state. While the Greyhounds and the Millers dropped all of their games at the event, both teams battled throughout the tournament and were able to find positives.

Carmel played four games at its tournament, starting with a 13-4 loss to Lake Central last Friday. The Indians were in control from the beginning, scoring five runs in the top of the first inning. The Greyhounds answered with two runs in the bottom of the first; Paxton Law singled in Ellie Goddard and Jayden Kleiner with a right field hit.

Law blasted a solo home run in the fourth inning, while Kayden Dierks scored on a wild pitch in the seventh inning.

Carmel played three more games last Saturday. The Hounds dropped their first game 9-6 to Penn, last season's Class 4A state champions.

The Kingsmen never trailed, scoring seven runs during the first two innings. Carmel scored a run in the bottom of the first, with Mia Fleming driving in Goddard with a right field hit.

The Greyhounds produced a big inning in the fourth, scoring four runs. Goddard started the run with a two-out double, then Klein-

Robert (Bob) Bragg

Republican for Hamilton County Treasurer

My objectives:

1. Maximize return on investments with minimal risk:

Hamilton County's rate of return was 3.95% in 2023 and 0.99% in 2022 compared to 5.30% and 1.48% for the State of Indiana's Investment fund (www. TrustINdiana.in.gov). Matching the state fund would have resulted in an additional $8.7 million in investment income over 2 years. 2. Adopt benchmarks to evaluate investment perfor-

Currently, there is no stated benchmark for investment returns. I will adopt the US Treasury three-month Bill ETF (TBIL) and the "Trust Indiana" fund as our benchmarks to properly evaluate performance.

3. Increase transparency in investments:

Currently, there is no data on invested funds on the Treasurer's web page. I will post investment returns and investment composition every quarter.

4. Increase adoption rates for E-billing of property tax statements:

The Treasurer mailed 125,000 paper copies of property tax bills in 2023. E-billing has been available for 12 years but I do not believe it has been communicated effectively. I believe we can save over $50,000 a year by reducing paper statements.

I am a lifelong investor and a fiscal conservative with over 30 years' service to Hamilton County. I am a 1989 graduate of Taylor University.

Susan Byer

Republican for County Treasurer

Susan Byer is a lifelong Hamilton County resident who has served Hamilton County for over 18 years in the Treasurer's office. She is the current Hamilton County Treasurer. Along with her role as Treasurer she has continued to serve her community as the 4-h Horse & Pony Project Superintendent and Hamilton County Horsemen's Club President.

In the last 4 years as Treasurer Byer has changed print vendors for County Tax Statements that saved the county $15,150 in 2021.

Byer manages 35-40 accounts within state statute throughout the year with safety and liquidity as a priority. Her adept ability to invest have earned the County $19.7 million in interest income in 2023 alone. Her average of 3.95% last year includes all County accounts. Investment accounts ranged from 4.9%-5.69%, well above TrustIndiana's 2023 YTD average of 5.04%.

As Treasurer she completes a Monthly Treasurer's Report and an Annual Investment Report that is accessible to the public on the County's website.

Byer puts the public first and is always available and willing to answer questions. Her experience, integrity, and customer service makes her the best candidate this year.

Please cast your vote for Susan Byer for Hamilton County Treasurer on May 7th.

Judge Steve Nation has dedicated his life to protecting and serving our community. In 1979, Steve became Prosecuting Attorney of Hamilton County and served four consecutive terms. In 1995, he became Hamilton County Judge and served four terms in office, and then retired in 2018. Steve's legacy and impact go far beyond the Through Steve's leadership, he has been able to move programs forward that support mental health, child and victim abuse, and substance abuse. In his re-election bid, Steve is focused on public safety, mental health, collaboration, and completing the work that has been started.

