4-H RESULTS SPECIAL EDITION

Hard to say who benefits most

By RICHIE HALL
news@readthereporter.com

It's not just humans who benefit from participating in 4-H. A good example is Max. He was inside the Llama Barn on Saturday, July 11, running the dog agility course with his trainer, Lenora Boone. That's a long way from where he started, when Max was a scared, anxious dog languishing in animal shelter.

Lenora, her sister Madeline Boone and their mother Natalie Olden-Stahl spoke with The Reporter during the dog agility event. Madeline was showing Sonya, who Olden-Stahl said is Max's "sister mother."

"She grooms him, she takes care of him," said Olden-Stahl. "Max is definitely a little bit more nervous and anxious, but he's very, very loyal."

The family adopted Sonya and Max around three years ago. Olden-Stahl told The Reporter the dogs were considered a "bonded pair."

"They had been brought to multiple adoption events, but they would only be adopted together. Most bonded pairs are actually euthanized because people don't want two dogs," Olden-Stahl said.

Prime-Cut News*

*Includes over 1/4 pound of Hamilton County 4-H results, stories & photos

Below is a list of friends and supporters of The Reporter all stepped up in impressive ways to help us not only bring back full 4-H results in print this year, but also made it possible to give a huge check to Hamilton County Harvest Food Bank's "Meating The Need" program (see Page A4).

Without the support of the advertisers you will see in this 42-page special edition, none of the Hamilton County 4-H participants would be getting any of the ink they deserve.

These pages are packed and stacked with every photo and bit of information we could squeeze in, and it is only possible because of the deep sense of community and willingness to give back exhibited by them. If you are reading this in print, you are holding more than a quarter pound of USDA prime cut locally sourced 4-H news. Think about that.

Just over 5 ounces of ink and paper. 42 pages of memories of sunny days, smiles, lessons and fun.

Thank you, one and all, for helping us once again earn the title "Hamilton County's Hometown Newspaper!"

What's inside this special edition?

The REPORTER

More memories than you can shake a stick at and everything but the kitchen sink! [Editor's note: The kitchen sink is in here too, packed on the back of a costumed llama on Page B1.]

4-H'ers poured a year's worth of time and effort into their projects and The Reporter's publisher called for all hands on deck to make sure we could bring you the best 4-H Special Edition yet. If our team of photographers, writers, friends, and volunteers didn't have ink in their veins before Thursday, July 16, they certainly do now.

We publish this special edition each year for several reasons.

We do it for all the kids who put in the work at 4-H and deserve to be in their hometown newspaper at least once.

We do it for the people who could not go to the fair but wish they had.

We do it so we can give away all the profit to Hamilton County Harvest Food Bank.

We do it because, as Reporter Owner Ray Adler says, "This is what newspapers are supposed to do."

42 pages of fun await, so get reading, Hamilton County!

BENEFITS

“So, we wanted two dogs because we had two daughters and potentially wanted to do things with them.”

One of the dogs was already on the euthanization list when a shelter employee realized the two were dropped off at the shelter together.

“Max, the male, he was actually slated to be euthanized because he was so scared in the shelter,” said Olden-Stahl. “Then someone realized that both him and Sonya had come into the shelter together, so they started to walk the dogs together and Max started to come out of his shell a little bit.”

Both dogs are in their first year of agility. Lenora Boone, 10, said she had to work with Max quite a bit, training him twice a day: in the morning and after school.

“Being with people that he doesn’t know, like our cousins, or going to the farmer’s market really helps him and training in public spaces has really helped him,” said Lenora.

Olden-Stahl told The Reporter it was a long process to get Max to be more social.

“When Max started, he wouldn’t even come into the building because he was so scared,” said Olden-Stahl. “By repeatedly coming to the same location, having positive reinforcement, nothing scary happening to him actually improved his confidence level pretty significantly. I’m actually a veterinarian, so I deal with rescue dogs all the time.”

Both dogs had no problem navigating the agility course during the July 11 competition and were friendly around the other people and dogs.

