Global Game Night at WHS celebrates diversity & service

By AMY ADAMS
news@readthereporter.com

The Service Over Self (SOS) Club held its annual Global Game Night on Wednesday, Jan. 22 at Westfield High School (WHS). Students and families gathered in the main cafeteria to share international food and cultural activities.

Tables filled the main cafeteria representing Brazil, Egypt, Germany, Ghana, India, Italy, Pakistan, the Hmong culture, and the Muslim Student Alliance. Guests and participants could sample treats like Naab Vaam, a tapioca coconut milk drink, and participate in activities like having their hands painted with henna.

Junior Khadiga Moawad said her older sister Habiba, who has now graduated, was among the SOS members who came up with the idea for the event a few years ago.

Megan Springer, a developmental reading specialist at WHS, is an SOS sponsor.

"This is a night that highlights different cultures and promotes diversity but also has a service component," Springer said.

She said SOS was created in 2020 by merging the Key, LEO, and Interact Clubs so that students no longer have to choose between clubs for service projects.

SOS blends the best of all three clubs. For example, the Interact Club sponsored an international project each year, and the Key Club held an annual food drive. The Global Game Night brings together both of those traditions, as admission for the event was two cans of nonperishable food which will go to Open Doors of Westfield. SOS also garners the support of the Westfield Kiwanis, Lions, and Rotary Clubs.

Vice-President Olivia Foot-Lecea said she likes that the event creates connections.

Sometimes you gotta write it out!

After my "let's embrace winter column" last week, I realized that we all can't be perky and happy about winter 100 percent of the time – including myself. Throw in all the bad things currently happening in our world and even the cheeriest of us can feel down.

AMY SHANKLAND
Perfectly Imperfect

I've had a lot of family members and friends experiencing sadness and hardships lately. Sometimes I feel so helpless.

However, I've been turning to something I've been doing such I was a child to help – my writing. Specifically, a wonderful prayer journal that a certain fellow columnist with the initials "JHL" gave me last month.

Journals can often overwhelm and scare people. One friend admitted to me that she has several notebooks where she started to journal, then never continued. I think we all feel this pressure that if we have a journal, we have to write in it every single day. Or that it must be something spectacular, expensive, and pretty. Nothing could be further from the truth.

You can write in your journal, whether it's a plain notebook or something fancy, on an "as needed" basis. The Journal Police will not come and get you if you don't write in something expensive and gorgeous every day.

Sheridan snowplows help New Orleans battle historic snowfall

By CAT SANDOVAL
WISH-TV | wishtv.com

New Orleans saw a historical record-breaking snow this past week, with some areas being hit with as much as 10 to 12 inches.

But help is on the way! Fourteen Hoosier snowplow trucks have taken to the Big Easy to help clear the snow, and they brought their salt along with them!

At the center is Sheridan-based snow company Sherco Group, formerly Sherley Snow Removal. The company and their freelancers are tasked with historical snow removal.

The last time New Orleans saw snow of this magnitude was in 1895.

"It kind of seemed surreal knowing I'm driving the plow truck to chase a winter storm," Levi Jett, a snow industry consultant for Sherco, said.

Jett is currently in New Orleans and said the snowplows from Indiana have already cleared snow at the airport, as well as bridges and high traffic areas. They also helped clear paths for hospitals and emergency responders.

"Today we've been asked to plow the Causeway Bridge, which is the largest bridge in America at 26 miles," Jett said.

According to Ashley Pettit-Godbey, Sherco's office manager, clearing the snow has created fans.

"A lot of the guys noticed a lot of people standing outside the roads waving and are so excited and are thanking them for what they're doing. The tireless sleepless nights, it all makes up for it in the end," she said.

There is still a lot of snow removal work to be done. Because the roads are untreated, Pettit-Godbey says the snow sticks easily. The snowpacks as more vehicles drive through it and it making it harder to plow.

But that's not the only obstacle.

Derek Delph is snowplow operator who will be making a trip to New Orleans. He says he's taking additional plows along with him because some are breaking due to uneven roads. "I think their manhole covers are a couple of inches above ground," he said.

The plow drivers intend to stay till the end of the week, but they also want to reassure Sheridan residents that they haven't forgotten them this winter season.

"Anybody that's up in Sheridan that's uneasy at seeing part of their snow contractor go to New Orleans, don't be, because we have plenty of people on reserve," Jett said.

The city is expecting an additional 15 to 20 more trucks from Indiana to help.

Noblesville High School Jazz Band to open for Grammy-winning jazz artist Wynton Marsalis

By COLIN BAILLIE
WISH-TV | wishtv.com

The Noblesville High School Jazz Band will hit the stage at the Palladium in Carmel Sunday to perform alongside one of the biggest names in modern-day jazz.

