Hamilton County Youth Service Awards scheduled for May 12

The REPORTER

The 32nd annual Hamilton County Youth Service Awards ceremony will take place at 4 p.m. Monday, May 12 at the Government & Judicial Center in Noblesville.

The ceremony is sponsored by the Hamilton County Commissioners and the Hamilton County Council on Alcohol and Other Drugs (HCCOAO) as part of its ongoing effort to recognize outstanding service by youth in the community.

"Every year, I'm amazed by the passion and resilience of these young leaders," HCCOAO Executive Director Monica Greer said. "Their dedication to service and their stand for a drug-free lifestyle are powerful reminders of the positive future being built right here in Hamilton County."

Greer

This year's nominees showcase a stellar lineup of young achievers. Among the outstanding nominees are Josh Cale representing Carmel High School, Sloan Ferguson from Fishers High School, Madison High School, Evan Lawhead from Hamilton Southeastern

High School, Ryan Vctor from Noblesville High School, Zachary Phillips from Sheridan High School, and Asha Adhikari from Westfield High School.

The selection process is overseen by a dedicated committee of employees. While one exceptional individual will be honored with the prestigious $1,000 scholarship, every finalist will receive a $300 scholarship in recognition of their exemplary service.

Magazines vs. reality

I was so pleased to give my car a good cleaning inside and out a couple of weeks ago. I make it a point to do this every spring and fall, although of course I run it through the car wash more often than that.

Then I remembered what I read in a magazine once ... that we're supposed to do this thorough vehicle cleaning EVERY WEEK. I chuckled softly to myself.

What we see and read in magazines is often so far from reality. Take, for instance, washing and drying bed sheets. I make it a point to do this during the last week of every month. Yes, just once a month. But a certain magazine I won't name (with the initials R.S.) says we need to do this chore once a week.

I understand that this may be necessary for those living in a hot climate, battling night sweats, showering in the morning, etc. But we all sleep separately from one another, shower in the evening, and are blessed to have good air conditioning. And thankfully, my body wakes me up before menopause comes knocking at night with a hot flash.

Another recommended magazine task is to separate your laundry by color. As someone who does a load of laundry every day, once again, I break this rule and ... gasp ... don't separate anything. Mind you, if something is brand-new and red, or delicate, or a new pair of dark wash jeans ... absolutely I separate items. But day to day? Nope.

We've only had one pink sock and shirt debacle in the decades I've been doing this. Granted, none of us dress in business attire during the week or dress up often, so our clothes aren't fancy. It all works for us.

And don't get me started on how magazines think our homes should look. Whenever I see a newly renovated, spotless home with 100 percent modern, updated interiors, and landscaping made by angels in a magazine, I tell myself, "This isn't real ... this isn't real ... this isn't real." Well, it's not real for probably 99 percent of us.

A fellow Reporter columnist always says "don't mind our house, we live here" whenever I visit her. Her house is always lovely inside and out. But yes, there are signs that - gasp - she and her husband actually live there, with books and newspapers scattered in the living room and a few dishes out in the kitchen. I love it all, just like I love her.

Carmel High School swimmers honored with House Resolution

Submitted by Office of State Rep. Danny Lopez

Carmel is "Swim City, USA," and Carmel High School is a big reason why. The girls and boys swim teams have enjoyed historic runs and the Greyhounds have become a national powerhouse in the sport.

This year's athletes delivered more of the same success. The girls won their 39th consecutive state championship while the boys notched their 11th straight, unprecedented, and sustained domination, as well as a national record for consecutive years of success.

On Wednesday, State Representative Danny Lopez visited the school to surprise these incredible student-athletes with a special acknowledgment: a House resolution he spearheaded during the 2025 Legislative Session to recognize the teams' achievements.

Swim City, USA has become more than a moniker for the Carmel community. The immense talent Carmel

State Rep. Danny Lopez and State Rep. Victoria Garcia-Wilburn joined Carmel Clay Schools Superintendent Tom Oestreich, Carmel High School Swim Coach Chris Plumb, Carmel High School Principal Tim Phares, and Carmel High School Athletic Director Jim Inskeep for a presentation and Q&A session with students.

High School teams have produced over the years - including Olympians Alex Shackell, Drew Kibler, and Jake Mitchell - have brought international attention to the city for four decades, helped shape local identity, and even generated measurable investment and return on investment.

Later this year, for example, Carmel will play host to the first leg of the 2025 World Aquatics Swimming World Cup, bringing 750 athletes from 50 countries, their families and friends, and their coaches to the city, resulting in a significant economic impact.