“I think they’ve become better socialized because the more we work with them, the more they get comfortable doing the things,” said Madeline Boone, 12. “For some of the things for obedience, people have to touch them. When people touch them, they get more used to other people that they don’t know, like the judges. They don’t know who they are, they touch them. Now, they are going up to people that they don’t know and sniffing them, checking them out, because they were used to other people touching them for obedience.”

Both girls believe that training their respective dogs have helped them with their social skills.

“I think it’s helped me because they have helped me also make friends with other people, because if they can make friends over a situation, then I think I can make friends in school,” said Madeline.

Training these shelter dogs has also brought benefits to their humans.

“I think it’s really helped me with my social skills, how I should act towards people and act towards dogs,” said Lenora. “You can’t yell at a dog and then force them to do something unless you feel confident in them, or you’re just like ‘Get on the table!’ or something.”

According to Olden-Stahl, all the work has been worth it.

“I just want to say that these are the best-trained dogs that I’ve had in my whole life and I’ve done none of the training,” said Olden-Stahl. “It’s all been the girls. They really have to put in the time and the effort. I think it really helps build their confidence and they really enjoy it and it really strengthens that bond with their animal.”

A ROYAL SYMPOSIUM: Hamilton County 4-H Queen Kendall Manges meets with 4-H Queens and Court members from other counties. Representatives from Hancock, Rush, Shelby, and Tipton counties were on hand for the Pageant.

Queen Kendall the Congenial reigns supreme

Kendall Manges crowned Queen, wins Miss Congeniality again

By RICHIE HALL
news@readthereporter.com

Kendall Manges is now 2-for-2 when it comes to winning Miss Congeniality at the Hamilton County 4-H Queen Pageant.

This year, Manges is also the Queen. Just minutes after receiving the Miss Congeniality sash again, Manges was crowned the 2026 Hamilton County 4-H Queen. An emotional Manges received her crown from Sophia Hulen, last year’s Queen, at the conclusion of the Pageant, which took place Friday, July 10 at the Hamilton County 4-H Fairgrounds.

“I am very excited for this opportunity to not only have the characteristics that Miss Congeniality does, serving alongside these amazing girls with the opportunity to serve as Miss Hamilton County over this next year,” said Manges. “I am looking forward to representing this county with so much grace and confidence and just showing people what 4-H is all about.”

Manges, 17, finished as Second Runner-Up in last year’s pageant. Manges said that during the ensuing year, she’s had “so many leadership opportunities in 4-H that have helped me grow as an individual, specifically helping kickstart Unified 4-H, and just by being on that committee, I have been able to meet so many people and grow in so many skills that are going to help me in my future.”

“And I believe that gave me the confidence to stand on this stage and do what I did,” said Manges.

Manges is the daughter of Chris and Chandra Manges. She is an incoming senior at Fishers High School and a member of the Fishers Showstoppers. Kendall Manges has completed 60 4-H projects and plans to attend Purdue University to obtain a nursing degree and become a labor and delivery nurse.

was meaningful to Manges, as the award is voted on by her fellow contestants.

“The other 16 ladies are so fabulous, and I’ve loved getting to know each and every one of them,” said Manges. “Being chosen for this award is such an honor because they are all deserving. And just the fact that they voted for me and circled my name means the world.”

Manges is currently a nine-year 4-H member, so she will reach the 10-year milestone in 2027. This year’s 10-year members were recognized at the Pageant while the judges were deciding who would be queen.

“I’m going to enjoy the fair so much,” said Manges. “For the past nine years, I’ve been enjoying the fair, but this is just going to make it extra special for the opportunity to represent my county with a smile on my face.”

In addition to Manges, four other contestants were selected to the 4-H Court. They are First Runner-Up Avery Hills (Sheridan Ag), Second Runner-Up Rachel Deeter (Giddy-Up Gang), Third Runner-Up Charlotte Wiggins (Llama Trekkers) and Fourth Runner-Up Giselle Effing (Harey Hoppers).

Hot time at the old fair!

