

WALSH

“Mr. John Walsh is the definition of a Husky Hero!” Tara Louks said. “He was set to retire last year and left for a short period only to return to HHMS. He makes every child in his classroom feel welcome and valued. He goes above and beyond for our kids! He has taught in our school for over 30 years! John Walsh should be considered as your next Husky Hero recipient.”

“Mr. Walsh makes his students feel important and cared for as individuals,” Carter Pitcher said. “He incorporates mental wellness into his classroom and makes sure his students feel supported and encouraged. He promotes positive reinforcement and excellence in his students and encourages them to push harder for themselves rather than for others. He teaches respect and accountability in addition to his math curriculum.”

“John is a special teacher who goes above and beyond for his students,” HHMS Assistant Principal Jill Landers said. “He doesn’t just tell them they are important; he shows them. When you walk into his classroom, you can feel the focus and calm. Students are ready and excited to learn, and Mr. Walsh sets that standard.”

Walsh said what motivates him in his role as a mentor, teacher, and academic coach is the ability to allow his students to see the absolute best in themselves.

“Teaching is so much more than the instruction of curriculum; it is modeling to students that each person is valued, supported, and encouraged no matter any circumstance,” Walsh said. “Teaching self-respect and accountability, as well as the inclusion of self-worth and mental wellness, is paramount in creating successful students and empathetic members of society.”

Walsh continued, “Each day is a new opportunity for growth for not only the students, but for me, as well. I end each of my class periods with the following statement: ‘Go spread some joy!’ During my brief retirement, I felt helpful in my role; however, I missed the joy in being useful. This is why each day is filled with a sense of joy that I hope is now being transferred to my present and future students. This award is a special reminder to me that I am a part of a caring and loving community who supports and encourages its teachers, and I am eternally grateful!”

DR. SEUSS

“Unless someone like you cares a whole awful lot, nothing is going to get better. It’s not.”

“It’s high time you were shown that you really don’t know all there is to be known.” I think this quote is so impactful because of the humility one must have. Sometimes we think we have all the answers and are reminded that we still have a lot left to learn.

“If you keep your eyes open enough, oh, the stuff you will learn! The most wonderful stuff!” How much of your life are you missing out on with your nose in your phone? How much could we be taking in, feeling, and learning from each other if we paid more attention?

“Sometimes you will never know the value of a moment until it becomes a memory.” Perhaps most of all, this quote hits home the most for me. We never know the impact a moment has and the power in time spent with others until we are left with the realization that our time with them on earth is done.

As you go about this month, take some tips from Dr. Seuss. READ and THINK, be wacky and weird, WRITE, pay attention to the world around you, don’t be afraid to be silly and try new things, care about people no matter how small they seem, and appreciate every single second you have with the people you love.

MATURITY

Republicans will be utilizing the reconciliation process to skip a Democratic filibuster in the Senate and address many of the president’s priorities in only a handful of bills. Reconciliation will play a pivotal role in either setting our country on the right fiscal path or digging ourselves into an even bigger debt.

Currently, the recently passed House reconciliation budget includes approving $3.5 trillion to $4 trillion in new borrowing and instructions to extend the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act of 2017, while the Senate proposal includes adding billions more in new borrowing while addressing defense, the border, and energy policy. Congress must commit to no new borrowing instead of giving the go-ahead to approve trillions more in new debt.

Our federal government in Washington could take Indiana as an example for principled, fiscally responsible governance and balanced budgets. At $366 per capita, we are one of the lowest debt-level states in the country. Through a thoughtful, favorable tax structure and disciplined spending, the Hoosier state can serve as a model as Congress considers the budget plan. At the very least, the reconciliation package that goes to the President’s desk should not make our debt problem worse – it should reduce it.

Instead of raising the debt, Congress should consider taking fiscally responsible actions that stop the debt’s growth. A great first step is setting the goal of stabilizing the debt-to-Gross Domestic Product (GDP) ratio, not allowing the debt to grow any further.

Once stabilized, policymakers will need to bring everything to the table to address our debt, including potential changes to tax and government revenue policies and changes to the critical entitlement programs facing insolvency.

The road to getting our debt under control will be a long but necessary one. Congress must prioritize fiscal responsibility and consider our nation’s fiscal direction when voting on the upcoming reconciliation bill and subsequent legislation that follows in Congress. The future strength of our nation and economy depends on it.

