Doss more than earned his place in Circle of Corydon

By AIDA KARIM
news@readthereporter.com

Passionate community service never goes unnoticed. Despite his quiet and humble demeanor, Bill Doss was recognized at the Noblesville Historic Courthouse for his years of service, advocacy, and consequential support for the veteran community.

The Reporter was there to hear the presentation and speak with both Doss and State Representative Victoria Garcia Wilburn (D-Fishers) about the years of service leading up to him receiving The Circle of Corydon certificate and the importance of veteran recognition in the community.

Doss told The Reporter that starting in 1968, he was a part of the U.S. Air Force, fighting in Vietnam during his service. After years of seeing the painful neglect for our veterans, Doss said he realized the necessity to reform the way in which veterans were treated.

"I just knew that we couldn't treat our military veteran community like we were treated in the Vietnam War," he said. "So everything that I have done from that point on was to honor our military and our veteran community and make sure that their needs are addressed."

Doss said one example of the community service he took part in include painting a PT Cruiser to honor our country's losses during Sept. 11, 2001, as well as various military conflicts. Doss said he was also a part of the board for the Fallen Hoosier Heroes Memorial in Westfield. From there he went to the Hamilton County Veterans Corporation and brought the Vietnam Wall to Noblesville. Later, he joined Stronger Veterans, Stronger Communities.

Garcia Wilburn had subsequently made veteran recognition a vital component of her platform. She said she comes from a family of veterans, so when she was elected to office in 2022, she made sure her commitment to this community was enduring.

"I want neighbors just to get to be connected, to know their neighbor's story," she said, "because Mr. Doss has done so much, quietly, humbly, under the radar, and you wouldn't have known if you wouldn't have asked him."

Hamilton County Commissioner Mark Heirbrandt gave public comment during the award ceremony, testifying to the impactful acts of service and advocacy Doss had taken part in.

Heirbrandt said the Crownland War Memorial was starting to deteriorate, and it was Doss who advocated for its restoration. In the face of little monetary backing, Doss started a

Another Janet travel travail

Episode #00manyto-count of Janet's travel travails.

Careful what you say . . . You could speak it into being.

And so, on a Thursday evening, I found myself chatting at the airport with the nicest lady who lives in Carmel. It turned out we had mutual friends. Julia was on her way to Las Vegas with her daughter for a one-day trip. Her flight was leaving an hour before mine. I joked, "Bet you get to Las Vegas before I get to Tampa."

My travel issues are well known to my readers. Many say that if they ever see me on their flight, they will rebook. Okay, that might be a slight exaggeration, but maybe not.

I was taking the 8:30 flight to Tampa, which gets me there about 11 p.m. My bedtime is 10:00, so that meant a really late flight for me. As we lined up to board, the gate attendant announced, "Those bound for Tampa on flight 1293, we need you to know that a maintenance issue has been discovered; please take a seat."

A few minutes later, we heard the gentleman say, "Flight 1293 bound for Tampa, please move to Gate 17. We have a new plane coming in from Houston. Your plane will depart at 11:30." I started trying to figure out the schedule in my already tired brain. 2 a.m. was the time I should be dreaming, not entertaining a nightmare.

It's interesting how people react to flight delays. One lady gave the poor gate attendant a piece of her mind. It wasn't pretty. He went out of his way to get the older passengers, including her, something to drink. I have no idea what her name was, but my mind called her Karen.

Carmel performer heads to Broadway while in high school

By STU CLAMPITT
news@readthereporter.com

Aarthi Eswaran is a Carmel High School (CHS) student who is headed to New York City next month to take part in the prestigious Broadway Artist Alliance (BAA) summer program. BAA is an elite, audition-based program that connects young performers with Tony Award winners and top casting directors for an intensive week of education, rehearsal, and a performance.

The Reporter spoke with Eswaran about her passion for being on stage and what she expects from the BAA program in late July.

"I have been specifically invited to join Session 4, which is the most selective 'triple-threat' [singing, dancing, and acting] track that culminates in a performance at an Off-Broadway showcase," Eswaran said. "This feels like the next major step in my career, and I am grateful to represent Indiana's performing arts scene in NYC."

Eswaran had to audition with three videos, one for each portion of the triple-threat program.

"I will be learning all about those three fields and mastering certain performances, Maleficent, Jafar, Cruella de Vil, Grimhilde – the stories of these infamous Disney villains are resurrected in the electrifying production of Disney's Descendants. Carmel Community Players (CCP) brings the story to life at The Cat, 254 Veterans Way, through June 21.

The Reporter spoke with CCP Director Tanya Haas about the magical experience audiences should look forward to at the upcoming production.

Haas told The Reporter the Disney's Descendants musical was based on the 2015 Disney film, capturing the dynamic progression between heroes and villains. The story focuses on kids at a school for heroes, four of whom are the children of classic Disney villains: Maleficent from Sleeping Beauty, Jafar from Aladdin, Cruella de Vil from 101 Dalmatians, and Grimhilde from Snow White and the Seven Dwarves.

The children of heroes and villains meet as they explore complex relationship dynamics and rising tension between good and evil.

Haas said she makes it a priority to cast everyone who auditions when she directs youth productions with the ages ranging from 10 to 21. The show has many main characters and opportunities for young ensemble members.

"Between thinking the story was

Mayors Finkam & Hogsett announce regional mayors' public safety partnership summit

Submitted by City of Carmel

The following statement is jointly issued by Indianapolis Mayor Joe Hogsett and Carmel Mayor Sue Finkam.

"Crime takes a toll on every community. Individuals who commit crimes often move among jurisdictions, creating challenges that no single community can solve alone. As mayors, we are committed to working together to address this critical issue on behalf of those we serve.

"In support of that commitment, we will co-host a Regional Mayors' Public Safety Partnership Summit. The Summit will convene multiple times during the year.

"Mayors from cities in Boone, Hamilton, Hancock, Hendricks, Johnson, Madison, Marion, Morgan and Shelby counties will be asked to bring their police chief to join in the discussions. For communities without a mayor, the police chief and the most senior civilian leader will be invited.

"As leaders of some of our nation's most vibrant and dynamic communities, we look forward to expanding efforts that are already improving safety in our region and exploring solutions that benefit all who live, work, play and visit here.

"Details regarding the Regional Mayors' Public Safety Partnership Summit will be released as they become available."

Retiring HSE teacher Chad Janney named 'Distinguished Hoosier'

Submitted by HSE Schools

Retiring Hamilton Southeastern High School social studies teacher Chad Janney received a surprise honor on the final day of school when he was presented with a Distinguished Hoosier proclamation from Governor Mike Braun.

Janney, who is retiring after 28 years of service with Hamilton Southeastern Schools, was surprised by Assistant Superintendent of Secondary Education Jason Urban during a year-end gathering of his social studies department colleagues.

The Distinguished Hoosier award is one of Indiana's highest honors, recognizing individuals whose service, leadership, and contributions have made a lasting impact on their communities and the state.

Chad Janney (center) was surprised to be named a Distinguished Award.

Janney was nominated for the recognition in honor of his decades of dedication to students, his passion for history and civic education, and his commitment to creating meaningful learning experiences. His work recently gained additional attention during the U.S. Department of Education History Rocks! tour at Hamilton Southeastern High School, where his efforts to bring history to life for students were highlighted.

As he concludes nearly three decades in education, the award serves as a fitting tribute to a career devoted to inspiring students and fostering a deeper understanding of history, citizenship, and public service.

GoFundMe with Heirbrandt. That garnered the attention of the other county commissioners and donors across the county. They were both able to restore the memorial and also add the names of veterans who weren't previously included.

"It looks absolutely stunning, but to hear from those families and what it meant to them, that's something that I'll never forget," Heirbrandt said.

Heirbrandt said Doss also advocated for a number of legislative issues, mental health initiatives, and started the job and resource fair, which offers support to the veteran community. Doss said he understands that there has been growing support for the veteran community within the past couple of years, with more input from legislators than there has been in the past.

"The main thing that we have to do on their part is teach them how to listen and then actually hear what they're listening to," Doss said.

When speaking to Doss directly, Heirbrandt said, "I don't think that you really know how many people you actually touched. I can't imagine anybody more deserving of this honor than you."

Bill Doss awarded The Circle of Corydon

Whereas, the early leaders of our state gathered in Corydon in 1816 to adopt the first Indiana Constitution and to create the State of Indiana;

Whereas, Corydon was Indiana's first capital and center of leadership in the early and formative years of our state;

Whereas, like the founders of our great state, many others have made remarkable contributions to the betterment of Indiana and its people and, therefore, are deserving of consideration for membership in the Indiana General Assembly's CIRCLE OF CORYDON; and

Whereas, State Representative Garcia Wilburn has made known the illustrious benefactions of one:

BILL DOSS
who has demonstrated, in life and in service to the people of the state of Indiana, the qualities exemplified by our state's greatest citizens;

Henceforth, being deemed worthy of such recognition, the individual named above is hereby declared a distinguished member of the CIRCLE OF CORYDON.

Photos provided by Hamilton Southeastern Schools

Just days into summer break, Caden Rose, who will be Fishers High School junior this fall, is still hard at work studying for the final round of the Presidential 1776 Award competition, a highly selective national civics and history program. Rose finished in the top four of the Midwest Regional competition and is the only student from Indiana advancing to the national finals. On June 9, he'll travel to Washington, D.C., to compete against 19 students from across the country for scholarships worth up to $150,000. The competition will also air on CBS on June 30 at 8 p.m. Best of luck to Caden Rose, and thank you for representing Fishers and HSE Schools so well!

CAF Barnstorming Days return June 13

Public invited to "Take a Ride in History" while honoring Hoosier veterans and celebrating America's 250th Anniversary

The REPORTER

As America commemorates its 250th Anniversary, the Indiana Wing of the Commemorative Air Force (CAF) invites the public to celebrate our nation's history through the sights, sounds, and stories of the Greatest Generation at CAF Barnstorming Days, taking place from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, June 13 at Indianapolis Executive Airport, 11329 State Road 32, Zionsville.

This one-of-a-kind event offers the public a rare opportunity to "Take a Ride in History" aboard authentic World War II training aircraft, connecting attendees directly to the aviation legacy and courage that helped preserve the freedoms we celebrate during this milestone year.

Attendees will have the opportunity to purchase rides in historic World War II-era trainer aircraft, including a 1942 Vultee BT-13, 1943 Boeing Stearman, 1944 Fairchild PT-26, and a North American AT-6D. These aircraft played a vital role in preparing American aviators for combat, serving as the foundational trainers where thousands of WWII cadets first learned the skills they would carry into war.

ous donation from FedEx, helping the Indiana Wing honor Indiana veterans and their families in a meaningful way. Through this support, the CAF Indiana Wing will provide 25 complimentary warbird rides to selected Hoosier veterans as a tribute to their service and sacrifice. Veterans interested in participating may apply online at indianawingcaf.org/veterans.html.

"This event is about more than airplanes; it's about honoring service, preserving history, and creating unforgettable memories for veterans and their families," said Mark Van Zant, Development Officer for the Indiana Wing CAF. "As our nation celebrates 250 years of freedom, this is a unique opportunity to reflect on the brave Americans – especially the WWII generation – who helped secure that freedom, while allowing today's families to experience a living piece of that history."

About the Indiana Wing Commemorative Air Force

The Commemorative Air Force is dedicated to educating, inspiring, and honoring through flight and living history experiences. The Indiana Wing proudly preserves and shares America's military aviation heritage with future generations through aircraft restoration, public events, and educational outreach.

Hamilton Heights senior Connelly Schuster practices a flight in the high school parking lot. The Class of 2026 graduate launched and grew his own drone media business before even crossing the commencement stage.

Husky leads the pack with a business before graduation

Submitted by Hamilton Heights School Corp.

Hamilton Heights High School (HHHS) senior Connelly Schuster walked across the graduation stage on Saturday with something few students his age can claim: a fully established and growing business built from a passion he discovered long before senior year. As the founder of Schuster Drone Media, he has transformed a love of photography, videography, and technology into a professional venture serving real estate agents, companies, and clients across central Indiana.

His journey began with a simple interest in cameras and editing. After experimenting with toy drones as a kid, he saved enough money to purchase his first professional drone, a DJI Mini 3.

"I was able to get incredible photos of Morse Reservoir and sunsets," Schuster said. "That encouraged me to keep going."

The turning point came when his mother, a real estate agent, asked him to take aerial photos for one of her listings – and insisted on paying him.

"That's when I realized the potential," he said. With an interest in construction and homes, he earned his FAA Part 107 license, allowing him to fly commercially and officially launch his business.