The high school band was selected to open for the Jazz at Lincoln Center Orchestra. The group features more than a dozen soloists, ensemble players, and arrangers in jazz music.

It was founded in 1988 and has been led since 1991 by artistic director Wynton Marsalis, a world-renowned trumpeter and nine-time Grammy Award winner. His composition titled "Blood on the Fields" was the first jazz work to win the Pulitzer Prize for Music.

"This is like the '96 Bulls and Michael Jordan inviting you to come play basketball with them," Peter Luttrul, the high school jazz band's director, said. "And this is the kids first time really to show off what they can do and I couldn't be happier for them or the program."

Photo provided Senior Jazz Band member Zach Swanson spoke with News 8's Colin Baillie live from Noblesville High School Thursday morning.

Luttrul says when they'd be the opening act for the jazz legend, he and his students were shocked.

"They asked us to choose some of [Duke] Ellington's music and that's something that's really in the kids' bag, and Jazz of Lincoln Center didn't even ask to hear us, they just trusted us," Luttrul added.

Along with Ellington, the band will perform everything from new compositions to historic pieces and arrangements by Count Basie, Thelonious Monk, and other greats.

For senior band member Zach Swanson, this means the world to open up for someone he has grown up listening to.

"It really is an honor that they asked us to play for them. I'm just really looking forward to just playing with some of the best musicians," he said.

Swanson also says he and his band members are ready to perform on the big stage. "I really think that we're honored to be asked to do something like this," he said.

The event's roots started with Coach Gary Myers and a vision for a girls' wrestling program. Congratulations!

Two new State Troopers assigned to Hamilton County

The REPORTER

On Jan. 9, 30 newly appointed Indiana State Troopers graduated from the 86th Indiana State Police Recruit Academy.

Six of these troopers are being assigned to the Indiana State Police Indianapolis Post and will begin their next phase of training: a three-month field training period riding with veteran troopers. The purpose of the field training is to put into practical application the training received over the duration of the formal academy. Upon successful completion of field training, each trooper will be assigned a state police patrol vehicle and will begin solo patrol.

These troopers have already completed over 1,100 hours of structured training in law enforcement techniques as well as hands-on and scenario-based training at the Indiana State Police Recruit Academy. The curriculum included criminal law instruction, emergency vehicle operations, psychology, traffic law, crash investigation, self-defense, first responder, and other general enforcement related training.

Two troopers, Samuel Miller and Jarison Salomon Wood have been assigned to patrol Hamilton County.

Trooper Samuel Miller is from Dobbs Ferry, N.Y., and is a 2014 graduate of The Masters School. He serves as a member of the Army National Guard where he achieved the rank of E-5 Sergeant. He was deployed to Kenya with the Airborne Infantry

WRITE IT OUT

I've been writing in my prayer journal about once a week for the past couple of months. It feels tremendous to just pour out my worries and heartaches to give them to God. I know He can work miracles and do wonders.

I realize not everyone believes in God. It's also good to just grab your pen (or logon and type in your online journal if that's your thing) and simply pour everything out to the Universe.

I also use my journal to remember all my blessings. Sometimes we get caught up in our little pity parties and forget all the good in our lives. After seeing my blessings listed in front of me, I always feel a bit lighter.

"But Amy," some of you may be saying, "I'm not a writer. I can't really do this."

Once again ... there's no Journal Police. What you write is for your eyes only. It doesn't have to have perfect phrases, grammar, spelling, etc. You can write a couple of sentences, some paragraphs, or even multiple pages.

I always feel better after writing in my journal. Just seeing the words on the page gives me comfort, and they often relax my mind ... even when that solution may be just remembering to trust in the Lord.

It's also amazing to go back and read my musings to see how God has answered my prayers. I often gasp in wonder and joy! He usually has better answers than I could ever foresee.

If you're struggling with your mental health this winter, I encourage you to try writing in a journal (but please, if you need more help, don't hesitate to contact a professional.) "Writing It Out" may be one of the best therapies we can use in life - and we can do it any time for free.

Second Friday Gallery Hop: six exhibits plus free dessert

The REPORTER

Fishers Arts Council (FAC) and the City of Fishers, along with Fishers Art Center Noblesville Creates at Meyer Najem, High Frequency Arts, and Ignite Studio are ready to share incredible art and music at the Second Friday Gallery Hop from 4 to 9 p.m. on Friday, Feb. 14.

