The Legacy Walk at Roberts Settlement, a self-guided outdoor experience that tells the story of Indiana's Black pioneers who settled in northern Hamilton County in the 1830s, will hold its public grand opening from 6 to 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 3. Roberts Settlement is located at 3102 E. 276th St., Atlanta.

Visitors will be greeted by "Morning Light," a dazzling entry feature symbolizing exploration, discovery, opportunity, and ownership. Beyond, the Legacy Walk winds through four separate interpretive-themed stations dedicated to the Black pioneer story. Each station includes a title monolith, a bench, and an interpretive story panel with photos, maps, and other graphics. Structures are fabricated from weathering steel and an exterior "stone-like" cladding material. The Roberts Settlement Legacy Walk as well as the surrounding grounds are always open to the

Future of Mad Ants may be seen at Noblesville's Boys & Girls Club

Basketball fans who make their way to the Noblesville Boys and Girls Club this weekend may be seeing the future of professional hoops in Hamilton County.

The Indiana Mad Ants, the G League team for the Indiana Pacers, is hosting its annual free agent tryout at the Club on Saturday, Oct. 5. The tryout will feature 120 prospective basketball players vying for a spot on the Mad Ants, who begin play at the new Noblesville Event Center next winter.

Registration and check in for players takes place from 10 to 11 a.m., with the games starting at noon. There will be 10 teams, with 12 players on each team. Games last for four 10-minute quarters, with everyone playing two games.

"Everyone will get an equal chance to play the same amount of minutes," said Chris Taylor, the Mad Ants' General Manager.

While there is a registration fee for the G League hopefuls, there is no charge for spectators, including the young people who are Club members.

"I think it does present a motivating opportunity, realizing anything's possible," said Taylor. "A lot of the players participating maybe got their start at the Boys and Girls Club."

Taylor said the Club has multiple gyms, which gives it the capacity to host such an event.

"Maybe they're the best in whatever league they play in," said Taylor. "That's the fun of it, and that's where you can find the diamonds in the rough. It's not restricted. Anybody's open to come."

Tim Bawmann, the Mad Ants team president, talked about Ron Howard as an example of a "diamond in the rough" that can come out of the tryouts. Howard played at Marquette

"We hosted the youth clinic college basketball or overseas signed out of a tryout camp, and went on to win three MVP Awards in the D League (the predecessor of the G League) "and helped lead the franchise to our only championship," said Bawmann. Howard went on to become the all-time leading scorer for the Mad Ants.

"Ron was one of those guys and we were fortunate enough to find him at a tryout camp," said Bawmann. "He's still with us. He does a lot of things for us in the community."

Grit & gumption

I've never known a hero who wasn't humble. I've never known one who didn't have grit and gumption.

I have a story about my friend Cathie Brown to tell you this week. She has a heart that wears boots and a hard hat. She is part of Team Rebound, which searches and rescues during major disasters. On Friday, after a flight to Tampa was canceled due to Hurricane Helene, I was rebooked on a late-night flight. After six delays, I was supposed to arrive at 1:30 on Saturday morning. Cathie saw my Facebook post.

I got a text from Cathie. She was in the area and would not let me say no to her rescuing me in the wee hours of the morning.

If you know Cathie, you know she can be a bit stubborn. However, her grit and gumption allow her to make a difference in the lives of those who endure major disasters. For 25 years, she has shown up to help in the relief of hurricanes, fires, and even 9/11.

Cathie walked Ground Zero after 9/11. Some of her stories are too personal and too hard to tell. She walked Maui when the fires devastated Lahaina. She knows all too well the power of a hurricane. She has seen, first hand ... and heart, the effects of Katrina, Andrew, and Ian. She knows all too well the hurricane alphabet. Now, she is helping those affected by Helene.

Cathie shows up. I should type Cathie

I asked her many questions as we shared a late breakfast on Saturday. I agreed to her picking me up if she would stay at our house in Tampa until she was deployed to her next assignment. Stubborn meets stubborn.

Carmel Mayor Sue Finkam is using a "zero-based budgeting model" for the city, a very different method of fund allocation than Carmel has seen in previous administrations. The Reporter was invited to talk to Mayor Finkam and CFO Zachary Jackson about this model and what it could mean for Carmel's financial Carmel Community Payers (CCP) is bringing Steel Magnolias to the stage Oct. 4 to 13 at The Cat, 254 Veterans Way, Carmel - and for Director Elizabeth Ruddell, this is a production three decades in the making.

The Reporter spoke to Ruddell about the show, the cast, and why it took her so long to mark this one off her director's wish list.

In the community theater world, a director will submit a play to the board for consideration, usually a season before it ever hits the stage. Steel Magnolias was quickly approved by CCP's board.

"I submitted it last season and they hopped right on top of it," Ruddell told The Reporter. "I've been wanting bus driver for Hamilton Heights High School, has been named the Husky Hero for the month of August.

Cummings, who has been driving for Heights for more than two decades, is not just a beloved bus driver, he is a fan favorite among the students who ride his bus as well as their families. He is also a friend, mentor, and treasured resource for colleagues and the department, sharing his time, knowledge, and experience. For him, being a bus driver is more than a job, it's an adventure. He loves his work, and it shows.

"This was a totally an unexpected and a very nice surprise," Cummings said upon receiving the award. "It is a great honor just to know people recognize the things you do. It's the kids – you can always learn something from them. Twenty years of driving, there's never a dull moment. And as a bus trainer, knowing that you're going to help somebody accomplish their goal of being a bus driver – it's very rewarding."

Rodney Cummings, a a proud Husky employee since 2005.

"Rodney has many hats here at HHSC," Heights Transportation Director Jaymie Wickstrom said. "First, he drives a bus on a daily route where he has made long standing relationships with his families. Most recently he invited his entire bus to join him at the high school football game for a cookout. Rodney helps provide transportation to many events for athletics. About Roberts Settlement

Roberts Settlement was founded in 1835 by free Blacks of mixed racial heritage who migrated mostly from North Carolina and Virginia as southern slavery threatened their freedoms and way of life. Their goals were the pursuit of economic, educational, and religious aspirations with the freedom and liberties that they believed rightfully belonged to all people. For 100 years the descendants have gathered annually for the family Homecoming to celebrate their shared history and renew family bonds. For more information, visit

Center & Allied Solutions announce naming partnership

The REPORTER

The Center for the Performing Arts and financial services provider Allied Solutions have entered a seven-year sponsorship agreement that will rename the nonprofit arts organization and the three-venue campus it operates at Carmel City Center.