Letter to the Editor

Reader shares frustration with apparent demise of some local newspapers

Dear Editor:

I used to live in Noblesville, but now live just outside of Pigeon Forge, Tenn., in Sevier County.

I miss having a newspaper to read. Instead, I have to use my iPad. One good thing about the iPad, though, is I was able to read your post, “Why other newspapers are failing,” because I have Noblesville marked as a “local” area of interest on Newsbreak. We used to take the Knoxville News Sentinel, but it has floundered since being taken over by USA TODAY (much like the IndyStar).

A local Sevier County paper, The Mountain Press, reduced the printed edition to three days a week from six, meaning the other days would have to be read online. The subscription price was not reduced, so I canceled. If I have to read it online, I’m not too interested as there are other sources online. Morning coffee is much better when holding a newspaper and reading current news.

When subscribed to the previous newspapers, I encountered problems reaching a human by telephone. Unlike your publisher, I just gave up.

Hamilton County launches Closed Captioning initiative

Collaborative effort encourages local businesses & organizations to activate closed captioning on TVs

The REPORTER

In honor of Disability Awareness Month, Hamilton County Tourism is sharing a closed captioning initiative aimed at enhancing accessibility across the county.

According to the National Deaf Center, approximately 3.6 percent of the U.S. population considers themselves deaf or hard of hearing. The Hamilton County Closed Captioning Project is a community-wide initiative designed to provide real-time captions on public TV screens, allowing individuals who are deaf or hard of hearing to have equal access to important information, entertainment, and services.

This effort was coordinated among the following entities: the cities of Carmel, Fishers, Noblesville and Westfield; Hamilton County Government; Hamilton County Tourism; Indiana Restaurant & Lodging Association; Hearing Loss Association of America – Indianapolis Chapter; Invest Hamilton County; Noblesville Chamber of Commerce; OneZone Chamber of Commerce; and Westfield Chamber of Commerce.

This group has managed a series of informational initiatives that include letters, emails, and a social media campaign. These communications encourage local businesses and organizations to turn on closed captioning on all their TVs and provide step-by-step instructions for different TV models and streaming devices. Participating businesses then receive a window cling indicating they have closed captioning activated on their screens.

A wide variety of local businesses have participated to date, including all the restaurants within Wolfpack Restaurant Group.

“At Wolfpack Restaurant Group, we believe dining out should be an enjoyable experience for everyone, without exception,” Wolfpack Restaurant Group Co-Founder Nyla Wolf said. “By providing closed captioning across our Hamilton County Wolfies Grill locations, we’re taking decisive steps toward putting that experience within reach for every single guest who walks through our doors. Our restaurants aren’t just dining establishments – they’re where community thrives and ensuring our deaf and hard of hearing guests feel fully welcomed isn’t just good business – it’s fundamental to who we are. We’re proud to champion this initiative and invite other restaurants to join us.”

The project is part of a broader effort from Hamilton County Tourism to share information and accommodations that allow every visitor and resident, regardless of ability, to enjoy the full breadth of Hamilton County’s cultural, entertainment, and business offerings.

The REPORTER

The Crosser Family Foundation, a fund of the Hamilton County Community Foundation (HCCF), has announced $404,676 in grants awarded to 21 nonprofit organizations. In collaboration with the staff at Hamilton County Community Foundation, the advisors of the Crosser Family Foundation support organizations that focus on the communities of Hamilton County and surrounding areas in Central Indiana.

“Our family cares deeply about strengthening our community and helping individuals thrive,” Craig Crosser said. “These grants are our way of supporting organizations that address critical issues such as community engagement, housing, health, and youth development. We are proud to partner with them to make a meaningful difference in people’s lives.”

HCCF values its partnership with the Crosser Family Foundation.

“The Crosser Family Foundation exemplifies the impact of compassionate and intentional philanthropy,” HCCF President Danielle Stiles-Polk said. “We are honored to partner with the Crosser family in advancing their vision.”

Some of the organizations receiving support include:

• Riverview Health Foundation ($75,000) –

Riverview Health operates one of the few full-service acute inpatient rehabilitation units in the county. With a staff boasting over 600 years of combined experience, they care for patients recovering from serious health issues like strokes, traumatic brain injuries, significant car accidents, or surgeries. As Hamilton County continues to grow, Riverview Health is expanding and renovating the Acute Inpatient Rehabilitation Unit to meet increasing demands. This grant will assist with the ongoing expansion and renovation, resulting in 24 rooms available to serve the needs of Hamilton County for the next five years.