From there, Schuster Drone Media took off. He created a website, designed logos, and began working with additional clients, including real estate agents and even a technology company testing lidar tracking capabilities. One of his proudest projects was capturing drone footage for his cousin's wedding, where he produced a social-media-ready video and a 3D model of the couple.

Balancing entrepreneurship with a full high school schedule has been no small feat. In addition to running his business, he has been active in band, indoor percussion, robotics, and National Honor Society.

"It hasn't been easy," Schuster said. "But having study hall time and weekends helped me stay on top of schoolwork while still finding time to shoot and edit content."

The Hamilton Heights community has played a meaningful role in his journey. He recently earned the $1,000 School of Hard Knocks Scholarship from a local company, Aviato, support he plans to use for college or reinvest in his business.

"The community has been amazing," Schuster added. "Their encouragement means a lot."

HHHS Principal Whitney Gray, "What Connelly has accomplished is extraordinary. He didn't wait for opportunity – he created it. Watching one of our students take a passion, develop it into a skill, and then build a business from the ground up is inspiring. We are incredibly proud of his accomplishments and excited to see how he continues to grow as in college and an entrepreneur."

While Schuster prepares to attend Indiana University Bloomington to study Computer Science in the fall, he plans to continue operating Schuster Drone Media on weekends and breaks – and even expand into the Bloomington real estate market.

"Owning my own business has given me responsibility and optimism for the future," Schuster pointed out. "I'm confident I'll find my place in the industry as my business continues to grow."

His advice to other students dreaming of turning a passion into a business is simple: "Start making connections early. Build something mission-driven that clients can trust. And find a balance between schoolwork and your passion."

For Schuster, the motivation is clear every time he launches his drone.

"I love seeing the finished product – and seeing my clients happy with how their house turned out."

a lot of fun, the music being really catchy and memorable, and the opportunity for a lot of kids to be involved, I thought it would be a great one to bring to CCP," Haas said.

Haas told The Reporter that within her cast of 32 actors, experience levels vary quite a bit. Haas said she enjoyed navigating the blend between experienced actors and those who are getting to be on stage for the first time.

In terms of particular cast members who really shine, Haas said Lyric Kemp, Sydney Weitz, and Molly Parker are three young women who have really strong singing voices. Nixon Gough also has a really big part in the show and has really stepped up.

Hass told The Reporter this is a show everyone will enjoy.

"This is a show that would be enjoyable for all ages," Haas said. "A lot of times, even with youth productions, they're not appropriate for younger kids, but anybody who's watched classic Disney movies is going to recognize these characters."

Haas said older audiences may mistake this show as not being "age-appropriate" but there are some absolutely outstanding young actors in the production. The young actors in shows today are the ones who may be on professional stages on and off Broadway someday, so coming to see youth theater helps encourage future stars.

and group performances as well," Eswaran said. "Then we will be performing for a bunch of casting agents and directors on an off-Broadway stage in New York."

Eswaran is involved in the CHS theater and in two CHS competition show choir programs: Accents and Ambassadors. Accents is an all-female group, while Ambassadors is a group composed of both young men and young women.

Eswaran has also been acting in both musical and dramatic plays both at CHS and in community theater for years.

"I've performed with Meridian Music Theater Camp," Eswaran said. "It's called M3 Theater Camp. I recently did a review at the Civic Theater. I've also performed at the Switch Theater in Fishers. I will be performing with Summer Stock Stage this summer in their show Ragtime. I was also at the Palladium through Songbook Academy in 2025 and I'll be returning in 2026."

Add to that a full school schedule, hobbies playing both guitar and drums, and even time spent bike riding as leisure activity. Thus, The Reporter had to ask how she balances too many activities.

"You've got to become really good at juggling many things and make sure to not waste your time," Eswaran said. "So I've been trying to get pretty good at that. If I'm not on stage during rehearsal, I'm usually studying. And even in car rides, I try to get stuff done. Even on the bus ride home. I'm always trying to find those little pockets of time where I can fit in school-work throughout all the performing. Honestly, it's been pretty fun because I enjoy doing all those extracurricular activities and I still was able to manage my junior year of high school, which is notoriously the most difficult year of high school."

Eswaran caught the acting bug early, but one of her standout memories was the chance play the role of Anna Van Helsing in the CHS production of Dracula.

"Anna Van Helsing is actually Abram Van Helsing in the original, but they genderbent the role as a woman empowerment type thing," Eswaran said. "It was just very cool to play that kind of role. Van Helsing kills Dracula and makes the plan to defeat the vampire."

That role allowed Eswaran to stretch her talents a bit by working with a dialect coach to perfect her Dutch accent to better portray Van Helsing.

Next month, Eswaran will learn from world-class instructors at BAA in New York, then bring those skills back home to Hamilton County stages.

In a few years when Eswaran is off to pursue a career on Broadway or in Hollywood, remember that you read about her first in Hamilton County's Hometown Newspaper: The Reporter.

Gov. Mike Braun welcomes Chicago Bears to Indiana

Submitted by Office of Governor Mike Braun

Governor Mike Braun issued the following statement on Friday, June 5, following the announcement that the Chicago Bears will build a world-class stadium facility in Hammond, Ind.

"Hoosiers, help me welcome the Chicago Bears to our great state!

"We look forward to building a partnership as strong as the '85 Bears defense, creating opportunities and economic growth that will benefit our state and the Bears organization for decades to come. An NFL franchise in Northwest Indiana will be an economic boost to the entire region like we haven't seen before.

"Thank you to Speaker Huston, the legislature, and Mayor McDermott for their partnership. I also want to thank the entire Chicago Bears organization for their partnership and commitment in making this move a reality.

"Welcome to Indiana!"

Speaker Huston issues statement

Indiana House Speaker Todd Huston (R-Fishers) issued the following statement on Friday, June 5, following the announcement that the Chicago Bears will build a world-class stadium facility in Hammond, Indiana.

"I am thrilled the Bears ownership voted to develop a world-class stadium facility in Hammond. This will be a transformative project for Northwest Indiana, benefiting our entire state. The Bears have been transparent and terrific partners throughout this process.

"Local elected leadership in Northwest Indiana and their constituents have been tremendous partners in making this happen. This is a fantastic win for Indiana, and I thank Governor Braun and his leadership team. The Bears join a long line of companies and residents choosing Indiana to invest, grow and pursue opportunity, and I look forward to many more making that choice."

Harsimran Kaur wins Beth Niedermeyer Scholarship

Submitted

Noblesville Diversity Coalition (NDC) announces Harsimran Kaur as the recipient of the Beth Niedermeyer Scholarship.

This year, NDC received 22 applications from graduating seniors who are helping build a more welcoming Noblesville. The annual scholarship is awarded to a graduating senior of Noblesville High School who exemplifies the core values of NDC and the leadership qualities of Dr. Beth Niedermeyer: humility, courage, respect, and collaboration.

Kaur demonstrated these values through her leadership on the NDC Student Board, the Mayor's Youth Council, and her work helping organize and support local events that celebrate diversity, including the community Culture Fair.

In her application, Kaur wrote that "a community is only truly welcoming when every voice is heard, and empathy is turned into action." She shared that her experiences taught her the importance of stepping outside her comfort zone to advocate for others and help ensure that everyone feels included.

After high school, Kaur plans to continue living these values as "an active changemaker rather than a silent observer." Whether through campus initiatives, community events, or future professional work, she hopes to help create spaces where people feel seen, valued, and safe.

Kaur will attend Purdue University's John Martinson Honors College, where she plans to study Biomedical Health Sciences on the pre-med track. Her dream is to become a physician who helps bridge cultural gaps in medicine and ensures patients from all backgrounds feel respected, understood, and safe.

"Harsimran reflects the kind of leadership this scholarship was created to honor," NDC Board President Dana Randall said. "She leads with humility, acts with courage, treats others with respect, and understands that building belonging requires collaboration. We are proud to celebrate her and excited to see the impact she will continue to make."

NDC's mission is to educate, celebrate, challenge, and inspire Noblesville to be a more welcoming community that embraces all cultures and identities. Through the Beth Niedermeyer Scholarship, NDC continues to invest in young leaders who are helping carry that mission forward.

Most people seemed to think "it is what it is." When we finally boarded, it felt like herding hungry cats with nary a meow. The pilots and attendants had been flying for most of the day, yet they were pleasant and simply asked everyone to be patient. The plane was eerily quiet.

We were told the original plane had lost its navigation lights. I hope Karen realized that could have been a serious issue. Better safe than ... sorry.

At 2 a.m., I ordered an Uber that dropped me off at Chuck's house just before 3 a.m. I changed into my pajamas and collapsed into bed.

My alarm went off at 7:00 the next morning because a contractor was coming for a project between 10:00 and noon. I took a shower, got dressed, and headed out for breakfast ... or so I thought. I was starving. I really needed coffee with Chobani sweet cream.

I got into Chuck's little red Focus, turned the key in the ignition, and heard, Click, Click, Click. Noooooo. We keep very little food in the refrigerator or pantry. I was starving. I really needed coffee and a Bocado from First Watch.

I called AAA, and they said a truck would be out ASAP. You never know exactly what ASAP means. I called my daughter to tell her about my woes. I was close to having a come-apart. She said, "Mom, order a DoorDash." "Emily, I don't know how." She saved my life and ordered me a Starbucks coffee and egg bites.

Honestly, I just wanted to cry. The past 12 hours had been brutal. I looked in the mirror and thought I looked like I had been hit by a Boeing 737.

Here's where things got a whole lot brighter.

Westfield has big plans to celebrate America 250

Submitted by City of Westfield

The countdown to the most patriotic weekend of the year is officially on. Join the City of Westfield for three family-friendly events to celebrate America 250 in Westfield from July 2 to 4.

“We always celebrate Independence Day in a big way here in Westfield,” Mayor Scott Willis said. “As the entire country gears up to celebrate America 250, we wanted to rise to the occasion by hosting a full slate of events focused on patriotism, community, and fun for the whole family.”

Red, White, and Bloom at the Farmers Market

July 2
The festivities begin at Grand Junction Plaza on Thursday, July 2, from 5 to 8 p.m. with a patriotic theme night at the Westfield Farmers Market, presented by Community Health Network, called “Red, White, and Bloom”. Check out vendors with special themed products, Fourth of July specials, family-friendly activities, and renditions of Americana hits from the live musician on-site. For more information, visit westfieldin.gov/farmers-market.

Freedom Parade & Kickoff Concert

July 3
America 250 in Westfield will continue on Friday, July 3, at 6 p.m. with the Freedom Parade, presented by Meijer. The parade will begin on North Union Street and will extend to just south of Grand Junction Plaza at College Avenue.

Following the parade, attendees can enjoy food vendors, local business activations, airbrush artists, balloon twisters, and more at Grand Junction Plaza. The Jason Lee McKinney Band takes the Main Stage for a free concert beginning at 7:30 p.m. Additionally, attendees can experience powerful stories from America’s past through live performances by the Westfield Basile Playhouse, bringing historical voices to life on stage.

For more information about the parade route or parking, visit westfieldin.gov/america250.

Westfield Rocks the 4th

Willis

July 4
On Saturday, July 4, one of the city’s most popular events of the year, Westfield Rocks the 4th, presented by Community Health Network, returns to the Droplight Grand Park Sports Campus from 4 to 10:30 p.m. This event is free and open to the public and will feature live music, food vendors, and a drone and fireworks show at 10 p.m.

Kids Zone wristbands, which grant access to face painting, balloon twisting, bounce houses, inflatable slides and more, will be available online for $10 per child (ages 4 and up). Children 3 and younger will receive free admission but also require a ticket. Kids Zone wristbands will be available for advanced purchase online starting June 19 at westfieldin.gov/rocksthe4th.

A limited number of preferred parking spots for will be available in Lot G for $15 per vehicle beginning June 19 at 10 a.m. Please note that preferred parking guarantees a close parking space to the event grounds. All parking lots, including Preferred Parking, will exit according to traffic flow as directed by Public Safety personnel. Free parking is available in Grand Park’s other parking lots on a first-come, first-served basis.

The event features an exciting entertainment lineup. The Main Stage will host performances by The Flying Toasters (5 to 7 p.m.) and The 1985 (8 to 10 p.m.), as well as the National Anthem, an Honor Guard Presentation of Colors, and the Frank’s Franks Hot Dog Eating Contest. Chris Denari will also serve as a host for the evening’s festivities. The Kids Stage will feature performances by Mr. Mik, Dance Innovations, and magician Rusty Ammerman, along with the Kids Watermelon Eating Contest.

For more information about the full slate of events, including information about where to park, visit westfieldin.gov/events.

Carmel goes all-out on America 250

The REPORTER

2026 marks a monumental year as the City of Carmel honors both America’s 250th anniversary and the 50th year as a city.