For the newly dubbed Allied Solutions Center for the Performing Arts, the partnership reinforces financial stability and provides a greater pool of resources to sustain and expand programming, President/ CEO Jeffrey C. McDermott said. Opened in 2011, Allied Solutions Center is best known for the annual Center Presents concert season which features national and international artists in a range of genres, as well as a broad menu of educational and experiential opportunities for people of all ages.

"Allied Solutions has supported the center from the very beginning, and that relationship has provided great value on all sides," McDermott said. couldn't be more pleased that such a highly respected national company, headquartered right here in our community, sees the value of taking our partnership to a new level that will prove transformative for the center in the years to come."

Carmel-based Allied Solutions, which has sponsored the Center Presents season since 2015, fits the arts organization's stated goal of securing not just a financial investor, McDermott said, but a true partner with shared values and a mutual commitment to enhancing quality of life in central Indiana. Allied Solutions has strong community partnerships and continues to make investments in the communities where its employees live and work.

'We're invested in creating vibrant communities for our employees, residents and visitors," Allied Solutions CEO Pete Hilger said. "Through this partnership, we are supporting some of the most dynamic arts and performance venues in the region and a campus which also serves as a community hub, hosting award-winning cultural events, including Carmel's Christkindlmarkt."

McDermott said the support from Allied Solutions will provide more flexibility in booking artists for the Center Presents season and enable the continued expansion of educational programs while making them more affordable and Drive provides a rent-free

MAD ANTS-

Players must be at least 18 years old to participate; Mad Ants head coach Tom Hankins said that most are between the ages of 22 and 35.

Hankins said that since the older players have more experience, "they have a better feel of how to play."

"Some of them, may have slowed down a little bit, but they understand how to play more and they have a better feel for the game," said Hankins. "They pass the ball better, they just have a good understanding of what's getting ready to happen because they've been through it so many times."

Different scenarios

Hankins said that everyone at the tryout will play at least two or three games. There will also be shooting and other types of drills so the coaches can evaluate the from Page A1 players in different settings. "We'll put them in all kinds of different scenarios so we can get the best look at them," said Hankins, who is entering his sixth year as head coach of the Mad Ants.

The coach said he's looking for players that have "one or more G League or NBA level skill or talent. What we said to them is 'What do you need to do your job; to serve our constituents based on the priorities in the Elevate Caramel Plan? Go. Assume you get nothing other than your employees.' We did not say you have to rebuild your employee base. But what expenses do you need to get the job done?"

Expenses other than current employees had to be grouped into "programs." As an example, running snow removal in winter would be a snowplow program.

Jackson explained it to The Reporter with a grocery store analogy where programs are the bundled sets of expenses a department wants or needs to run.

"I use the analogy of a shopping cart," Jackson said. "Tell us what programs you want to put in there, and before we get to the checkout lane of city council, the mayor and I will work with each department head and decide what gets to stay in the shopping cart or what needs to be put "Assume your base is nothing," Finkam said. "Your base is nothing every year. So next year we'll do it again. Again, the base is zero. Assume you don't necessarily get those dollars."

According to Finkam, in previous budget processes, departments would get an increase in funding as a direct reflection of the increase in the city's overall budget. That also meant that the total allocation of public funds for each department would be that same percentage of the entire budget. Public safety is getting a higher percentage of this budget because Carmel has faced challenges in recruiting and retaining police and fire personnel. With open positions in those departments, overtime costs have been up in recent years. Public safety personnel leave Carmel police and fire for multiple reasons. Some find it is not the right career for them. Some transfer to other departments. Some are drawn away to other cities by better offers. Finkam told The Reporter that last reason is what she hopes to address through budget priorities.

> This increased cost is being paid for, in part, by moving expenses from places they should not have been to places they should, and by refunding bonds at a lower rate without extending the life of the bond itself.

'This general administration department that we had before was a good example," Jackson said. "It paid for the cost of maintaining City Hall, but it also had other costs that - they weren't inappropriate expenses they just made more sense to move elsewhere. For example, we offer our retirees a supplement on their health insurance if they were here for 20 years or more. We paid that out of our general administration line instead of out of our HR agencies. Same thing with some of our workers' costs. Same thing with our property casualty insurance. So, in this budget, we tried to be more transparent. Instead of being a vague 'general administration,' we've tried to move things out and rename some of the funds - departments, too just to be more clear."

"We also – for some reason – have usually made our city's debt service payments out of our Board of Public Works," Jackson said. "And again. I can't figure out why that was done. We've moved that to the Finance Department. We [the Finance Department] were making them before, but just on behalf of another department. The Board of Public Works is three people that review contracts and other things before they move forward."

According to Jackson. moving debt service payments from the Board of Public Works to the Finance Department "just made a lot more sense."

At the beginning of the Carmel City Council Budget Hearing on Sept. 25, which you can view in its entirety online, Mayor Finkam said, "What got us here today won't get us there tomorrow."

Westfield works toward greater diversity through new coalition

By AMY ADAMS

news@readthereporter.com

A group of around a dozen community members met at the Westfield City Services Center on Wednesday evening, Sept. 25, to work toward establishing a coalition to focus on diversity initiatives in the city.

"As mayor, I believe that establishing a diversity coalition is crucial for fostering inclusivity and strengthening our community," Mayor Scott Willis said. "By bringing together voices from various backgrounds and experiences, we can promote collaboration and understanding and ensure that all residents feel represented and valued."

This initial meeting follows a gathering of around 40 people at the Willis home several months ago to talk about the need for such an organization and to gauge interest in participation. The first two gatherings have drawn people from various vocational, experiential, and ethnic backgrounds.

"People are interested and excited," said Peg something that promotes mutual respect."