• Fueled for School ($51,176) –

Fueled for School provides nutritious meal packs to food-insecure youth, emphasizing the importance of nutrition for education, increasing access to local food, and instilling hope in the community. Nearly 25 percent of all students in Noblesville Schools, from PreK to 12th grade, face food insecurity. To address this issue, Fueled for School has partnered with Noblesville Schools. This grant will cover warehouse and utility expenses necessary to support the expanding programs and ensure that all requested needs are met.

• Noblesville Sister Cities ($20,000) –

For over 28 years, Noblesville Sister Cities has successfully leveraged a trilateral agreement with its international Sister Cities: Nova Prata, Brazil, and Cittadella, Italy. This agreement encourages collaboration in government, business, community development, cultural exchange, youth engagement, and relationship-building. Each country takes turns hosting students, chaperones, and delegates, rotating every summer in July. Noblesville will host in July 2025.

• Teter Organic Farm ($17,000) –

Teter Organic Farm’s mission is to increase access to healthy food for vulnerable populations while providing ecological education and building community relationships. The farm empowers volunteers to produce nourishing food for the food insecure, offers educational opportunities, and provides access to greenspace, all while healing the environment along the White River. The Carmel Street Department announced on Monday that it has been recognized with a 2025 Geotab Innovation Award for Fleet Sustainability in the small-medium size public sector category.

These awards honor outstanding fleets that are leading the way in their use of connected vehicle technology and data insights to create better outcomes to support and enhance services to Carmel residents and businesses.

Morales applauds Treasury Department’s decision on Corporate Transparency Act federal enforcement

Submitted by Office of the Secretary of State

Indiana Secretary of State Diego Morales applauds the U.S. Department of the Treasury’s announcement Monday regarding suspension of penalties and fines under the Corporate Transparency Act (CTA) for failing to file or update business beneficial ownership information with the federal government.

Morales

The Treasury Department confirmed that it will not enforce penalties or fines for non-filing beneficial ownership information reporting until March 21, 2025, and, in a significant new development, will not enforce non-filing penalties against U.S. Citizens or domestic businesses even after the rule changes take effect. According to the Treasury Department, after March 21 when updated rules take effect, only foreign-owned businesses will be subject to penalties for not reporting beneficial ownership information. “This decision is a positive step in supporting hardworking Hoosiers and small businesses by providing much-needed clarity and ensuring the rule is properly aligned with the public interest,” Secretary Morales said. “As the Business Services Division is under our office, we remain committed to helping businesses thrive and grow with confidence.”

The Treasury Department’s proposed rulemaking will focus specifically on foreign reporting companies, helping to tailor the rules in a way that advances the public interest while minimizing the impact on domestic businesses. This change comes as part of ongoing efforts to ensure that the Corporate Transparency Act is both effective and fair, particularly for American taxpayers and small businesses.

Gov. Braun signs executive order to strengthen parental leave & childbirth recovery leave for state employees

Submitted by Office of the Governor

On Monday, ahead of International Women’s Day this Saturday, Governor Mike Braun signed an executive order to strengthen paid parental leave for state employees.

Braun

The executive order also provides paid childbirth leave for women recovering from giving birth, as well as paid leave for those grieving from the tragedy of losing a baby.

“Strong families are the cornerstone of strong communities, and it’s so important for a family to have quality time to care for their newest member,” Gov. Braun said. “I believe employers should do everything they can to accommodate the needs of new parents, and today I’m setting an example by strengthening our state’s policies for paid parental leave (including adoption), childbirth recovery leave, and paid leave for those facing the tragedy of losing a baby. These new paid parental leave policies will benefit women recovering from childbirth, their spouses, and the newborns whose health and development will be improved by more time with their parents in those first critical weeks. Indiana supports strong families!”

Under this new executive order:

- All employed women who give birth are eligible for six weeks paid childbirth recovery leave, and up to eight weeks paid childbirth leave for employees who deliver via C-section. This leave policy also applies to employees who experience the tragedy of losing a baby in utero at 20 weeks or beyond.
- All full-time state employees may receive up to 150 hours of paid parental leave (75 hours for part-time employees) following the birth or adoption of a child regardless of how long one has been employed with the state.

Replacing previous policy, Gov. Braun’s parental leave policies will now apply no matter how long the employee has worked for the state. If an employee who has worked for the state fewer than six months takes parental/childbirth or stillbirth leave, the employee must agree to complete at least one year of consecutive employment following his or her return to work as a condition for taking leave.