Everyone who was there on the first day knew it was hot. Very hot. Extra hot. And humid. But mostly hot. Even the cows have to stay cool. Travis Macy is seen here on Thursday, July 16 washing his daughter Auburn's cow. Travis said he was keeping the cow cool, rinsing it off and trying to keep it "as clean as we can. The cow is enjoying it with cool water on a hot day."

4-H'ers fight food insecurity

The REPORTER

For more than a decade, Hamilton County Harvest Food Bank (HCHFB) has run a program called Meating the Need which provides healthy LOCAL protein for the county's most vulnerable kids and families and strengthens the partnerships between farm families and the community.

On Tuesday, July 21 at the 4-H Livestock Auction, HCHFB purchased – with help from donors – beef, dairy cattle, and hogs from LOCAL 4-H members. Meating the Need donations go towards the sale of the animals and to the 4-H members as they pursue their education and life goals.

In 2022, The Hamilton County Reporter brought back the tradition of printing comprehensive 4-H results in a special publication filled with abundant color photos of 4-H'ers and their projects. We also started a new tradition: using the advertising money from our 4-H publication to help families in need.

These 4-H kids who designated their livestock projects to go to the Meating the Need program took a few minutes out of their busy fair schedules to accept this year's donation check on behalf of Hamilton County Harvest Food Bank.

Despite its reputation for affluence, food insecurity throughout Hamilton County is a persistent challenge. According to HCHFB, the reality of food insecurity is stark: more than 33,000 residents – including a staggering 7,136 children under 18 years old – grapple with the uncertainty of where their next meal will come from.

When HCHFB gave us those numbers, we reached out to our advertisers asking them to help us help others.

"This community has an incredible heart for service and our advertisers all stepped up in a big way to help the Meating the Need program," Publisher Stu Clampitt said.

In this year's 4-H Results Special Edition you will see photos and articles from more Reporter friends and staff than ever before, and thanks to our numerous advertisers, we were still able to give $5,000 to help HCHFB fill the gap.

Meating The Need donors sets new record in 2026

- The REPORTER
- This year's Meating The Need program raised $42,915, a new record.
- According to former HCHFB Executive Director Anita Hagen, 102 total donors, counting all of HCHFB's direct donors plus The Reporter donors seen in ads in this edition, is also a new record.
- "This will not just provide the meat from the 19 4-H members animals but also help to purchase additional protein year round which is so greatly needed," Hagen said. "Through these generous donations, over 4,400 pounds of locally raised beef and pork will be provided to over 25 food pantries here in Hamilton County."

Ice cream contest tent was the hottest ticket at the fair

The REPORTER

Editor's note: The Parobeck Family told Reporter photographer Pooja Thakkar about their family's long-standing participation in the 4-H Fair. The following are the family's words, verbatim.

This year's Peach, Pistachio, and Papa's Black Raspberry Cobbler ice creams were created as a heartfelt tribute to our beloved Papa, whose final black raspberry harvest inspired one of the flavors. Just two weeks after his passing, our family came directly from his funeral to continue a tradition that meant so much to him.

For more than 40 years, Papa was a familiar face at the Hamilton County 4-H Fair. After his son founded the Handmade Ice Cream Contest, someone from our family has proudly participated every year since. The contest became more than a competition – it became a family tradition built on love, hard work, and community.

This year, Papa's legacy reached even farther as his extended family joined in the tribute. His in-laws (the children's grandparents) entered Heavenly Hummingbird, a delicious blend of pineapple, banana, pecans, and cinnamon in his honor. At another table, his sister-in-law and her children created Peanut Butter Marshmallow, while her oldest daughter entered a refreshing Lemon Blueberry flavor. Together, each recipe represented the love, memories, and family traditions that Papa inspired.

The family's heartfelt tributes were also recognized with success in the competition, earning a Grand Champion award along with several other honors. While the ribbons were meaningful, the greatest reward was carrying on a tradition that Papa cherished for decades.

Making these ice creams this year was our way of honoring Papa's life, his unwavering dedication to the Hamilton County 4-H Fair, and the legacy he leaves behind. Every scoop was filled with cherished memories, gratitude, and love. It was a tribute to a man who gave so much to his family, his community, and the fair he faithfully supported for more than 40 years.