The resident-driven coalition is still in the development and organizational

"The coalition as an organization is independent from the city," Willis said. "But, the city will support it and set it up for success. We're not going to change anything overnight, but we need to show the community we're here and we have a purpose."

> One issue the group addressed Wednesday evening was the recent Cuisine Connect Culture event organized by Westfield Welcome. Everyone who attended the festival on Saturday, Sept. 21, agreed that it's a great event, but it has been poorly attended compared to other Westfield Welcome events throughout the year.

Matt Deck, Westfield director of facilities and events, was on hand to hear feedback on ways to get the word out about the event and draw more people, both people from diverse cultures as well as those who want to fundraising to help the orgalearn about and experience diverse cultures.

Highway Department nearing completion on four major projects in Adams Township

The REPORTER

The Hamilton County Highway Department's replacement of three small bridges along Finley Creek - located at Lamong Road, 226th Street, and 221st Street - are on track for completion by the end of the year.

These major infrastructure improvements, worth $3.1 million, are designed to enhance drainage and improve traffic flow in Adams Township as well as complement a future reconstruction of the Finley Creek regulated drain from Boone County to the Town of Sheridan.

Lamong Road between 226th Street and State Road 38 is currently closed to all thru traffic as crews work on the Lamong Road bridge replacement, road improvements, and intersection improvements at Lamong Road and 226th Street. The Lamong Road bridge replacement, situated just north of 226th Street, along with the 226th Street/Lamong Road intersection im- ects at ReadTheReporter.com.

provement project, should reopen this week.

'We appreciate the community's patience as we work through the completion of these projects," said Brad Davis, Director of the Hamilton County Highway Department. "These projects enhance current area drainage and intersection safety for all road users with wider lanes and improved intersection turn movements."

Meanwhile, the replacement of the 226th Street bridge will require continued closure of 226th Street (east of Lamong Road), with completion expected by late October or early November. Additionally, the 221st Street bridge, located approximately 700 feet east of Lamong Road, is scheduled to be closed for replacement on or after Oct. 2 for 90 calendar days.

For ongoing updates on these projects, residents can go to hamiltoncounty. in.gov/233/Highway-Department.

County hires dedicated cybersecurity expert

New position responsible for protecting the county from cyber threats

The REPORTER

Hamilton County's Information Systems Services (ISS) Department has hired a Chief Information Security Officer (CISO), a position created to enhance the county's cybersecurity

Timothy Renick brings extensive experience from his previous roles as Head of Technology for the City of Carmel and Madison County, Ill.

The establishment of this dedicated cybersecurity role comes in response to increasing cyber threats affecting municipalities across Indiana and nationwide. As part of the 2024 budget process, additional funds were allocated to secure the expertise required for this critical position.

"Having a dedicated CISO is essential for Hamilton County," ISS

Department Director Chris Mertens said. "We have various cybersecurity measures in place, but it's crucial to have someone overseeing the entire landscape to identify any potential gaps. The reality is that cyber threats are not going away; we must be proactive in protecting our community's resources."

In his role, Renick will oversee the establishment and execution of security strategies, policies, and standards, including those related to emerging technologies such as artificial intelligence. He will also work to safeguard the county's information assets, conduct risk assessments, manage compliance issues, and coordinate incident response plans to ensure critical services remain operational.

"The recent surge in cyber-attacks has highlighted the necessity of being prepared," Mertens added. "With the vast amount of data we manage, this is the right time to strengthen our defenses and ensure consistency in our security practices across all departments. Having someone solely dedicated to cybersecurity is a significant and positive step for our long-term

35 local artists represented in Fishers Juried Exhibit

The REPORTER

Fishers Municipal Center welcomed the Fishers Arts Council (FAC) into its bright, open gallery space for the fifth annual Juried Exhibit of Hamilton County Artists awards ceremony on Friday evening, Sept. 13.

As in the previous four years, Jiffy Lube of Indiana was the art competition's title sponsor, and Jiffy Lube of Indiana CEO Steve Sanner was present to welcome artists and guests. This year, Noblesville Creates stepped in as the new People's Choice award sponsor, with its executive director, Ailithir McGill, presenting the award. This year the boundary for the exhibit was extended to a mile beyond the county line, permitting artists who consider Hamilton County their home, but reside in surrounding counties.

The "Best in Show" winner was Carmel resident Jerry Mannell for his painting "Harbinger." He received an award of $1,000, a solo lowing comment from the show's judge, Dan Annarino:

"Anyone looking at this painting for the first time needs to think about it. 'What's it all about?' Might the viewer see a bird – a Cardinal, perhaps – and a mailbox? There are so many ways to look at this painting because it has so much depth. The subtle colors work well. The composition/balance is very good because the painting itself is so active. There is lots of movement in this kinetic presentation."

Best Landscape, sponsored by Wasson Nursery, was awarded to Karissa Rumsey of Fishers for "Pemaquid Lighthouse.'

Casey Williams of Mc-Cordsville won Best Floral/ Other for "Garden Goddess." Noblesville artist Deborah Smith received Best Portrait/ Figurative for her oil painting, "A Midsummer Day's Dream." "Nature's Layers," a mixed media piece by Caroline Hays of Noblesville, won Best Abstract. Each of exhibit for 2025, and the fol-these artists received $600.

Two merit awards were also presented, courtesy of a grant from Walmart #5767. Recipients were Brinton Farrand of Cicero and Craig Mullins of Indianapolis. All winners were selected by juror Dan Annarino of West Lafayette.

There was also stiff competition for the Noblesville Creates People's Choice award, with patrons voting on Facebook and in-person in the gallery. The winner was Fishers resident Stephanie Carignan with her impasto work, "Weathered & Woven Grassland." It received the most overall votes, both online and in-person and a $250 cash prize.

All of these award-winning paintings are for sale, as are almost all of the other equally amazing works in the gallery through Sept. 28. FAC hopes that many Hamilton County residents, and others, will visit the Art Gallery at City Hall in the Fishers Municipal Center and experience the art and enjoy the work of many talented people in our area.

Guests can visit the gallery in person at 1 Municipal Drive from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday to Friday, and from 10 a.m. to noon Sept. 28. You can also see the juried exhibit in the online gallery on Facebook page at Facebook.com/FishersArt.