Indiana Right to Life issues statement on executive order

Submitted

Indiana Right to Life President and Chief Executive Officer Mike Fichter issued the following statement Monday regarding the governor’s executive order.

“Indiana is exemplifying a culture of life. Governor Braun’s executive order today affirms that the Hoosier culture prioritizes families, parents and children. These enhanced benefits for state employees is [sic] a significant step in Indiana being an example in compassionate support for pregnant mothers and their babies, including those suffering the loss of a baby’s life before birth. This is an important addition to Indiana’s larger effort to give pregnant mothers and their babies the support they need to thrive. We encourage all Hoosier employers to follow the state’s lead in providing greater support for moms and babies.”

Two-person play tells one man’s story of family & loss

By VERONIQUE DUPREY
A Seat on the Aisle

I attended opening night of The Berlin Diaries last Friday, Feb. 28, at the Phoenix Theatre Cultural Center. I wasn't quite sure what to expect from this new play co-directed by Constance Macy and Rabbi Brett Krichiver for the Phoenix Theatre, and I was pleasantly surprised. Andrea Stolowitz, the playwright, received a copy of her great-grandfather’s diary from the U.S. Holocaust Memorial Museum, and eventually traveled to Berlin for a year-long fellowship to write a play based on the diary. The Berlin Diaries is about her discovery of materials, family history, and sense of belonging as she sets out to write this play. Although the subject includes the Holocaust, we do not live through the suffering of individuals at that time, but rather spend time before and after that period with those who escaped it, and in the present, with those who live with generational trauma. Two exceptional local actors, Jennifer Johansen and Rob Johansen, give life to all the characters, past and present, never leaving the stage. They are given the additional task of portraying the same character, simultaneously, as the play calls for monologues to be delivered by both actors, a few lines at a time, “as one person in conversation with themselves” according to program notes. Though I was forewarned, it still confused me a bit at times, as the delineation of who was speaking was not always clear to me – my companion, however, had no such qualms. Both actors beautifully portrayed a wide range of characters, helped by neutral costumes, non-specific to any period or gender, and I thoroughly enjoyed their journey. Music and lighting also set the tone appropriately. The simple set consisted of a large tree, with printed words for leaves, evoking both ideas of a family tree and the written words from diaries, letters, or plays. The tree also, cleverly, served as depository or hiding place for various props. A number of old-fashioned suitcases completed the setting, and were used efficiently to create various locations. I was touched by the universality of the importance of family, and how every human being yearns for a sense of belonging, for their families to spend time together and get along, and for their children to suffer less. The world is a harsh enough place – may we be blessed to have a refuge of safety in our own family. Bottom line: Highly recommended! With a background of the Jewish diaspora, this new work speaks to universal themes of belonging, family, and hope. Some humor interspersed throughout lightens this autobiographical drama. Do not miss the opportunity to see phenomenal acting in service of this touching story. Performances continue through March 16, and free parking is available in the lot across the street. Indiana Farm Bureau Insurance recognized as finalist for TechPoint’s 2025 Digital Transformation of the Year Mira Award

Submitted

Indiana Farm Bureau Insurance was recently recognized as a finalist for the 2025 Digital Transformation of the Year award presented by TechPoint during the 26th annual Mira Awards. These awards elevate innovative, Indiana-based companies that are leaders in the tech ecosystem. The company received recognition for its innovative approach to enabling secure access to generative artificial intelligence (GenAI) for internal productivity. That approach started with a multi-day innovation event with over 10 employee-created teams who explored the potential GenAI has for the company. The event highlighted the value of everyday access to GenAI models and was the reason for creating an enterprise application called AI Lab to harness the power of large language models. The resulting AI Lab was built in-house and includes access to nine powerful large language models, all hosted securely with privacy and security in mind. “Creating AI Lab allowed for flexibility and a vendor-agnostic approach to our everyday GenAI strategy,” said Andrew Marsh, the company’s director of information security. “We worked closely with our trusted cloud partners during the design and model selection process to ensure that data submitted through this application is protected.” Another element of the success of the rollout was the steadfast focus on the end user. Through a culture of innovation, Indiana Farm Bureau Insurance has encouraged all areas of the company to identify responsible ways to leverage GenAI in their daily work. The company believes this approach will drive growth, foster creativity and boost productivity. The in-house application allowed Indiana Farm Bureau Insurance to maintain control over data security while also achieving significant cost savings. The application uses a consumption cost model, which has resulted in 90 percent cost savings compared to traditional GenAI subscription models. “Being a finalist for the Digital Transformation of the Year award is a testament to the impact AI Lab has had on the company,” said Jo Lee Hayes, Indiana Farm Bureau Insurance’s chief information officer. “I’m proud of the efforts of our employees who developed and deployed our application, and those who have embraced this new technology. Our approach strikes the perfect balance between innovative technology, cost efficiency and empowering our employees to shape the future of our industry.”