From neighborhood block parties to grand community events, this year-long celebration should reflect the incredible creativity, history, and shared identity of the Carmel community.

Are you planning a special event to celebrate these milestones? City officials want to help you show your civic pride! You can use the city’s commemorative America 250 / Carmel 50 logo files and brand guidelines for local organizations, schools, neighborhoods, and businesses to use.

the HCLA program, passion for making an impact through leading and serving in Hamilton County, and unique perspectives and knowledge they will bring to the learning environment.

Earlier this year, HCLA announced that Andrew Bradford would serve HCLA as the Class of 2027 Dean.

About HCLA

Established in 1991, Hamilton County Leadership Academy (HCLA) is the premier leadership program in Hamilton County. HCLA provides a 10-month, immersive experience in which participants take a deep dive into issues that are critically important to our communities.

HCLA graduates are knowledgeable, active leaders serving civic groups, not-for-profits, and government agencies, as well as holding elected office. The HCLA experience doesn’t end after graduation, though – HCLA regularly holds events for alumni to connect with one another and continue their leadership journey.

Anyone who lives and/or works in Hamilton County is welcome to apply to HCLA. For more information, visit hcla.net.

Noblesville’s own Ella Satterfield selected for prestigious Hollywood internship

The REPORTER

Ella Satterfield of Noblesville has been selected for the prestigious Television Academy Foundation Internship program. She is one of 40 students chosen by Television Academy members from across the country for the 2026 Summer Internship program. The Foundation offers paid internships at top Hollywood studios and production companies annually to college students nationwide. Satterfield is currently a senior at the Ringling College of Art and Design in Sarasota, Fla., majoring in film with a minor in business art and design. She will intern this summer in the commercials production department at Radical Media in Santa Monica, Calif., through the Foundation’s program.

“It means the world to know I have the support of the members of the Television Academy,” Satterfield said. “Being recognized by the people who give out the highest honors in television sparks my determination to jump into my branded entertainment career. I have an incredible opportunity to thrive in this internship, and with the guidance of the Television Academy, I am ready to put my all into this summer!”

She continued, “I am so excited to learn from industry professionals about how the branded world works, and adapt what I’ve learned in school to these new environments. My ultimate goal is to be a director of branded entertainment for a creative production agency.”

Satterfield was raised in Noblesville where she was home schooled.

“I grew up volunteering over 1,000 hours at a living history site where I taught guests about Indiana agriculture while helping raise heritage breed cows, sheep, goats, chickens and more,” Satterfield said. “When not on the farm, I grew up on the lake surfing with my family, staying up all night playing games or drawing with friends.”

The Television Academy Foundation shapes the art of creating television by engaging and educating the next generation of television professionals, providing essential resources that help them discover their voices, refine their skills and forge rewarding careers in every sector of the television industry. The Internship program provides over 50 students from across the nation with hands-on work experience and networking opportunities for accelerated career development in more than 30 disciplines annually. For more information on the Foundation, please visit TelevisionAcademy.com/Foundation.

Humane Society for Hamilton County launches annual $300K matching campaign

The REPORTER

The Humane Society for Hamilton County (HSHC) announced its annual June Matching Campaign to raise highly needed funds for the thousands of animals that come through the doors in need of care and shelter.

During the month of June, every online or in-person donation is doubled up to $150,000.

Thanks to the shelter’s Advisory Board, Board of Directors, and other individual donors, HSHC has the opportunity to raise $300,000 in just 30 days. From June 1 through June 30, community members will have the unique opportunity to double their impact and give every animal in the shelter the chance to live, love, and be loved.

“Every donation will be matched dollar-for-dollar up to $150,000,” Community Engagement Manager Emma Nobbe said. “For the month of June, your $5 donation will become $10, $20 will become $40, $50 will become $100 – with all proceeds providing essential care, medical treatment, and shelter for the 4,000 animals who come through our doors each year.”

To support the Humane Society during the month of June, community members and rescue supporters can make donations online at hamiltonhumane.com or visit the shelter in person at 10501 Hague Road, Fishers.

“All In Noblesville” aims to bring community together to envision & plan city’s future

Submitted by City of Noblesville

The City of Noblesville has announced the launch of All In Noblesville, a collaborative planning initiative to update the city’s Comprehensive Plan and Unified Development Ordinance (UDO) to guide growth and development over the next two decades.

Get involved & share your input

All In Noblesville is getting started with several ways for residents to share their voices:

- Take the online survey and markup the interactive map on the project website: AllNoblesville.com.
- Visit pop-up tables throughout the city at the community events.
- Join the kick-off celebration at the end of summer 2026.
- Sign up for project updates on the project website.

Check AllNoblesville.com for dates, times, and locations as they’re announced.

Community input drives the process

The initiative seeks extensive community input on land use priorities, including residents’ ideas for future development, identification of the community’s best places and assets, and areas where improvements or missing elements could enhance quality of life.

“The voices of people who live, work, dine, shop, and invest in Noblesville are a crucial part of shaping our city’s next chapter,” Mayor Chris Jensen said. “Community input is essential as we plan for the future and I look forward to hearing the priorities and ideas that will help guide Noblesville’s continued growth and success.”

The initiative specifically seeks resident input on:

- Future land use ideas: How and where the community should grow

- Best places and community assets: What makes Noblesville special

- Missing elements: Services, amenities, or infrastructure gaps

- Improvement opportunities: Areas that could benefit from enhancement

Why the update is needed

Over the past 30 years, the Comprehensive Plan has become outdated, and the Unified Development Ordinance has expanded from roughly 200 to over 600 pages. Decades of amendments have resulted in a document that is complex, contains contradictory language, and lacks key standards for building form and design. During this same period, entire industries have emerged, technology has advanced significantly, and preferences for how people live and work have evolved – making incremental amendments increasingly difficult and likely to introduce additional conflicts rather than resolve them.

About All In Noblesville

All In Noblesville represents a unified approach to updating Noblesville’s long-term vision and the rules that implement that vision. The process is expected to take approximately 18 to 24 months, with community input shaping every phase from initial visioning through final adoption.

The updated Comprehensive Plan and UDO will guide decisions about where residents live, work, and play in Noblesville for the next two decades, ensuring the community grows thoughtfully while preserving what residents value most.

For more information about All In Noblesville and to get involved, visit AllNoblesville.com.

Furgal named Husky Hero for her transformative impact on students

Submitted by Hamilton Heights School Corp.

Katie Furgal, Resource Teacher at Hamilton Heights Middle School, has been named the April Husky Hero.

Furgal meets students where they are, lifting them up, and helping them discover what they are capable of. Her impact is felt not only in classrooms, but in families, futures, and the confidence of the students she serves.

In her role, Furgal supports students with diverse learning needs through individualized instruction, skill-building, and long-term relationship development. Her work often happens behind the scenes, yet its impact is profound and lasting. Over the years, families have repeatedly nominated her for the Husky Hero Award, each time highlighting the extraordinary difference she makes in their children’s lives.

Her nominations tell a powerful story:

- 2022: “She is amazing and very helpful with her students! I wish my daughter had her again this year.” – Tammy Roberts

- 2024: “She goes above and beyond for my child’s well-being and education.” – Brittany Gills

- 2026: “There are no adequate words for the impact she has had on my son and daughter for the last five years ... She made them feel confident, loved, empowered, smart, and capable of anything ... My fears about middle school were put at rest because I knew they were in great hands. Hamilton Heights is so very lucky to have her. She loved my kids each and every day and was a world changer for both of them.”

– Amanda Engle
This most recent nomination, spanning five years of trust and transformation, deeply moved Furgal.

“Being nominated and receiving the Husky Hero award means the world to me,” she said. “In a role where success isn’t always clearly visible through student testing data, being seen as a world changer for kids is both humbling and inspiring.”

For Furgal, the heart of her work lies in the relationships she builds over time.

“My favorite part of being a special education teacher is the relationships that are built over the years,” she said. “What motivates me most is helping students grow throughout their four years of middle school watching them gain confidence, develop their strengths, and ultimately soar as they move on to high school.”

Do you know a Husky Hero? Nomination forms and information about this special recognition program for Hamilton Heights employees are available at bit.ly/hhschuskyhero. The Husky Hero Recognition program is made possible through the Hamilton Heights Educational Foundation in partnership with Craig and Amber Bowen (FC Tucker). #hhed-foundation

David Commanday joins Carmel Symphony Orchestra as new music director

The REPORTER

The Carmel Symphony Orchestra (CSO) welcomes David Commanday as its new Music Director. He brings with him a wealth of experience in artistic leadership, a deep commitment to musical excellence, and a genuine passion for connecting with musicians and audiences alike. His collaborative spirit and clear vision will help the CSO build on its strong 50-year foundation while exploring new artistic possibilities.

Over a career spanning three continents, Maestro Commanday has earned recognition for performances distinguished by musical insight, compelling immediacy and a vital connection between musicians and audiences. Reviewers have noted his ability to stir listeners’ emotions as he shares his feelings and excitement for the music. The CSO is honored to have a music director with such a broad and distinguished career.

“I am deeply honored to be appointed Music Director of the Carmel Symphony Orchestra as it celebrates its 50th Anniversary,” Commanday said. “The CSO has a distinguished history, exceptional musicians, and a world-class home in the Payne & Mencias Palladium. It is a privilege to lead this wonderful orchestra as we shape an ambitious and inspiring next chapter together.”

His conducting career began with his appointment as Music Director of the Boston Ballet, collaborating with Rudolf Nureyev and Violette Verdy and directing orchestras throughout Europe and North America. He has worked in ballet throughout the country, appearing with the Joffrey Ballet West, Pacific Northwest, Kansas City, Orlando, and Oklahoma City ballet companies, among many others.

Commanday led the Boston Youth Symphony Orchestras to national recognition, earning three ASCAP awards for adventurous programming, and leading four international tours. He has a distinguished record of faculty appointments, including Harvard University, Boston University, MIT, VCU, and Eastern Illinois University, where he currently directs the Eastern Symphony Orchestra. The Singapore Ministry of Music invited him to four annual residencies, conducting the Singapore National Youth Orchestra and presenting master classes in conducting, chamber music, and cello.

Commanday founded the innovative Heartland Festival Orchestra in 2009, where he continues as Artistic Director and Conductor, and was recognized as Illinois Conductor of the Year.

In addition, Commanday is an active cellist. He has performed with Yo-Yo Ma, Bobby McFerrin, Matt Haimovitz, and Michael Steven Brown among many other noted musicians. While principal cellist at Tanglewood, Commanday performed under Leonard Bernstein, Seiji Ozawa, and Aaron Copland – experiences that inspired his transition to conducting.

Graduating cum laude at Harvard College, Commanday trained in conducting at the University of Vienna under Otmar Suitner, General Musik Direktor of the Berlin State Opera. There he was awarded the Austrian Staatsdiplom in orchestral conducting with highest distinction.

Even when you're walking on sunshine, sunscreen matters

"Sunshine on my shoulders makes me happy." — John Denver, 1971

Two quote references here: 1. I turned 21 in 1971, but that is a very different column. 2. Recalling John Denver's soothing tenor.

Anyway, getting off topic here. The topic of sunshine is a happy one most of the time. After a particularly gray and chilly winter we turn our faces up to the sun and welcome those warm rays and some gentle breezes.

I may be nostalgic about 1971 (mostly) and listening to Denver on my 8-track (serious) but I am not nostalgic about the basking in the sun without benefit of sunscreen! "Back in the day" as children and teenagers we were oblivious to the term sun damage; a good tan was considered healthy and attractive. Personally, I have never been a very good tanner so I worked on it extra hard!

SHARON McMAHON
Be Well

Good memories of swimming at Forest Park pool, boating with my parents, and lying about on the good old chaise in the backyard working on a "tan" while listening to the Beatles and top 40 hits on the transistor radio. I am sure I have a wrinkle or three as a legacy from what we called "sun bathing."

Not long ago my dermatologist informed me that most people who find they have skin cancers caused by sun damage are unaware that damage resulted from sun exposure as children. Melanoma is the deadliest skin cancer, with over 112,000 people diagnosed annually and with 90 percent directly linked to UV radiation sunlight or indoor tanning.¹ Thankfully most skin cancers can be resolved early if you are vigilant.

While we certainly cannot turn back the clock, we can diligently protect ourselves with the plethora of sunscreen products currently on the market. Although I will not use this space to share products I specifically use, I will share that my usual is a broad-spectrum SPF of 30, and sometimes SPF 50 as well. A good product will protect against both UVA and UVB rays. Checking your skin on a regular basis is critical to note any changes. As always, I encourage my readers to do their own research and check with your medical professional for the best options for you and your family.