A humiliating encounter

Sometimes, our minds create stories that we believe will Personally happen. speaking, I waste a lot of time worrying about things that never happen, yet I often cannot help myself from dwelling on these fictitious scenarios. It is because I have endured a lifetime of strangers' flippant and downright rude comments towards me and my disabled body.

When these stories do not come to life, I think to myself, "how silly that I spent all this at time worrying about something that never happened!"

I guess my best explanation for why I do this is a way of protecting myself from deep wounds caused by others who do not even know me. If I can think it before it happens it won't hurt so bad. It has happened countless times over my lifetime as a disabled person. It does not matter if they do not know me, or that their comments have more to do with whatever may he going on in their lives more than it is about me. Ok, I get that.

However, words hurt. They cut deep and can leave us feeling humiliated and broken. Hateful words are hard to forget.

Recently, I was having a good day physically. It was a day when I felt I could make a short trip to the grocery store to get a few things my pickup order was lacking. Gone are the days where I can do an entire grocery trip on my own two feet, but these shorter trips are still within reach on some days. I am grateful.

As I made my way to the back of the store to look for light bulbs, I passed a woman going the opposite way in the aisle. After I passed her, I noticed she turned around to

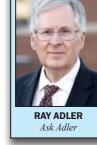

"It feels like she's following me a little too close," I thought. I felt uncomfortable. As soon as that thought crossed my mind, I heard her loudly say, "Come on! Surely, you can walk better than that. Pathetic!'

Sweet sixteen

Here's another story from my mother, Dorothy Howard Adler.

Sixteen. A busy time. No time for a long, lazy summer. Farm life is always busy, summer probably the busiest season. A time to grow. So many things to do, not enough hours in the day.

COLUMNIST

A time for a new piano. Not just any new piano. The best. (Mother wasn't so sure, but Dad was.) Little One would need it, too, in a few years. Summer school. 4-H. Yes, time to grow.

Not physically. She was already the same size as her mother. Except those lovely, long legs. Well, perhaps a bit wider in the shoulders, but she was fond of wearing Mother's dresses. If sewing was done at home, one pattern with minor alterations would fit both.

This was the summer of The Dress. A 4-H requirement. Mother found it easier to make a dress for herself, making necessary adjustments, then proceed with Daughter's clothes, adding a few youthful touches.

A satisfactory pattern was chosen. Simple, sleeveless, A-line skirt. A summer pastel in white, pink, blue, and silver stripes was soon transformed into a summer frock for Mother.

Now for Daughter's turn. She chose well: a rosie-pink sheer suitable for dressup wear. In between all the other activities The Dress was completed.

The day for judging arrived. We had planned for that, but that morning Daughter announced she must take her drivers' test. Not too bad; Mother could fit an extra trip into her already crowded schedule.

Then the shocker. Daughter was giving The Dress a last-minute pressing when she remembered she had not made the belt or covered the buckle. A belt was a sine qua non. Time is running out. What to do? "Mom, would you...?" The voice was filled with pathos and pleading. Who could resist?

Mom did. The answer was no. Mother had a friend Gertrude who had a daughter. Daughter could not stand to lose. When she made a less-than-perfect garment, Gertrude would rip and resew. Then Daughter would "win" a blue ribbon. How unfair.

After a few moments of moaning and wailing someone suggested a ribbon belt. A-ha! The perfect solution. Mother called the largest department store. Niblicks were sorry, no ribbons the right color. A call to the store that had replaced the old Boston Store across from Niblicks had similar results.

Bob's Sewing Center was the only other possibility. Did you ever meet Bob? "Yes, yes, of course. Several shades. Yes, lots of ribbon, lots of shades. Come right in."

"Indiana's life sciences ecosystem continues to grow and prove that we offer the perfect environment for exploration, experimentation and innovation," IEDC Chief Strategy Office Ann Lathrop said. "Indiana has proven it's one of the nation's top locations for life science businesses of every kind. I'm thrilled to see Portal relocate to Indiana and I look forward to the impact they make on the state and its life sciences sector."

The company will lease 18,000 square feet of existing space located on Southpark Drive with a total capital investment of $4.07 million. The Westfield City Council will consider a personal property abatement, which was introduced at the Sept. 23 council meeting.

The things they buried

Grandma Lil', my mother's mother, died

She had been holed up in a nursing home for far too long. It was a death mourned, yet one too that, based on her dwindling quality of life, brought relief to us all - it was one of those deaths.

At the funeral home, before the lid was closed and sealed, I witnessed my crazy uncles put two items in the coffin: five Hoyle playing cards fanned in her right hand (Jack of hearts, Jack of diamonds, Queen of hearts, King of hearts, and Ace of hearts, the perfect euchre hand if hearts is trump – a At least something good came some good old standbys: loner); and a cold can of beer from Pat's misfortune. smuggled in from the nearby K of C. I'm not sure why it had to be a cold can of beer ... well her predestined six feet, which ... you know ... considering the circumstance.

Now before you hastily judge what my uncles did as lowbrow, keep in mind that the writer Christopher Buckley, as reported in his memoir, Losing Mum and Pup, buried his famous father, William F. Buckley, with a jar of his favorite peanut butter, along with his wife's ashes and a TV remote control. You'd be hard pressed to name someone more highbrow than the Buckleys.

A rosary, in my grandmother's left hand, was pressed to her chest. The grandsons were pallbearers.

We carried our grandmother through the cemetery rain. The ground was a muddy mess. The dress shoes, worn by my brother Pat, were sucked from his feet by muck when he veered off course, as if the dead below played a practical joke. Seeing him straining with only his white socks showing in the mud caused my grief-stricken mother to laugh with surprise and exclaim, "Patrick lost his shoes." A few others chuckled.

Grandma Lil' staked claim to is one of life's few guarantees.

Today, I still think about those other things buried with Grandma Lil': her rosary; her cards; her beer.

I still think she would have approved.