Philip H. Beach

July 28, 1935 – February 28, 2025

Philip H. Beach, 89, Westfield, passed away Friday, February 28, 2025. He was born in Sterling, Ill., to the late Henry and Ruth Beach.

Survivors include his wife, Marjorie; children, Sue Musnicki (Fred), Peggy Myers (Terry), and Hank Beach (Leigh); and sister, Peggy Scharfenberg. He adored his grandchildren, Rachel (Chris), Parker (Emily), Brett, Spencer, Maddie (Alex), and Josie (Chris); and two great-grandchildren.

Phil grew up in Sterling where he met his sweetheart Marjorie Meyer. They were married in 1957 while he was serving in the U.S. Army. They lived in Adams, Mass.; Northbrook, Ill.; Decatur, Ill.; and Westfield. Phil lived a life of service, volunteering with his church, the Chamber of Commerce, and the Rotary Club.

Phil undeniably loved his friends and family and truly knew no stranger. He was always the life of the party, warm and compassionate, and he thrived in the company of others. His laughter was contagious, and his positive outlook – along with his ability to listen intently – made everyone feel valued. He loved hearing people’s stories and was always eager to connect. He had a quick smile and was ready to share it with anyone he talked to – even in the morning before Marge was fully awake. He was friendly, joyful, unassuming, and sentimental. Phil was always the last to leave any party. His life was filled with so many wonderful friends.

He loved horses, mountains, boating, golf, and the beach – he rarely sat still. He was generous, sharing whatever gifts he had. Phil was someone who led by example. He was a strong Christian, and he was humble, genuine, and curious. He was a fighter and never gave up – using all nine lives in his 89 years on this earth.

A Celebration of Life will take place at a later date.

Bussell Family Funerals is privileged to serve the Beach family.

TODAY’S BIBLE READING

THE LAMPSTAND

They made the lampstand of pure gold. They hammered out its base and shaft, and made its flowerlike cups, buds and blossoms of one piece with them. Six branches extended from the sides of the lampstand—three on one side and three on the other. Three cups shaped like almond flowers with buds and blossoms were on one branch, three on the next branch and the same for all six branches extending from the lampstand. And on the lampstand were four cups shaped like almond flowers with buds and blossoms. One bud was under the first pair of branches extending from the lampstand, a second bud under the second pair; and a third bud under the third pair—six branches in all. The buds and the branches were all of one piece with the lampstand, hammered out of pure gold.

They made its seven lamps, as well as its wick trimmers and trays, of pure gold. They made the lampstand and all its accessories from one talent of pure gold.

Top-ranked Tigers outlast No. 2 Shamrocks, move on to semifinals

By CRAIG ADKINS
For The Reporter

CARMEL – In a matchup that should have been a sectional championship bout, Fishers and Westfield showed every bit of why they are the top two teams in the state.

For every small run that the Shamrocks had in them, the Tigers responded that much more to grab a first-round win, 54-47.

From the opening tip, it was the intense battle that it was dubbed to be. This high-octane matchup gave the fans their money’s worth and more.

A pair of ties and another couple lead changes kept the first quarter tight with Fishers up by two, 17-15.

Back-and-forth again to start the second, a Durante Morton layup gave Westfield a 22-19 lead with 4:00 left until halftime. JonAnthony Hall dunked on a pass from Baker to cut it to 22-21. Justin Kirby gave the Tigers a 24-22 lead at halftime on a layup and free throw for the old-fashioned three-point play.

“We made some adjustments offensively at half-time about things we thought we could get good looks on,” said Fishers head coach Garrett Winegar.

That only fueled Fishers, as the Tigers went on a 16-0 run until the midway point of the third. Four consecutive from Jalen Malone and an offensive rebound putback from Drew Haffner halted that run and got it under 10 at 35-28.