Tanning beds – don't get me started! Being a person of pale skin, I understand the draw of tanning beds particularly for the young and young at heart but there are some great products available which can give the illusion of a tan without the dangers. Using tanning beds before the age of 20 increases the chance of melanoma by 47 percent.²

Going forward into the warm (and sometimes quite warm!) summer months I suggest that you replenish your sunscreen products, be sure to see your dermatologist annually and if you have the opportunity to care for children please make sure that they are regularly wearing sunscreen and limiting time in the sun if necessary. Easier said than done but a great investment in their future. Your pets can also suffer from too much sun exposure, please protect them.

Yes, I enjoy that "sunshine on my shoulder" and feeling those warm rays and hope you enjoy our rather brief summertime here in Indiana, but also care for your largest organ, your skin. You will look better, feel better, and most importantly be healthier as a result.

Sometimes, a column requires a sequel. That's the case with last week's one on forgiveness. I had a Part Two – it made my jaw drop.

Readers may recall I had struggled to forgive a friend recently. I finally found the strength to do so after seeing an image of a barbell being lifted off my shoulders. The barbell was the weight of my anger dissolving thanks to forgiving them.

I was overjoyed to hug my friend. I did indeed tell them, "All is well." We even laughed together.

The next day, I was nervous and excited. My husband John and I have been working to open an Airbnb. Our first guests arrived last week while John was in Nashville, Tenn. I had checked and re-checked everything. The space looked perfect. The guests arrived a little early and I gave them a wave and a "Welcome!"

As I left to drive to Agape Therapeutic Horseback Riding Center in Cicero for my volunteer shift a couple hours later, I received a phone call. It was our guest. He told me they were battling dozens of flies in the apartment due to the lack of a trap underneath the bathroom sink. The sewer gas apparently was bringing them in.

EW!! I freaked out.

After apologizing profusely, I tried to reach our contractor friends. No answer. I was going to be late for my rider at Agape, so I called John and asked him to please keep trying to reach them.

Thankfully, he did, and our friend Gabe set up a temporary fix after I came back home from volunteering. Whew. He promised to fix things permanently the next day. I left a note for our guests with a Dairy Queen gift card as an apology for the inconvenience. But the fun wasn't over yet.

At 10:30 the next morning, I received another message from my guest via my Airbnb app. At 1:30 a.m., an Uber driver was pounding on the apartment door saying he had a drunk passenger who claimed to live there. Thankfully my guests didn't answer, but they opened a window and heard the driver call the police. FOUR police cars pulled up, and the officers took care of the situation. My guest wanted me to know they didn't interact with anyone.

You can't make this stuff up.

I sat in my car holding my phone after getting this message, vowing not to cry. I took a deep breath and wrote them back, admitting they were our first guests and how upset I was they had these bad experiences. I decided to be honest.

We so wanted everything to be perfect for you. This is heartbreaking. I wanted you to have such a great experience. We worked so hard. I know both incidents have been out of our control, but it is still so discouraging.

I hung my head and sighed after sending the message. Imagine my shock when I received the following reply.

We are happy! Don't worry about a thing. Things happen. We were just worried you would think it was us. My family loves the place. We will be back. We will leave a nice review! Thank you!

Now, I was fighting tears of joy. These wonderful people showed us grace. They forgave us. They were kind. They did indeed leave a good review, and the nicest note in our guest book once they left.

Suddenly, the parable of the Unforgiving Debtor filled my mind. Jesus told a story about a king who forgave a servant's debt. Sadly, the servant didn't do the same to someone who owed him money. He paid a terrible price for his actions.

I couldn't help but realize that, thankfully, the exact opposite had just occurred in my life. I forgave our friend. Our guests forgave us.

Readers, if you're struggling to forgive someone, please take time to think over the situation. If you're a believer, pray. Do all you can to remove the weight from your shoulders. I think you'll be blown away by what happens once you forgive and what happens in your future.

I'm so glad I didn't choose the path of unforgiveness. The story with our guests wouldn't have had such a happy ending. My gratitude is truly overflowing.

Carmel Education Foundation announces ticket sales for Taste of Carmel on Aug. 27

The REPORTER

Carmel Education Foundation (CEF) invites the community to celebrate the return of Taste of Carmel on Thursday, Aug. 27, at 502 East Event Centre.

As one of Carmel's signature community events and the largest indoor tasting event in Hamilton County, Taste of Carmel will bring together more than 40 local restaurants, breweries, wineries, distilleries, caterers, and beverage partners for an evening of food, drinks, entertainment, and community impact.

This year's "Touch of Class" theme celebrates Carmel Education Foundation's diamond 60th anniversary. Guests are encouraged to embrace the occasion with elevated attire and a touch of sparkle, shimmer, or diamond-inspired bling as the community comes together. The event's move to August intentionally aligns Taste of Carmel with the excitement of the new school year, reinforcing CEF's connection to strong schools, student success, and the future of the Carmel community.

"Taste of Carmel is a celebration of what makes Carmel such a special place to live: excellent schools, incredible local businesses, and a community that truly believes in supporting students and investing in the future of Carmel," CEF CEO Jennifer Penix said. "As we celebrate CEF's 60th anniversary, we're excited to bring people together to celebrate the start of the school year while helping create opportunities for students to grow, thrive, and prepare for their future."

Taste of Carmel supports CEF's work to provide classroom innovation grants, student-led grants, career, and workforce readiness programming, community and wellness initiatives, advocacy and districtwide experiences such as JA BizTown. Funds raised help bridge critical funding gaps and create meaningful opportunities for students across Carmel

Clay Schools.

The adult-only event will include two ticketed experiences. First Taste VIP guests will enjoy early access from 5:30 to 7 p.m., reserved table seating, a signature cocktail experience, enhanced atmosphere and entertainment, first access to food and beverage offerings, and full access to all event features through 9 p.m. General Admission will take place from 7 to 9 p.m. as guests enjoy full access to all food, beverage, and entertainment offerings.

Tickets are now available online. General Admission Early Bird tickets are $125 through July 4, with standard pricing beginning July 5 at $150. A limited number of First Taste VIP individual tickets are $200, along with a select number of reserved VIP tables for eight guests at $1,500. A limited teacher ticket option is available for $45 with a Carmel Clay Schools email address.

Guests are encouraged to purchase early, as reserved tables traditionally sell out. Sponsorship opportunities are also available for businesses interested in connecting with more than 1,000 attendees while supporting public education and community impact.

For tickets, sponsorship opportunities and full event details, visit TasteOfCarmelIndiana.com.

Options are key to unlocking housing affordability

Across Indiana, rising home prices and rents have pushed local leaders to search for quick fixes. In some communities, that search has led to proposals to cap the number of homes investors can own.

The frustration behind these proposals is understandable. But limiting who can buy homes won't solve Indiana's housing shortage – and may ultimately make it worse.

After the Great Recession, thousands of homes across the state sat vacant as individual buyers struggled to qualify for mortgages. The market responded, purchasing distressed properties and putting them back to use. In many cases, those homes became rentals for Hoosiers who wanted the space of a single-family home but couldn't yet afford to buy one.

These rentals can be especially beneficial for families by allowing them to live in neighborhoods with high-quality schools. Recent research shows that single family rentals open the door for children to attend high-performing schools and achieve higher academic success. When local governments try to regulate or eliminate single family rentals in their neighborhoods, they are inadvertently depriving Indiana's children of educational opportunities.

This is the lens through which the legislature's recent move to reverse these restrictions should be viewed. More housing options are good for Hoosiers.

Prior to the last session, some municipalities pursued caps on institutional ownership, which runs the risk of reducing the number of available rental homes at a time when demand remains high. Fewer rental options don't always translate into lower prices; they often mean higher rents, fewer choices, and displacement for lower-income families.

State lawmakers took a different approach this year by focusing on increasing supply rather than restricting ownership. The General Assembly enacted tax incentives for homebuilding and expanded the property tax deduction on owner-occupied homes. These reforms aim to encourage construction and ease price pressures by addressing the underlying shortage.

The direction of the 2027 interim study committees reinforces this approach. The announced topics are a signal that lawmakers remain focused on the cost side of the equation rather than revisiting ownership restrictions. Indiana also drew a line on foreign ownership from adversarial nations, a move justified on national security grounds. That targeted policy stands in contrast to broad restrictions on domestic investors, which risk discouraging capital that helps bring housing to market.

Critics of institutional investment often argue that large buyers crowd out families and inflate prices. But recent data suggests a more nuanced reality. Many institutional investors are now selling more homes than they buy, frequently to owner-occupants.

Owner-occupants are still the dominant force in the housing market. Data from Parcl Labs shows that in Indiana, only 1.5 percent of single-family homes are owned by investors. That number is the same in Hamilton County, which has become the focal point of the debate on residential investment.

None of this is to say that every form of investment benefits every neighborhood equally. Local leaders are right to scrutinize how housing policies affect residents. But affordability is ultimately a supply problem. Limiting participation in the housing market does little to help families who rely on rental homes or who are still working toward homeownership.

As lawmakers prepare for the 2027 session, the focus should remain on building more homes, reducing unnecessary government barriers, and expanding options for both renters and buyers. This will provide Hoosiers with more housing opportunities and choices.

Ultimately, this could be a huge boon not just to parents looking for an affordable place to live, but also to their children and the communities they will build and support.

Defining my own limits

I often hear others discussing people with disabilities and the vision they have of us living beyond our limits. Implying that having limitations is a bad thing or makes us lesser than.

Everyone has limits. I accept and acknowledge that I have limits. That feels like an authentic way for me to live.

Some days my limits look quite different than other days, depending on my body that day. My body calls the shots each day, and I have learned to lean into that rather than fight against it. It is not always easy, but a much more peaceful way to live.

The problem with limits, from my perspective, is that limits are not something that others should impose through their assumptions. Often those of us with disabilities are categorized and our limits presented to us instead of the other way around.

I cannot tell you how many times that has happened to me during my lifetime. Others defining my limits, but at the same time expecting me to consistently go above and beyond those limits? It is a strange thing.

Last week, I went on a vacation with my family to celebrate our oldest son's graduation and just spend some quality time together.

The airport is always a coin toss. Depending on who you get working with you, the experience can be a positive one, or a difficult one as a person with a disability.

Going through security is always interesting. I am usually asked if I want to get out of my chair and walk through the security scanner or opt to stay in my chair and get an extremely thorough pat-down. That day I felt I could walk through, so I told the TSA agent that I would get out and walk, if someone could help me into the scanner.

The next thing I knew, she was announcing to everyone within earshot, "she's a big girl today, she's going to get out and walk." It took me a second to process what she had said, but fear not, I did not have to wonder long because she loudly announced to anyone listening again, that I was indeed a big girl because I was getting out of my wheelchair to walk through the body scanner.

Our tongue is “a world of iniquity”

James 3:6 describes the tongue as “a world of iniquity” and goes on to say that it is small in size but vast in corruption – so corrupt that it defiles the whole person and is “set on fire by hell” (James 3:6).

COLUMNIST
CURTIS COOPER
Think on These Things

The bible often describes “the world” as something outside the church. But James forces us to look inward: the “world within our own mouths.” In this small member of the body – this bundle of flesh, muscles, and nerves – resides the capacity for sin and great evil – and its birthplace is hell. Though we choose how to use it, Scripture shows how deeply it can be corrupted.