Dancing never gets old

Square dancing brings community together

By AIDA KARIM
news@readthereporter.com

Do-Si-Squares has the secret of making dancing accessible and fulfilling for all.

The Reporter spoke with Nancy Rayl, vice president of the Do-Si-Squares dancing club, about the organization’s mission and their community involvement at the 4-H fair.

Rayl said she got her start in square dancing ever since she had started dating her boyfriend. He would regularly take her to square dances all over Terre Haute, Richmond, Cumberland, and Noblesville.

“There are square dances everywhere,” Rayl said. “You could square dance every night of the week if you wanted.”

According to Rayl, Do-si hosts lessons on two different levels, one where you learn basic calls and another with a more advanced version.

Rayl said besides dancing, the organization is incredibly social, with members often growing quite close to one another.

Rayle told The Reporter she encourages everyone and anyone to join, no matter age or dancing ability.

You can find information about joining online at dosisquares.org.

Defending a “niche” sport

Clogging grows popularity among all age groups

By AIDA KARIM
news@readthereporter.com

Expression through dance takes form in many ways, some with props, some with costumes, and some with clogging shoes.

The Reporter spoke with Amanda Morrow, 4-H clogging leader, about the sport and impact it has on young people.

According to Morrow, the group gets together and dances at a couple of events throughout the year, with the 4-H fair performance representing their biggest event.

“It’s fun getting together,” Morrow said. “We’ve met a lot of people along the way, going to different places and meeting people that we dance with, like a family.”

Morrow said she sees her kids gaining more confidence as a part of their participation, slowly learning more skills and stepping outside of their comfort zone.

Morrow said all of the kids have different learning paces, but they continue practicing, “and when they get it, you see the joy in their face.”

Morrow told The Reporter they have new classes every March with beginners from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. at the fairgrounds every Tuesday.

Too many llama photos? That’s not a real thing

Giving back Llama members return as adult volunteers

By RICHIE HALL
news@readthereporter.com

Once again, the llama barn was one of the busiest places of the Hamilton County 4-H Fair. Project leader Marilyn Nenni said there were “about 50 llamas here and 71 kids” in this year’s llama program, with events taking place every day of the fair.

There were also some familiar faces returning to the llama barn. Three former members helped out as Certified Adult Volunteers this year: Sophia Hulen, Alison Bishop and Lauren Pickett. All three were 10-year members of 4-H and would tell you they grew up in the llama program.

“It’s been really cool just to see how all three of us were raised through the program,” said Bishop. “We’re all going out and doing our own different things, but I think you can really see how llamas and 4-H in general just give you a great foundation as a person, and we’ve all been able to take that out and pursue our own things. Coming back is kind of surreal, to see the program that raised me in action, but I’m not there.”

She told The Reporter she enjoyed the experience of getting to help out in the barn and see everything that goes on behind the scenes to make the fair a success each summer.

“Getting to help with all of that has been really cool, and it’s just really great to see how the program is doing now that I’ve left, and how the next generation of llama showmen is getting raised through Marilyn and through of all our wonderful senior helpers,” Bishop said. “They’re doing a great job and it’s so fun to come back and see how well the program is doing.”

Bishop said being on the volunteer side reminds her of both the work and camaraderie from her 4-H years.

“I definitely see myself in so many of the younger members just wanting to do great and wanting to please, but also just being with friends and having so much fun throughout the fair,” said Alison Bishop. “I remember when she was right here as a third-grader and she was about right there in the barn,” said Nenni. “And she’s walking the llama, and he looked down at her, and she ducked. She walked another few feet and she ducked again. Here she is today.”

Bishop, 19, is now a professional ballet dancer and will be working in Las Vegas with the Nevada Ballet Theater. Nenni remembers Bishop during the Llama Costume Contest in third grade when “she did a ballet dance” with her llama.

Alison’s mother Kitty Bishop, who was a 10-year 4-H member in Wabash County, said it “makes my heart so happy,” that her daughter came back to help out after going through the program.