“Obviously, a big turning point in the game was that third quarter run when they were able to make a run. But our guys never quit. We had the same situation last week at Mount Vernon. We had to fight and claw to get back in it,” said Westfield head coach Shane Sumpter.

“I think it’s three things. They’ve got really smart kids who play really hard. They’re very well-coached. Coach Sumpter does a great job and it’s tournament time,” said Winegar.

A pair of baskets on two straight possessions from Jason Gardner Jr. and Nathan Baker gave Fishers a 39-28 advantage heading to the fourth period.

Gardner scored four in a row to begin the fourth for the Tigers’ largest lead of the night.

Westfield fought right back, as expected. The ‘Rocks cut it to seven again at 43-36 with consecutive threes from Haffner and Will Harvey, along with an eight-foot floater from Haffner.

Fishers kept trying to find more space and build a bigger lead, but Westfield’s defense just wasn’t allowing another big run.

A Cooper Zachary 1-for-2 trip at the foul line and a JonAnthony Hall layup got Fishers its last double-digit lead at 46-36.

After that, Westfield went on a 9-2 run that made it 48-45 with 1:28 left.

“You’re playing for your life. People are going to play to the last minute, regardless of the score. We try to pride ourselves on that and they did that a little better late. I thought we took some shots that we didn’t need to take, had some turnovers late,” continued Winegar.

“We were right there at the end. I knew our guys wouldn’t lay down. It’s just not in our character and it’s who they are,” said Sumpter.

The Tigers used a 6-2 run in the final minute with Gardner scoring, along with two more Zachary free throws. Hall put the icing on the cake off an inbound pass from Gardner and the senior Hall dunking for the final count of 54-47.

“We made the plays when we needed to. We got a stop there at the end and got a denial. Credit to our guys to keep fighting,” Winegar said.

Westfield (18-4) snaps its six-game winning streak. The Shamrocks were led by Haffner’s game-high 19, along with 10 out of Malone, seven from Will Harvey and five from Brock Detamore.

“I’m just really proud of this group. This is one of the most enjoyable teams I’ve ever coached. The four seniors and what they’ve done. We’ve proved a lot of people wrong this year. It’s just a really special group. They play for each other and don’t care who gets the credit. They’re just a high character bunch of kids and it shows every time they play,” said Sumpter.

Fishers (25-0) continues its state-best 38-game winning streak as they head into the second semifinal against Zionsville (12-12) on Friday, which tips off around 7:45 p.m. Noblesville (18-5) takes on Hamilton Southeastern (13-11) in the first semifinal at 6 p.m.

The Tigers were led by a team-high 15 points from Hall. Gardner (13) and Kirby joined him in double-figures. Millen McCartney (seven) and Baker (six) were also key contributors.

Millers pull away from Hounds in opening game

By RICHIE HALL
sports@readthereporter.com

CARMEL – Noblesville pulled away from host Carmel Tuesday in the opening game of Class 4A Sectional 8 on Bill Shepherd Court at the Eric Clark Activity Center.

The Greyhounds and the Millers were in a close battle for the first three quarters before Noblesville dominated the fourth period to get a 51-32 victory. Noblesville advances to the Friday semifinals, where it takes on Hamilton Southeastern in the first game that evening.

The Millers never trailed, although Carmel kept things close for the majority of the game. Noblesville led 9-5 after the first quarter, with junior Justin Curry scoring six of those points, setting the tone for how this contest developed.

The ‘Hounds opened the second quarter with two free throws from Aidan Dickerson and a basket from Liam Mann, getting the score to its lone tie at 9-9. But Ryan Vetor drained a 3-pointer, then Curry made his first triple of the game to answer a Mann layin and put Noblesville up 15-11.

“Coming into sectionals is always a nervous feeling, but it’s a good nervous feeling,” said Curry, explaining that his team was able to turn those nerves into “positive energy.”

Dickerson hit a 3 to keep Carmel within 15-14. That was another theme of the game, with the Greyhounds coming back each time the Millers went on a run. Noblesville surged ahead 20-14, with Curry making a dunk, then Carmel came back to 20-19, with Zach Michaels made a triple for the ‘Hounds.

Baron Walker got the last basket of the half, a jumper to put Noblesville ahead 22-19 at the break. The Millers started the third quarter with an 8-1 spurt, including a triple from both Curry and Walker.