Congratulations to Coach Chris Plumb, the swimmers, and the entire Carmel High School community on this incredible achievement.

Hamilton Heights CTE students showcase skills at "The Sandbox" demonstration event

The REPORTER

The energy was high at Hamilton Heights School Corporation's Sandbox recently as students in the Construction Trades Education (CTE) program stepped into the spotlight.

The hands-on outdoor learning space, designed to provide students with real-world experience using heavy equipment, served as the perfect stage for an impressive demonstration of their technical skills, industry knowledge, and future career potential.

The event was more than just a showcase - it was an educational opportunity for teachers from other subjects to gain insight into the trades pathway and the dedication it takes to excel in this field. Through live demonstrations, students illustrated the complexities of operating heavy machinery, the precision required for construction work, and the valuable certifications they can earn during high school - all under the expert guidance of CTE instructor Kevin Sheets.

Senior Kendall Flanders enjoyed sharing his knowledge with other teachers to help them better understand what takes place in the Civil Engineering class.

For Ethan Miller, a sophomore, it was an opportunity to show his excellent hands-on skills at running equipment and to demonstrate how he is excelling in this area.

"Programs like this one are important to offer to make sure we are giving HHHS students the opportunity to prepare for a successful future career," Media Center Specialist Lori Hippensteel said. "The HHHS trades program offers students the opportunity to learn skills needed in the workplace and earn licensures and certifications that can be immediately used in the workplace. Education is about watching students smile and enjoy being outside the traditional building, learning and growing in a trade. We want them to find something they love and find a way to apply that love to their future career."

My husband and I work full-time, and we do the best we can to keep our house picked up, repaired, decluttered, and clean. We do have a little help from my friend Alyssa, who comes to deep clean every three weeks, and our son Jacob. It's perfect imperfectly and probably always will be even when (or "if," in my case) we retire.

I'd love to see magazines move closer to reality. Wouldn't it be great to see a cobweb in a photo, or toys scattered about, or a few weeds in a front yard? We could all breathe a sigh of relief and know that we're not alone in our imperfections.

Until that happens, I'd love to have you stop by our home. Just remember that we "live here" and are grateful to do so ... day in and day out.

Academic Intervention Teacher Kelly Smith said, "Working in The Sandbox was such a great PLC for all of us as teachers. Not only was it a cool and unique experience, but it gave us all a chance to see some of the amazing things that come out of Kevin's program. It is really exciting to see the kids who may not be as into the academic side of school learn skills and trades that are going to set them up for life! I loved having students from the program show me flawlessly how to run machinery with effortless ease and seeing them get a chance to shine!"

Hamilton Heights High School Principal Whitney Gray said, "It was a great experience. Fun for our staff to see what our kids in the construction pathway get to experience. Several students gave up their time teaching us how to operate these machines, and that was the coolest part. They were excited to share what they had learned, and they did a great job teaching!"

"I think this was important to show the teachers that may not be familiar with the program or did not know what they were actually doing out there how much actually goes into running a piece of heavy equipment," explained Chris Wooldridge, who works for Bobcat of Indy and is a familiar face and resource for Heights' CTE students. "Some people (not just teachers, but anyone) may think they are just taking the class to go and play with skid steers, but in reality they are getting tools that could easily land them a very good paying job straight out of school. We at Berry Companies and Bobcat of Indy are happy to invest in our local communities with programs like this where we can be of assistance."

"The whole afternoon showed our staff how the trades play a part in our overall curriculum," said

Kevin Sheets, who loved seeing how many educators attended this special event. "For some of the educators, it was their first time at the Sandbox, and they were blown away by what they saw the students do. Former Heights CTE teacher, Eric Fisher, now the Director of Talent Development for Indiana Constructors Inc., was also on hand to support the effort and build a story for his platform. It was a great day!"

By bridging classroom education with career-oriented training, the program empowers students with practical experience that translates directly into workforce readiness. Wednesday's showcase reinforced the importance of skilled trades and celebrated the students' achievements, leaving educators with a deeper appreciation for the impact of CTE career pathway at Heights.

Hamilton Heights continues to lead the way in preparing students for future success, ensuring that hands-on programs like this one remain a cornerstone of their educational mission.

Downtown alley activations & more ahead of Indiana Peony Festival

By KELLY McVEY
President, Indiana Peony Festival Inc.

We are 10 days out from a spectacular, peony-filled weekend! Whether you're planning to attend our fifth annual festival or our brunch and retail crawl, there's an activity for every one next Saturday.