“It just shows that the community that we build as llamas is something that they want to come back to and contribute as they become young adults,” said Kitty Bishop.

That famous race

We all know the story of the Tortoise and the Hare. Those 4-H'ers who, like the apocryphal tortoise, make slow and steady progress all year are often among the top finishers. As for the deadline-pushing hares of the world (you know who you are), enjoy that nap.

Those wild & wacky Farmer Olympics

After a weekend of competition, what better way to blow off some steam than with the Farmer Olympics? Junior and Senior teams competed in the event, where Olympians were tasked with pinning clothes to the fence, transporting watermelons around the Show Arena, and in a new event, gulping down a “farmer’s lunch” of a sandwich and milk. And we do mean gulp – slow eaters don’t apply! (ABOVE) The winning team was the Lorax Legends. “Everyone’s having a great time,” said Farmer Olympics Director Josiah Rhea. “We’re trying always different events. It’s a great way to end the year, it’s a great way to end the fair. We all have a really good time. Next year we’ll have a lot more new events and we’re hoping to start an adult version, so keep an eye out for that.”

Speaking of races

The 1/16 scale tractor pull was held on Monday, July 20. (TOP) The sled has a battery that powers the tractors and has a measuring tape attached to the back for measuring the pulls. Between drivers, the track is wiped to remove the tire rubber and the bottom of the sled is cleaned routinely as well. There is a switch on the side of the battery that the Judge turns off when the driver has hit the maximum time. Each driver is allowed two pulls to get their best distance. In between pulls the “pit crew” continues to make modifications including to the grip of the tires without changing the overall weight of the tractor. (MIDDLE) Family participation is encouraged. The Meyer Team made their best pulls and then ran off to the Cattle Show where Will took Grand Champion. (ABOVE) Beginner Division Levi Lindner won Grand Champion, Bentlee MacDonald won the Reserve Grand Champion, 3rd place went to Sam Skelton, and 4th to Claire Peyton.

How often do you get to dunk a deputy?

Some things are timeless. We are not talking about just the general joy that the Hamilton County 4-H Fair brings each year. When you see a dunk tank there is an almost irresistible impulse to toss a ball, hit a target, and dunk someone. In this case, it was Hamilton County Jail Deputy Micol Carter taking the plunge. As you can see in the second photo above, success is its own reward.

There was something for everyone at the fair

By POOJA THAKKAR
news@readthereporter.com

The 4-H Fair is more than livestock, rides, and blue ribbons – it’s a place where cultures connect and memories are made. This year, I watched a grandmother visiting the U.S. for the first time experience the fair with her family. Knowing nothing about llamas, she unexpectedly found herself walking one during a public event. The joy on her face was priceless, and three generations shared in the laughter. That’s the beauty of the 4-H Fair. Everyone finds something to love, and sometimes the most meaningful tradition is simply welcoming someone new into the experience.

3 Peas in a Pop Bring Big Smiles to Kids’ Market

The Kids’ Market was full of creativity and excitement as 3 Peas in a Pop, a sibling team of two sisters, Annabell and Abigail, and a brother, Gabriel, showcased their booth featuring energy drinks and a variety of dirty soda pops with a special 67 drink made up with Alani, cupcake syrup and strawberries cool foam. Their pink and green themed booth, paired with perfectly coordinated matching outfits, was a show-stopper that caught everyone’s attention. Even with the pouring rain outside, their bright smiles and positive energy kept their booth shining. Their teamwork, creativity, and entrepreneurial spirit perfectly captured the fun and learning experience of the 4-H Fair.