While most gallery locations are walkable, FAC recommends driving to some locations to make sure you get to it all in one night. The Gallery Hop sponsor, Four Day Ray, offers free dessert with your dinner purchase of $25 or more, if you visit all participating art galleries.

Fill your Valentine's Day with art, music, poetry, and more all for free as you make your way around Fishers. Start your adventure at Ignite Studio in Hamilton East Public Library in Fishers at 4 p.m. to enjoy live music by Steve Newby and explore the Comic Book in a Day exhibit presented by Noblesville Creates. The library closes at 6 p.m., so get your Gallery Hop card stamped before you move onto your next location.

From 5 to 7 p.m., you can check out the Meyer Najem 2nd Floor Gallery, 11787 Lantern Road, featuring original artwork by McCordsville artist, Bobbi K Samples. Color in Silence features her newest abstract floral paintings done in acrylic. This exhibit "explores the delicate balance between subtlety and expression, where each bloom speaks to the quiet power of individualism. In the interplay of neutral tones and bursts of color, the pieces reflect the hidden emotions that surface when we embrace our true selves." Live music will be performed by Mario Joven and Steve Goodman. Samples' exhibit is managed by Noblesville Creates and is on display through March 28.

Any time from 5 to 7:30 p.m., take Lantern Road south to the Hub & Spoke building at 8100 E. 106th St. to step into High Frequency Arts' "Fragments of Identity" exhibit with live music by Andy Schomburg, refreshments, cash bar, and artist vendors. Discover the multifaceted nature of identity in this evocative portraiture exhibition. This collection of artwork delves into the fragments that shape who we all are. From bold abstractions to intimate realism, each artist offers a unique perspective on the human experience, capturing emotions, stories, and complexities through their art.

The Art Gallery at City Hall in the Fishers Municipal Center at 1 Municipal Drive, presented by FAC, will be open from 5 to 9 p.m. with live music from Chad Mills from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m. The Golden Age: Artists 50 & Better will be on display, featuring 2D and 3D works of 28 individuals who are incredibly creative in their golden age. Refreshments and cash bars will be available at both the Art Gallery at City Hall and Fishers Art Center during their open hours.

Fishers Art Center, just across the breezeway from the Art Gallery at City Hall, showcases White Noise Collection New Works by C. Pyle from 6 to 9 p.m. The Fishers Art Center proudly presents an exhibit of new works by mixed media, abstract painter, C. Pyle. Within her new series White Noise Collection, Pyle explores the complexities of color and texture while limiting her color palette to tones of white. A self-taught abstract artist, Pyle gives her emotions a clear voice, allowing pain and brokenness to be articulated through beauty. After a near-fatal car accident devastated her life, she turned to art as a form of physical and cognitive therapy. C. Pyle's inspirational journey of healing, exploration, and discovery affirms the significance of creativity as a form of wellness, an imperative the Fishers Art Center shares with the prolific artist. Live music will be performed by Jason Reinhardt from 6 to 8 p.m.

Also opening at 6 p.m., the FAC Hub Gallery, inside the Hamilton County Community Foundation at 11810 Technology Drive, features My Art is My Movement by Indianapolis artist Johnson Simon. "My style of work is expressionistic. I use heavy dark lines along with vibrant colors to display a sense of motion and flare. I especially enjoy watching dancers and athletes, and make a conscious effort to transfer the graceful display of dance and athleticism into my art. The human body is both complicated and elegant, and with the extra component of motion added, it is a vessel unlike any other in this world." Live music will be performed by Molly DeRose; refreshments and a cash bar will be available. The gallery is open until 8 p.m.

Each location will have a Gallery Hop card available for you to pick up and get stamped along your journey. Anyone who collects all the stamps by completing the hop can get a free dessert from Four Day Ray with their $25-and-over dinner purchase, limit one dessert per table. You must show your completed hop card when ordering. This free dessert offer will only be available Feb. 14 to 16. If you have questions about the hop, please contact FAC. Additional performers and any time changes will be posted on FishersArtsCouncil.org/galleryhop.

Westfield mayor speaks on Grand Park Sports Campus expansion plans

By COLIN BAILLIE
WISH-TV | wishtv.com

Construction of a new stadium, ice rinks, and an expansion of Grand Park Sports Campus – which gets an estimated 5.5 million visitors annually – is set to begin this year in Westfield.

The new additions will include a new outdoor 10,000-seat stadium, four ice rinks, a hotel, and a convention center.

“We want to see Grand Park be a full day opportunity for our tourists,” Westfield Mayor Scott Willis said. “If they can come here and park and experience Grand Park all day long, from the games, to the entertainment, to the food, that’s a win for our residents.”