Noblesville led 30-20, but Carmel came back again with an 8-0 run. Ben Bremer hit a 3, then Mann dunked in a basket while being fouled and made the free throw. A layin by Julian Vogt brought the Greyhounds within 30-28.

Walker finished the third quarter like he did the second, making a layin. The Millers led 32-28 going into the fourth quarter, then outscored Carmel 19-4 in that period. T.J. Davidson started things with an and-1, Aiden Brewer made a layin, then Walker’s layin turned into another and-1. Curry finished the run with his third 3 of the game.

shots we got in the fourth quarter,” said Noblesville coach Scott McClelland. “I think we took some better shots, but I think some our defense enabled us to get some better shot selection, better quality shots.”

Vogt broke the run at the 2:51 mark with a layin, but the Millers responded with eight consecutive points. Curry drained another triple, his fourth of the game, and made a layin, bringing his total to a game-high 24 points.

Walker scored 15 points for Noblesville and dished out four assists. Davidson led the rebounds with six, while Curry made four steals. Noblesville is 18-5 for the season.

Mann led Carmel with 10 points and also blocked two shots. Dickerson pulled eight rebounds, with Mann collecting six. Carmel finished its season 10-13 despite dealing with injuries during the year, but coach Rayn Osborn credited his team for continuing to fight.

“The effort was never a conversation,” said Osborn. “I think that takes a lot of maturity and buy-in, and I give them a lot of credit for that.”

In the end it was the Nets who prevailed in a 114-109 contest. Quenton Jackson scored 30 points while RayJ Dennis added 27 points for the Mad Ants.

The Mad Ants had RayJ Dennis, Enrique Freeman and Quenton Jackson all active for Tuesday’s game. It was Dakota Mathias who scored the first points of the day. The Purdue alum drained an off-balance three-pointer with time winding down on the shot clock.

The game was 3-0 through the first couple minutes of play. With 6:42 remaining in the first quarter, the Nets had a 13-12 lead. Coming out of the TV timeout, Dennis drained a three-pointer to regain the lead for Indiana.

Jahlil Okafor scored the first points of the second quarter. After grabbing an offensive rebound, the Duke alum scored with a layup. Okafor drew a foul on the next possession and converted the one-for-two free throw attempt.

With 6:36 left in the first half, the Mad Ants trailed Long Island 48-45. A minute later, Dennis cut the deficit shorter with a finger roll layup. The two-way guard made five of his first seven field goals.

With under three minutes to go in the second quarter, Jackson threw down a strong two-handed dunk to tie the game at 55. Next time down the floor, he drained a three-pointer giving him 16 points on the day.

Down to a minute to go, Mangas drew a foul and made a free throw worth two points. On the next possession, Jackson absorbed contact while making an off-balance shot close to the rim. The Mad Ants trailed 64-62 heading into halftime. Jackson led the team with 18 first-half points.

Halfway through the third quarter, Dennis scored with a close-range float-er. His field goal made it a 77-76 game with Indiana down one. The Illinois native made eight of his first 12 points.

Long Island finished the quarter on a 20-7 run. The Mad Ants trailed the Nets 97-83 heading into the fourth quarter. Jackson led the team with 22 points through three quarters.

Dennis and Okafor helped bring the deficit down to two points. Okafor scored with a one-handed dunk while Dennis scored with a layup. Jackson tied the game for the Mad Ants with a reverse layup. The scoring run from Indiana prompted a timeout called by Long Island. The game was tied at 104 with 3:27 left in regulation.

The game remained tied with 1:25 remaining in the quarter. Long Island regained the lead on their next possession with a putback layup from Drew Timme. Next time down the floor for the Mad Ants, Dennis captured the lead with a three-pointer. The Nets, now trailing 109-108, called a timeout with 37 seconds left on the game clock.

After the timeout, Long Island drew a shooting foul. Tosan Evbuomwan knocked down both free throws to regain the lead for the Nets. The following possession for the Mad Ants yielded no points. With time winding down, Tyson Etienne was fouled and converted both free throws. Long Island had a 112-109 advantage with 13.9 seconds remaining.

Tom Hankins called a timeout following Etienne’s free throws. Indiana turned it over trying to inbound the basketball. The Nets successfully inbounded it, and Etienne was fouled again. The Long Island point guard sank two more free throws making it a 114-109 game with 12.8 seconds remaining.

Hankins used his final timeout with Indiana still alive in the game. Josiah-Jordan James missed from downtown, and Long Island clinched the victory.