Those three items summed up her simple life. Before the nursing home, she was a devout churchgoer and a fierce, lifelong euchre player; and all through my life, rarely did I see her without a beer. She was that kind of grandmother. Sauced on Saturday nights more than not. She enjoyed her life ... well, most definitely the weekends.

It was the perfect send-off for her, put into play by my crazy uncles, the gesture done with the utmost respect for their dead

I think about my own inevitable dirt nap now, one that hopefully won't begin for at least two more decades, pending my quality of life. I hope to make it through a few more pets and Corolla year models first.

What simple items summing up my life should be placed in my coffin? I think about that from time to time. These things have changed as my interest in things have changed. It's best to keep it simple, I guess. Here are

The coffin lowered as of The Stories of John Cheev- Grandma Lil'. Who knows? er, my favorite short story collection, as well as The Short big key to it all. I'll need to buy Stories, by Ernest Hemingway. While you're at it, toss in the first Scholastic book I ever ordered from school, Arnold Lobel's Frog and Toad Are Friends, which hooked me on reading. It's very thin and won't take much room. Heck, throw in a few other books too, preferably some I haven't read yet (I keep a stack of unread books beside my bed). I anticipate having plenty of reading time. I'll need light source, obviously. A flashlight maybe ... scratch that man@gmail.com.

... a flashlight must be held and aimed at the page. That sounds too tiring for someone who is supposed to be eternally resting. A lantern maybe.

· Some Jimmy Buffett records. To keep it manageable, just include those from A White Sport Coat and a Pink Crustacean to Coconut Telegraph. I'll also need a turntable. Please make room.

• My son and daughter in the same photo, both smiling, to show I've been a good dad despite worries to the contrary. I want to be buried with a photo of my wife, Brynne, too. There's plenty of us together smiling (I truly don't know how she does it). A photo in St. Croix will do. We have great Caribbean smiles.

• A rosary, for superstitious • My worn paperback copy reasons – thanks for the idea, maybe that string of beads is the one, though stealing one seems more fun.

> · And finally, a trusty crowbar ... just in case I change my mind about the whole damn death thing.

If space becomes an issue, please remove my shoes. Give them to my brother Pat, a potential pallbearer. He might need a backup pair, especially if it rains. I hope it does rain. It seems easier to leave in the rain.

The search for an endgame to tobacco use, part 1

For decades, public health officials and anti-tobacco activists have talked about the "endgame" in tobacco control. It refers to laws and policies that would virtually end tobacco use.

Great strides have been made in reducing smoking in the past half-century. These measures include smoke-free laws, increasing cigarette taxes, anti-smoking media campaigns, state tobacco prevention and cessation programs, and the Master Settlement Agreement requiring the tobacco industry to pay states billions of dollars to compensate for state-incurred health-care costs.

Congress restricted tobacco advertising, mandated tobacco warning labels on product packaging, banned flavored cigarettes (except menthol), increased the legal age for sales to 21, and gave the U.S. Federal Food and Drug Administration authority to comprehensively regulate tobacco products including product nicotine content (natural or synthetic).

These efforts have resulted in the reduction in the social acceptability of smoking, especially in public. It has also drastically reduced the percentage of adult smoking to an all-time low nationally of 11 percent (Indiana is 19 percent). Adolescent tobacco smoking has also greatly decreased in the past 25 years but unfortunately has been replaced by vaping.

According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, despite these advances, tobacco use still represents the leading cause of preventable disease and premature death in the U.S. with 521,000 tobacco-related deaths yearly. One in five deaths is caused by tobacco use; one-half of smokers will eventually die from their tobacco addiction.

It's widely thought that the remaining percentage of people smoking is extremely difficult to reduce, hence the endgame-strategy discussion. One strategy gaining steam is referred to as a "birthdate phaseout" approach. Recent commentaries including an article in the May 30 issue of the New England Journal of Medicine call attention to this age-based strategy.

The idea is to institute a threshold birthdate after which it would be illegal to sell tobacco products to anyone with later birthdates. For example, using a birthdate of Jan. 1, 2009, would prevent individuals currently too young to legally purchase tobacco from buying it their entire lives. Eventually, no one would be able to purchase tobacco, and depending on the law, other nicotine-containing products.

This strategy would not affect tobacco access to those born before the threshold birthdate and current addicted smokers. It would also not sanction those illegally buying tobacco but only the retailers selling it.

The concept of a birthdate phaseout has been circulating worldwide for decades. New Zealand passed such a law in 2022 but subsequently repealed it with change in governmental leadership. The approach is currently being considered in the U.K., the European Union, Norway, Australia, and some Asian countries. In the U.S., Brookline, Mass., enacted a phaseout in 2020, and since being upheld by the state's Supreme Court as constitutional, it's being considered by other Massachusetts localities. A municipal law would have relatively little impact; eventually it would have to be followed by state or federal laws to be truly effective.

Legislative proposals differ in what products are prohibited. Some include only combustible tobacco products as in the U.K. Others like Brookline's are broader and include vapes.

Endgame strategies including the birthdate phaseout could create a tobacco/nicotine-free generation and eventually a society free from tobacco product toxins and carcinogens. Millions of lives and billions in healthcare costs would be saved. But there are substantial barriers to enactment such as loss of state tobacco-tax revenue and opposing business and political pressures.

Next month, I will review another novel endgame strategy.

Steven Allan McLean April 28, 1958 - September 21, 2024

Steven Allan McLean sadly passed unexpectedly on September 21, 2024, at the age of 66 at his home in Dallas, Ga.

Steve was born on April 28, 1958 in McCordsville, Ind., to David and Betty (Owen) McLean, who preceded him in death. He grew up in McCordsville as one of eight children and is survived by Nancy, Larry, Sandra, and Gary, and preceded in death by David, Ron, and Mike.

Steve graduated in 1976 from Hamilton Southeastern where he was a passionate athlete in football, wrestling, and track. He then attended Indiana Central majoring in business and physical education while playing football.

In 1979, he married Cheryl Pavy and welcomed two daughters, Aimee (Alexander) Jacobs and Alyssa (Matthew) Yanson. He was a proud grandfather to eight grandchildren: Declan and Annalise Jacobs, Isaiah, Raelynn, Ryleigh, Fisher, Finleigh, and Archer Yanson, as well as numerous foster grandchildren. Affectionately known as "Memac" by the children, he cherished spending time with them whether it was through playful antics, bouncing babies, giving piggy back rides, or playing horsey.