Phase 1 is set to begin this year and will include a parking garage, hotel and completion of the Indy 11 headquarters, Willis said.

“The plan with the new vision for Grand Park is to expand that operation,” Willis said. “Their women’s team has upgraded to a Super League that is kind of the top tier for women’s professional soccer. They have an agreement if you have this men’s Indy Eleven team will be joining the women up in Westfield.

“We’ll let that play out over time,” Willis said. “Certainly I don’t want to say anything that may or may not be true or change, but we would love to have Indy Eleven as much as we can of their organization.

franchise within so many years, you have to have at least a 5,000-seat stadium. We’re going to build that and host them at Grand Park.”

We would love them.”

City leaders plan to take about 10 years to completely roll out the expansion.

Willis said the cost of the project could be “upwards of a couple of a billion dollars over the life of the project.”

He adds that there will be no new taxes created around Grand Park: “Your taxes are not going to go up.”

Most of the money will be from private investors, Willis said.

Hamilton East Public Library (HEPL) is among over 100 public libraries nationwide awarded funding by the Public Library Association (PLA) to increase digital literacy using DigitalLearn.org resources, powered by a generous $2.7 million contribution from AT&T.

The PLA Digital Literacy Workshop Incentive and the new PLA Digital Navigator Workshop Incentive support public libraries in their work of improving basic digital skills among families and communities. And, for the first time ever, HEPL is offering some of those sessions in languages other than English.

“Our very mission, here at Hamilton East Public Library, is to be our community’s essential connector to information and ideas,” HEPL Director of Public Services Amber Wright said. “One way we are continually working towards this is to help reduce the digital divide.”

PLA President Michael Lambert said, “PLA is proud to support public libraries in being at the forefront of boosting digital literacy skills and bridging the digital divide in their communities. With another year of PLA’s sustained collaboration with AT&T, more learners across the nation than ever before will get connected to vital digital literacy skills and technology resources at the library.”

PLA’s free training site, DigitalLearn.org, helps community members build skills and confidence using technology. HEPL will help patrons utilize these resources in upcoming workshops. More details and a full listing of workshops can be found on HEPL’s Digital Literacy Workshop Blog.

Briggs revisits memories of Kennedy inauguration

Dear Editor:

Memories of an Inaugural from the past to our current Inaugural, both experiencing snow and cold days.

On Jan. 19, 1961, on the eve of Inauguration Day for President John F. Kennedy, a Nor’easter snow storm pushed through the Ohio Valley heading towards the East Coast. The wind and snow blew all night long around my family’s little farm house with the snow filling in all the nooks and crannies of the clapboard keeping us warm. The storm moved out the next morning with clear blue skies and bitter cold temps. With no school due to the storm, it was a perfect day to watch the Inauguration on TV, the first ever televised in color.

I remember President Kennedy in his top hat and wife Jacqueline who looked smart and classy with her fur hat, coat and muff protecting her hands in the bitter cold. I especially remember President Kennedy making his famous statement of, “And so, my fellow Americans: ask not what your country can do for you – ask what you can do for your country.” Anyone who was alive during that era will always remember that statement.

During those campaign months, the election was very evident to all ages throughout our country. My eighth-grade classmates were allowed to write the names of the two candidates, Nixon and Kennedy, on the blackboards in every classroom. Nixon’s percentage win was 98 percent. This election was never mentioned during the time period after the 2020 election chaos. We all knew John F. Kennedy won the election as his father, Joseph Kennedy, bought it for him. It took another day before it was called with the count being held up in Chicago.

With the very low temperature effects in this year’s Inauguration, a wise decision was made to move it into the Capitol Rotunda. This is a room filled with beautiful paintings of the early history of our country and I believe it should be used for every Inauguration thereafter.

And with a final note, First Lady Melania Trump and Second Lady Usha Vance looked sharp and classy along with Ivanka Trump in their Inaugural outfits and evening gowns. It is wonderful witnessing class again in the White House.

Senate panel approves teacher pay raise bill despite debate

By GARRETT BERGQUIST
WISH-TV | wistv.com

Despite disagreement over how much, a Senate committee unanimously approved a bill to teacher pay raise.

The measure, which passed the committee Jan. 22, would raise the minimum salary for teachers in Indiana to $45,000 per year, the same amount Gov. Mike Braun proposed in his budget. Current law requires teachers to be paid at least $40,000 per year.

Sen. Fady Qaddoura, D-Indianapolis, said he supports the $5,000 raise but it would still leave teachers at less than 150 percent of the federal poverty line for a family of four. Qaddoura proposed raising teacher pay to $65,000 per year and tried to amend the bill Wednesday afternoon to do so.