While we're on the topic of activities, we wanted to share all the activations we'll be offering in downtown Noblesville on May 17. Save this as your list of alleyways to visit.

North Alley
See one of our most popular alleyways featuring our beloved Indiana Mural. Andy Schomburg will play live music for all. We'll offer tables and chairs for a break in your busy day. It's the perfect spot to grab a DORA (Designated Outdoor Refreshment Area) drink at any participating locations and walk to the alley. Make sure to check out the show-stopping floral installation we'll have featured at the entrance, too.

East Alley
Matteo's will cover this alleyway and offering a special (alcoholic) Peony Spritz. Grab a glass of bubbly and watch Sean Moore perform while admiring the famous floral mural in the East Alley. We'll have a beautiful floral installation and tables and chairs set up for resting between shopping.

South Alley
Bar Ellis plans to take over the South Alley and extend their restaurant hours on Festival Day. They will have peony drink specials, bar carts, and lots of peonies to adore. Tina Rose & The Locals will perform, so make sure to stop in.

9th Street Alley
9th Street Bistro opens its alleyway by offering a limited menu of their fresh brunch items. Kelli Yates will perform and peonies will be scattered throughout to transform the alley. This is a must-see in your day.

Maple Avenue Alley
Located on Maple Avenue between 9th and 10th streets, you'll find our newest peony mural. This mural is a new addition to the downtown and we think it's perfect for Noblesville's storytelling. This alleyway will be a designated rest area filled with tables, chairs, and a place to recoup.

Courthouse Lawn
We'll have numerous activities available on the courthouse lawn this year. Harmony Homes, a woman owned and operated design and build firm dedicated to creating homes that are as functional as they are beautiful, will be set up on the northeast side of the lawn to offer a photo booth next to a small bistro set with a styled floral display. This makes for a beautiful photo op for social media sharing. They'll have a small DIY craft area where guests can create and decorate Polaroid photo frames using petals and florals. All furniture vignettes will feature furniture and decor for sale.

On the south side of the courthouse lawn, we've partnered with 46 & Spruce and Syndicate Sales to offer two live floral demonstrations. One class will be held at 11 a.m. and another at 1 p.m. These demonstrations will be led by Syndicate Sales' lead floral designer and educator, Derek Woodruff.

Woodruff joined the floral industry at the age of 16 where he began learning floral design in vocational school and working for a local florist. Since then, he has continued to study through institutes such as Michigan State University, Great Lakes Floral Association, and the American Institute of Floral Designers. In 2008, he launched his own business, Floral Underground. He is a captivating speaker who specializes in "today's consumer," connecting and engaging them through different types of media including demonstrations, subscription services, and hands-on workshops.

In addition to being an educator, Woodruff is considered a "National Floral Design Champion" spending many years polishing the practice of live floral design competition which has won him numerous awards of note, including second runner-up on the televised reality show The Arrangement, the 2016 Sylvia Cup, and the 2024 Floriexpo Iron Designer.

Make sure to stop into all the alleys and the corners of the courthouse lawn to experience the beauty of festival weekend.

For even more information ahead of Festival Day, go to IndianaPeonyFestival.com.

Hamilton County Councilman Mark Hall's April Timesheet

Welcome to the Timesheet. This column is a report of work done on behalf of the people of Hamilton County. It's to be informative, too – a place to learn about projects and how our county government works.

soft as a county and they feel as though the system is not punishing people, especially repeat offenders in line with the State of Indiana's recommendations.

The fourth constituent's inquiry had to do with their tax bill. This taxpayer experienced a substantial increase in their assessed valuation and wanted help to understand how it was arrived at and if it was accurate. Like most requests of this type, research with the assessor's office is required and we discovered that in their situation the difference consisted of a new outbuilding and the increased value of a second outbuilding. I also encouraged the taxpayer to schedule time with the assessor's office and go through their tax bill in detail asking for an explanation.

The balance of emails, messages, and conversations were regarding the HCRUD (Hamilton County Regional Utility District) and its implication on Jackson Township. This included questions about the new development being considered in Jackson Township, reorganization and included comments expressing support for and opposition to the Utility district in general.

Here is where my time this past month has been spent. In addition to the County Council public meetings, April work included: a Board of Commissioners public meeting, a Regional Development Commission meeting, reviewing a Central Indiana Water planning meeting notes, and watching a Noblesville Town Council meeting.