This corruption shows itself in many forms:

- Speech that distorts truth: Lying (Prov 6:16–19; 12:22; Eph 4:25; Col 3:9–10; Rev 21:8), Exaggeration or misleading speech (Mt 5:37; Js 5:12; 2 Pt 2:3), Manipulative or deceitful speech (Ps 55:21; Prov 26:24–26; Rom 16:18; Eph 4:14; 2 Cor 11:13–14; Col 2:8), and Teaching falsely (Jer 23:16; Dt 18:20–22; Js 3:1; 2 Pt 2:1; 2 Tim 4:3–4; Titus 1:10–11)

- Speech that harms others: Gossip (Prov 16:28; 18:8; 20:19; Rom 1:29–30; 1

Tim 5:13), Backbiting (Ps 101:5; Prov 10:18; Lev 19:16; 2 Cor 12:20; Js 4:11; Titus 3:2), Mocking (Prov 9:7–8; 17:5; 21:24; Lk 18:32; Mk 15:29–32; Heb 11:36), Quarrelsome/divisive talk (Prov 6:16–19; 10:12; 16:28; 2 Tim 2:23–24; Titus 3:9–10), Angry outbursts (Prov 14:17; 15:18; 16:32; 29:11; Mt 5:22; Eph 4:26–27, 31; Col 3:8), Overly critical speech (Mt 7:1–5; Lk 6:37; Rom 14:10–13; Jas 4:11–12; 5:9), Complaining, grumbling, and whining (Ex 16:8; Num 14:2, 27; Dt 1:27; Ps 106:27; Phil 2:14–15; 1 Cor 10:10; Js 5:9)

- Speech that exalts “self”: Boasting (Prov 21:24; Jer 9:23–24; 1 Cor 1:29–31; 4:7; Jas 4:16), Pridelike talk (Prov 8:13; 16:18; Lk 18:11–14), Flattery (Ps 12:3–4; Prov 26:28; 29:6; Rom 16:17–18; 1 Thess 2:5)

- Speech that dishonors God: Cursing (Prov 4:24; 10:31–32; 15:4; Eph 5:4; Col 3:8; Mt 5:22), Taking God’s name in vain (Ex 20:7; Dt 5:11; Lev 19:12; Ps 29:2; 34:3; Mal 1:11; Mt 6:9), Blasphemy (Lev 24:16; 2 Kings 19:6; Is 52:9; Ezek 20:27; Mt 12:31–32; 1 Tim 1:13; Rev 13:6)

- Speech that corrupts

the heart and community: Embittering words (Eph 4:31; Heb 12:15; Jas 3:14–16), Defrauding others (Prov 11:1; Micah 6:10–11; 1 Thess 4:6; Eph 4:28; Jas 5:4), and idle words / careless speech (Prov 10:19; 13:3; 17:27; Ecc 5:3; Ps 141:3; Mt 12:36–37; Jas 1:26)

Truly, our tongues are a “world of iniquity.” But Scripture does not leave us only with warning – it also calls us to renewal. God’s greatest desire is to take those who belong to Christ, change their hearts, so that it will change how we use our tongue.

Ephesians 4:20–24, 29 says, “But you have not so learned Christ, if indeed you have heard Him and have been taught by Him, as the truth is in Jesus: that you put off, concerning your former conduct, the old man which grows corrupt according to the deceitful lusts, and be renewed in the spirit of your mind, and that you put on the new man which was created according to God, in true righteousness and holiness ... 29 Let no corrupt word proceed out of your mouth, but what is good for necessary edification, that it may impart grace to the hearers.”

Paul says those taught by Christ use their words differently than those who are not; the world around us (Ephesians

4:17–19). Christians have a renewed purpose for their tongues. God wants to change our speech – He cares what we say. As Paul explains, we must “put off... corrupt speech” that tears down, does harm, and destroys; and “put on” speech that speaks truth, gives grace, and builds up others in pointing them to Christ.

Do not forget what Jesus said: “Out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaks” (Matthew 12:34). The mouth does not merely reveal vocabulary – it reveals what is in our heart. That’s the rule.

So, we need to be careful with our words – not only in guarding what we say, but also in allowing God to shape what is within us. As our minds are transformed by God (Romans 12:2), the way we think about our speech will be renewed (Ephesians 4:23) and our speech will begin to reflect the One to whom we should belong.

A royal time at Beef & Boards

I don’t care how old I get; I still love anything princess. My daughter is no exception. She loves anything girly that is fit for a princess, which is why our recent experience at Beef & Boards for their Cinderella show was no exception. We were fortunate enough to attend Media Night and had the most royal and magical time.

My daughter, Mary, told me she wanted her hair up in a bun just like Cinderella and found a blue headband and her high heels for the big night. It’s not every night you get to stay up late and go to a dinner show, you know. She also made sure to bring her Cinderella doll with her to the show.

Every time we go to Beef & Boards, we are met with great service and wonderful food. The buffet offers a wonderful variety of foods with a little something for everyone, including the kids since this was a family show. My kids can be picky eaters and even they thought it was wonderful! We all especially loved the sundaes for dessert!

The cast was talented and charming! Cinderella herself was beautiful and had a lovely voice. The mix of humor and romance was sweet and reminiscent of my own childhood. It was so special to see such a familiar tale through the eyes of my little ones. Even my son was enamored with the cast and particularly a fan of the delicious cheese spread. I wasn’t sure how much he would love a princess show, but there was something in it for everyone.

As advertised, this show delivers, “Hope, kindness, and the power of dreams.” Cinderella is on stage at Beef & Boards through July 9. I highly recommend anyone looking for something fun and special to do with their family, especially their children, to look into it! It would also be a fun idea for a date. There was a mix of all ages at the show. There was everything from little girls dressed as Cinderella to people on walkers.

Beef & Boards is an ideal place for people of all ages because it is so accessible for people and the daytime show offerings are wonderful for retired people who can take in an afternoon show.

We were especially appreciative to our server, who was wonderful and made our experience even more special. We surprised our daughter for her seventh birthday with the tickets to the show and it will forever be a cherished family memory.

Make sure to take in the show before it is too late! You won’t regret it! You can get your tickets at BeefAndBoards.com.

LIMITS

Just what I wanted. All eyes on me as I awkwardly made my way out of my chair and through the scanner.

My shock was temporarily drowned out by the chaos of the security area. Once I made it through and got my chair back, I had time to really think about what happened. I did not understand it at all. I was trying to see something positive out of what she said in some way, but there was no way for me. I felt embarrassed and diminished. I felt sad that my trip began on that note.

I talked briefly with my husband about what had happened, and then I decided to let it go. This is something a few years ago that I would not have been able to release so quickly and would have shed a few tears over it. I have learned that as much as I can, I do not want to ruminate on the ignorance of others.

It is a waste of my time and energy. I do not want to stuff it down but process it quickly and see it for what it really was.

Traveling with a disability adds a layer of learning at every turn. Expect the unexpected.

Limits are human and always evolving. Be confident in your limits and your abilities.

Do good manners still matter?

Say "please"! Say "thank you"!

How many of us have instructed a child or grandchild to answer with a polite response to a kind or generous gesture? Most of us, I would expect!

Important to note, however, is that politeness is not the same as civility. Politeness is defined as "marked by correct social conduct." To my understanding, civility is the courtesy and respect extended to another because of the recognition of that person's value as a human being.

Then there is the "practices and forms prescribed by social convention or by authority" – in other words, etiquette. I think of etiquette as more of the "how to do things" in order to be polite.

Etiquette became a consideration for us when my husband and I were invited to dine at a very exclusive club by a former CEO of a major U.S. manufacturer. My husband felt a bit intimidated at the prospect of having to know what fork or spoon to use at a more complicated place setting.

Does it matter to know how to set a table? To be familiar with the purpose of all the utensils? To discover different ways in different cultures? Should consideration be given to the seating arrangement if someone is left-handed? Perhaps these questions are worth considering in terms of "Why is it meaningful?" During the dinner experience my husband and I had at the exclusive club, I tried to have a relaxed and enjoyable time, and my husband did just fine and enjoyed being with our host very much.

Going out to breakfast recently, my husband and I had a totally unexpected experience of encountering "civility." The necessity of dropping off one of our cars at a dealership for repairs early in the morning in an area we were basically unfamiliar with meant we went for breakfast at a place nearby that we found online. (Later, the owner told us that most of her customers came from Carmel and Fishers.)

When handed a menu, I was astonished to read at Riverview Health named 2026 Community Impact Award Winner by Culture of Good, Inc.

The REPORTER

For the third consecutive year, Riverview Health has been named a 2026 Community Impact Award Winner by Culture of Good.

The Community Impact Awards recognize for-profit and nonprofit organizations across the United States that are making a measurable difference through service, generosity, partnership, and purpose-driven leadership. The award celebrates organizations that not only succeed in business but also create a positive impact in the communities they serve.

“Receiving the Community Impact Award for the third consecutive year is an incredible honor and a powerful reflection of who we are as an organization,” Riverview Health President and CEO Julie Nix said. “It speaks to the strength of our culture and the shared commitment our team members bring each day to serve others with purpose and compassion. This honor reinforces our belief that healthcare is about more than treatment; it’s about making a lasting, positive difference in people’s lives.”

earned this recognition for its strong commitment to community impact, demonstrated through strategic investments in healthcare infrastructure and collaborative partnerships. In response to the continued growth in Hamilton County, Riverview Health has expanded access to high-quality, patient-centered care with the opening of new primary and specialty care facilities in Westfield.

As part of its continued focus on innovation, Riverview Health has also invested in new da Vinci robotic surgical systems, enabling surgeons to perform minimally invasive procedures with greater precision, improved outcomes, and faster recovery times for patients. Building on these efforts, Riverview Health continues to strengthen key partnerships, including its collaboration with Parkview Health, to improve operational efficiencies, broaden access to services, and further advance clinical excellence across the region.

MANNERS

What was striking also was the atmosphere, the ambience of this little restaurant. Quirky knickknacks lined the shelves, and a colorful painting done by the owner hung on one wall.

The environment invited light-hearted relaxation and conversation. We had a delightful conversation with the owner before we left.

Of course, over time, what is considered to be “polite” or “appropriate” has undergone changes. In my world now, jeans can be worn almost anywhere at any time, and it’s been a long time since women were expected to wear hats in church!

But I believe some things shouldn’t change. It’s important to refrain from conversation when a person is speaking to a group and when at a concert or play. In a theater watching a movie, it’s certainly acceptable to cheer when Superman prevails or scream during a movie when the monster is about to devour Miami!

What shouldn’t change is expressing, in a significant way, our gratitude for a gift, or dinner invitation, or a special expression of love. Writing thank-you notes is a rarity now, but writing one could be especially meaningful in this society of electronic communication.

Let’s continue to teach our children and grandchildren to say “please” and “thank you” and become appreciative, considerate, and respectful of others. For me, these principles of civility are what REALLY matter!

Bryce Taylor, the new Noblesville Boom head coach, has been playing or coaching high-level basketball for over 20 years.

That includes the past three years, during which time Taylor was an assistant coach for the Boom, the G League affiliate of the Indiana Pacers. On Monday, June 1, the team announced Taylor's promotion to the head coaching job. Taylor spoke to The Reporter on Thursday, June 4, where the new coach said he was "grateful and excited for the opportunity."

"It's been a natural growth period and trajectory in my career," said Taylor. "Things in Noblesville last year were great."

Taylor said he wants to continue building that momentum for next season. He was with the Boom when it made the transition from being the Indiana Mad Ants to its current name and venue at The Arena at Innovation Mile.

"I thought it was pretty smooth," said Taylor. "It's nice to have our own space on game day. The facility is first class. We just want to continue to grow and have a product that people will support and be proud about."

The Boom finished 16-20 in their first year at Noblesville. Taylor said the season was up and down due to roster fluidity but noted that the team "had a good group of young men who were coachable and competed together."

Hounds defend state title

The REPORTER

The Carmel girls track & field team successfully defended its state championship Friday, June 5 at the North Central High School track complex.

The Greyhounds scored 49.5 points and began the meet with a win in the 4x800 relay, clocking in with a new state record time of 8 minutes, 49.46 seconds. Annabel Pollert, Sadie Foley, Kaitlyn Oshimura and Larkin Taylor ran on the relay.

The relay win was the first of four event victories for Hamilton County teams. Hamilton Southeastern's Anissa Lammie was part of two of them: she began with a victory in the 400 dash, finishing her race in 54.32 seconds. Hamilton Heights' Norah Reiger was the runner-up, clocking in at 55.25 seconds.

Lammie also ran on Southeastern's winning 4x400 relay team. The Royals repeated as state champions in that event with a time of 3:47.29. Cianna Cunningham, Kaleah McCarter and Chloe Senefeld were the other runners; Senefeld finished second in the 300 hurdles; Southeastern finished fifth as a team with 28 points.

Guerin Catholic's Amelia Smith dominated the pole vault. She cleared 13 feet to win the event and become the Golden Eagles' first-ever state champion in track.

Westfield's Ella Jenkins won the Mental Attitude Award. She placed third in the pole vault, clearing 12 feet, 6 inches.

A full recap of the meet and results will appear in The Reporter's Tuesday, June 9 edition.

Special game for the Emmerson family

Grandchildren of Dean Emmerson play together in Noblesville Babe Ruth game

NOBLESVILLE – The spirit of Dean Emmerson was looking down at the field named after him on Saturday, May 30 and was undoubtedly smiling.

Three of Emmerson's grandchildren were playing a Noblesville Babe Ruth game together on Emmerson Field in Noblesville's Forest Park. The two grandsons – Ben Emmerson, 16, and Samuel Emmerson, 13 – were joined by Dean's granddaughter, Addi Emmerson. Addi is 18 and just finished her freshman year at Lee University, but she was still age-eligible to play in a Noblesville Babe Ruth game and joined her brothers on the field that morning.

Addi Emmerson said that getting to play the game was a "good experience" and that it was nice she and her brothers are close enough in age that they could play with each other.

"You never think that you're going to be on the same field as your little brothers, but it's really special and I know that Grandpa's looking down and he's really appreciating the family moment for us," said Addi Emmerson.