Qaddoura's proposal failed on a party-line vote. Bill author Sen. Linda Rogers, R-Granger, said she doesn't believe the state budget could support a larger raise.

"The data shows that we can move to $45,000, and eventually I would love to see us at $65,000 but we have to remember that we have a tight budget and school corporations also have tight budgets," she said.

Rogers later told News 8 her bill likely will stick with the $45,000 figure rather than attempting to find a level between $45,000 and $65,000. She said the bill would still mean an immediate pay raise for roughly 6,000 teachers who make between $40,000 and $45,000 per year.

The teacher pay issue has played a key role in battles over education funding at the Statehouse for years.

According to the National Education Association, the average teacher in Indiana starts at $42,735 per year, with overall teacher pay averaging $57,015. Those numbers place Indiana 28th and 36th in the nation, respectively.

Qaddoura, who also serves on the Senate Appropriations Committee and the State Budget Committee, said there's enough money in the budget to support a higher teacher salary if lawmakers scale back appropriations elsewhere, such as school vouchers and the Indiana Economic Development Corporation.

In addition to the pay raise, Rogers' bill would provide up to 20 days of paid parental leave for full-time teachers and 10 days of leave for part-time teachers. It slightly increases the share of state tuition support schools must put toward teacher compensation, from 62 percent to 65 percent. Rogers said all of the provisions in her bill would help public school corporations hire and retain teachers.

Because the bill involves a budget item, it has to go to the Senate Appropriations Committee for additional review before it heads to the full Senate for further consideration.

Celebrating Songbook Academy Mentors

January is National Mentoring Month. The Harvard School of Public Health and MENTOR officially designated the occasion in 2002, and we are proud to perpetuate the goal of ensuring that young people have upstanding role models whose footsteps they can follow.

Every year, Songbook Academy faculty and guest mentors go above and beyond to provide students with more than just vocal coaching and musical direction. They become role models who serve in a position that many young artists may not have experienced before Academy week. They teach mindfulness, provide emotional support, and boost confidence and morale.

Everything old is new again – Broadway Spotlight: Audra McDonald in Gypsy

If you haven't heard, six-time Tony Award winner Audra McDonald is dazzling audiences as she continues to lead the latest revival of Gypsy into 2025. This iconic musical, with lyrics by Stephen Sondheim and a score by the legendary Jule Styne, features timeless hits like "Everything's Coming Up Roses" and "Let Me Entertain You." This new production breathes fresh life into one of the most celebrated musicals in Broadway history.

The Great American Songbook Foundation is proud to preserve and celebrate the legacies of Broadway songwriters such as Styne. Among the collections are materials from Styne's Kennedy Center Honors tribute, including a medley of his greatest hits arranged by Ray Charles that features Gypsy's iconic "Everything's Coming Up Roses" sung by Tyne Daly, Jack Jones, Hal Linden, Maureen McGovern, Ann Reinking, and Tommy Tune.

The current revival is a powerful reminder of the timeless impact of Styne's work and how stories like Gypsy continue to inspire and resonate with audiences, celebrating the lasting influence of the Great American Songbook on Broadway and beyond.

Franklin Lee Crider

July 10, 1943 – January 21, 2025

Franklin "Frankie" Lee Crider, a lifelong lover of laughter, family, and the great outdoors, passed away peacefully on Tuesday, January 21, 2025, at the age of 81. He was born on July 10, 1943, to the late William and Mamie (Sullivan) Crider.

Frankie spent 54 glorious years of marriage to his one and only, Dorcas (Trout) Crider, whom he married on June 20, 1971. Together, they built a life filled with love, laughter, and countless memories, most of which included Franklin's infamous sense of humor and love for being the center of attention. Franklin was the type of person who never met a stranger and was known to light up any room with his personality.

Frankie had a fulfilling career, retiring as a Foreman for INDOT. He enjoyed the simple pleasures in life: fishing, hunting, and camping with Dorcas and the family, and, of course, spending quality time with his beloved dogs, RJ and Gordy. Above all else, Franklin was a family man and loved being with his family, especially his grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

He is survived by his wife, Dorcas Crider of Tipton, Ind., and his many loved ones who will miss his infectious laugh, corny jokes, and ever-present love. Frankie was preceded in death by his parents.

Visitation will be held from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Monday, January 27, 2025, at Hartley Funeral Home, 209 W. Jackson St., Cicero. The funeral service will take place following visitation at 1 p.m. at Hartley Funeral Home, with Monroe Jones officiating. Burial will follow in Cicero Cemetery.

In lieu of flowers, the family kindly asks that memorial contributions be made to the Alzheimer's Association and organizations that support those with dementia.