The personnel committee met in person where we addressed salary reclassifications for prosecutors and job description changes for the Sheriff. The finance committee did not meet in April. The Insurance committee met where we reviewed an update on the performance of Riverview Clinics for County Employees.

Noteworthy items from April include working with Commissioner Heirbrandt and the County Attorney, to look for ways to help offset the costs of testing to opt out of connection with the sewer if required. Also, meetings with Chief Mann and Deputy Chief Whitesell to get an update on constituents' crime concerns.

The most noteworthy topic from April continues to be Property Tax reform. To be clear we need property tax reform. Potential changes in revenue require purposeful planning. For now, until we understand the final impact on Hamilton County, my position remains to pull back on long-term spending commitments that have not already been funded. Early in May, I will be briefed in detail as to the expected impact on the county's 2026, 2027, and 2028 budgets.

It was an honor to represent you this month at the Invest Hamilton County: Child Care Action Investment Kickoff meeting, the National 911 Dispatchers Week celebration, the Hamilton County 4-H Expo Building Renovation Sneak Peak Event, and at the "Role of Indiana's Leaders in ending hunger" film screening and conversation.

This is my timesheet. This is where my time went during April 2025. While my job is primarily the financial oversight of the county budget, it is important that I understand the Board of Commissioners' priorities and balance them with the stewardship of taxpayer dollars. That is the job, and I am excited to do the people's business.

As a taxpayer myself, and listening to so many of you, our employers, it's important for the taxpayers to have access to all the information you want. I work for you, and although you may not choose to do a deep dive into what your County Council does, it's important that you can always do so.

Feel free to contact me at (317) 832-1104 or mark.hall@hamiltoncounty.in.gov with questions, feedback, or if you would like to talk about county business.

Papa Poteet pops up in Pendleton

The REPORTER

Your Hometown Meteorologist Paul Poteet spoke to classes at Pendleton Intermediate Elementary School last week.

Mister Weatherman was part of career day presentations on May 1. He spoke of his childhood interest in radio and weather, which ended up expanding to television. (And newspapers, eventually!)

Poteet's grandson Hunter is a fourth grader at the school. His class put on a "Famous Hoosier Wax Museum" the next day. Students picked personalities with an Indiana connection and used props, clothes, and a prepared speech to bring the character to life when visitors approached. Hunter's pick was Papa Poteet. The real thing showed up, also with a shirt and tie.

Photos provided
(ABOVE) Papa Paul peers (apparently pleased) at the performance of Poteet 2.0 projected on the prodigious screen. (RIGHT) Uh ... uhm ... well ... unable to tell them apart we are just going to quote Foreigner for a moment, "Fill my eyes with that double vision. No disguise for that double vision. Ooh, when it gets through to me, it's always new to me. My double vision gets the best of me."

Ribbon cutting set for new Pleasant Street Offices

Three county departments to move into remodeled Humane Society building

The REPORTER

Hamilton County will hold a ribbon cutting ceremony at 9 a.m. Monday, May 12 to celebrate the opening of the Hamilton County Pleasant Street Offices, a newly renovated county facility at the southwest corner of Pleasant Street and State Road 37 in Noblesville.

The 12,000 square-foot building, formerly home to the Humane Society for Hamilton County, has been completely gutted and repurposed to house three county departments: Household Hazardous Waste, the Soil & Water Conservation District, and Weights & Measures.

“The buildings on this campus were all built in the 1940s as part of the original Hamilton County Airport. They are all well past their prime,” County Commissioner Steve Dillinger said. “Repurposing the old Humane Society building, demolishing the old buildings, and placing these departments under one roof will help them function more efficiently.”

The building served the Humane Society for Hamilton County from 2006 to 2021 before the organization relocated to a new shelter in Fishers.

The public is invited to attend the ribbon cutting event.

Meijer Simply Give hunger relief program reaches $100M donation milestone

The REPORTER

Meijer announced on Wednesday its Simply Give hunger relief program has donated an incredible $100 million to help alleviate hunger in the Midwest since the program's inception in 2008. During that time, the Meijer Simply Give program has provided nearly 900 million meals to communities in partnership with hundreds of local food pantries across its six-state footprint.*

“For the last 17 years, the Meijer Simply Give program has fueled the missions of food pantries for countless communities across the Midwest, ensuring neighbors in need have access to nourishing food,” Meijer President and CEO Rick Keyes said. “Reaching this milestone is more than a number – it's a testament to the critical partnerships between our stores and local food pantries, the generosity of our customers, and the dedication of our team members. It's proof that when we come together with a shared purpose, we can make a profound and lasting impact in the neighborhoods we call home.”