Through interactive, hands-on sessions, participants learn about road patrol, 911 communications, K-9 units, drones, investigations, the Prosecutor’s Office, and how deputies work alongside other public safety agencies to serve the community. Graduates of the academy become proud Citizens Academy Alumni, continuing their involvement through volunteer service. Alumni support community events, organize holiday decorations, assemble appreciation gifts, and provide snacks and encouragement for patrol officers. The program builds lasting connections between law enforcement and the citizens they serve while inspiring a continued commitment to giving back to the community. MillieMadeMe brought a booth full of creativity and handmade charm to the Kids’ Market. Visitors enjoyed exploring her colorful collection of bows, phone cases, coasters, keychains, headbands, scrunchies, paperclips, and pillowcases. The highlight of her booth was her clever cloth hot pads – beautifully made, insulated, and washable, combining style with everyday usefulness. With so many creative talents on display, Millie proved she is a multit talented young artist with a grounded spirit and a passion for making things that bring joy to others.

Generational 4-H legacy

It was wonderful to welcome Nathan and Renee and their family to the fair this weekend! Their family represents five generations of 4-H, with a legacy spanning more than 100 years. The tradition continues with Layla and Henry, who enjoyed Kona Ice and all the fun the fair has to offer. Even more special, Grandma Ann Day and Grandpa Kevin Day first met in 1974 while showing against each other and attending 4-H camp. What an amazing family tradition to celebrate!

While he spent years researching Hamilton County history, she has been a lifelong 4-H’er. He gets the most notoriety as the train operator, but Liz is the one who makes sure all the riders feel confident in leaving Mom, Dad, and the grandparents behind while they tour the fair in their own parade. Hine beats heat, wins Swine showmanship

news@readthereporter.com

At one point during the Saturday, July 18, 4-H swine show, Caden Hine received a 16-ounce bottle of water.

The Hamilton Heights graduate drank the whole bottle in one gulp.

If you were at the swine show, you understood why. It was a hot day at the Hamilton County 4-H Fair, and both exhibitors and pigs were trying their best to beat the heat as they moved around the show arena.

But Hine persevered and walked away as the Senior Showmanship Grand Champion. It was the first time he had ever won the highest honor – “I’ve been reserve, in third, and I’ve never won,” he said.

“Probably wearing a long-sleeve black shirt wasn’t the best move either,” said Hine. “It was very hot in that show arena and even more hot for the pigs. It was definitely a struggle just to keep them cool, but we still got it done.”

Hine kept his pigs cool by rinsing them off “about four of five times a day,” and giving them electrolytes throughout the week to keep them hydrated.

“I put ice in their pins and just water them down as much as I could just to keep them cool so they don’t break down in show,” said Hine.

The show began in the morning and lasted all afternoon. The 4-Hers led their pigs around the arena, guiding them around while keeping their eyes on judge Adam Gradert and doing their best stay cool.

Hine said that during the show, he is in his own mind, keeping himself focused and not overthinking things.

“When I’m out there with the pig, I’m just like ‘Go, go, go,’” said Hine. “I don’t really think of anything else, to be honest with you. It’s just natural, I guess.”

Hine, 18, is a 10-year member of 4-H. He recently graduated from Hamilton Heights and is headed to Purdue University in the fall.

Exhibition welcomes future 4-Hers

After the 4-H members showed their sheep, some of the youngsters in the crowd got a chance to try their hand at it thanks to the Youth Sheep Exhibition. The exhibition took place in the Show Arena, and kids like Athena Grossman (center) learned from helpers such as Nora Reland (right). Noblesville's Jerry Millikan (left) served as judge, and later said the point is for the kids to have fun an make it a fun experience. "It was amazing to see that many kids," said Millikan. "Most of them probably never held a sheep before, so they had good help from their helpers, the other 4-H kids. And they all did a great job."

All in the family for Mendenhall

By RICHIE HALL
news@readthereporter.com

Lainey Mendenhall said she was raised on a sheep farm, so showing sheep at the 4-H Fair is second nature.

“Everyone showed sheep and I’ve been doing it since I was born,” said Mendenhall, the Grand Champion of Senior Sheep Showmanship, which took place on Sunday, July 19.

“It’s such a surreal experience,” said Mendenhall. “I feel like I put so much work and effort and love into this project and it’s so amazing that this is how it ended.”

Mendenhall, 16, will be a junior at Sheridan High School this year and is part of Sheridan Ag. Mendenhall said the support she received from her family helped her as she went out into the show arena.