Ruth Stoops

July 25, 1930 – January 21, 2025

Ruth Stoops, 94, Noblesville, passed away peacefully in her home on January 21, 2025.

Ruth was born on July 25, 1930, to Arza and Orpha Guilkey and was one of nine children. Growing up in rural Noblesville, she and five of her siblings attended Klepfer school, a one-room schoolhouse heated with a pot-bellied stove. She remembered that she was the only person in her fifth-grade class, and when her family moved into town the school closed.

During her high school years, Ruth was employed at Franklin Ice Cream, the Diana movie theatre, Murphy's Dime store and Forest Park Inn. After high school she worked at Public Service.

Ruth married Bill Stoops in 1953 and she left work to raise their four children. As the kids grew, Ruth returned to work and was employed at the Bureau of Motor Vehicles with her sister-in-law, Marjorie Guilkey, and later at McMahon's/Kraft where she worked until 1974.

Nearing retirement, Ruth and Bill moved to Bill's family farm in rural Noblesville. Life on the farm was appreciated for its peace and quiet and lazy days sitting in the sun. Quilting and crocheting as well as gardening and canning her amazing zucchini relish were a few of the activities that Ruth enjoyed; she did not, however, enjoy helping to raise Bill's chickens.

Staying active in community activities, Ruth cherished time spent with friends in her Red Hats group and loved joining classes at the Senior center, especially line dance with her teachers and friends. Volunteering at the Noblesville food pantry and St. Vincent DePaul and looking after Bill kept Ruth busy. After Bill's passing, Ruth moved into town to be closer to her sisters.

Ruth was unusually lucky to have her four sisters nearby for over 90 years. Their love, support, kindness, friendship, and laughter were among the biggest blessings of her life.

Ruth is survived by her children, Susan (Denis) Scott, Sandra Poor, and Sara (Roy) Hammond; her grandchildren, Heath (Candice) Scott, Julie Scott (Jesse) St. Cyr, Katherine Poor (Ben Salk), Amanda Ruth (Joseph) Crosland, Christine (Bill) Raper, Megan Hammond, and Samuel L. Stoops; her great-grandchildren, Mekanna (Arthur) Johnne, Bridger Scott, Brittan Scott, Bear Scott, Ella Scott, Claire St. Cyr, Andrew St. Cyr, James St. Cyr, Allison St. Cyr, Natalie St. Cyr, Emma Ruth St. Cyr, Caroline St. Cyr, August Crosland, Zula Crosland, Acadia Salk, Margot Salk, and Billy Raper; and great-great-grandson, Oliver Scott. She is also survived by sisters, Harriet (Guilkey) Wise, Patricia (Guilkey) Paskins, and Barbara (Guilkey) Lawson.

Ruth was preceded in death by her mother, Orpha (Garverick) Guilkey, and father, Arza Guilkey; husband, Billy Lee Stoops; son, Samuel Mark Stoops; Sandy's partner, James Gibbons; granddaughter, Kelly Sue Scott; brothers, Carrol, Roland, Dallas, and Max Guilkey; and sister, Phyllis Mendenhall.

Ruth was able to stay in the comfort of her home because of the wonderful caregivers from Suburban Health, especially Tracey McCreary. Tracey's loving care and friendship during our mom's final years was immeasurable and we will never be able to thank her enough. Paradigm Hospice provided comfort and care in the final days, and we wish to recognize and thank them.

Visitation and celebration of life will be from 10 a.m. to noon on Tuesday, January 28, 2025 at Randall and Roberts, 1150 Logan St., Noblesville. The funeral will immediately follow.

In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to her church family at Victory Chapel Community Church, 13350 E. 216th St., Noblesville IN 46060 (victorychapel.me/visit-us).

TODAY'S BIBLE READING

THE GOLDEN CALF

"Do not be angry, my lord," Aaron answered. "You know how prone these people are to evil. They said to me, 'Make us gods who will go before us. As for this fellow Moses who brought us up out of Egypt, we don't know what has happened to him.' So I told them, 'Whoever has any gold jewelry, take it off.' Then they gave me the gold, and I threw it into the fire, and out came this calf!"

Moses saw that the people were running wild and that Aaron had let them get out of control and so become a laughingstock to their enemies. So he stood at the entrance to the camp and said, "Whoever is for the Lord, come to me." And all the Levites rallied to him.

Then he said to them, "This is what the Lord, the God of Israel, says: 'Each man strap a sword to his side. Go back and forth through the camp from one end to the other, each killing his brother and friend and neighbor.'" The Levites did as Moses commanded, and that day about three thousand of the people died. Then Moses said, "You have been set apart to the Lord today, for you were against your own sons and brothers, and he has blessed you this day."