The three siblings played for the Mountain State Financial Group team. While the team lost the game, the focus was more about getting to play with each other and honoring Dean Emmerson. Family and friends gathered after the game for a small pizza party.

"It's pretty cool seeing that our grandpa did all this and we're playing on it like we're behind him, and he's helping us through the game," said Samuel Emmerson.

Bryce Taylor named head coach of Noblesville Boom

The REPORTER

The Noblesville Boom, the NBA G League affiliate of the Indiana Pacers, announced Monday, June 1 that Bryce Taylor has been named head coach, succeeding Tom Hankins.

Taylor was previously an assistant coach with the Boom for the past three seasons (2023-26), where he helped the team achieve an 84-67 overall record with two NBA G League playoff appearances, while producing six NBA call-ups. Taylor began his coaching career as a player development coach for the Pacers (2021-22) before being named an assistant coach for EWE Baskets Oldenburg (2022-23) in Germany.

"We could not be more excited about the qualities Bryce brings to our organization as our next head coach," Noblesville Boom General Manager Chris Taylor said. "He has made a significant impact over the past several seasons in his role as an assistant, and his playing experience has helped him develop a natural ability to connect with players at this level. He understands what the NBA G League is all about and has fully bought in to our 'embrace the grind' culture while remaining committed to developing not only our players, but also our staff, both on and off the court."

"I'm incredibly honored and grateful for the opportunity to lead the Boom," Bryce Taylor said. "I want to thank the Pacers organization and our front office for their trust and belief in me. As I enter my fifth season, I've had the privilege of learning from outstanding people across the organization. I'm excited to build on the strong foundation already in place with the Boom, develop our players and staff, and create an environment centered on professionalism, accountability and growth. Our focus will be on competing at a high level every day while helping our players reach the next step in their careers."

Prior to his coaching career, Taylor played professionally overseas in Germany and Italy for 13 seasons following a standout career at Oregon. He also participated in the NBA Summer League in both 2008 and 2010, appearing in five games as a member of the Pacers in 2010.

Taylor succeeds former head coach Tom Hankins, who served as the team's head coach for the past six seasons (2021-26) and became the franchise's all-time winningest coach with a 141-112 record. During his tenure, Hankins led the team to three NBA G League playoff appearances (2023-25) and guided 12 players to NBA call-ups, while eight players earned All-NBA G League honors. That group included Oscar Tshiebwe, who was named NBA G League Rookie of the Year during the 2023-24 season.

"I would be remiss if I did not offer a sincere thank you to Coach Hankins for his dedication and contributions to our organization," Chris Taylor said. "I have learned a great deal from him and am grateful to call him a lifelong friend."

Three county players named to SCAI First Team All-State

The REPORTER

Three Hamilton County softball senior players were named to the Softball Coaches Association of Indiana's 3A/4A First Team All-State, it was announced on Wednesday, June 3.

All three players were honored from District 3.

Haley Schatko, Noblesville: The Millers were a big-hitting team this season with five players batting over .400. Schatko stood out with an average of .543, leading Noblesville in base hits (51), runs batted in (51), home runs (15) and doubles (11). Schatko will play softball for Indiana University next season.

Jayden Kleiner, Carmel: Kleiner was a true leader for the Greyhounds, averaging .508 during her senior season. Kleiner tied for most hits on the Carmel team with 31 and led in runs scored (36), doubles (12) and home runs (7). She is committed to the University of Michigan.

Grace Swedarsky, Hamilton Southeastern: A star for the Royals since her freshman year, Swedarsky was a dominant pitcher throughout her high school career, leading Southeastern to a state championship in 2024. Swedarsky compiled a 1.39 earned-run average while going 10-2 during her senior campaign with a total of 116 strikeouts. She is committed to Virginia Tech.

In addition to the First Team players, four more Hamilton County softball stars were named to the 3A/4A Third Team All-State from District 3.

Carmel's Jayden Kleiner was one of three Hamilton County softball players to be named to the SCAI's 3A/4A First Team All State.

Makayla Watson, Westfield: The senior was an integral part of the Shamrocks' run to the regional championship this season. Watson is averaging .464 at the plate and leads the team in both hits (51) and runs scored (34) while also driving in 19 runs. She is committed to North Carolina State.

Jaycee McCarter, Hamilton Southeastern: The freshman McCarter made her Royals debut this season and quickly became one of the team's top hitters. She batted .423 for the season and led Southeastern in RBIs with 44 and home runs with 12, along with 33 hits and 22 runs scored. McCarter also was solid on the mound, with a 2-1 record and 17 strikeouts in 17 innings this season.

Reese Newsom, Noblesville: The junior was another one of the Millers' big hitters, with a batting average of .462 this season. Newsom totaled 42 hits, scored 31 runs and drove in 23 runs, smashing 10 home runs during the season.

Adrienne Cook, Fishers: If Cook was batting, there was a good chance the Tigers would be scoring soon. The senior led the team in RBIs with 32 and had 34 hits during the season, including a team-leading seven home runs. Cook is committed to Purdue Northwest.

Swedarsky, Schatko, Kleiner and Watson will all play for the North team at the SCAI 2026 All-Star game, which takes place June 19 and 20 at Indiana University in Bloomington.

BOOM

"I thought we shared the ball really well and we were a good shooting team," said Taylor. "I thought defensively, we turned teams over." The coach noted that the Boom "applied pressure defensively and overall, we just had a competitive group. Even if we had limited roster players, we knew we were going to come in and compete and put ourselves in a position where we had a chance."

As for the upcoming season's roster, Taylor said it was "still pretty early in the process" of putting that together. The G League rosters can be changeable, with one of the reasons being players getting called up to the NBA.

Taylor said roster changes are one of the unique factors of the G League experience, and that coaches need to not only be adaptable and flexible but also prepare players for that uncertainty by being clear with your communication.

"It just comes up being adaptable and being a good communicator," said Taylor. "Just daily check-ins with each guy. Helping them understand, it's different from what they're used to in college. You may not know exactly when or how many minutes you're playing."

Taylor was a standout player for the University of Oregon, from which he graduated during the 2007-08 season. He went on to play for 13 years in European leagues, including a four-year stint for Bayern Munich. Taylor was part of the Bayern team that won the Basketball Bundesliga championship in 2014.

Taylor transitioned into coaching in 2021, first as a player development coach for the Pacers. He then spent a year as an assistant coach for another Bundesliga team, the EWE Baskets Oldenburg, before returning to Indiana.

Addi Emmerson agreed, saying that playing on the field "definitely draws us closer to him."

"It does feel like we're playing with Grandpa, that we're able to share this with him, even though he's not here anymore," she said.

For the Emmerson boys, it was the first time playing for Babe Ruth. Ben said he has been playing travel ball "for about 10 years," while Samuel has played for Noblesville Youth Baseball and a travel team.

"It's been amazing," said Ben. "It's completely different. You meet new people and they're just the best people you'll ever meet, man. I'm probably going to be friends with these dudes for 50 years. These are some of my best friends right now and I cannot wait to keep playing with them."

"Babe Ruth has been my favorite experience so far, by far," said Samuel. "I like how they keep the fields nice and all my teammates and coaches are just amazing."

Mike Concannon, the Mountain State Financial Group team's coach, mentioned to Noblesville Babe Ruth president Chris Thomas that Addi Emmerson was still age-eligible to play in the league, and things developed from there.

"It was really a simple conversation we had," said Concannon. "I called Chris and the wheel started going. It was just good to have them play on Grandpa's field. I would do it every week if I could, to be honest."

Rocks keep surging, win first-ever regional

By RICHARD TORRES
For The Reporter

WESTFIELD – Maddie Moore had one message for her softball players before the Tuesday, June 2 Regional 4 championship.

A sectional champion for just the second time in program history, the Class 4A 14th-ranked Westfield Shamrocks entered their first regional appearance since 2023 with home field on their side, and Moore wanted to emphasize that fact.

“We talked to our seniors, and we reminded them, whatever happens, this is your last time at home, so defend your territory,” Moore said. “We talked about the atmosphere. We had 3,000 people here tonight, so enjoy the atmosphere. Enjoy being around each other. Just enjoy the vibes.”

Against visiting Western, the Shamrocks showcased their aura in front of a record-attendance crowd, and they made history, winning 6-2 for the program’s first-ever regional crown.

In 2023, the Shamrocks captured their first sectional, but their postseason ended at host Harrison, 4-3, in regional.

This time around, the Shamrocks didn’t flinch or change their approach after successfully running through Sectional 8 the week of May 25.

Instead, clutch two-out hitting netted Westfield six runs led by senior Sofia Easterhaus’ 3-for-3 performance (2 RBI, 2 runs, 3 stolen bases), and junior right-hander Mac Delph tossed a complete-game, one-hitter with seven strikeouts to lock down the title.

“It’s just crazy to see how far we’ve come from the beginning of the season,” said Easterhaus, a Marian commit. “I’m really proud of this team for doing what we know we can do.”

Westfield’s top three hitters in the lineup combined to go 5-for-10 with 3 RBI and 2 runs scored. Senior Makayla Watson (1-for-4) opened the bottom of the first with a leadoff single, which set the table for two bases-loaded situations in the frame.

In the second inning, Easterhaus, the team’s two-hole hitter, put Westfield ahead 4-0 with a two-out RBI single.

In the first inning, freshman six-hole hitter Carlyne Schrock (1-for-3) drove in three runs with a two-out bases-clearing double to make it 3-0.

Against Western ace junior Lucy George (14-6), who carried a 1.23 ERA, 219 strikeouts and 12 walks in 108.0 innings pitched, a quick start was necessary.

“She’s a good pitcher. We cut our strikeouts down. We put the ball in play. We made things happen,” Moore said. “We had the machine going this week. We had the (Texas Tech drill) box out this week, and we just worked the top half of the ball. Same thing as what we kind of did last week. We were like, we can put the ball on the ground, and we have speed.”

Watson stole two bags. Senior Reese Mahannah’s RBI bunt single in the bottom of the fourth along with an RBI hit by Easterhaus – both with two outs – canceled a two-run top half of the frame for Western.

“We stuck to what worked,” Easterhaus said. “Win every inning was our mentality this game. They get a run. We score three more.”

Their philosophy limited George to four strikeouts and charged her with nine hits allowed and six earned runs.

Delph faced minimal resistance except for the top of the third when Western cut the Shamrock’s lead 4-2 by turning a one-out walk and previous fielding error into an RBI single and an RBI sac fly.

“I talked to Mac and told her, I just need you to go out there and attack, throw strikes, hit your spots and your defense has your back,” Moore said. “Mac went out there and dealt.”

Delph retired the first five batters she faced and the last 11 with ample run support.

“The only time I felt any pressure was in that third inning, but it wasn’t really a lot,” Delph said. “Two-out rally. That’s kind of our thing. We just keep getting runners on. It’s great.”

“I’m just enjoying the ride, honestly,” Moore said. “We told them come out, play hard and see what happens. We’re just getting hot at the right time.”

Shamrocks outfielders are ready for action

By RICHIE HALL
sports@readthereporter.com

WESTFIELD – When softball players talk about making adjustments, usually that has something to do with how they hit the ball.

Sometimes players have to make adjustments in the field as well. That was the case for Westfield’s outfielders when they joined the Shamrocks team in hosting a regional for the first time.

Westfield won the regional 6-2 over Western and the outfielders did their part. Left fielder Reese Mahannah, center fielder Makayla Watson and right fielder Dylan Todd all contributed to the Shamrocks’ historic victory.

“I think they all did fantastic,” said Dory Thompson, the Rocks assistant coach who focuses on fielding. “Dylan was pretty solid with a couple catches in right, Makayla with a diving catch in center. Reese almost had [a runner] out at home. Altogether, I thought they did awesome.”

All three outfielders are seniors and remembered their freshman season when Westfield won its first-ever sectional championship. The Shamrocks went on the road to Harrison for the regional and lost a close game 4-3.

“I remember it was heart-breaking,” said Watson. “So, to come out this and do this and not squeak by, but command the game is definitely a great feeling.”

Turf to grass

Westfield won the sectional championship last week with three wins at Zionsville’s turf field. The Shamrocks played their regional game on their own field, with a grass and dirt field. Todd said switching between the two fields “is a big difference. I think we do a good job of having to adjust to that, where the ball is going to go.”

“This grass is super thick, and the way it’s mowed, it’s kind of squiggly, so the ball was jumping in different ways,” said Mahannah. “You have to stay behind it and use your body. The turf, you can get a clear bounce, but on the grass, it can hit the lip and go past you, so you have to be ready for anything.”

“You can’t really predict grass as much as you can predict turf,” said Watson. “Yesterday when we practiced, we told our coach we wanted balls on the ground, because that’s what we needed to work on because we haven’t really seen it in a while.”