To celebrate this achievement and express its gratitude, Meijer will make a special contribution of $1.5 million to the hundreds of Simply Give pantries that continue to serve as essential lifelines for individuals and families facing food insecurity across the Midwest.

In Hamilton County, local Meijer locations are the proud partner of the following organizations:

- White River Food Pantry

impact in part because of customers' shared desire to fight hunger. Customers are invited to continue supporting their communities by adding a $10 Simply Give card to their cart, which is then converted into a Meijer food-only gift card and given to the local food pantry partner associated with that store's community.

"Our food pantry partners are truly the heartbeat of our Simply Give program, and we are thrilled to celebrate this impressive milestone with them," said Melissa Conway, Director of Community Partnerships & Giving at Meijer. "On behalf of Meijer, we'd like to thank all our pantry partners for the tremendous care, commitment, and compassion they demonstrate every day in providing meals and comfort to families in need."

In addition to its year-round customer efforts, the Meijer Simply Give program offers special opportunities for contributions to go further, including the campaign's Double Match Days, the Meijer LPGA Classic for Simply Give, and other gifting initiatives.

*Meal calculation is based on the approximate average cost of a meal from select food pantry partners across the Meijer footprint. From 2008 to 2023, this was calculated at 10 cents per meal, then was adjusted in 2023 to the present meal calculation rate of 25 cents per meal.

Indianapolis 500 medical team gears up for race day emergencies

By TIM SPEARS
WISH-TV | wishtv.com

The intensity on the track during the Indianapolis 500 just might be matched inside the Indianapolis Motor Speedway's Infield Medical Center.

"I think there's lots of jokes about emergency physicians out there," IMS Medical Director Julia Vaizer said. "[Being] adrenaline junkies is one of them that floats around."

When the IMS draws more than 350,000 people for the "Greatest Spectacle in Racing," Vaizer says this the Infield Medical Center becomes the busiest emergency department in Indiana.

Vaizer says the most common issues for fans in the stands are cuts, bruises, and dehydration, while the race crews can need attention for anything from a common cold to a multi-car crash.

"A lot of times on race day, people think 'Oh, you just have intoxicated people there,' but we see patients with any kind of medical emergency," said Laura Stasila, assistant clinical operations manager at Infield Care Center.

The 18-bed clinic is split, separating the fans from the drivers and race teams receiving treatment. The drivers' side is also equipped with a X-ray machine, ultrasound, and stocked with blood reserves.

IU Health, which operates the center, also has a helicopter on standby.

First built in the 1940s, Vaizer considers the Infield Medical Center at IMS to be one of the top motor-sports medical facilities in the country.

The 200-plus member medical team working the Indianapolis 500 are also deployed in key areas across the track, staff first aid centers, and follow IndyCar to keep teams healthy on the road. It includes a mix of professionals: nurses, residents, emergency medicine physicians, and specialists, such as a trauma surgeon and a neurosurgeon.

On race day, Stasila says the medical team often arrives in the morning, with some staying at the track already waiting for care.

While the end of the race usually brings a rush of race team members who waited until the event ended to get something checked out.

But no matter how quiet or intense it gets, the goal remains the same: safety.

"When you get this many people in one place, there's bound to be any kind of emergency that would happen," Stasila said.

TODAY'S BIBLE READING

THE GRAIN OFFERING

"These are the regulations for the grain offering: Aaron's sons are to bring it before the Lord, in front of the altar. The priest is to take a handful of the finest flour and some olive oil, together with all the incense on the grain offering, and burn the memorial portion on the altar as an aroma pleasing to the Lord. Aaron and his sons shall eat the rest of it, but it is to be eaten without yeast in the sanctuary area; they are to eat it in the courtyard of the tent of meeting. It must not be baked with yeast; I have given it as their share of the food offerings presented to me. Like the sin offering and the guilt offering, it is most holy. Any male descendant of Aaron may eat it. For all generations to come it is his perpetual share of the food offerings presented to the Lord. Whatever touches them will become holy."

The Lord also said to Moses, "This is the offering Aaron and his sons are to bring to the Lord on the day he is anointed: a tenth of an ephah of the finest flour as a regular grain offering, half of it in the morning and half in the evening. It must be prepared with oil on a griddle; bring it well-mixed and present the grain offering broken in pieces as an aroma pleasing to the Lord. The son who is to succeed him as anointed priest shall prepare it. It is the Lord's perpetual share and is to be burned completely. Every grain offering of a priest shall be burned completely; it must not be eaten."