Following his college years, Steve dedicated himself to teaching and coaching football and track at Maconaquah, Cascade, and Hamilton Southeastern high schools.

He later transitioned to a career in Human Resources before finding his calling as a recruiter for engineers, combining his love of helping people with his talent for connection.

Steve and Cheryl divorced in 2017. Steve found love again and remarried Kim (Wineinger) McLean in May 2024 with whom he shared a home in Dallas, Ga.

Steve was goofy and a kid at heart. He loved children and could coax a giggle from even the fussiest, grumpiest child. He was also an avid gardener and had transformed his yard into a lush, tranquil outdoor oasis with innumerable hummingbirds, songbirds and bunnies. It was where he was most at peace. His diligent work ethic was evident in both his career and daily life. He always had an ongoing project and was always eager to help out others with their projects as well. He could fix anything!

Steve will be remembered as a loving, joyful, playful, hardworking young soul with an infectious laugh. His absence will be felt deeply by all who knew him.

A Celebration of Life will be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 2, 2024, from the chapel of Bellamy Funeral Home with Rev. Dennis Bellamy officiating. Livestream will be available. The family will receive friends at the funeral home from noon to 2 p.m. Wednesday, October 2.

In lieu of flowers please consider a donation for audio Bibles at jashow.org/audio-bible-resources-2024.

Bellamy Funeral Home is honored to serve the family of Mr. Steve McLean of Dallas, Ga. Condolences: bellamyfuneralhome.com.

Heraclitus once said, "The only thing constant is change." recognized there to be little if any stability in the created

Seasons and weather are constantly changing. Even seemingly unchanging things, like the mountains, have over the years eroded and slowly but surely changed. People are constantly changing their minds, moods, words, actions, etc. Ever tried to rely upon someone only for them to change their mind? Happens all the time. We are constantly looking for stability in people, only to find a shiftiness. So, we begin to lose faith in them.

For us to find true stability, we have to look beyond creation. The Bible is filled with passages describing the stable, unchanging nature of God. James says with God there is "no variation or shadow of turning" (James 1:17). God is not shifty. God never changes. God never varies. God does not go through phases or have mood swings. His character is consistent. God is not like us; He does not change his mind (Numbers 23:19). He is not going to say one thing and then do another. He says what he means and does what he says. It is hard to know who to trust, is it not? Do you trust your parents? Some of us do, but have they ever let you down? Do you trust your spouse ... your friends ... your neighbor ... your co-workers ... yourself?

My point is NOT to say you cannot have a measure of trust for people in your life or for yourself. But in 6:13-20). Know anyone in the end, God is it. There is nothing or no one else that holds that kind of stability to the end.

Paul says in Asia he and his companions "were burdened beyond measure, above strength, so that we despaired even of life. Have you ever been in a situation like that, where life is so difficult that you just want to die to escape Do you have it? Paul was so down that he despaired even of life itself. He was so unsure how to get out of the situation. He had nowhere to turn except God. If you find yourself there, I hope you will remember this text. Paul learned that there are times we cannot even trust ourselves, but we can always Joshua said there was not one word of God's good promises that failed (Joshua 21:43-45; 23:14-16). #### God is genuinely interested in our well-being.

Not just so He could have someone love Him back, but because He loves us and is genuinely interested in our well-being.

God is both willing and able to help us (cf. Hebrews 2:17-18).

In Luke 5:12 a leper said to Jesus, "Lord, if You are willing, You can make me clean." This man trusted Jesus could but was unsure if he was willing. Jesus was both willing and able (vs.13). It would have been devastating to this man if Jesus were able, but not willing (or vice versa). You may know people who are willing, but unable ... or able, but unwilling. Thankfully, God is both willing and more than able to help us.

God's help is constantly available.

Have you ever had your car break down along the side of the road, so you called someone you trust, but they did not answer their phone? God's not like that. God's help is always available to us (cf. Hebrews 4:16). God is dependable. He has proven himself to be. He cares for you (1 Peter 5:7). He is willing, able, and always available. So, turn to Him. Let us know if there is anything we can do to help you with that.

Visitors are welcome and valued. We meet at 15530 Herriman Blvd., Noblesville. Our phone number is (317) 219-5852. We meet for Sunday morning Bible Study at 10 a.m. and have classes for all ages. ## Ruth Ellen Edwards

July 14, 1933 – September 22, 2024

Ruth Ellen Edwards, 91, entered eternal rest on Sunday, September 22, 2024, at her home in Arcadia. Ruth was born in the small town of Dugger, Ind., to Floyd and Ethel Waddell on July 14, 1933.

On October 22, 1960, she married Gene Edwards and they spent 42 years of marriage together before Gene's passing in 2002.

Ruth graduated from Windfall High School in 1951, after which she had a few different jobs until choosing to work in the cafeteria for Walnut Grove High School and then Hamilton Heights High School for over 37 years. A homemaker in the truest sense of the word, Ruth enjoyed and excelled in all things domestic. When she wasn't outside tending to the garden or the family farm, she could be found inside cooking and baking; she was especially known for her pies and cookies. Ruth also loved reading and was a faithful member of Omega Christian Church, but by far her greatest delight was found in spending time with her friends and family. Ruth was a loving mother, grandmother, great-grandmother, and sister. She is survived by her son, Glenn (Jennifer) Edwards of Tipton; stepdaughter, Dinah (Marvin) Thacker of Tippecanoe, Ind.; stepdaughter, Karen (Michael) Gordon of Argos, Ind.; stepson, Tom (Susan) Edwards of Spencerville; stepson, Roy (Donna) Edwards of East Ridge, Tenn.; and sister, Reba Hale of Kokomo.

and several nieces and nephews. Along with her husband Gene and her parents, Ruth was preceded in death by her brother, Jack Waddell.