Whether the field is turf or grass, one thing the outfielders and their coach do in practice involves preparation, both physical and mental.

“We took a lot of reps before the game on the ground, in the air, catches that we didn’t think we’d be able to make,” said Mahannah. “We lay out, we practice diving before the game. Everything to get us ready for whatever may happen.”

Watson talked about the mental part of the game, which involves being aggressive – “we want every ball hit to us,” she said. “Just knowing that and attacking everything and just going all out really helps us out there.”

“My first year of coaching was their freshman year, so I’ve had four solid years to be able to work with them,” said Thompson. “So, it’s really just repetitions and working on the small things.”

All three outfielders contributed on the offensive side as well. Todd was 2-for-2 and scored two runs, while Mahannah and Watson both had one hit, with Mahannah batting in a run.

“We knew we didn’t want to let up,” said Watson. “We wanted to still come out strong. We wanted this win just as bad as we wanted the sectional win. And our coaches prepared us for it.”

“We were really prepared,” said Todd. “Throughout the entire season, we’ve been building up as a team and doing all the work we can to get here.”

Westfield Middle School girls rugby team wins 2026 spring championship

Submitted by Westfield Washington Schools

The Westfield Middle School (WMS) girls rugby team recently capped off an incredible season by winning the Rugby Indiana 2026 Spring Championship, showcasing the growth, determination, and teamwork that defined the program throughout the year.

The championship match tested the team from the very beginning. A change in substitution rules meant players had to stay on the field much longer than they were accustomed to during the regular season, requiring coaches and players to adjust their strategy on the fly.

Despite the challenge, the Shamrocks never backed down.

In the championship match against Pendleton Rugby, after battling their way to a 15-15 tie at the end of regulation, the match moved into overtime. In just eight minutes of extra play, Westfield scored three additional tries to secure a 30-15 victory and claim the Rugby Indiana 2026 Spring Championship title.

“Some of the plays were so beautiful, Assistant Coach Warren and I were tearing up and in true awe of our girls,” Coach Bailey Mobley said. “It just truly showed how all the hard work and practices were making such a difference.”

The Rugby Indiana 2026 Spring Championship marks a major milestone for a program that was established just last year and has already grown significantly through the dedication of its student-athletes, coaches, and families.

“The middle school girls’ club started last year,” Coach Mobley said. “This year we gained almost double the amount of girls thanks to the team’s commitments and recruiting skills. So many girls would be at practices early and doing extra work to get to where they are today. It took the entire team.”

Coach Mobley and Assistant Coach Warren often encouraged their athletes with the call and response “No matter the outcome, don’t forget what we are...” “Strong, independent Rugby women!”

Golden Eagles defend sectional title

The REPORTER

The Guerin Catholic baseball team defended its sectional championship on Monday, June 1 by winning Sectional 25 at Crawfordsville.

The Golden Eagles beat Brebeuf Jesuit 1-0 in the championship game. The Golden Eagles scored their run in the bottom of the fifth inning: Grant Beard got on base with a double and Luke Gremelspacher singled him home.

Tate Troxell pitched six dominant innings, striking out 10 and allowing only one hit. Gremelspacher pitched a perfect seventh inning to close the game. Carson Kail hit a double, one of four hits for Guerin Catholic.

In the afternoon semifinal game, the Golden Eagles beat Frankfort 9-3. The Hot Dogs scored in the first inning, but Guerin Catholic responded with four runs in the second inning.

Gremelspacher doubled in Karson Smith, then was sent home by Liam Zorger's double. Nolan Ratcliff hit a sacrifice fly to bring in Zorger and Brody Cain scored on a Ben Canada single.

The Golden Eagles put up two more runs in the third inning. Zorger batted in Smith, then Canada singled Zorger home.

Frankfort scored two runs in the fifth inning, but Guerin Catholic finished its scoring with three runs in the sixth. Smith tripled Canada and Jackson Baker home, then Beard drove in Smith.

Canada was a perfect 3-for-3 at the plate, including a double, while Smith went 3-for-4. Harrison Haq threw 11 strikeouts in 4.1 innings.

Guerin Catholic girls edged out by Trojans

The REPORTER

The Guerin Catholic girls lacrosse team almost completed a comeback against Bishop Chatard Saturday, May 30 in the INGLA Class 2A state championship game at Zionsville.

The Golden Eagles fought back from a huge deficit to take a late lead before the Trojans scored two goals and won the state title game 15-14.

Chatard led for most of the game, jumping out to a 3-0 lead. Claire Flannagan scored three goals in the first quarter to keep GC in the contest, then Caroline Ford scored to cut the Trojans' lead to 5-4 before a late goal gave Chatard a 6-4 advantage.

That score was the first of six consecutive goals for the Trojans, who ran their lead up to 11-4 midway through the second quarter. Flannagan went on a run during the last five minutes of the half, scoring three consecutive times to bring her team within 11-7 at halftime.

Flannagan began the third period with another goal. Corinne Karlander scored, then Flannagan found the net again. Suddenly, Guerin Catholic was just one goal down, 11-10.

Chatard stopped GC's run with a goal midway through the third, but the Golden Eagles twice in the last few minutes of the quarter. Karlander and Camryn Carter put in goals, and the score was tied, 12-12 heading into the fourth.

The Trojans scored the final period's first goal to lead 13-12. Ford and Flannagan then scored two goals in rapid succession, and Guerin Catholic had its first lead, 14-13, with 5:39 left. But Chatard tied the game with just over three minutes to go, and scored the go-ahead goal with under two minutes left.

Flannagan finished the game with nine goals.

The Golden Eagles completed their season with a 16-5 record.

Eagles end Tigers' season in sectional finals

By RICHARD TORRES
For The Reporter

NOBLESVILLE — The third time wasn't the charm for the Fishers Tigers.

Back in the Class 4A Sectional 8 championship for a third consecutive year and seventh time in nine seasons, the Tigers (16-14) were primed to end their five-year title drought.

However, the red-hot Zionsville Eagles (16-14) had other plans at Noblesville's Dunker Field on Monday, June 1.

The Eagles built a 3-0 lead after the first inning and added another run in the bottom of the second to break a 3-3 tie, while left-handed pitchers Davis Moore and Ayden Keith stymied the Tigers en route to a 4-3 victory.

The win secured Zionsville's 16th sectional title all time and first since 2022.

For the Tigers, who vanquished defending sectional champion Westfield in a walk-off, 12-inning semifinal on Friday, May 29, 8-7, the loss spoiled their hopes of a fourth title overall.

"It's super frustrating. Finally got over Westfield in the sectional, and then I think we've lost twice to Zionsville and twice to Westfield since we last won it in 2021. Four of the last five we've lost in the sectional championship, so yeah, ready to not do that," Fishers coach Matthew Cherry said.

Fishers came up short against Westfield in the 2024 and 2025 sectional finals.

Against Zionsville, the Tigers' grit nearly pushed them over the hump with two runners in scoring position in the top of the seventh before a strikeout concluded the game.

"They didn't quit," Cherry said. "They fought to the end. They never quit, even to the last pitch."

Zionsville plated three runs in the top of the first beginning with an RBI single by senior Reid Zittel (2-for-3).

The next two scored on an errant pick off throw to third base that trickled away, as lefty starter Owen Lukac attempted to snipe senior Tyler Hughes for the third out.

"I think he got caught in between not throwing it and throwing it, and it kind of just got away from him," Cherry said.

Zionsville's batters attacked early, logging four hits in the first and drawing one walk against Lukac, who previously held the Eagles to eight hits and two earned runs while striking out seven during Fishers' regular season, 6-5, win on April 9.

"That's the second time they'd seen him," Cherry said. "He had a couple of pitches that we thought were borderline and didn't get, and they just kept finding barrels. They've been hot early. If you read our scouting reports, they're going to score in the first two innings, and then they won't score again until the end. It's kind of what happened."

Lukac (1.0 IP, 2 ER, BB, 4 hits) was relieved by left-handed junior Austin Conley, who served as the stopper.

Through 5.0 innings, Conley scattered four hits, struck out eight and walked one while retiring 13 of the final 16 batters faced after Zionsville pulled ahead 4-3 in the second.

Conley earned the win against Westfield on Friday.

"It was kind of similar to Westfield. Not much different. For me, I just trust all my guys out there," Conley said. "And then, just trusting myself."

Conley struck out seven Eagles in the final four innings and stranded three baserunners.

The Tigers' bats came to life in the top of the second, tying the game 3-3 by opening the inning with a single from senior David Pina (1-for-3), a walk and consecutive hit by pitches to load the bases.

Fishers loaded the bases in four at-bats against Davis Moore (5.2 IP, 2 hits, 3 ER, 2 BB, 4 strikeouts, 105 pitches).

A hit by pitch brought home a run before freshman Henry Cherry, who logged the walk-off walk in the semifinals, drove in two with a one-out single.

"We answered right back, and (Conley) gave up the one run on a great piece of hitting by Camden Moore, but other than that, he kept us in the game," Cherry said.

Zionsville's wheel defense halted the rally.

Fishers attempted to draw the defense by showing bunt with the bases-loaded and two outs, but junior shortstop Brayden Ring cut towards third base and recorded a key unassisted third out on a grounder.

Trailblazers roll to Sectional 42 championship

INDIANAPOLIS — University easily defended its Sectional 42 championship on Monday, June 1, defeating Monrovia 13-1 in the title game at Park Tudor.

After edging out the host Panthers in the semifinals on Saturday, May 30, the Trailblazers wasted no time in getting ahead of the Bulldogs. University started with a run in the first inning; Oliver Kingery got home on Cooper Cammack's sacrifice fly.

The Blazers added three runs in the third inning. Quinn Green scored on an error, then Cammack drove in Ryan Castetter and Kingery. Cammack was up to three RBIs and he wasn't done yet.

University took complete control of the game in the fourth inning, scoring nine runs. Beckett Suh singled in Kingery, then Cammack drove in Suh. Philip Jacobs' left field hit brought home Cammack and Finn Steiner, then Castetter singled Jacobs home.

Green scored on a passed ball for the Trailblazers' 10th run. Later, University loaded the bases and Cammack blasted a double to send everyone home; Ethan Cutsinger, Castetter and Kingery all scored.

The hit brought Cammack's RBI total to seven for the game. He was a flawless 3-for-3 at the plate. Kingery was 2-for-2, hitting a triple and a single.

"That was really good for him," said Blazers coach Chris Estep. "He hasn't liked his performances at the plate. He's been really good on the mound, but he hasn't been taking it to the plate. Tonight was a concerted effort physically and mentally to really work on, 'Hey, I'm going to get back to the hitter that I am.'

"I had my start against Park Tudor and I went for seven strikeouts," said Cammack. "I was really proud of that but I felt my offensive production was lacking and so the focus between these games was just producing for my team and being the guy that they need me to be, and I feel like I fit that role pretty well tonight."

Semifinal win

University beat host Park Tudor 4-3 in the Saturday, May 30 semifinals.

Both teams scored a run in the first inning. The Trailblazers, playing as the home team, got their run when Kingery scored on Cammack's RBI ground-

The Panthers scored two runs in the top of the third inning. University got a run back in the bottom of the third when David Gasper singled in Castetter.

Steiner singled in Suh to tie the game in the fifth inning. Suh returned the favor in the sixth inning, batting in Kingery for the go-ahead run. Park Tudor loaded the bases in the top of the seventh, but Steiner threw a strikeout to end the game.

Suh had three hits, including a double. Cammack threw his seven strikeouts over four innings, while Steiner got the win after pitching the last two innings.

FISHERS

NOTICE OF ORDINANCE BY CITY OF FISHERS COMMON COUNCIL
Notice is hereby given that the Common Council of the City of Fishers, during a regular meeting, on May 18, 2026, approved and adopted Ordinance No. 04206A, An Ordinance Amending Chapter 71 (Traffic Rules) and Chapter 73 (Bicycles) of the City of Fishers Code of Ordinances. This Ordinance amended Chapter 71, Traffic Rules by amending the Penalty under §71.99 and the Schedule of Fines under §36.08 as follows:

§ 71.99 PENALTY.
(A) Any violation of §§ 71.16, 71.17, 71.18 or 71.19 is a Class C Infraction punishable by a fine up to $500 for each such violation. All such violations shall be immediately docketed in the City Court of Fishers and made subject to the costs imposed thereon for Class C infractions in addition to the fine imposed by the court having jurisdiction thereof in accordance with this provision.

(B) Citations for a violation of §71.20, §71.30, may be issued by the Fishers Police Department. Each violator shall pay a fine to the City's Ordinance Violation Bureau in the sum and amount set forth in §36.08.