Gary Lee Rosemary

October 29, 1948 – January 23, 2025

Gary Lee Rosemary, 76, passed away peacefully at his home in Noblesville.

Gary grew up in Plainfield, Ind., and was involved in the school band, the Plainfield United Methodist Church and Boy Scouts. Gary attended Purdue University, receiving his Bachelor's Degree. He moved to Michigan where he met, married, and started a family with his wife Kathy, later returning to Indiana.

He was forever a Boy Scout – always prepared, knowledgeable, enjoying the outdoors, and inventing creative solutions. Over the years, many friends and family members found themselves appreciative to be camping with him because he either had what you needed or could craft it for you. If you needed a piece of furniture refinished, Gary was your man. There are several pieces in his home and in others' homes that he brought back to life.

Music was an ongoing part of his life whether it was playing the saxophone in the high school band or singing in the church choir for the last 30 years. Gary was active with the Belfry Theater, acting, singing or stage managing, frequently putting his Boy Scout and carpentry skills to good use.

Gary also had a love of trains; whenever he was traveling, a train museum or depot was always on the list of places to see. He was an active member at the Train Club in Kokomo and often set up model trains, especially during the holiday season. Several of his traveling highlights were riding the Canadian Pacific Railway from Toronto to Vancouver as well as train trips from Chicago to San Francisco, Seattle, and back. He and Kathy shared many fun adventures, and even in later years while staying closer to home they never lost their zest to find interesting things and embrace life.

We know Gary is forever riding the rails in the sky!

Gary is survived by his wife, Kathryn Ann (DeNolf); daughter, Jennifer Lee (Chad) Saalfrank; two granddaughters, Samantha Lee and Cora Rosemary Saalfrank; and sister, Jane (Tom) Iles.

He was preceded in death by his son, Matthew Alan; parents, Francis Lee and Cora Lee (Agee) Rosemary; and sister, Cynthia Anne Rosemary.

Visitation will be held from 3 to 6 p.m. Friday, January 31, 2025, at Randall & Roberts Funeral Center, 1685 Westfield Road, Noblesville. Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday, February 1, 2025, at Noblesville First United Methodist Church, 2051 Monument St., Noblesville. Rev. Brittney Stephan will officiate.

In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be made to Noblesville First United Methodist Church Music Ministry (noblesvillefirst.com/give).

Westfield welcomes Avon for final meet of regular season, girls win

By RICHIE HALL
sports@readthereporter.com

WESTFIELD – The IHSAA swimming sectionals are now less than two weeks away, and the preparation for those post-season meets has begun.

Westfield hosted Avon for its final meet of the year at the Westfield Aquatic Center. The Shamrocks split with the Orioles: Westfield's girls team won 119-67, while Avon edged out the 'Rocks boys 90-86.

Shamrocks coach Darrick Thomas said the team's "mission for the night was just accumulate some times where we need to see some times, so we can make good decision on our lineups for sectionals for the girls and the guys."

The girls sectionals begin on Feb. 6, with the boys sectionals starting on Feb. 20. Before the sectionals start, Westfield will compete in the Hamilton Southeastern Reserve Championship meet, which takes place on Saturday, Feb. 1.

Westfield's girls won eight of the 12 events. Kiarra Thomas got a double victory in the butterfly and backstroke events. Evie Wheat won the individual medley, Addison Goodwin took the diving event, Laney McCulloch was first in the 500 freestyle and the 'Rocks swept all three relays.

In the boys meet, Westfield won five events, including a pair of double winners. Garreth Thomas was first in the IM and butterfly, while Zach Welch paced the 500 free and the breaststroke. The Shamrocks also won the medley relay.

Special Olympics Indiana expands its Train 4 Life program to include Noblesville

Wellness program focuses on strength building & holistic health habits for individuals with intellectual disabilities

The REPORTER

Special Olympics Indiana has expanded its Train 4 Life initiative, bringing its free fitness program designed for people with intellectual disabilities (ID) that includes partnerships with facilities in seven communities.

Train 4 Life focuses on fitness, nutrition and mental health for Special Olympics athletes ages 13 and older. The 12-week program includes pre- and post-program biometric and fitness testing, group workouts, weekly nutrition and healthy lifestyle education. By developing these healthy choices within individuals, the program allows athletes to see measured outcomes and continue good habits throughout their lifetimes.

Studies have shown that nearly three-quarters of adults with ID and half of youth with ID are overweight or obese. People with ID are four times more likely to acquire Type 2 diabetes and a quarter of them have low bone density.