“It’s funny, before I went in the ring, I was like, ‘Mom, this is not a good choice. I can’t take this sheep into the ring,’” said Mendenhall. “And then I ended up like this. It’s so insane to me that this is what God has gave me and I am so happy for it.”

Off the sheep farm, Mendenhall plays volleyball for the Sheridan Blackhawks. She has committed to play college volleyball at Southern Illinois Carbondale.”

Ritter wins Meat Goat Showmanship

By RICHIE HALL
news@readthereporter.com

Keep your goat calm and carry on.

That was the philosophy for Jackson Ritter during a weather-delayed meat goat show Friday, July 17. The incoming Mt. Vernon senior kept himself and his goat steady and was rewarded by being named the Senior Showmanship Grand Champion.

Ritter, 17, won Grand Champion for the second consecutive year.

“It feels great,” said Ritter. “I’m just so grateful to all the people that surround me and have helped me gain my skills and my animal husbandry.”

The show was delayed during the early afternoon by stubborn lightning that was just within the Hamilton County 4-H Fairgrounds’ safety range. Ritter said it was frustrating at first, but noted that 4-Hers have to “go with the flow” in those situations.

The main priority: “Keep goats calm,” said Ritter. “It’s hot, so just take care of your animals and keep them hydrated to the best of our ability.”

The nine-year 4-H member from Fortville said the best way to keep a goat calm is for its owner to stay calm.

“They feel you and how calm you are,” said Ritter. “I just tried my best to stay as calm as possible.”

Goat partners with human for the win

By RICHIE HALL
news@readthereporter.com

Beau is not just a dairy goat. He’s a partner.

That’s how Azalia Davidson referred to him minutes after winning the Senior Showmanship Grand Champion award for dairy goats on Thursday, July 16. Davidson won a showmanship Grand Champion banner for the third consecutive year.

“I won senior dairy goat showmanship last year and then I won intermediate in 2024,” said Davidson. “It feels really good to keep having success, because it keeps me coming back. I feel really confident when I win, not just because I win, but because of the dedication and the hard work I put in behind the scenes.”

Davidson said she and Beau are in the barn “at least three hours every day.” That barn time increases as the fair gets closer, mostly to make sure the goats are “super clean and they’re all clipped up nicely and right,” she said.

There was a decent amount of bleating during the Thursday goat shows, but behavior wasn’t an issue for either Beau or Davidson.

“He’s pretty well-behaved,” said Davidson. “I’d say he’s probably one of my best-behaved goats. He doesn’t move around too much when we’re in the ring and I really appreciate that because when I have a good partner to show with, I usually am a little more confident going in, and I have a little more control over myself and I can focus on the judge and my answers that I give.”

Davidson, 15, will be a sophomore with Indiana Connections online school. This year marks her seventh in 4-H and her seventh year showing goats.

“I’ve learned so much, especially in this past year or two,” said Davidson. “It’s just so nice when I’m able to gain more confidence, more control of my knowledge and I put a lot of hard work into that because I think showmanship is really important.”

In addition to dairy goats, Davidson shows several other animals: cats, dogs, rabbits, pygmy goats, sometimes meat goats and she added a lamb this year.

“I’m very busy during fair week,” said Davidson.

So much more than one edition could handle

The REPORTER
Time and space are limited resources. If they were not, we would could have published a 100-page edition to show you what the 4-H Fair is really like. What we were able to do was pack this newspaper with every bit of data 42 pages can hold. We bid a fond farewell to 10-year members in this C Section of the newspaper.

We gave 18 pages to the comprehensive results that the amazing ladies in the Purdue Extension Hamilton County office were able to compile and deliver to us in record time. We put every photo we could fit in here in full color. And on this page we offer you a tiny taste of the literal thousands of photos that did not fit in the rest of this newspaper.