She is also survived by 17 grandchildren, 28 great-grandchildren,

Visitation and services for Ruth were held Thursday, September 26, 2024, at Hartley Funeral Home in Cicero, with Pastor Neal Brown officiating. Immediately following the funeral, a committal service took place at LaFontaine IOOF Cemetery in LaFontaine, Ind., where Ruth was laid to rest.

Memorial contributions may be made to Omega Christian

Joseph Michael Mateyko August 14, 1963 - August 27, 2024

Joseph Michael Mateyko, 61, Poland, Ind., passed away on Tuesday evening, August 27, 2024, at Witham Hospital in Lebanon, Ind. Born August 14, 1963, in Brunswick, Maine, he was the son of the late Charles and Rachel (Gonzales) Mateyko. He was a graduate of Mt. Ararat High School. After finishing high school, Joseph honorably served his country as a soldier in the United States Army.

ing work due to his dedication and his incredible eye for detail. Joseph was a devout Catholic and a 20-year member of the St. Maria Goretti Catholic Church in Westfield. His faith helped guide every decision in his life. Joseph loved volunteering at the church and enjoyed putting his years of expertise to good use by helping with repairs and maintenance.

Joseph loved the outdoors, and never passed up an opportunity (work or play) to be outside. His hobby was doing tree work. He always enjoyed pruning and manicuring trees, helping to extend their life for decades to come. Joseph passed away doing just that, working with trees in the great outdoors. All work and no play is never good for the soul, and for Joseph, the perfect way to reset his mind and spirit was to hop on his Harley and hit the open road. Sometimes there was a plan and a destination, but more times than not, he just headed out and lived the adventure as it played out ... the mark of a true Harley man. As the colder weather starts to set in, most people start complaining about what is on the way, but not Joseph. The cooler temperatures meant it was time for two more of his favorite activities: snowmobiling and New England Patriots football.

There was nothing in Joseph's life that came ahead of his family. His faith and his values are the cornerstones of a wonderful legacy that he leaves for them to continue.

Joseph is survived by his two sons, Joseph Michael Mateyko, Jr. of Matthews, Va., and David James Mateyko (Lexi) of Sheridan; three daughters, Taylor Mateyko (Robert Hudson) of Cicero, Allison Gerth of Sheridan, and Madison Gerth of Sheridan; seven grandchildren, Mason Mateyko, Draven Mateyko, Kimbrinna Horsley, Kaceton Rogers, Daisy Boatwright, Leonard Catron, Logan Simmermon, and Kiernan Mateyko; brother, George Mateyko (De De); three sisters, Rachelle Tome, Dolores Mateyko, and Julianna Dullum (Mike); and his canine BFF, Chula.

He was preceded in death by his parents, Charles and Rachel (Gonzales) Mateyko; his brother, James Mateyko; and his brother-in-law, Dennis Tome.

A Mass of Christian Burial took place Saturday, September 28, 2024, at St. Maria Goretti Catholic Church, 17102 Spring Mill Road, Westfield. Immediately following the Mass, a meal was provided in the Community Parish Room, where everyone was invited to join the family for a time of fellowship.

In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be presented to St. Maria Goretti Catholic Church.

Arrangements have been entrusted to Kercheval Funeral Home in Sheridan.

Noblesville falls just short at Homecoming

The REPORTER

Noblesville dropped a back-and-forth Homecoming game to Franklin Central last Saturday by the score of 35-28.

The Flashes scored the only points of the first quarter on a field goal. The Millers jumped ahead 8-3 in the second period after Ty Holmes punched the ball in from the one-yard line, then Israel Oladipupo made a successful two-point conversion run.

Franklin Central moved back in front 9-8 by halftime after a long touchdown pass, then surged ahead 20-8 after three quarters. The Flashes scored on a short touchdown run, made a two-point pass, then kicked another field goal.

Noblesville blasted back in front with two touchdown runs, starting with a two-yard score from Luke Hile. Oladipupo ran in from 11 yards minutes later, and the Millers held a 21-20 lead.

But FC went back ahead after Nate Jones made a 48yard kickoff return to the end zone, and the Flashes held the lead from there.

Carmel gets big bounce back win at North Central

By CRAIG ADKINS

For The Reporter

INDIANAPOLIS – For the second time in five weeks, last Friday night's games were postponed to Saturday. The effects of Hurricane Helene had made its way to central Indiana and with high winds and consistent rain, athletic directors throughout the state made the call to postpone games. The 71st meeting between Carmel and North Central was forced to wait until Saturday to renew their old Metropolitan Conference rivalry.

It didn't take long for the Greyhounds to get back on the right track to cruise to a 48-14 win over the host Panthers.

Carmel forced the Panthers to punt on its first drive. That set the hounds up perfectly with great field position at the North Central 48.

The 'Hounds made a statement and got on the board quickly with an Anthony Coellner touchdown pass to Dominic Shockley from four yards out for the early 7-0 lead.

On the third play of the ensuing series for NC, quarterback Caleb Foor fumbled deep in their own territory. Outside linebacker Brandon Adams recovered the ball at the Panther 15.

Coellner plunged in from one yard that made it a 14-0 advantage, putting Carmel in control.

"We got up 14-0. We've started fast in every game. The trick for us is to be able to pour it on at that point," said Carmel head coach John Hebert.

"We had a couple of lapses on offense and they got the ball on the 10 and they went for it and we stopped them and that touchdown, this time from a complimenting the backfield was great, but then we turned the ball back over," continued

After NC turned it over on downs at Carmel's 10, the two traded punts and it was a little sloppy before it got better again for the Greyhounds.

Jerrek Young picked off at Coellner pass at the 16. That set up North Central's first score in the final minute of the half, an Eli Thompson touchdown grab from Foor, cutting the margin to

"They ended up getting points toward the end of the half. Then, we were fortunate to get the squib kick through and get a touchdown that way. I would not say that we played a clean first half, like we had set out to do. We talked at halftime about narrowing our focus down," added Hebert.

On the kickoff return, Dominic Shockley picked up the squib kick and raced 80 yards for his first TD that made it 21-7 at halftime.

Carmel came out on a mission in the third quarter. Tailback Andrew Pemberton had consecutive runs of 14 and 45 yards that got the Greyhounds down to the Panther 12 and in business. That set up nicely for Kahlil Hardister to take his turn, finding his way into the end zone for a three-yard touchdown for a 28-7 score.