Matt McNally

Democrat for State Representative District 39

Matt is a veteran of Afghanistan, airline pilot, union member, and proud husband and father. He served in the military for over 22 years and retired in 2022 after attaining the rank of lieutenant colonel. Matt currently serves the Carmel and Westfield communities as the Senior Vice Commander of VFW Post 10003, on the board of the Westfield Kiwanis Club, and was an English as a second language instructor with Exodus Refugee. He and his wife, Brooke, have two children who attended Westfield public schools.

Matt first ran in 2022, when his campaign connected with more than 30,000 voters on their doorsteps. Matt is running because, after talking to many community members, he knows the policies pushed by the current super-majority are out of step with Hoosiers in the 39th District. Matt is ready to start working together for Indiana.

Victoria Garcia Wilburn

Democrat for State Representative District 32

Victoria Garcia Wilburn's experience as a healthcare clinician and health researcher and advocate has earned the respect of her colleagues in the Statehouse upon being elected in 2022. She is centered on improving the lives of Hoosiers through policies that advance health outcomes for all Hoosiers. She has championed initiatives for public safety (police, fire, EMT), increasing the safety and accountability of vulnerable children who are part of the Indiana Department of Child Services system, and is proud of her track record promoting the values of House District 32 to include a high quality of life and strong economic growth.

She serves on the Indiana Behavioral Health Commission, Indiana Commission on Hispanic/Latino Affairs, Employment Labor and Pension Committee, Family Children and Human Affairs, and the Judiciary Committee in her role as State Representative.

This campaign cycle she has received the endorsement of OneZone Chamber of Commerce, Vote Mama, and AgElect of the Indiana Farm Bureau. Dr. Garcia Wilburn has also received a distinction as a Mom's Demand Gun Sense Candidate.

Victoria, her husband Chris, a retired police officer, and her three children are the reason first ran for State Representative and remain her most cherished legacy. Connect with Wilburn on Facebook,

Joel Levi

Democrat for State Senate District 20

Joel was born and raised in Anderson, Indiana. He attended Anderson University where he met his wife Megan. After getting married they lived in Nashville, Tennessee from 2013-2020. Upon moving back home, they settled in Cicero, Indiana where they now live with their five year old son Mitchell. Joel's son currently attends the Little Huskies Pre-K at Hamilton Heights. Megan and Joel have always had a heart for healthcare. His wife is a nurse practitioner at Community Health. Joel is a pharmacy technician in the Coumadin Clinic and Outpatient Pharmacy at Riverview Health in Noblesville.

Levi is running for State Senate so that our children can live in the Indiana they deserve. This starts with our kids feeling safe at school. The simplest way to ensure this is with common sense gun laws.

If elected into the Indiana State Senate, Levi's top priority would be spearheading legislation so that Democrats and Republicans can join together to keep our Hoosier children safe. His goal is to reach across the aisle and find Republican legislators that believe in the Second Amendment, but that also believe in requiring background checks at gun shows and on third party sales.

Stephanie Jo Yocum

Democrat for State Representative District 88

Stephanie Jo Yocum was born and raised in Marion, Indiana and attended college at Hanover College in Hanover, Indiana. A daughter of a school teacher and a police officer, public service was a consistent feature of Stephanie Jo's upbringing. She proudly followed her parents example, by joining AmeriCorps after college. Stephanie Jo's career has centered around public service, with over 20 years in leadership roles for large non-profits focused on healthcare and education. Stephanie Jo is the Chair of the governor-appointed commission on volunteerism and service, Serve Indiana, and a member of Chief, a national network that connects and empowers women leaders. She currently resides on the northeast side of Indianapolis with her spouse, Jim and daughter, Betti. Stephanie Jo is running for State Representative because she believes Indiana needs more balanced and fair representation in the Statehouse. Indiana's current representation reflects the most extreme ideas and beliefs of its harmful supermajority; it does not accurately reflect the people of Indiana. Stephanie Jo is dedicated to providing access for all to quality education and healthcare. She will work to strengthen reproductive rights and public safety. She will be a fair and honest voice for all Hoosiers. Connect with Yocum at Stephanie Jo Yocum.com, on Facebook, or by emailing info@stephaniejoyocum.com.