Indiana Wild

Reporter photos by Adrienne Rogers
Prior to Beth with Indiana Wild arriving, fair staff played some music for the Indiana Wild Kids to burn off some energy. Beth (IndianaWild.org) came from Woodburn, Ind., where they focus on animal conservation, education, rescue and culture. Beth encouraged everyone to use four of their five senses while experiencing the animals: Look, Touch, Smell, and Listen. She asked the kids to please not use their sense of taste because the animals don't like that. Two of the many animals on hand were (TOP) Spaulding the three-banded Armadillo and (ABOVE) Kix the Skunk. No one mentioned if the skunk was named after the 1980s hard rock band.

Everyone thinks the Hamilton County 4-H fair ends on a Monday when the public portion closes, but it’s not until Tuesday that you can hear that old-fashioned bid call.

Day

I’ve met from 4-H and showing livestock,” Day said. “Showing livestock and 4-H in general has just opened up my world.”

Day said he ended up learning to run a professional auction on a whim 12 years ago, attending the Reppert School of Auctioneering. He said he now uses the skills he learned a couple of times every year.

According to Day, he had been helping with the 4-H auction for close to 10 years. He said he loves to take the opportunity to give back to the kids who participate, helping generate funds for their next steps in life.

“Your job is to help generate as much money as you can for them. I always keep that in mind; that’s truly my job when I’m up there,” Day said.

Out of this world

Reporter photos

We always discover something new at the Hamilton County 4-H Fair. This year, we found what appear to be visitors from another world (or at least a parallel dimension) resting in their cages in the small animal tent. There was bunny with a mane most lions would be jealous of (TOP), a rabbit that looks like it was generated by AI (MIDDLE), and a chicken that defies explanation (ABOVE). It was a great fair. We can’t wait to see what new discoveries you have waiting for us next year!

Kids with big hearts for little pets

The Pocket Pet Show was held on Sunday, July 19, and The Reporter’s own Adrienne Rogers was there to give tiny pets a large portion of her day. She told our publisher this was the most heart-warming assignment she had at the 2026 Hamilton County 4-H Fair, so we decided to save the best for the last page. As Jedi Master Yoda said to a young Luke Skywalker, “Size matters not.” (Reporter photos by Adrienne Rogers)

Hannah & Princess

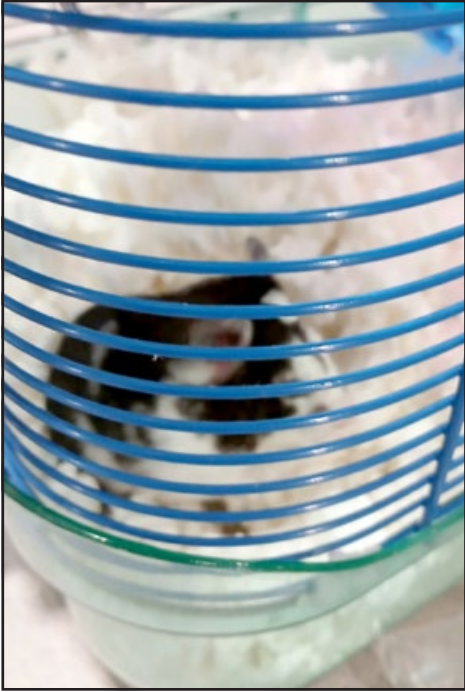

A very shy Nutter Butter

Mackenzie and her Gecko Lyla

Sophia Clemmons & her 3-year-old bunny, Dobby

Moo the Hamster

Steve the Leopard Gecko, handled by Brinley at his interview with the Judge. Brinley shared that she uses Selective Choice Training with Steve. She allows him to decide if he wants to be handled by holding out her hand at the door and having him come to her instead of grabbing him. She also watches for him to paw at the door for her to let him out.

Kilo the Albino Leopard Gecko, handled by Corbin. Corbin was very informative to all the children who came to the pen and asked questions. Steve and Kilo are housemates, although they really don’t like each other and stay in their separate pens. Geckos are solitary and see other geckos as an enemy. They can live 20 years.

Flash the Rabbit was the senior of the group at 7 years old, handled by Luke Raines.

Where can I find 4-H Results?

Thank you for supporting 4-H'ers, Hamilton County!