Preliminary results from the five pilot programs in 2024 include:

- 76.6 percent improvement in upper body strength.
- 40.6 percent improvement in lower body strength.
- 14.5 percent improvement in endurance.
- 2 percent improvement in blood pressure.

"This program is an incredible opportunity for our athletes to get health and fitness training outside of their chosen sports seasons," Special Olympics Indiana President and CEO Jeff Mohler said. "By improving their physical fitness and well-being, we are helping to set them up for longer, more fit lives."

The program's 2025 sites include:

- CrossFit HSE, Noblesville
- Mad Apple CrossFit, Fort Wayne
- Purdue University Recreation, West Lafayette

Special Olympics Indiana

- Reclaim, Greensburg
- THIRST, Terre Haute
- Three Cord Fitness, Greenwood
- Unbreakable Athletics Academy, Plainfield

Participants will work out alongside individuals without intellectual disabilities in order to build a sense of mentorship, friendship and community. The program's model is designed to meet individuals where they are and set achievable goals as they progress and take on increasing physical challenges.

Special Olympics Indiana will continue to monitor and report results. The goal is to expand the program to all 92 Indiana counties.

"Through the Train 4 Life, we are helping athletes improve their performance on the field while also making a measurable impact on their long-term health," Special Olympics Indiana Manager of Health and Fitness Kyle Moran said. "By partnering with gyms that hold the same values as Special Olympics Indiana, we build up both our athletes and our communities – one rep at a time."

About Special Olympics Indiana

Special Olympics Indiana is a nonprofit organization that is part of the global Special Olympics movement, created by the Joseph P. Kennedy Jr. Foundation for the benefit of persons with intellectual disabilities. Its vision is an inclusive world, driven by the power of sport, through which people with intellectual disabilities live active, healthy, and fulfilling lives.

Five central Indiana artists selected to welcome Indy 500 race fans in May

Submitted by IMS

The five artists selected to create the 2025 Welcome Race Fans artworks, a culmination of the Hoosier hospitality that welcomes visitors to Indianapolis throughout the Month of May, were announced Jan. 21 by Indianapolis Motor Speedway and the Arts Council of Indianapolis.

Selected from a pool of 58 applicants, the five artists who will create this year's welcoming artwork are Sarah Anderson, Xavier Gray, Caroline Hays, Cassie Mitchell and Frances Ruiz.

Since 2016, Welcome Race Fans artwork has exemplified what May means to Indianapolis, both on and off track. Each year, Central Indiana artists are challenged to bring to life what "The Greatest Spectacle in Racing" means to the Racing Capital of the World. While some artists utilize vibrant colors with bold strokes and others manipulate computer coding, all Welcome Race Fans artists rely on their personal connections to tell the beautifully unique story of Indianapolis and its culture.

"The Welcome Race Fans art is one of the first things thousands of visitors see when they come to the city of Indianapolis and IMS for the Month of May," IMS President J. Douglas Boles said. "This Hoosier hospitality is just one of the many reasons the Month of May is so special to so many."

Each artist will create a piece of original artwork, to be placed throughout the city, using their own unique processes and styles to showcase the intersection of art and motorsports. For the first time since the program's inception, both two- and three-dimensional pieces of art – like sculptures, carvings and papercraft – were considered and may be created for the program.

• SARAH ANDERSON is a full-time ceramic artist who creates illustrative characters on the surface of clay through the use of sgraffito. Bright colors and exaggerated creatures are the hallmarks of Sarah's work and create her uniquely identifiable brand.

• XAVIER GRAY, whose name is derived from his children's middle names, is a multidisciplinary artist whose work blends street art, graphic design and personal storytelling. Often featuring repetitive images that create a dynamic visual rhythm and positive affirmations that inspire and uplift, Xavier's work invites viewers to engage with the transformative power of creative expression.

• CAROLINE HAYS is an artist and educator who focuses her artistic practice on the layers of history that shape a place. Through her use of mixed media and layering, Caroline hopes to bring light to the memories, histories and connections people have to places.

• CASSIE MITCHELL, a junior at Marian University, has a deep passion for art and community service. She is dedicated to inspiring the younger generation by promoting the importance of art and works to elevate and support artistic initiatives that make a difference in the community.

• FRANCES RUIZ is inspired by her upbringing in Puerto Rico and experiences in Indiana. She employs vibrant colors and dynamic lines to evoke movement and convey a sense of emotion in her compositions. Her work has been described as "painting with paper" due to the intricate details and precise representation found in her collages.

The five Welcome Race Fans artworks will be unveiled April 29.