Table with 4 columns: Violation-Traffic, Code Section, Fine, If not paid after 30 days. Rows include Use of Toy Vehicles, Running in Roadway.

This Ordinance also amended Enforcement and Penalty under §73.99 and the Schedule of Fines under §36.08 as follows:

§ 73.99 ENFORCEMENT AND PENALTY
(A) Citations for a violation of §73.02, §73.03, and §73.04 may be issued by the Fishers Police Department to the person committing the violation.

(B) A minor child who commits a violation or §73.02 or §73.04 or a parent/guardian/custodian who allows their child to commit a violation of §73.02 or §73.04 is subject to a citation for violation. Before a citation for §73.02 or §73.04 is issued to a minor child, the officer shall attempt to locate the minor child's parent, and if unable to do so, may cite the minor child. For violations of §73.04, the motorized device may be impounded and towed in accordance with these Code of Ordinances. The owner, or the parent, guardian or custodian of the owner, of the impounded motorized device, shall be responsible for all impoundment and storage fees.

(C) Each violator of this Chapter 73 shall pay a fine to the City's Ordinance Violation Bureau in the sum and amount set forth in §36.08.

(D) If the citation is not paid, an enforcement action for the fine and/or injunction may be filed by the City's Law Department in Fishers City Court or Hamilton County Superior or Circuit Court. When an enforcement action is filed against a minor child for a violation of this chapter, the City Law Department shall serve a copy of the Complaint on the minor child's parent, guardian or custodian, if such person is known or can be identified by a reasonable inquiry.

R8055 6/8/26

NOTICE OF ORDINANCE BY CITY OF FISHERS COMMON COUNCIL
Notice is hereby given that the Common Council of the City of Fishers, during a regular meeting, on May 18, 2026, approved and adopted Ordinance No. 04206A, An Ordinance Amending Chapter 50 (Garbage, Trash, and Refuse) and Chapter 72 (Stopping, Standing, and Parking) of the City of Fishers Code of Ordinances. This Ordinance amended the Penalties under §50.99 as follows:

§ 50.99 PENALTIES
Citations for violations of this chapter may be issued by the Department of Public Works or Fishers Code Enforcement. Whoever violates any of the provisions of this chapter shall be fined in an amount of $200 for the first offense; $500 for the second offense; and, $1,000 for the third offense and the contractor's license may be revoked, and reinstatement of said license shall require the approval of the City Board of Public Works & Safety as set forth herein.

A separate offense shall be deemed committed upon each day during or on which a violation occurs or continues. If the citation is not paid, an enforcement action may be filed by the Law Department in Fishers City Court. The Law Department may also, in the name of the City, bring actions in the Circuit or Superior Courts of Hamilton County for injunctive relief in the enforcement or compliance of this chapter.

This Ordinance also amended the Penalty under §72.99 as follows:

§ 72.99 PENALTY.
(A) Citations for violation of this chapter may be issued by the Fishers Police Department or Fishers Code Enforcement. Each violator of the restrictions and provisions of this chapter shall pay a fine to the city's Ordinance Violations Bureau in the sum and amount set forth in § 36.08. If the citation is not paid, an enforcement action may be filed by the City Law Department in the Fishers City Court.

(B) In addition thereto, whenever, in the opinion of the Police Department or Fishers Code Enforcement, a stopped, standing or parked vehicle in violation of the provisions of this chapter constitutes an immediate hazard to the safety of the citizens of the city, the Police Department or Fishers Code Enforcement may have said vehicle towed from such position of danger to a containment area and the expense of such towing and storage, if any, shall be borne by the registered owner of said vehicle

HAMILTON COUNTY

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING AND INVITATION TO COMMENT ON THE HAMILTON COUNTY COMMISSIONERS PROPOSED PY2026 COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT BLOCK GRANT ACTION PLAN
Hamilton County, in cooperation with the cities of Carmel, Fishers, Noblesville and Westfield, is an entitlement jurisdiction participating in the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development's (HUD's) Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) Program. Hamilton County's CDBG program covers the unincorporated areas of the County and the cities of Carmel, Fishers, Noblesville and Westfield, collectively known as the "Urban County" for CDBG purposes.

The Noblesville Housing Authority (NHA) is the administrator of the CDBG Program on behalf of the County. Hamilton County anticipates receiving approximately $1,179,216 in funding for Program Year 2026.
The Annual Action Plan identifies how these funds will be allocated for the Program Year, running from October 1, 2026 to September 30, 2027. Eligible activities for entitlement CDBG funding must meet one of the following national objectives: 1) principally benefit low- and moderate-income persons, 2) eliminate slums and blight, or 3) meet an urgent need. The types of projects and programs which may be considered for funding, subject to national objectives compliance, are summarized as follows: Acquisition and/or disposition of real property; construction and rehabilitation of publicly owned facilities; improvements to public and privately owned buildings to make them accessible to people with disabilities; infrastructure improvements including sidewalks, street, drainage, and water and sewer systems; and the rehabilitation of public or privately owned housing for low- and moderate-income households.

In accordance with federal regulations governing the use of CDBG funds, a public input meeting will be held Thursday, June 25th, 2026, from 10:00am to 11:00am, at the Hamilton County Historic Courthouse, located at 33 N. 9th Street, in Noblesville. Additionally, a public hearing will be held on Monday, July 13th, 2026, during the County Commissioners' regular meeting. This meeting will begin at approximately 2:00pm in the Commissioners Courtroom at the Hamilton County Government Center, 1 Hamilton County Square, Noblesville, Indiana. Opportunity to comment will take place following the CDBG Program presentation. Additionally, public input is being solicited for 30 days, which will begin June 15th, 2026, and end July 15th, 2026. The deadline for written comment is 4:00pm ET on July 15th, 2026. The draft plan is available in print format for review at the Noblesville Housing Authority, 320 Kings Lane, Noblesville, IN 46060, Tuesday through Thursday from 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. ET. An electronic copy can be obtained via email to michelle@gonha.org or may be viewed online from the following web address:

www.hamiltoncounty.in.gov/1364/Community-Development-Block-Grants www.GONHA.org
Citizens are encouraged to review the draft plan and submit comments at the public hearing and/or in writing to Michelle Westemeyer, CDBG Coordinator, Noblesville Housing Authority, 320 Kings Lane, Noblesville, IN 46060 or e-mail: michelle@gonha.org.

If you require special accommodations to participate in this public hearing, please contact the Noblesville Housing Authority at (317) 773-5110, extension 5, at least 72 hours prior to the public hearing.

ADVERTISEMENT FOR BIDS
Sealed proposals for Freedom Trail Park Improvements will be received by the City of Westfield, Indiana, at the Westfield Public Works Building, 2706 E. 171st Street, Westfield, Indiana, 46074 until 2:00 p.m., local time, on Friday, July 10, 2026. Bids will be publicly opened and read aloud. Any bids received later than the above time and date will be returned unopened. No conditional bids will be considered.

Project generally includes construction of a park restroom building, pickleball courts, court fencing, sidewalks, asphalt and aggregate trails, signage, electric service, planting, and other site improvements, amenities, and furnishings.

Bids shall be properly and completely executed on the Proposal Form obtainable at the office of the Owner. Each bid shall be accompanied by Form 96 Contractor's Bid for Public Works, including Non-Collusion Affidavit as prescribed by the State Board of Accounts, completely filled out, signed, and notarized as required by the statutes of the State of Indiana, Section III of Part II of Form 96 titled "Contractor's Financial Statement," and acceptable bid security. The bid security shall be a certified check made payable to the Owner or satisfactory bond by an incorporated surety company in good standing and qualified to do business in the State of Indiana in an amount equal to 5% of the bid, said deposit being for the purpose of ensuring the execution of the contract for which bid is made. Any bid not accompanied by the above required items shall be deemed to be a non-responsive bid by the Owner.

No consideration for escalation on prices can be considered; therefore, contractors are advised to not include any such escalation clauses in their proposal for this project.

The Contractors to whom work is awarded shall be required to furnish a Performance Bond and a Payment Bond, each in the amount of one hundred percent (100%) of the contract price, and they shall be acceptable to the City of Westfield, Indiana.

No bidder may withdraw their proposal within a period of 60 days following the date set for receiving bids. The City of Westfield, Indiana reserves the right to retain the three lowest bid proposals for a period of not more than 90 days, and said proposal shall remain in full force and effect during said time. The City of Westfield, Indiana further reserves the right to waive informalities and to award the contract to the lowest and most responsible bidder or bidders, all to the advantage of the City of Westfield, Indiana, or to reject all Proposals.

The Contract Documents and drawings will be available to all interested parties from: Repro Graphix, 437 North Illinois Street, Indianapolis, IN 46204 or at eplanroom.reprographix.com.

DEPARTMENT OF HOMELAND SECURITY FEDERAL EMERGENCY MANAGEMENT AGENCY

Proposed Flood Hazard Determinations for the City of Westfield, Hamilton County, Indiana, Case No. 25-05-0766P. The Department of Homeland Security's Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) solicits technical information or comments on proposed flood hazard determinations for the Flood Insurance Rate Map (FIRM), and where applicable, the Flood Insurance Study (FIS) report for your community. These flood hazard determinations may include the addition or modification of Base Flood Elevations, base flood depths, Special Flood Hazard Area boundaries or zone designations, or the regulatory floodway.

The FIRM and, if applicable, the FIS report have been revised to reflect these flood hazard determinations through issuance of a Letter of Map Revision (LOMR), in accordance with Title 44, Part 65 of the Code of Federal Regulations. These determinations are the basis for the floodplain management measures that your community is required to adopt or show evidence of having in effect to qualify or remain qualified for participation in the National Flood Insurance Program. For more information on the proposed flood hazard determinations and information on the statutory 90-day period provided for appeals, please visit FEMA's website at https://www.floodmaps.fema.gov/fhm/BFE_Status/bfe_main.asp, or call the FEMA Mapping and Insurance eXchange (FMIX) toll free at 1-877-FEMA MAP (1-877-336-2627).

ADVERTISEMENT WESTFIELD REDEVELOPMENT COMMISSION, INDIANA

Notice is hereby given that the Westfield Redevelopment Commission (the "Commission"), being the governing body of the Department of Redevelopment of the City of Westfield, on April 21, 2025, adopted its Resolution No. 16-2025 (the "Resolution"). In accordance with this Resolution, Indiana Code Section 5-23 et seq (the "BOT Statute"), and the Request for Qualifications and Proposals to be issued by the Commission (the "RFQP"), Statements of Qualifications and Proposals by interested bidders (the "Proposers") to develop, build, operate, and maintain a Grand Park South Infrastructure in Westfield, Indiana (the "Project") will be received by the Westfield Redevelopment Commission, ("Owner") as noted below.

Statements of Qualifications and Proposals ("SOQP") submissions will be received until nine (9 AM) AM local time, on June 12, 2026. Any SOQP received after the designated time will be returned unopened. The submissions should be addressed to Jenell Fairman, Executive Chief of Economic and Community Development jfairman@westfield.in.gov with subject line, "Grand Park South Infrastructure - Statement of Qualifications and Proposals" and will not be publicly opened or announced. Provide an electronic copy (PDF) via email to jfairman@westfield.in.gov. If a proposer does not have the ability to submit a copy electronically, one may be submitted via hard copy to the Office.

The Project includes the development of new Grand Park South Infrastructure, including but not limited to roads, stormwater detention, right of way development, parks, utilities, and parking garage.

Copies of the solicitation documents can be obtained via the city website https://www.westfieldin.gov/Bids.aspx and can be inspected at the office of the Department of Redevelopment, 2728 E. 171st Street, Westfield, Indiana 46074 (the "Office"). All submissions must comply with the RFQP requirements. Interviews may be conducted at the Commission's discretion based on the conditions set forth in the RFQP documents. Further supplementation of the SOQs may be required by the Commission in its sole discretion, as set forth in the RFQP documents.

Proposals shall be reviewed on the basis of the best qualified submission's qualifications, experience, financial stability and capability, and ability to deliver best value over the life of the Project. At the Commission's discretion, it may also consider any concept plan or additional information required by the Commission, as set forth in the RFQP.

Upon review and selection, the Owner will either enter into an agreement with a selected Proposer or reject all SOQPs. The Owner reserves the right to reject and/or cancel any and all SOQPs, solicitations and/or offers in whole or in part as specified in the solicitation when it is not in the best interests of the Commission. The Owner also reserves the right to waive irregularities in any SOQP, and to accept any SOQP which is deemed most favorable to the Owner.

Submissions are not public documents and will not be made available to other Proposers or members of the public during the selection process but will be provided to the public upon selection as required by the BOT Statute. The identity of Proposers is public information and will be disclosed during the selection process.