"I thought we came out that first drive, did really well and the defense stopped them and we scored again," said Hebert.

North Central punted on its first third quarter possession, keeping any momentum in Car-number one back and he's real mel's hands.

'We're starting to think about guys getting experience. In the third, it felt like we had already transitioned without the 35-point rule. We wanted to get the extra plays," Hebert added on getting other guys down the depth chart more playing time.

Shockley scored his third five-yarder from Coellner to make it 35-7.

Shockley had quite the day in all three facets. Having already caught two TD passes and running back a kickoff return for a score, Dominic intercepted Caleb Foor's pass at the 32 as with an eight-yard TD for the caught a pair for 27 yards.

Sheridan looked like it was in control, scoring points in all three quarters. Alex Cravens got the Hawks on the board midway through the first period with a sixyard touchdown run. In the second quarter, Owen Bell fought off the conditions to make a 34-yard field goal, giving Sheridan a 9-0 halftime lead.

The defense helped out in the third quarter, forcing the Titans to recover a ball in the end zone for safety with less than a minute left in the period. The Blackhawks led 11-0 at that point.

But midway through the fourth quarter, Taylor's Keyshawn Galloway took off for a 25-yard touchdown run, scoring the Titans' first points of the game. Minutes later, Taylor recovered a fumble in the end zone, and the Titans had the lead. Sheridan tried to make one last march down the field but fell short.

Millers earn sectional-regional sweep, Shamrocks secure fourth regional title

By RICHIE HALL

sports@readthereporter.com

ANDERSON - For the first time in 17 years, the Noblesville girls golf team scored a sectional-regional

The Millers completed their sweep last Saturday at the Lapel regional, which took place at Edgewood Golf Club in Anderson. Noblesville used its consistency to total 294, giving the Millers their first regional title since 2021 and 14th in school history.

Noblesville last won both sectional and regional titles in 2007 and got into the record books while breaking that drought. The Millers' score of 294 is the sixth-lowest total in IHSAA tournament history, while Millers meet medalist Josie Kelley's four under par total of 68 makes her one of 24 golfers to score 68 or better at a regional.

Kelley called her performance "a great day."

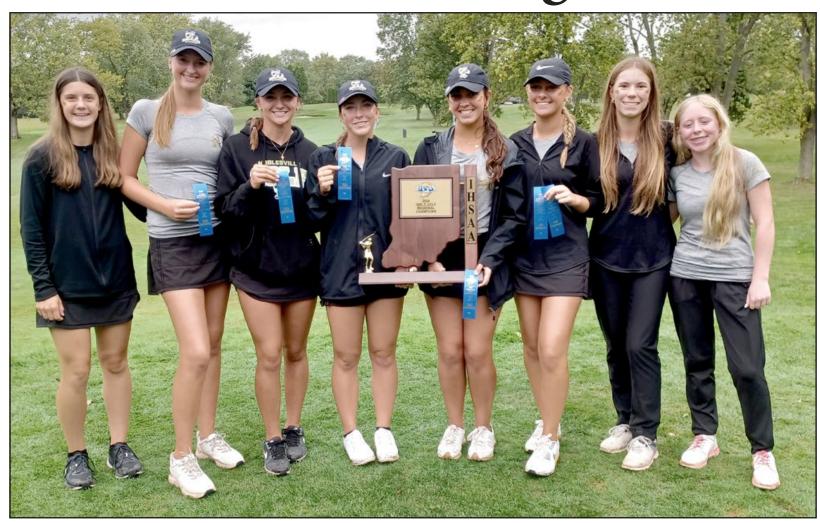

"I think I played really great," said Kelley. "I was really confident. It's an 18hole tournament, so there's times where you're playing in spurts and you're really confident, and then in others you're not. But I played a really great front nine. I shot 31.

Noblesville's consistency was outstanding once more, as all five golfers carded 77 or better. Karis Shields scored 74, tying her for fifth place.

"It's a lot of adversity these last couple days," said Millers coach Justin Werklev. "Conditions were challenging. They were steady, they did a great job."

Noblesville's victory qualifies it for the state meet, which takes place Friday and Saturday at Prairie View Golf Club in Carmel. # Rocks & Millers claim sectional titles

sports@readthereporter.com

WESTFIELD – A 1-2 individual finish helped the Westfield girls golf team to its first sectional championship in three years.

The No. 1-ranked Shamrocks cruised to victory at the Guerin Catholic sectional, which took place last Monday at Pebble Brook in Westfield. The Rocks scored 294, had three players finish in the top six and easily qualified for the Lafayette Jefferson regional.

It was the Rocks' first sectional title since 2021 and the seventh overall for the Westfield program.

"We don't take them for granted," said Shamrocks coach Josh Bryant.

The top three teams advance to the regional. Tenth-ranked Carmel, the two-time defending state champion, totaled 323 to finish second as a team, while host Guerin Catholic claimed the third advancing spot with a score of 343.

Westfield junior Kelsey Haverluck put together a solid score of two under par 68 to earn medalist honors (she was one under on both the front and back nine), while senior Addi Kooi carded 71 for second place individually. Sophomore Kate Brown scored 76, tying her for fifth place.

"All of us on the team work really hard, and we try to have really good team chemistry on and off the course," said Haver-luck. "And I think it's paid off in the end."

Brown, junior Lilley Ku (79) and sophomore all playing in their first sectional for the Shamrocks.

"The word 'sectional' means something different, and when it's your first one, you have to get settled in," said Bryant. "And I really thought all three of them, they did great "

Senior Sophie Mock led Carmel, finishing in third place with a 72. Sophomore Maddie Headlee also tied for fifth place with Ali Scott continued her solid play with a 75, good for fourth place individually. Sydney Delagrange added an 82.

University finished with a team score of 416 but will have a player going on to Battle Ground. Graclyn Cates scored an 88, which was good enough to claim one of three spots for an individual not on an advancing team. The other two individuals advancing are Brebeuf Jesuit's Annie Baxter (79) and Cardinal Ritter's Peyton Roddy (96).
